Read this prize list over again! Only our tremendous sales volume and buying power enable us to offer such wonderful prizes—prizes that no one stands a better chance of winning than you. Note also, that not only will your stockings cost you less, the more you order after the first 2 pairs, but the value of your prize is also increased.

SOLVE THIS PROBLEM

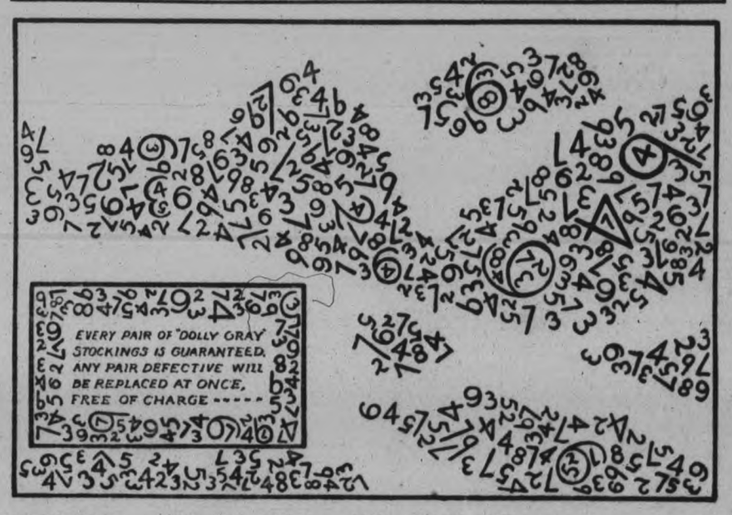
Simply add together all of the numbers shown below, just as if each figure stood one above the other in a single column. There are positively no tricks, combinations or hidden figures. It is purely a question of skill in adding correctly all the figures shown, and the degree of care and skill used will determine the prize you will win. All are single figures running from two to nine, and each figure is clearly indicated, the sixes having a curved stem and the nines a straight stem. None of the words or letters in the sentence "Every pair of 'Dolly Gray' stockings is guaranteed; any pair defective will be replaced at once free of charge" are intended to represent figures. Count only the actual figures shown in the puzzle.

NO ONE KNOWS THE CORRECT ANSWER

To make certain that no one knows the correct answer and to guarantee every contestant an equal chance to win, several figures were removed, by different persons at different times, from the original drawing before it was printed. Each person noted on a slip of paper the total of the numbers he erased, enclosed it in an envelope and sealed it, and these envelopes, along with an envelope containing the original total, were deposited in the safety deposit vaults of the Capital Trust Co. at Toronto, from whom no one can get them until the contest closes. The correct answer now is the sum total of all the figures appearing in the puzzle below, and what this is no one will know until the envelopes have been opened by the judges, of whom there are three.

(1) A well-known Church of England clergyman.
(2) A Toronto High School teacher.
(3) A Chartered Accountant, formerly with two of the largest departmental stores and mail order firms in Canada.

The only requirements for entry and to qualify for the prizes are those listed here. YOU WILL NOTE THAT THERE IS NOTHING WHATEVER FOR YOU TO SELL except for the "FREE trip to Britain" for those who can sell, which is offered in addition to and will be awarded absolutely independently of the Puzzle Prizes. The rules are simple. Read them carefully now and avoid misunderstanding and confusion later.



THE PURPOSE OF THIS CONTEST

The main purpose of this Contest is to advertise and introduce into every home in the Province the only thing we sell—DOLLY GRAY Silk Stockings—and to accomplish our purpose we have adopted what we think is the most amazing advertising idea that has ever been used in connection with Women's Silk Hosiery.

The prizes, or their equivalent in cash, as described elsewhere on this page, will positively be given away without strings of any kind attached whatever. Contestants will not be required to buy or sell anything further in order to secure the prize they win

If any of the figures in the puzzle are not perfectly clear to you, write to our Contest Department about them before sending in your answer. No answers may be changed after we receive them.

Contestants may have as many puzzle forms as they wish FREE, by writing to our Contest Department.

A WORD ABOUT DOLLY GRAY SILK STOCKINGS

Throughout the country—from Nova Scotia to British Columbia, from the border to the Yukon—thousands and thousands of women in all walks of life are enjoying the luxury of Carefree silk stockings—stockings that don't easily rip or run from the hem; that don't easily get "holey" at the heels and toes; that look smart always; that embarrass—never.

Made of soft, lustrous service-weight silk, in the newest and most exquisite spring and summer shades by the largest mills in Canada; with a double ladder or run-stop on a four-inch elastic hem; reinforced soles and heels; shaped ankles; seamed at back and form-fashioned to fit well and wear well, DOLLY GRAY Silk Stockings are in a class by themselves.

THE DOLLY GRAY KNIT GOODS CO.

is owned and controlled entirely by born-in Canada Canadians, and we have satisfied authorities who have enquired that our resources are ample to carry out this contest successfully. We are the largest mail order house in Canada Selling Women's Silk Stockings only.

SPECIAL $200.00 SCHOLARSHIP PRIZE

For High School, College and University Students.

This worth while prize, worth up to $300.00—More than enough to pay for one year's tuition—will be awarded on the following basis to the student contestant who sends in the correct or nearest correct answer to the puzzle.

$200.00—If winner has $10.00 in orders to his or her credit.

$100.00—If winner has less than $10.00 to his or her credit. Plus an additional $100.00 if winner's answer was mailed not later than March 19th, 1928.

This special Scholarship award will not bar a contestant from winning one of the regular puzzle prizes, the special $500.00 Prize, or the FREE trip to Britain, the latter being offered in addition to and awarded absolutely independently of the Puzzle Prizes. In fact, it is quite possible for the winner of the Scholarship Prize, to win altogether prizes totalling over $5,000.00 in value.

In the event of a tie, a tie-breaker requiring skill only, will be sent to those concerned. Under no circumstances will further money or selling be required to decide the winner. Nor will the award be made to other than a High School, Collegiate, College or University Student or undergraduate.

$500 Special Award for Early Winner

Here is a prize that will appeal to and is for those who are extra quick and accurate with figures—A special cash prize of $500.00 in addition to the car, if the winner's answer was mailed to us before March 19th, 1928.

If the winner is a married woman with a family, this extra award will be $750.00 instead of $500.00.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY OF "DOLLY GRAY"

"All and more than you advertised them."—Miss Annie Westbury, 205 Eadie Street, Montreal.

"Satisfactory in every way. Thank you for your promptness."—Mrs. Geo. Gray, Sudbury.

"Well pleased. Very fine. Colours perfect."—Mrs. Ida M. Herriot, 454 Victoria Avenue, Windsor.

"Best $5.00 I ever invested. I'll sure recommend them to my friends."—Mrs. John Lindall, Elk Lake, Ontario.

"Simply lovely. Have often paid three times as much and they were not near like yours."—Miss Hattie Mulligan, Little Current, Ont.

"I wish to congratulate you on the way you transact business."—Mrs. Leonard Driscoll, Howe Island, Ont.

"More than pleased."—Mrs. Will Acker, Florence, Ont.

FREE TRIP TO BRITAIN

FOR THOSE WHO CAN SELL

A delightful care-free 2 months (tourist cabin) trip this summer to the British Isles.

All expenses—railway, steamship, hotel, meals—paid from the day you leave your home until you return 2 months later! What a reward for a few hours pleasant work among your relatives, friends and neighbours!

This offer is in addition to, and absolutely independent of, the Puzzle Prizes and will be awarded to the person who has sent in the largest amount of money with entries up to and including April 30th, 1928, to our "Dolly Gray" Puzzle Contest.

If the winner prefers he or she may choose either a new model Chevrolet, or Ford Coach or $750.00 in cash in place of the "Free Trip to Britain."

Write TO-DAY for further particulars, puzzle folders and order forms.

Read These Simple Rules Carefully

1. Anyone except (a) employee of The Dolly Gray Knit Goods Co. and their immediate families, (b) the judges and their immediate families, (c) Residents of Toronto, may enter this contest and complete for the prizes.

2. No answers or entries will be accepted unless accompanied by cash remittance of at least $3.00 for 2 pairs of "Dolly Gray" Silk Stockings; $4.00 for 3 pairs; $5.00 for 4 pairs, or $6.00 for 5 pairs and not more than $10.00 can be applied to one answer.

3. Contestants need not send in the full amount of money required at any one time. Accurate records are kept and each remittance will be credited as received.

4. No answers can be altered after they are received by us. Contestants may send in a different answer with each remittance, but only one correct answer wi l be awarded a prize.

5. A contestant may solicit orders from friends, and for such orders will be entitled to submit answers. Friends who order through a contestant may also submit answer.

6. Make money orders and cheques payable to The Dolly Gray Knit Goods Company. Cheques must be marked and include exchange. Acknowledgments will be made at once and stockings mailed soon as received from mills.

7. If no contestant sends in the correct answer, prizes will be awarded for the nearest correct solutions.

8. Should more than one contestant send in the correct answer, a simple tie-breaker requiring skill only for its solution will be sent to each contestant concerned. Only those tieing will receive this second problem, and such contestants will positively not be required to buy or sell anything in order to further qualify for the prizes.

9. The closing date of the contest is April 30th, 1928. Solutions postmarked as having been mailed after that date will be returned unaccepted.

10. The Dolly Gray Knit Goods Co. reserves the right to reject at any time any entry they deem undesirable to accept or retain, and to return all money received with such entries.

11. Names and addresses of prize-winners are to be announced either in this publication or to each contestant direct by mail.

12. Contestants in entering this contest agree to abide by the rules and regulations herein set forth and to accept the decision of the judges as being final.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR of THE BENSON MURDER CASE

© Charles Scribner's Sons

THE STORY THUS FAR

Margaret Odell is found strangled. Skeel's finger prints are found in the apartment, but Vance believes Skeel had been hiding in a closet while the strangler did his work. The thing that baffles police is the side door to the alley, which had been bolted on the inside the night before and was found the same way in the morning. Mannix, Dr. Lindquist and Cleaver all lie about their whereabouts the night of the murder. Spotswoode, who had called on the girl, had rushed back to her door at the sound of a scream but had been reassured that everything was all right. Then Skeel is found strangled, after he had promised to tell who murdered the girl. Heath arrests Jessup, but Vance promises to demonstrate how Skeel could have entered and left through the side door and left it bolted on the inside.

CHAPTER XLIV

"You will be so good as to rest here until you hear me knock at the side door. Then come and open it for me." He went toward the archway. "Once more I personate the departed Mr. Skeel; so picture me again en grande tenue—sartorially radiant. . . The curtain ascends."

He bowed and stepping from the reception-room into the main hall, disappeared round the corner into the rear passageway.

Heath shifted his position restlessly and gave Markham a questioning, troubled look.

"Will he pull it off, sir, do you think?" All jocularity had gone out of his tone.

"I can't see how." Markham was scowling. "If he does, though, it will knock the chief underpinning from your theory of Jessup's guilt."

"I'm not worrying," declared Heath. "Mr. Vance knows a lot; he's got ideas. But how in hell—?"

He was interrupted by a loud knocking on the side door. The three of us sprang up simultaneously and hurried round the corner of the main hall. The rear passageway was empty. There was no door or aperture of any kind on either side of it. It consisted of two blank walls; and at the end, occupying almost its entire width, was the oak door which led to the court.

Vance could have disappeared only through that oak door. And the thing we all noticed at once—for our eyes had immediately sought it—was the horizontal position of the bolt-handle. This meant that the door was bolted.

Heath was not merely astonished—he was dumbfounded. Markham had halted abruptly, and stood staring down the empty passageway as if he saw a ghost. After a momentary hesitation Heath walked rapidly to the door. But he did not open it at once. He went down on his knees before the lock and scrutinized the bolt carefully. Then he took out his pocket-knife and inserted the blade into the crack between the door and the casing. The point halted against the inner molding, and the edge of the blade scraped upon the circular bolt.

There was no question that the heavy oak casings and moldings of the door were solid and well fitted, and that the bolt had been securely thrown from the inside. Heath, however, was still suspicious, and, grasping the door-knob, he tugged at it violently. But the door held firmly.

At length he threw the bolt-handle to a vertical position and opened the door. Vance was standing in the court, placidly smoking and inspecting the brickwork of the alley wall.

"I say, Markham," he remarked, "here's a curious thing. This wall, d' ye know, must be very old. It wasn't built in these latter days of breathless efficiency. The beauty-loving mason who erected it laid the bricks in Flemish bond instead of the Running—or Stretcher—bond of our own restless age.

"And up there a bit"—he pointed toward the rear yard—"is a Rowlock and Checkerboard pattern. Very neat and very pretty—more pleasing even than the popular English Cross bond. And the mortar joints are all V-tooled. . . . Fancy!"

Markham was fuming.

"Damn it, Vance! I'm not building brick walls. What I want to know is how you got out here and left the door bolted on the inside."

"Oh, that!" Vance crushed out his cigaret and re-entered the building. "I merely made use of a bit of clever criminal mechanism. It's very simple, like all truly effective appliances—oh, simple beyond words. I blush at its simplicity. . . Observe!"

He took from his pocket a tiny pair of tweezers to the end of which was tied a piece of purple twine about four feet long. Placing the tweezers over the vertical bolt-handle, he turned them at a very slight angle to the left and then ran the twine under the door so that about a foot of it projected over the sill. Stepping into the court, he closed the door.

The tweezers still held the bolt-handle as in a vise, and the string extended straight to the floor and disappeared under the door into the court. The three of us stood watching the bolt with fascinated attention. Slowly the string became taut, as Vance gently pulled upon the loose end outside, and then the downward tug began slowly but surely to turn the bolt-handle. When the bolt had been thrown and the handle was in a horizontal position, there came a slight jerk on the string. The tweezers were disengaged from the bolt-handle, and fell noiselessly to the carpeted floor. Then as the string was pulled from without, the tweezers disappeared under the crack between the bottom of the door and the sill.

"Childish, what?" commented Vance, when Heath had let him in. "Silly, too, isn't it? And yet, Sergeant dear, that's how the deceased Tony left these premises last Monday night. . . But let's go into the lady's apartment, and I'll tell you a story. I see that Mr. Spively has returned from his promenade; so he can resume his telephonic duties and leave us free for a causerie."

"When did you think up that hocus-pocus with the tweezers and string?" demanded Markham irritably, when we were seated in the Odell living-room.

"I didn't think it up at all, don't y' know," Vance told him carelessly, selecting a cigaret with annoying deliberation. "It was Mr. Skeel's idea. Ingenious lad—eh, what?"

"Come, come!" Markham's equanimity was at last shaken. "How can you possibly know that Skeel used this means of locking himself out?"

"What!" cried Heath belligerently. "You took that outa Skeel's room yesterday during the search, without saying anything about it?"

"Oh, only after your ferrets had passed it by. In fact, I didn't even look at the gentleman's clothes until your experienced searchers had inspected them and relocked the wardrobe door. Y' see, Sergeant, this little thingumbob was stuffed away in one of the pockets of Skeel's dress waistcoat, under the silver cigaret case.

"I'll admit I went over his evening suit rather lovin'ly. He wore it, y' know, on the night the lady departed this life, and I had hoped to find some slight indication of his collaboration in the event. When I found this little eyebrow-plucker, I hadn't the slightest inkling of its significance. And the purple twine attached to it bothered me frightfully, don't y' know.

"I could see that Mr. Skeel didn't pluck his eyebrows; and even if he had been addicted to the practice, why the twine? The tweezers are a delicate little gold affair—just what the ravishin' Margaret might have used; and last Tuesday morning I noticed a small lacquer tray containing similar toilet accessories on her dressing-table near the jewel case.—But that wasn't all."

He pointed to the little vellum waste-basket beside the escritoire, in which lay a large crumpled mass of heavy paper.

"I also noticed that piece of discarded wrapping-paper stamped with the name of a well-known Fifth Avenue novelty shop; and this morning, on my way down-town, I dropped in at the shop and learned that they make a practice of tying up their bundles with purple twine.

"Therefore, I concluded that Skeel had taken the tweezers and the twine from this apartment during his visit here that eventful night. . . Now, the question was: Why should he have spent his time tying strings to eyebrow pluckers? I confess, with maidenly modesty, that I couldn't find an answer.

"But this morning when you told of arresting Jessup, and emphasized the rebolting of the side door after Skeel's departure, the fog lifted, the sun shone, the birds began to sing. I became suddenly mediumistic: I had a psychic seizure. The whole modus operandi came to me—as they say—in a flash. . . I told you, Markham old thing, it would take spiritualism to solve this case."

Bonarlaw

BONARLAW, March 6. — Miss Leitha Wellman visited relatives on the 12th Line on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. McKeown and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McKeown, of Mount Pleasant, were guests at Mr. John S. McKeown's on Friday evening.

Messrs. David and Clarence Wellman were in Madoc on Friday.

Motoring on the 12th Line is rather a difficult problem owing to the large drifts at W. S. Stiles' Hill. It is a common occurrence to be aroused from peaceful slumbers during the night to assist stalled travellers.

Mrs. Fred McKeown is recovering from her recent illness.

Mrs. Henry Brown is improving, and will soon be around again.

Dr. William Brown, of Toronto, visited friends at Bonarlaw recently.

Everyone who saw Elizabeth Siddal, the bonnet-maker's assistant in the little shop in Cranborne Alley, was struck by her extraordinary beauty. Finally, a well-known artist, Walter Deverell, saw her and found her just the model he wanted for a head of Viola in a picture entitled Twelfth Night. He asked her to sit for him.

She used to pose for Deverell in his studio. Deverell's many artist friends, who frequented his studio, saw and admired her. But one young man, Rossetti—then twenty-one—could not forget her. Before this he had used his sister Christina for a model. Now he had eyes only for the beautiful Elizabeth.

After this Miss Siddal posed for Rossetti, and before long they were engaged. But he had no money. He had sold only his first picture. So impatient was he for money to enable him to marry that he applied for a job as telegraph clerk—though he knew nothing of telegraphy—on the Great Northern Railway.

A little later, however, luck came to Rossetti when a rich Belfast merchant, a Mr. M'Cracken, who was collecting work of the Pre-Raphaelites, the group of painters to which Rossetti belonged, bought his second painting, his famous Annunciation. It had gone so long without a purchaser that Rossetti called it his "Blessed White Eyesore."

COUNCIL WILL ASK DEPARTMENT

1927 and 1928, you will see that the net increase for 1928 is not very large, being only $131,683.

"The amount of income assessment for 1928 is $180,865 less than for 1927, due to an increase in the exemptions which becomes effective this year. This decrease of $180,865 at 37 mills would amount to $6692. The loss in taxes together with the amount to be paid this year on account of the Provincial Highway, amounting to $2055.63, and $2720 for Provincial Laboratory, would make a total of $11,467.63 or more than half a mill.

"The rate this year might have been kept at 36 mills but for demands and losses on which the council has no control.

Col. roll . .	$774,497.70	$780,829.49
"Amt. collected to end of Feb. 1927, 1928	736,543.13	749,739.43
	$ 37,954.57	$ 31,090.06

Bylaw 2765,

Providing for the government of the fire department of the city.

In order not to conflict with the Ontario statutes the clause governing the report of firemen off duty on the receipt of an alarm, was struck out.

The council had been assured by the secretary of the Ontario Fire Fighters' Association that the men would report on their day off in the event of a really serious fire.

2766—Appointment of Wilfred R. Morris to the Peterborough City Trust to fill the balance of the term of Richard Hall.

Ald. Hamilton proposed the name of W. R. Morris, calling attention to his qualifications and Ald Stocker seconded it.

Ald. Phelan declared his opinion that some person who had been in the council should be given the position, and proposed ex-Ald. A. A. McIntyre as a builder and contractor familiar with the work to be done.

There was no seconder to this motion, and Mr. Morris wes declared elected unanimously.

Sophie Cohen Again.

Sophie Cohen was again on deck with a letter demanding that the city withdraw its judgment against her. She declares that she owes the city no money, but that, on the contrary, the city owes her a considerable sum.

Consideration is promised the city's resolution asking for a change in the game laws to prevent fishing through the ice for pickerel.

The suburban roads commission levy for this year amounts to $9250.

The Fire Chief's recommendation that four of the older men of the Fire Department be provided for in other parts of the city's service, and younger men engaged, was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

A request from George Elliott of Port Hope, for a license for six months for the sale of fish, as he is unable to pay the yearly fee of $500 was received, and no action taken.

At the suggestion of J. J. Duffus, an invitation was sent to the Hon. Charles A. Dunning to visit the city and tour the Trent Canal.

Ald. Phelan suggested and consequently was instructed to carry out his suggestion, that steps be taken to get the use of the government property at Sherbrooke and George Streets for a parking place.

That it would be in the interest of the city to half a Thursday half holiday while the rest of the towns of the district observed Wednesday —Aldermen Stocker and Ackerman moved that no action be taken on a proposal from Port Hope.

Pointing it out as an absolute necessity Ald. Stocker moved that authority be given the Property Committee to make a general renovation and redecoration to the city offices, committee rooms and council chamber.

Ald. Greene suggested that the grants be not paid until the taxes came in, and Ald. Phelan pointed out that none are paid until the city has a credit balance except several which are paid in monthly instalments.

At the Mayor's request Ald. Stocker will borrow a scarifier from the Suburban Roads Commission to take the ruts off the main streets.

THURSDAY CLUB WORK EXPLAINED

President Addresses Ladies' Auxiliary of Canadian Legion.

Mrs. G. S. Cameron, president of the Thursday Club, addressed the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, at their regular meeting held yesterday in the rooms at the Legion Hall. Mrs. Cameron spoke of the work, similar in nature but small in compass, done by the society of which she is president, and assured her listeners of the desire of the Thursday Club to co-operate at all times in efforts directed toward the well-being of returned men and their dependents. She also referred to parcels which are sent by her organization to the Christie street hospital in Toronto, this work constituting a portion of the endeavors of the club.

At the conclusion of the business session, over which Mrs. J. Mills presided, afternoon tea was served.

ST. PAUL'S MEN WIND UP YEAR

aid had been playing a part in the play, "The Rivals," and had been a real factor in the success of the presentation. After making the acquaintance of this man, who is the author of "Canadian Portraits," he had made arrangements for the St. Paul's Men to hear him speak on this occasion. He felt that Peterborough should be proud of the fact that there is more than one Canadian author on her teaching staff.

Adrian Macdonald, M.A.

Mr. Macdonald proved a conversationist, rather than an orator, and for this reason, as well as for its valuable content, his address proved most suitable to the occasion.

"Seeing Ourselves As Others See Us" was his subject—suggested, as he said, by two lines in a poem, "To a Louse," by Burns. They were: "O, wad some po'er the giftie gie us, To see corsels as ithers see us."

"But for those two lines," he continued, "the poem might long ago have been forgotten. Burns had written it after observing his subject, the louse, in an unexpected place. It was slowly but surely making its way towards the highest point of a very fine lady's bonnet. The whole poem is a bit of old-fashioned, very broad humor, yet the above two lines express a universal aspiration."

"There is no one who at some time or another has not wished to see himself through the eyes of other people, yet when he does, he is sometimes disconcerted. One wonders if we are really sincere in wanting to see ourselves as others see us or are we merely seeking an indirect compliment.?

"Photographers know the value of catering to this vanity—in fact, the slogan of one, prominent in that work, is 'If you supply the beauty, we take it; if you don't supply it, then we make it.' There is another thought: 'Can we actually see ourselves as, for instance, our wives see us, or as our employers see us?'"

The speaker went on to give an analysis showing the principal attributes of a man's nature, two of which are the adventurous and the protective spirits, and with many happy illustrations carried his auditors through a happy hour.

The votes of thanks to the speaker and to the artists were moved by Richard Lees, School Inspector, and H. Taylor, respectively, while J. W. Anderson expressed the appreciation of all for the service of supper at the Men's Club banquets during the past season by the Ladies' Aid, and the lunch served at the close of the meeting last night.

Obituary

DAVID WALLACE.

KEENE, Mar. 6.—The funeral of the late David Wallace was largely attended by a large circle of friends and relatives.

Mr. Wallace had been ill for some time at St. Joseph's Hospital, but had been recovering nicely and expected to return home in a week or ten days, but death came very suddenly as Mr. Wallace was returning from mass. His wife predeceased him about a year ago.

He leaves to mourn his loss two daughters, Mrs. Charles Elmhirst and and Mrs. Houll, and two brothers, Thomas and James.

Interment was made in St. Peter's cemetery at Peterborough, following the funeral service at St. John's church at Keene.

MRS. JAMES GIRVEN

KEENE, March 6.—Mrs. James Edwards of Keene received word on Sunday of the death of her daughter, Mrs. James Girven of Assinaboia, Sask. Mrs. Girven died very suddenly on Saturday, March 3rd, and was buried on Sunday, March 4th.

Mrs. Girven, who was 41 years of age, leaves a husband and a large family to mourn her loss.

The following brothers and sisters also survive: John and George Edwards, of Keene; Cralgie of Detroit, Mrs. Robert Richardson of Keene, Mrs. William Robertson of Villiers, and Mrs. Howard Fife of Hastings.

HENRY R. PATTERSON.

The death took place in Campbellford on Sunday, March 4, of Henry R. Patterson, known throughout the district as a jeweller. The late Mr. Patterson conducted a jewellery store in Lakefield for many years, later coming to Peterborough, and thence to Campbellford.

The funeral will take place from the C.N.R. Station to Little Lake Cemetery on arrival of the eight o'clock train on Wednesday morning.

FULLER DETAILS ARE GIVEN OF FLIERS' ESCAPE

Report Tells Important Facts of Lewis-Terry Adventure.

ON PHOTOGRAPHIC WORK.

Forced By Engine Trouble To Land on Ice Floes.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 7.—(Canadian Press.)—Fuller details of the escape from death of Flying Officer Lewis and Sergeant Terry came over the wires yesterday. The message is a soldierly report giving the details that would be of value to airmen and telling without color only the important facts of the adventure.

The report, as it was received yesterday, is as follows:

Under instructions from the officer commanding A Base to carry out routine patrols, A3, and to carry out photographic work while on this patrol, Flying Officer Lewis, piloting aircraft BG, Mechanic Flight Sergt. Terry and native, left Port Burwell at 1:50 hour Feb. 17th last. In the vicinity of Port Burwell fine weather existed with good photographic possibilities; from the vicinity of Button Islands to approximately half-way up west side of Resolution, visibility was very indifferent; from this point to East Bluff, Baffin Land, the visibility improved considerably and remained so until a point about halfway down Resolution Island was reached, when visibility again became bad. A compass course was then taken to Button Islands and about this time the engine started to give trouble, losing revolutions and vibrating badly. At 13:19 hours, land was sighted on port bow, which at the time pilot believed to be Button Islands. After another eighteen minutes flying, the topographical features of the land as seen through mist and heavy clouds led Flying Officer Lewis to believe he was actually over Akpatok Island, in Ungava, having drifted in that direction by northeast wind and also by reason of fact that he was holding to an exaggerated south-westerly course to ensure flying to Ungava rather than down east coast into Atlantic. Having decided his position over Akpatok, a course of 137 degrees then taken up, which should have taken them to Port Burwell. In meantime engine losing more revolutions and becoming very rough. At 15.10 hours no further land having been sighted and due to petrol shortage, it became necessary to select a landing place on the ice. This was effected four minutes later on very heavy ice among ice hummocks and rafts as high as twenty feet. The machine landed O.K. and came to a stop nose up against rafted ice over the height of itself, with very little damage, this being broken propeller, sprung struts and skis. No land being visible at that time, the party decided to remain with the machine over night. Morning of 18th found visibility very bad, no sun in view to get position and snow falling. Estimating their position to be in Ungava Bay, it was decided to take the compass machine, emergency kit rations and strike for land in an easterly direction. Travelled all day 18th over very heavy ice which, as the day advanced, became almost impassable. That night was spent in a snow house. Day broke clear and fine on the 19th. Visibility in all directions excellent and from the top of a high ice hummock to the eastward could be seen dark, low-lying clouds appearing very much like open water to westward and in opposite direction of their travel appeared high contoured skyline indicating icebergs or land. Decision was made then that to travel westward was lesser of two evils and party doubled back over their first day's travel, slightly to the south in which direction skyline was most outstanding. On the afternoon of the 20th their objective was definitely found to be land. From 21st to morning of 24th weather became very bad, stormy and a nil visibility. During this time, compass course was followed. On 24th, land became clearly visible again and rather than lose it again, party travelled all that day and all that night, reaching land Saturday afternoon 25th in weather 25 below. During early part of travel over ice, air raft was used in crossing leads which became more numerous as they neared coast line. Air raft together with many items of clothing eventually discarded to cut down load and small ice pans used as rafts. In meantime all food had been consumed due for most part to an excellent appetite of the native and for about twenty-four hours party without food of any kind until walrus was shot and eaten raw. After reaching land 15 miles nodth of Nachvakd, northerly direction slightly inland from coastline was followed, and until afternoon of Tuesday 28th. No sign of any life or habitation was seen. On this day, an Eskimo hunter and his wife, with Komatik and dog team, appeared and they were able to pinpoint their location definitely and made arrangements with the natives picked up to bring them to Burwell, which point they reached at midnight, March first, cold, hungry, slightly frost-bitten but with all happy.

Police Disperse Mob Applying For Job

NEW YORK, March 7 (Canadian Press).—Police yesterday quelled a disturbance by 500 men and boys who stormed the 12th floor offices of a downtown concern in answer to a newspaper advertisement for a $16 a week job.

The crowd clambered up the stairs when elevator operators refused to transport them, and entered the office, damaging furniture and fixtures. When the crowd booed her choice of an East Side boy for the job, a woman secretary of the concern summoned police.

BRITAIN READY TO MEET ARABS

Reluctant To Believe Ibn Saud Has Declared War, However.

UNLESS HAND FORCED.

LONDON, March 7 (Canadian Press).—The possibility that Ibn Saud, King of the Hedjaz and Sultan of Nedj, would attack the borders of Irak and Trans Jordania, mandated British territory, was met with active preparations by Great Britain. Ibn Saud, who was reported in an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Jerusalem to have made a formal declaration of hostilities against the mandated district, was estimated to be able to place thirty thousand fighting fanatics in the field.

There was no confirmation of the Jerusalem despatch at Basra, which is the chief news source of the region. Basra, however, gets little reliable information in Ibn Saud's desert realm except that which is obtained by airplane scouts.

There was reluctance in London to believe that Ibn has voluntarily avowed himself an active enemy of the countries under British protection. It was held that if he was actively supporting the raiding tribesmen, it was because he felt that to remain aloof would cause his dominion to be threatened by the powerful tribes, over some of which his control is loose.

FARMERS HEAR ABOUT TESTING

Province's Plan For Improving Milk Production is Explained.

BENEFITS OUTLINED.

J. B. Nelson, agricultural representative for Peterborough county, is endeavoring to have the farmers in the county take advantage of the department's cow testing plan and with this end in view a meeting of the raw milk producers was held in his office last night.

Mr. Nelson explained the policy which was inaugurated to help the farmer who could not take advantage of the regular performance tests. The plan is to improve the quality of the cows in the district and the financial returns to the farmer. The policy, as explained by Mr. Nelson, is that each farmer who wishes to have his cows tested must purchase a small set of scales and bottles. Three days a month the farmer weighs the milk given by the cows on test and keeps an accurate record. At the end of the month the records and a sample of the milk are brought to the representative's office and here it is tested and recorded on a special form. The average production for the month is calculated from the three day test.

The farmer must agree to carry on the test for a year and the cost is fifty cents per cow.

Mr. Nelson expects to get policy organized in this county and some farmers carrying out the tests this summer. In Port Hope office the representative has 200 cows under test and in some of the counties of Ontario there are as many as 2,000 cows being tested. In Wentworth county Mr. Nelson said that the second year of the test it was found that the average milk production per cow had increased 1,000 pounds as many of the poorer cows had been sold and the farmer was keeping none but the best, as a result of the first test.

IBN SAUD HAS DECLARED WAR AGAINST BRITISH

OFFICIAL QUARTERS SILENT.

LONDON, March 7 (A.P.).—The "holy war" in Arabia came nearer to reality last night when an Exchange Telegraph agency despatch from Jerusalem brought unofficial word that Ibn Saud, King of the Hedjaz and Sultan of Nejd, had made a formal declaration of hostilities against the three British mandates that border his desert realm from the Red Sea to the head of the Persian Gulf.

Official quarters are silent here, but allow an inference that active steps are being taken to meet the situation. English newspapers openly discuss the problem of defense against this menace of the Wahabi tribes.

The situation was created when the Arabian desert king, formerly a friend of Great Britain, decided to cast his lot with the warlike groups which long have been raiding their northern neighbors. Ibn Saud, with typical Mohammedan tactics, at once put the movement on a religious plane.

He is, however, directing his wrath at "renegade and unfaithful" sects against whom he will lead "true Moslems."

Ibn Saud, some observers estimate, may be able to place 30,000 hardy fighting fanatics in the field.

Air Force Chief Defense

The chief defense against him at present is a detachment of the Royal Air Force in the mandate of Irak. There are 45 bombing planes and a dozen Bristol fighters there, and they are reported as operating on the border daily, the air correspondent of The London Evening Star declares he has learned from an authoritative source that arrangements are being made to hold aerial reinforcements in readiness in Egypt, Palestine and India.

There is a suspicion in some quarters that Ibn Saud's threat may be merely tactical. These sources see him aiming at a closer relation with certain powerful sheiks who have not been supporting his rather unstable desert realm with any too great loyalty. They also credit Saud with a yearning for the yearly subsidy which the British gave him for his aid in keeping some of Turkey's allies busy during the World War.

Ibn Saud gained his dominance in Arabia by valiant deeds in tribal warfare and ascetic habits of living. Despite his desert surroundings, he has a great fondness for radio and fast automobiles. When he travels through the Arabian wilderness, he and his harem of 24 wives with a large staff move at high speed in huge motors.

DUNCAN ARRESTED ON THIRD CHARGE

BRANTFORD, Mar. 6.—(Canadian Press.)—George Duncan, held in jail from September last year until last night, when he was freed from a charge of murdering his wife, was arrested again early to-day on behalf of D. Mogk, who charged Duncan with threatening him. Duncan was released from this charge, but was re-arrested again when police made a special trip from Kitchener to get him.

YOUNG PEOPLE HEAR INSPIRATIONAL TALK

Rev. J. D. Paterson Speaks at Social Evening at St. Andrew's.

The Rev. J. D. Paterson gave an inspirational talk on Young People's Work, at the social evening held by the Young People of St. Andrew's Church on Monday night. A reading by J. John, a solo by Miss Bertha Hill, and a guitar duet by the Misses Ivy and Mae Petrie was also very much enjoyed during the evening. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Paterson and others taking part in the program. This was followed by a social hour in which the young people took part in a soap contest, after which refreshments were served.

Threatening Letter Writer Is Arrested

MONTREAL, Que., March 7 (Canadian Press).—With the arrest and appearance of Rosario Bourgie, 21, in police court here yesterday on charges of sending "threatening letters," the police declared that the mystery surrounding the forwarding of missives for the past several weeks to the authorities threatening to "burn up" the Fullum Street jail where Doris Palmer McDonald is confined, under sentence of death with her husband, George C. McDonald, for the murder of a taxi-driver last July, has been solved. The police stated Bourgie admitted sending the letters which he signed "The President of the K.K.K." and the "Chief of the Black Hand." Preliminary hearing was set for March 14. In the meantime the man will be under the observation of doctors.

BOYS RAVAGE SMITH HOUSE

APPEAR IN COURT.

Three boys, two 14 years old, and the other 12, of the township of Smith, entered the house of R. J. Stabler, near Bridgenorth on Saturday, and took a quantity of Jewelry and other articles.

Mr. and Mrs. Stabler had come into the Peterboro market and the boys entered the house and carried off one lady's silver watch, three lady's gold rings, one gentleman's gold ring, one gold tie pin and a gold watch fob.

They also made merry in Mrs. Stabler's larder, and ate her pies, tarts and cakes, played the victrola, ate the children's easter eggs, which had been kept for several years and made off with a quantity of hen eggs.

When Mr. and Mrs. Stabler returned from this city they found their home in an untidy condition, and the articles missing. Provincial Constable Maker was notified, and as a result of his investigations he located the three culprits and the jewelry.

The boys appeared in the juvenile police court this morning and pleaded guilty. His Worship passed suspended sentence on account of the boys' age, provided their fathers furnished bonds of $500 for each boy's good behaviour, and pay the costs of the action

BRITAIN OPPOSES EGYPTIAN CHANGE

Points Out That Government's Authority is Weakened by Legislation.

CAIRO, Egypt, Mar. 7.—(Canadian Press.)— British objections to recent Egyptian legislation felt to weaken authority in dealing with the maintenance of public order and the protection of life and property throughout Egypt are reported to have been expressed in a note handed by Lord Lloyd, British High Commissioner, to Sarwat Pasha, who resigned on Sunday as Premier.

Local newspapers, describing the note as "grave," say that it points out that the recent legislation, although accepted by the Egyptian executive, weakens his authoritiy in maintaining order. In this connection the note is stated to cite as an example the law forbidding public demonstrations which the Egyptian government is in process of repealing.

Midland Has Already Guaranteed $200 Towards Cost of Exhibit.

TOTAL COST $725.

Other Municipalities To Be Asked To Make Grant Towards Expense, Says Secretary.

The Trent Waterway Development Association will probably place a Kawartha Lakes-Trent Waterway-Central Ontario exhibit at the second Ohio Sportsmen's and Outdoor Exposition, to be held in the new eleven million dollar Coliseum at Cleveland, May 17-23 inclusive, according to Secretary Frank G. Stinson.

The town of Midland, having already guaranteed $200 toward the expense fund of such an exhibit, is very anxious to co-operate with the city of Peterborough in the matter. It is good business, they feel, for Midland to advertise the Thirty Thousand Islands, in Cleveland, and insofar as the Kawartha Lakes are concerned, everyone will admit that a large percentage of tourists comes from the State of Ohio, said Mr. Stinson.

The decision to exhibit in Cleveland was made by the executive committee of the Trent Waterway Development Association while in attendance at the National Motor Boat Show in New York City in January, 1928. Morris Ackerman (of Ackerman's Sportsman's Guide) sought out the executive at the Motor Boat Show, and as he is a director of the Cleveland Exposition, was able to assure the Association of preferential treatment.

An attempt will at once be made to interest the Trent municipalities in this exhibit. The expense of a first-class attractive booth will be in the neighborhood of $725. President Walter M. Powlds, of Hastings, and the secretary have been appointed a committee in charge of the arrangements, and it will be their responsibility to raise from the Trent municipalities, funds necessary for the putting on of this exhibit.

"Owing to the fact that the Tourist Association of Ontario with its tourist bureaux in the States is now out of business, it becomes increasingly important for Central Ontario to do some high-grade advertising on its own account," said Mr. Stinson.

BOYS MANAGE HOBBY SHOW

Head Various Departments Under Presidency of Fred McNeely.

OLDER MEN ADVISE.

The following are the boys and men of this city who are vitally interested in the success of making the Hobby Show a real community enterprise. There are no salaries attached to the responsibilities of these directors yet each is keen to serve. Boys and men alike feel that the Hobby Show is worth while in the City of Peterborough.

The honorary president is Dr. J. J. Craig, chairman of the Boys' Work committee of the Y.M.C.A.; president, F. G. McNeely; secretary, Douglas Gordon; entry secretary, Karl Herrick; advertising manager, Harold Wiman.

Tells Commons British Guiana Would Like Annexation To Canada

LONDON, March 7 (Canadian Press).—Possibility of the annexation of British Guiana to Canada, so that the British colony in South America might "escape the watchful eye of Downing Street," is being discussed by residents there, J A. Tinne, Conservative member for Wavertree and a British Guinanian, told the House of Commons yesterday.

During a recent visit to the colony, Mr. Tinne said, residents had asked if it would be possible to bring the colony within the bounds of the Dominion. He had pointed out the difficulties, he said, and told the colonists that if they got their constitution and finance settled they might look forward to the introduction of Canadian capital and enterprise to assist development of their great resources.

Mr. Tinne was speaking on the British Guiana Bill, which enables parliament to modify by order-in-council the constitution of the colony. The bill was given second reading.

Lt.-Col. L. C. Amery, Secretary of State for the Dominions and Colonies, said the present constitution made sound finance practically impossible. British Guiana was a country as large as the United Kingdom, and possessed very great natural resources, but her record during the last century was one of almost continuous stagnation. The object of the bill, he declared, was to enable the oar of self-government to back out of a cul de sac to the highroad of constitutional development. The present constitution was a dead-end from which here was no outlet for poltical and economic development.

Some Labor members objected to the bill on the ground that it was a retrograde step.

PUNISHMENT OF P. C. I. PUPILS FOR ABSENCE UPHELD BY BOARD

Status of Suspension Removed, However, As Notice Was Not Given.

PARENTS PROTEST.

The course of Principal H. R. H. Kenner in disciplining thirty-two pupils of the Collegiate Institute for their failure to attend classes on the afternoon of Feb. 9 was upheld by the Board of Education last night, but because the regulations regarding notification of the board and the parents of the pupils excluded had not been complied with the status of suspension was removed and any record thereof expunged. This was done after a deputation headed by Dr. J. M. McCulloch had set forth the opinions of the parents of the pupils and the matter had been thoroughly discussed.

A great deal of time was taken in framing the exact wording of the resolution, the members wishing to guard against any person forming the opinion that Mr. Kenner's disciplinary action was not upheld.

The trouble occurred when a number of pupils failed to attend their classes after they had been dismissed from a lecture by Dr. Karr in the Canadian Legion Hall on the afternoon of Feb. 9. They stated that they understood from the word "dismissed" that they were through for the day.

Resolved,—That this Board recognizes the necessity of disciplinary measures in the emergency of February 10th, at the Collegiate Institute and considers the Principal justified in taking action in the matter. The Board realizes also that any measure of discipline where so many are involved, would include both innocent and guilty. Since, however, the suspension enforced by the Principal did not conform with departmental regulations the Board therefore declares that no status of suspension existed.

Introducing the matter Dr. McCulloch said he considered that Mr. Kenner's letter was outside the requirements.

The fact that there was a misunderstanding in the minds of the pupils could not, he said, be gainsaid. The fact that Mr. Kenner had admitted two pupils on apology showed that there must have been some mitigation. If he had thought they had left wilfully he would not have admitted them even if they had apologized. He also submitted that the punishment was too much for the offence. The large number of those punished was evidence that the Principal had not made his meaning clear. A third criticism was that the pupils had not been examined in any way, but punished summarily. His fourth contention was that there had been discrimination in admitting two pupils while suspending thirty-two pupils. Again, the punishment was not in accordance with the act.

The act, he said, calls for such suspension for persistent truancy or for something which injures the moral tone of the school. If the action of these pupils injured the moral tone of the school it needed correction.

Finally, the act had not been complied with, in that parents had not been notified nor had the board. Mr. Kenner had covered this with a well

Father Of Nine Faces Manslaughter Charge

HULL, Que., March 7 (Canadian Press).—Charles Trempe, 56-year-old crippled father of a family of nine children living at Wakefield, appeared in Hull Court yesterday to answer a charge of manslaughter.

The charge was taken by the Crown following the arrest of Trempe on a coroner's warrant, issued when a jury at Wakefield held him criminally responsible for the death of his daughter's baby by not giving proper care.

Trempe's appearance yesterday was merely formal and he was remanded until March 13.

TEN MILLION TREES ON HAND

Any Resident of Ontario May Obtain 3,500 For Planting.

500 FOR WIND BREAKS.

There are 10,000,000 trees available for the residents of Ontario this year for reforestation purposes. Every resident on making application can secure 3,500 trees free for reforestation purposes from the Department of Lands and Forests, and 500 trees to be used as windbreaks.

There are also special provisions for county and township reforestations.

Application forms may be had at the office of J. B. Nelson, agricultural representative for the county. Other counties and townships have set aside large tracts of land for reforestation purposes, but so far very little has been done in this county. Last year many residents both in the city of Peterborough and in the county took advantage of the government's plan and secured trees. The Peterborough Utilities Commission set out several thousand trees near the pumping station.

The trees available this year are:

Cuttings—Carolina poplar and white willow.

Trees for windbreaks—White and Norway spruce.

MISSIONARY SPEAKS.

Rev. W. G. Walton Will Tell Kiwanians of Work in North.

The Kiwanis Club of Peterborough is to have as their speaker at Friday's luncheon, Rev. W. G. Walton. Rev. Mr. Walton has spent the most of his life working with the Eskimos and the Indians of the north. He was the man who realized the great benefit of the reindeer to those living in Labrador, and through his efforts the reindeer were put in that part of Canada. His address to-morrow will be on his thirty-two years' experience with the Canadian Eskimos.

C.N.R. REPORT SHOWS HEAVY REVENUE LOSS

Preliminary Report Holds Lower Rates and Increased Wage Cause.

FREIGHT REVENUE DOWN.

OTTAWA, March 7.—Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Minister of Railways and Canals, tabled in the House of Commons yesterday a preliminary report of the Canadian National Railways for the year 1927. The report is issued in this way it is intimated to facilitate the customary consideration of such matters by the special committee of parliament which deals with the Canadian National affairs, and the figures given, etc. The figures thus given are subject to the issuance of the final certificate by the government auditors, after which the annual report will be printed and distributed in the usual way.

Net Revenue.

This preliminary report shows a net operating revenue of $42,113,976, which is more than sufficient to pay the interest on the bonded debt due the public investors, which in 1927 amounted to $40,442,276.

In accordance with the provisions of the Maritime Freight Rates Act, which went into effect July 1 1927, the accounts of the lines of the Canadian National Railways east of Levis and Diamond Junction have since that date been separately kept. As a result of this, in the tabled statement there are two sets of earnings shown. One deals with the system as a whole for the first half of the year and with lines west of Levis and Diamond Junction for the balance of the year. The second statement has to do exclusively with lines east of Levis and Diamond Junction from July 1 to December 31, as required by the legislation of last session

Affected by Grain Rates.

The fact that the net earnings of the Canadian National for 1927 are less than those for 1926 is due, the report states, to two major factors, the reduction in grain rates on the western region, made effective September 12, 1927, under an order of the Board of Railway Commissioners, which decreased freight revenue by $652,550, and the increased rates of pay and changes in working conditions under the various wage agreements. The latter is estimated to have added $3,771,000 to the operating expenses of the Canadian National for the year. Additional labor employed, $579,000, and increased charges other than direct labor for maintenance and operation, $4,639,000, make up the remainder of the increase in operating expenses.

Freight Revenue Down.

The decrease in eastern lines freight revenue, caused by the 20 per cent. rate reduction, amounted to $931,809.89 for the six months ended December 31, 1927. The legislation of last year provided that the deficit on eastern lines, as segrated, should be provided for by the government. The operating revenues on these lines for the six months period amounted to $12,128,570 and the operating expenses $14,713,852, leaving a net deficit from net operating of $2,585,282, to which must be added the usual rental and other charges making a total deficit of $3,264,694, as compared with $2,453,704, for the similar period of 1926

Floods Cause Loss.

In addition to the changes in the structure of the accounts already referred to, the operating figures for the Central Vermont lines are not this year included in the general statement, the reason for this being that, owing to the serious floods of last fall and the expenditures necessary in connection with the rehabilitation of the Vermont Lines, the administration of the Central Vermont is now in the hands of receivership, particulars of which have already been made public

Funded Debt Increases.

The report shows that new issues were put out by the Canadian National Railways Company during the year to the extent of $83,396,000, 65 million of which was guaranteed by the Dominion government. As against these issues of eighty three million, there were retirements totalling $27,494,508, leaving a net increase in funded debt held by the public of $55,901,492. There were no loans by the Dominion Government to the railway, and the increase in Dominion of Canada account consists almost exclusively of unpaid interest due the government and charged into the debt of the railway. This interest item amounted to $32,190,646 for the year under review.

UNITED STATES CAPITAL SILENT OVER APPEAL

No Statement Made On Immigration Ruling Made By N. Y. Courts.

FOR CROSSING BORDER.

WASHINGTON, March 7 (Canadian Press).—The United States Department of Labor has made no decision as yet to an appeal against the ruling made by New York court on Monday that Canadian residents have the right to commute across the border to work on the United States side without conforming to the immigration law of the latter country.

Harry Hull, commissioner-general of immigration, informed the Canadian Press yesterday that he had little doubt that the New York decision would be appealed in the Supreme Court if it was as sweeping as newspaper despatches described it to be. The Department is awaiting the text of the decision before it decides what the next step will be. In the meantime, immigration officers at the border will probably continue to enforce border ruling No. 86 of last April, which bars all except native-born Canadians from commuting without first obtaining a quota visa of the country of their birth. This ruling had the effect of stopping all new commuters of this class from obtaining employment on the United States side, because the date of their obtaining a quota visa was necessarily very uncertain.

The difficulty of Monday's court ruling is that it will open a field to all newcomers, at least in the New York district, where Judge Manton's court has jurisdiction. Presumably Manton's ruling would not have force in a Michigan court, where the great bulk of Canadian commuters work, chiefly in Detroit.

The attitude of the Immigration Department seems to be that it will continue to enforce Rule No. 86 until the Supreme Court decides against it. The Department claims the right to define what constitutes an immigrant. On this point, the whole question of the legality of Order Number 86 hinges. Judge Manton ruled that a Canadian resident was not an immigrant if he worked daily in the United States. The Immigration Department rules otherwise. Unless the Supreme Court makes special provision for an early hearing of the case, it is likely that it will be many months before any final decision is reached.

Remain Unchanged.

United States immigration regulations will remain unchanged until July 1st, 1929, according to present indications. House and Senate committees are swamped with various proposals in the quota law, all of which proposals are distasteful to some section or other of the United States.

The proposed revision of the quota basis due to come into force this July would double the British quota and decrease the quotas of Continental Europe. Rather than antagonize the German, Irish and Italian-American vote in New York this year, it is probable Congress will postpone any action at all this year. President Coolidge let it be known yesterday that he will not issue proclamation necessary to make the quota revision law until after Congress has indicated its attitude to the general question of immigration. Several members of Congress have stated privately that they will support a resolution similar to that passed last Congress, asking the President to postpone action on quota revision, and it is believed this is the one of many immigration proposals before Congress which has the best chance to get through.

DISTRICT DEPUTY VISITS LORNE LODGE

Bro. Cyrus Hart Pays Official Visit To His Mother Lodge.

OMEMEE, March 7.—Lorne Lodge A.F. & A.M. No. 375, was honored by a visit from the District Deputy of Victoria County No. 20, in the person of Cyrus Hart, on Thursday evening. As this is Mr. Hart's mother Lodge, S. Johnston of Lindsay acted in his place. During the course of the evening, Abram Laidley, who served in the capacity of Master thirty-nine years ago and has held the office twice since that time, was presented with a Past Master's Apron.

Dr. N. H. Sutton, of Peterborough, Past Master of Lorne Lodge, gave a very interesting talk on "Health." Rev. R. F. Scott, also a Past Master, addressed the gathering.

LADIES' SOCIETIES HOLD JOINT MEETING

Cavan W.M.S. and Ladies' Aid Have Interestnig Meeting.

CAVAN, March 7.—Mrs. Milton Carr entertained the members of the Ladies' Aid and the W.M.S. at a joint meeting held recently. Mrs. A. Kennedy, president of the Ladies' Aid, opened the meeting, and the usual devotional exercises were given by Mrs. Swain and Mrs. Kennedy. Plans were made for a St. Patrick, Leap Year social for Friday, March 16, with Mesdames F. M. Staples, Snyder, A. Tinney, Ray Syer, Card, and R. Matchett, as a program committee.

In the absence of the president of the W.M.S., the vice-president, Mrs. Snyder, conducted the missionary meeting. Nine members responded to the roll and five new names were added. Miss Frances Hunter gave a very interesting synopsis of the chapter of the Study Book on Japan. A letter was red from the Presbytery stating that the allocation for Cavan is sixty dollars. A missionary questionaire gave a great deal of missionary information. The collection for missions was one dollar.

Mrs. William Tinney, Mrs. Bradburn and Mrs. H. Tinney assisted Mrs. Carr with the lunch. Group B will have charge of the April meeting.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE AT HOME TO FRIENDS

Madoc Branch Holds Progressive Euchre and Social.

MADOC, March 7.—The Women's Institute of Madoc gave a very pleasant evening to the members and their friends in the Community Hall on Friday evening. Twenty tables were set for progressive euchre and tables provided for other games. The ladies' prize was won by Mrs. W. R. Wellman, and the gentlemen's by James Burns. Dainty refreshments were served and the evening was pronounced a decided success, proceeds amounting to $21.45.

Mr. George Huffman had the misfortune to fall while leaving church on Sunday morning and sustained a fracture of his ankle. He was carried to his home, and at present is suffering meuh pain but doing as well as can be expected.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER.

United W.M.S. Holds Suitable Meeting at Keene.

KEENE, March 7.—The World's Day of Prayer was fittly observed by the W.M.S. of the United Church, at a meeting held at the Manse which was largely attended, the president, Mrs. G. S. Taylor, presiding. Mrs. Archibald explained the reasons for the Day of Prayer, which was followed by prayers for China, Japan, ndia, Africa, Canada, and all the different councils of the church at home and abroad.

A vocal trio by Mrs. Archibald, Mrs. G. Howson and Miss Bryce was much enjoyed.

On Friday evening, at the regular meeting of the W.M.S., reports regarding the membership contest in charge of Mrs. F. D. McIntyre and Mrs. H. J. Nelson, will be given.

WRITING DESK GIVEN DOURO RESIDENTS

Mr. and Mrs. David Garvey Are Leaving the Township Shortly.

DOURO, March 7.—A pleasant event took place on Thursday evening when the members of the Millside Community Library Club and their friends presented Mr. and Mrs. David Garvey with a writing desk, prior to their removal to their new home in Otonabee.

The presentation was made by Mrs. Arthur Carveth, while the accompanying address which was read by Mrs. Thomas Forsythe was signed by Mesdames Thomas Forsythe, Arthur Carveth, John L. O'Brien and P. O'Grady. Mr. and Mrs. Garvey were deeply touched and replied expressing their thanks for the gift presented and for the many neighborly kindnesses in the past. Mrs. Garvey has been librarian since the organization of the library, some three and a half years ago, and stated that she was very glad indeed if her work in connection with the library, which she had always enjoyed, had been the means of giving pleasant hours of reading to the club members.

The evening was quiet owing to the Lenten season, but music, singing and friendly conversation were enjoyed.

Mrs. A. L. Carveth has been appointed librarian in Mrs. Garvey's place, with Mr. Carveth as president and Mrs. Patrick O'Grady as secretary.

Half of one side of the roof of Patrick O'Brien's barn was blown off in the terrific storm on Sunday, also the chimney on V. Cranley's house was blown off, while fences were blown down and rails carried quite a distance.

Preparations are being made for a concert in Harmony Hall on March 17. Some of the local talent consists of Misses Annabel Carlow and Lizzie Fitzgerald, Messrs. Joseph McManus, Harry Fitzgerald, and Wilfred Kennedy.

DUMMER COUNCIL DELAYS PURCHASE

Will Take More Time To Consider Buying Power Grader.

WARSAW, March 7.—The Municipal Council of the Township of Dummer, met in the Town Hall, Warsaw, on Friday, March 2. A representative of the Sawyer and Massey Company interviewed the Council for the purpose of selling a power grader, but owing to the large amount required to purchase one, the council decided to take some time for consideration.

A deputation representing the merchants of Warsaw waited on the council in respect of the business assessment which the council has under consideration; they stated that the taxes were as much now as they had a right to pay, without adding a business assessment. The council explained that it was not the intention to increase the taxes on the business men but to re-arrange the assessments, to comply with the Assessment Act.

It was moved that $85.15 be paid for list voucher for road expenditure. The following accounts were ordered to be paid: W. A. Richardson, $17.25; Norwood Municipality, Divisional Court costs, $18.34; Alex. Rose, $15; Payne and Darling, $3.65.

Those present were: Reeve James Hawthorne, Councillors J. Drain, E. Baptie, Tedford and E. N. McDonald.

Pusher of Handcart Fined For Speeding

NEW YORK, March 6.—Abraham Morganstein, of No. 916 Tiffany Avenue, the Bronx, who pushes a handcart for the Expert Costume Company, of No. 130 West 25th Street, was fined $50 for speeding on the sidewalk by Magistrate Gotlieb in Jefferson Market Court yesterday. Patrolman Frederick Volz testified that Morganstein, while pushing his cart through the noon hour crowds, knocked down two pedestrians unable to get out of his way. One of them, Max Brookenstein, had a tooth knocked out.

STORM PREVENTS HOLDING SERVICE

Huge Blocks of Ice Carried Down Trent River Sunday.

TRENT RIVER, March 7—Services at the church were cancelled on Sunday afternoon, owing to the terrible storm. This was one of the worst storms of the season. The wind blew hard all day accompanied by snow although the temperature remained between 20 and 30 degrees throughout the day. Immense blocks of ice were carried down the river during the storm.

The following members of the Efficiency League took part in the program given at Havelock United Church recently: Miss L. Chaplin, solo; male quartette, Rev. W. R. Archer, John Ruttan, W. W. Redden and Rufus Redden; quintette, Mrs. J. Scott, Mrs. G. McQuaig, Messrs. J. Ruttan, W .W. Redden, and Rufus Redden; readings by Bessie Inkster, Milton Hawley, H. Thompson, Miss L. Chaplin, and Gerald Buchanan. Keen interest was taken in the Bible Base Race, Trent River winning with a score of 24 to 21.

Trapping season will be late this year owing to weather conditions and the presence of such quantities of ice along th ores.

Miss Hilda Garbutt of Toronto spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Garbutt.

LOST IN BLIZZARD DETROITER PERISHES

WINDSOR, Ont., March 7.—Losing his way while attempting to walk two miles to shore through a blinding snow storm, William F. Langer, 35, Detroit business man, was found dead on the ice of Lake St. Clair at 4 o'clock yesterday morning by a search party composed of Stoney Point fishermen and farmers.

Langer, with three other Detroiters, H. J. Snyder, Henry Martell and Leo Loveville, and Albert Laforet, Stoney Point fisherman, left Stoney Point Sunday afternoon to fish through the ice. The party reached ice holes about two miles from shore shortly after a blizzard, driven by a northwest gale, enveloped the fishermen and hid from their view the shore.

Langer and Martell decided to walk to shore, and they started on their hazardous trip, notwithstanding warnings of Laforet, who told them they would likely lose direction in the storm.

Martell reached shore after walking two hours and falling into air holes several times, but Langer became lost. When he failed to report, two hours after Martell walked off the ice, a search party was organized and his body was found two miles from the fishing holes.

Dr. Millen has ordered an inquest and provincial officers are to question other members of the party. Laforet, Snyder and Loveville had no difficulty in reaching shore after the storm subsided.

FRACTURES ARM.

Ralph Staples Injured While Working in Cavan Woods.

CAVAN, March 7.—While working in the woods last Thursday, Ralph Staples fractured his arm, above the elbow. Dr. Hamilton attended and on Friday went to Peterborough with him for an X-ray of the arm.

CAVAN, March 2.—Mr. H. Lang, of Toronto, was a visitor to Cavan and Millbrook this week.

Miss Olive Perrin, of Toronto, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Perrin.

Mr. E. Weatheritt and Mrs. George Weatheritt, of Clarkson, visited Mr. and Mrs. R. Matchett on Sunday.

Miss Muriel Matchett of Pontypool spent the week-end at her home in Cavan.

Mrs. Norman Lamb is visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. White, at Daventry, New Ontario.

Mr. Morris Williamson has taken a position in Toronto.

Messrs. Ward Brown and Lawrence Kellett, of Oshawa, started out on Sunday, intending to visit Mr. and Mrs. James Paul, but could only get as far as Millbrook owing to the great amount of snow.

Grandmother finds way to grow old gracefully

"I don't try to keep up the pace of the younger generation," says this 65-year-old woman. "I leave that to my grandchildren.

"But just because I lead a quiet life doesn't mean that I'm not perfectly well. I never felt better. Everything about me is normal and functions as it should. I make sure of that by taking Nujol regularly. Nujol keeps me in good condition."

When people become less active, Nujol becomes even more important for good health. For Nujol not only prevents the excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but aids in their removal.

All of us—old and young alike—lead more or less sedentary lives. But Nujol helps make up for this lack of exercise. It keeps the body functioning as Nature intended.

Even if you think you're perfectly well, try Nujol. It was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). Take it for three months and just see if you don't feel better. Nujol can't possibly upset you. It contains absolutely no drugs or medicine. Be sure you get the genuine.

Now thoughts flow through a Parker Duofold even more freely than ever in the past. Pressureless Touch, combined with unfailing action, relieves the mind of all the strain of writing.

Contributing to this new feature is lighter weight due to Parker Permanite Non-Breakable material, lighter by 28% than the rubber once employed, yet a hundred times as strong.

All this means writing ease that perhaps you've never known before. Enjoy it in the next pen that you buy.

One Muffet...and you're a Muffeteer!

That's all it takes. One Muffet breakfast, and you're devoted to them. Like everyone else who's tried Muffets!

Whole wheat, cooked, drawn out to filmy thinness, an open-textured, lacy ribbon. Wound, layer upon layer, to muffin size and shape. Baked. Toasted butternut brown. What wonder Muffets are so light, so crisp—like potato chips—crumbling in the mouth!

What wonder they absorb and blend so perfectly with cream and sugar, with fruit juices of all kinds! And yet keep, in any combination, their crunchy individuality, their suggestion of fresh pecans! Eat Muffets for health, if you like. They've vitamins, calories, bran, easy digestibility. But eat them, first of all—and begin tomorrow morning!—because they're good! The Quaker Oats Co. 5

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1928.

A FULL-TIME HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

A long step toward the completion of the campaign to give Peterborough a full-time department of health was taken on Monday night when the City Council decided to ask the Ontario Department of Health to approve of the appointment of Dr. A. W. McPherson as full-time Medical Officer of Health.

Under the full-time Officer of Health, it is proposed to co-ordinate all the local health services and to do away with civic grants to local organizations that have been carrying on health work in the city.

All branches of health service will be under one direction, the school medical, nursing and dental work, public health nursing, baby clinics and other similar activities all to be under the supervision of the health department.

On behalf of the new system it is claimed that greater efficiency and closer attention to the health of the community will be made possible without adding to the total expenditure on health work.

THE TAX RATE.

After weeks of closely studying the estimates and free use of the pruning knife wherever it was considered an expenditure could be safely lopped off, the City Council has passed a bylaw fixing the tax rate at 37 mills.

This is an advance of one mill over last year—nothing to get excited over, inasmuch as it represents an additional per capita expenditure of less than a dollar.

The increase was inevitable in view of larger expenditures in several directions that could not be avoided, and if there is any worrying over the rate it should not be because it is a mill higher, but rather as to whether the Council has not shaved its appropriations just a little too closely to be on the safe side.

There is such a thing as making a fetish of a low tax rate; after all the primary concern of those who have been elected to do our business should be to see that essential services are not starved, and that for every dollar spent we receive one hundred cents worth of value.

If it is shown that people are receiving their money's worth for what they pay into the city treasury the difference of a mill in the rate is not likely to loom very largely.

It is only when people feel that they are paying too much for what they receive in return that complaints carry any real punch.

A PORT HOPE LESSON.

There is a lesson to be learned from the fire which destroyed the greater part of Trinity College School at Port Hope on Saturday.

The fact that the water pressure failed was responsible for the greater part of the loss, for there does not seem to be any doubt that the fire could have been kept out of the main school had not the fire fighters been rendered helpless by reason of not having sufficient pressure available.

Thus a blaze that might have been confined to the loss of the building in which it started grew into major proportions because an essential part of the defence crumbled in the emergency.

A fire department is only as strong as its weakest link, and if there is a deficiency anywhere, in the water supply or in equipment or in numerical strength, there may come a day when all the money that has been saved in supposedly economizing in these respects will seem small in comparison with the loss entailed by a fire that became a big one simply because there is a weak spot in the protective system somewhere.

Inadequate water pressure cost Port Hope one of the country's finest schools; other municipalities should check over their defence against fire and make sure that there is not a deficiency somewhere that may spell disaster.

THE NEW STATION.

The opening of Canada's new super broadcasting station, C.K.G.W., with plant at Bowmanville and studios in Toronto, is an outstanding event in radio development in this country.

At last Canada has a broadcasting unit capable of reaching all parts of the Dominion, getting into districts that have hitherto been "dead" spots and spanning the Dominion from coast to coast, and at the same time, of course, sending its signals clearly over the whole of the United States.

What this means to many people in this country who have hitherto been cut off from radio communication with Toronto can readily be realized.

The telegrams that poured in on Monday night from Northern Ontario and from many other sections of Canada who were hearing Toronto broadcasting for the first time told their own story, and it was easy to read between the lines and realize the delight of these listeners-in at this bridging of the gap that brings them into touch with Ontario's capital.

It is to be hoped that so far as possible that the new station will be operated along Canadian lines, and will give the people of this country programmes that are national in their nature, that it will feature worthwhile speeches and Canadian events of importance, remembering that jazz music sounds very much the same whether it be played in Chicago or in Toronto, and that C.K.G.W.'s mission should be to provide its Canadian listeners-in with something they cannot get from over the border.

Necessarily, of course, there will be a place for "jazz" in its programmes, but there should also be plenty of distinctly Canadian features.

JUDGES' SALARIES.

(From The Montreal Gazette.)

A movement, sponsored by the Canadian Bar Association, to increase judges' salaries in Canada, has led the Minister of Justice, the Honorable Ernest Lapointe, to give notice of motion for the appointment of a special committee of fifteen members of the House of Commons to inquire as to the adequacy or inadequacy of the remuneration presently paid to members of the Bench of the various courts of the Dominion. The subject is one of immediate and direct concern to the people, and it is therefore necessary and important that they should be properly informed on the merits of the whole question. Canada has been, and is, singularly fortunate in having jurists of high comprehension, talent and attainment. Nevertheless, the judges of Canada have the unenviable distinction of being the poorest paid in the British Commonwealth. Judicial salaries in Great Britain are, on an average, three times as large as those paid in Canada for the corresponding positions. The emoluments of the Canadian judiciary were last given upward revision in 1920. They were advanced from $7,000 to $9,000 a year in the higher courts, and from $4,000 to $5,000 a year in the lower courts, plus $1,000 a year for chief justices. At the same time, however, certain pre-existing rights were taken away from the judges, particularly the right of exemption from any deduction on account of Dominion taxes, so that after paying income tax and other levies previously exempt some of them may actually have had less, not more, money to spend. At all events, it is considered by the supporters of the present movement that the increases granted did not then, and more than ever do not today, correspond with the upward revision of wages and salaries that has taken place generally in all lines of industry and commerce.

There is no calling, perhaps, which more convincingly exemplifies the fact that our economic system does not permit of every individual being paid according to his deserts. It is highly creditable, therefore, from a national standpoint, as well as from the point of view of the judiciary, that whilst a judgeship may more and more cease to be something a man might covet for his own material advantage, Canada does not experience any difficulty in finding judges who are fitted and worthy in every way to fill the high office. It is quite true that public honor and respect and special dignities attach to the judicial position. These are very appreciable realities, and not unreasonably they may be regarded as some compensation for the loss of income that the successful barrister must inevitably suffer when he abandons his practice and ascends the Bench. None the less, the country ought to be certain that what it pays its judges is reasonably adequate and fairly and properly proportionate to the importance of their duties and responsibilities and to the services they render. It is in the light of that sound principle and in view of changed conditions which have made the cost of living higher than it was, that a special parliamentary committee will consider and decide whether the time has not come for putting the basis of judges' remuneration on a higher level. Judges' salaries can only be increased by act of Parliament, and once the committee is named it is hoped there may be nothing to delay its members proceeding to a study of the matter and reporting to the Government their considered conclusions.

"THE POISONED LOVING CUP."

When, some six or seven years ago, that strange person, Mayor Hylan of New York City, launched a campaign against what he termed British propaganda in the schools, he found an ally in a newspaperman named Charles Grant Miller. Just what this Mr. Miller has achieved in his profession nobody seemed to know. Hylan and Hearst, however, thought him good enough for their purposes, and for more than a year Miller kept telling the readers of Hearst's Evening Journal, and of John Devoy's Gaelic American, that the Republic was being bought up with British gold. Then he disappeared.

Now Miller has turned up again. Over in Chicago, Big Bill Thompson is out-Hylaning Hylan; so Miller has reappeared with a book entitled "The Poisoned Loving Cup." It is an almost incredible volume. Some idea of its tone, literary style and temper may be gleaned from this paragraph introducing it:

"An interesting, authoritative expose of an insidious, organized plot against the foundations of Americanism by the use of pro-British propaganda in our public school system."

"School histories today teach our children that our forefathers were smugglers, liars, and sinking cowards. . . . Hundreds of millions of dollars are being utilized with the expressed intention of the donators that the Union Jack may wave over the Republic of the United States and it be called the British-American Union."

One hardly knows what to make of such nonsense; whether to laugh at, or pity, it. Imagine, for example, anybody believing that England, which has to pay the United States scores of millions of dollars in interest each year—taxing herself white to do it—spends hundreds of millions of dollars to teach young Americans that some of the Revolutionary heroes were liars and smugglers!

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

That new radio station may be considered a form of advertising not in accordance with the Liquor Control Act, but any one who attempts to have it closed is going to be very unpopular with Canadian listeners-in generally.

The announcement that the Liberal-Progressives intended to support the Government on the Budget vote was about as unnecessary as one saying that Mr. Robb proposed to vote for his Budget himself.

Over 600 motor cars are owned by the Federal Government, and those used by members of the Cabinet have cost the people of Canada nearly $167,000. The cost of government continues to increase.

Members of the press gallery complain that the debate on the Budget has been more than usually dull. But the members must put something in Hansard to show the boys back home that they are not asleep on the job.

If Miss Agnes MacPhail, a reader suggests, were the mother of a few red-blooded boys she might be at times grateful for such organizations as the Boy Scouts and Cadets where they could spend their surplus energy on occasion.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que, Mar. 7 (Canadian Press).—There was a good inquiry and plenty of bids from foreign buyers for grain here yesterday, but as they were not in line with local exporters' views business was checked and only sales of odd loads of mixed oats were made. There was no further change in the local cash grain trade, prices being firmly maintained under a steady demand.

A feature of the flour trade was the increased demand from English importers for Spring wheat and a moderate amount of business was transacted for March-April and first half May shipment. The domestic trade was quiet, but the tone of the market was firm. The demand for winter wheat flour was of a limited character, but prices were unchanged.

Owing to the continued urgent demand for bran and shorts and the somewhat limited supplies available a stronger feeling developed in the market and prices were advanced $2 per ton. Prices for middlings were unchanged. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was inactive but prices were unchanged.

The demand for imported beans continued fair and prices were steady. Sales of odd cars of choice white hand-picked were made at $3.50 per bushel, ex-track, and broken lots at $3.60 per bushel, ex-store.

A very firm feeling prevailed in the potato market owing to the improved demand. One of the two cars of New Brunswick Green Mountains have arrived which are held at $1.60 to $1.70 per bag of 90 lbs in bulk, ex-track. Quebec varieties were unchanged.

An active business was done in all grades of fresh eggs and prices were well maintained. Supplies of eggs are now pretty well cleaned up. The receipts were 1,692 cases.

The feature of the butter trade was the further strength displayed and prices scored another advance of ¾c per lb. This was attributed to the keener demand from both local and outside buyers. The receipts were 15 packages.

The export trade in cheese was quiet, but the local demand was fair. Prices were firm. The receipts were 461 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 7 (Canadian Press).—Wheat prices underwent a setback yesterday and corn advanced. Although unfavorable wheat crop reports continued, some authorities held that growing weather is needed to determine the extent of possible damage. On the other hand, likelihood of smaller receipts strengthened the corn market.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled ¾c to ¾c net lower with corn varying from a shade decline to ¾c advance; oats a shade off to a shade up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

The wheat market tended upward, influenced in particular by reports that crop damage in Illinois would result in the heaviest abandonment of wheat acreage ever known for that section.

General demand, however, was not equal to the task of absorbing the free profit-taking sales which set in.

European purchasing of future deliveries of wheat here were of less volume than Monday, but commission house buying was persistent on declines. A forecast of moisture in Central Winter wheat States had considerable effect toward promoting switches to the selling side, and so, too, did an increase of the Canadian visible supply, as well as an increase of stocks of wheat at Liverpool. Notice was also taken that railroad sources indicated possibility of a record wheat yield for Kansas.

Numerous messages which suggested that the heavy movement of Illinois corn is over did a great deal to encourage corn buying. Besides a liberal proportion of yesterday's arrivals of corn in Chicago was Western corn delivered in contracts. North American available supplies of corn increased 2,981,000 bushels for the week, but are still more than 5,000,000 bushels below the total a year ago. Oats averaged higher with corn.

Provisions reflected upturns in the value of hogs.

EAST CITY'S HALL.

The Editor, The Examiner.

Dear Sir:

East City does not get a fair show.

The above remark has been made a good many times. It may come from the chronic grouch or it may not.

It may be well founded or it may not.

There are affairs and conditions that need judicious handling both from an economic and useful standpoint. We all agree there.

For instance we have a Community Hall. Why can't we use it?

The answer to that question is in the hands of the City Trust.

Revenue: During the last two months an East City organization have been forced to rent a hall on George street on four or five occasions away from their community, losing a certain amount of support because of that. There are a good many more occasions that will be and might be if that hall were fixed up.

Will the City Trust kindly move in this matter.

Yours truly,
INTERESTED.

A Thought

PROCRASTINATION.

What a fearful thing is Procrastination! We resolve to do deeds and improve methods—perhaps of trifling interest in the eyes of the world—but which may be of infinite value in their effect on our moral strength and character; but we will have "one more day"—"a few more hours", etc. —before we apply to our inclinations the tension necessary for the operation of our resolutions!

And that delay is often fatal! In each moment of dalliance, habit has become stronger; the task harder of fulfilment! Until sometimes we find ourselves bound in a strong chain of broken resolutions which may become our final ruin!

You Can Hardly Believe It Such Bargains

So many of our friends who were unable to profit by our last week's sale, have asked us to repeat it, that we are doing so as far as our stock will allow. Last week's rush made tremendous inroads on a lot of lines, and completely exhausted others, but we are filling in from reserves, and while they last, will sell at the same astonishingly low prices.

OUT WITH-EM

The sacrifices necessary to present our high-grade goods at so much below value, could not possibly continue for any length of time, and after this week the prices will revert to the really remarkable figures presented by our 75th Anniversary Sale. This 12 months' sale, in honor of a three-quarter century business record, is in itself the greatest example of merchandising in our history, and this three-day sale is one of the high spots in the year that it would be impossible to attempt more than once. The goods offered are our regular staple lines, and many smart new Spring lines are included at Anniversary Sale reductions.

PURIM CONCERT HELD BY HADASSAH

Enjoyable Program Given Under Auspices of Local Chapter.

A very enjoyable Purim concert was held recently under the auspices of the Peterborough Chapter of the Hadassah, with the president Mrs. P. Black, presiding, and giving a description of the club's activities.

A model meeting was conducted by the Boys' Judaea Club. The leader and organizer of the club, Dr. Okun, gave a brief description of the activities of the club up to date, outlining the work done by the various committees, and thanked the Peterborough Jewish Congregation for their co-operation. The meeting opened with the singing of Hatikvah, after which the president, Jacob Low, called for the first order of business, and the vice-president, Benjamin Atkin, replied. Roll as called by the secretary, Zimel Levine, who gave the minutes of the last executive and general body meetings.

Owing to the absence of the treasurer, Louis Chesler, the president gave the reports of receipts and disbursements. Joseph Rogow gave the Literary Report and outlined the program for the day. Benjamin Swartz gave th Athletic report, which was a description of the hockey games played and bowling tournaments held. The report of the library was given by Ted Nasimok, who thanked Mr. Fine for his contribution to the l rary.

A debate, "Resolved that the life of a Jewish boy in the country is preferable to that of a Jewish boy in the city," was then given. On the affirmative side were Ted Nasimok and Max Swartz, on the negative, B. Atkin and Z. Levine. The judges who were Mrs. L. Green, Dr. Okun and Jacob Low, decided in favor of the affirmative after an interesting discussion which pleased the audience very much and reflected credit upon the debaters.

Other items on the program were: A Story of Purim by Isadore Black and Myer Siegel; Dorothy Fine, accompanied by Mrs. H. Zacks, gave a delightful violin solo; a song by the Buds of Judah, conducted by the Rev. A. Fine, and accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Loftus. Solos were given by Sophie Atkin, Molly Siegel and Sadie Levine, all members of the Girls' Judaea Club. Adeline Rogow, Bessie Atkin and Esther Rogow held the interest of the audience with their fine recitations.

Everyone present enjoyed the Hebrew poem by Morris Black and Earl Florence. Miss Kate Cherney sang beautifully and received an encore, as did Isadore Fine and H. Cherney. A chorus was given by Morris Black, Hyman Smith and Earl Florence, and a violin solo by Joseph Nasimok was much enjoyed.

During the program refreshments were sold at tables beautifully decorated. Those in charge were Mrs. S. Levine, Mrs. B. Rogow, Mrs. L. Low, Mrs. L. Loftus, Mrs. L. Green, and Mrs. A. Fine. The proceeds are to be used for a charitable purpose.

DEBATE ABOUT GUNS HEATED

COMMITTEE NAMED.

GENEVA, March 7 (Canadian Press).—The mysterious St. Gotthard machine gun incident involving the appearance of two thousand machine guns in Hungary in contravention of the Peace Treaty came up in the Council of the League of Nations today, and produced a clash between General Tanczos, Hungarian representative, and Foreign Minister Titulescu of Rumania. The Council appointed a committee of three countries—Holland, Chile, and Finland—to examine the documents and make a report on the case.

The passage-at-arms followed a statement made by the Little Entente. General Tanczos' reference to the relations between Hungary and her neighbors in the St. Gotthard incident was not calculated to improve those relations. Titulescu protested that the Little Entente was acting in the interests of the League in the affair and that the talk of the Hungarian was "pouring oil on the flames." Tanczos replied that his remarks were the outcome of mature reflection, to which Titulescu replied that this only made the matter more serious. The matter was, after some discussion, left to the special committee.

FRIEDMAN FIGHTS THOUGH BEREAVED

Chicago Boxer Goes Through With Contract Before Leaving For Mother's Funeral.

TORONTO, March 7 (Canadian Press).—In a brilliantly lighted ring, Sailor Friedman, Chicago, and George Fifield, Toronto, struggled, tossed, and fought through eight rounds of the main event here last night, while five thousand boxing enthusiasts alternately roared and gasped their approval. At the end of the fight, the victory was awarded to the local boy, although the majority of the newspapermen and the referee thought Friedman was the winner.

Friedman smiled sadly and ran to his dressing room. He dressed hurriedly and left the Coliseum amid the plaudits of every man in the building. Just before the fight started he was notified that his mother had died in Chicago yesterday, but like Leoncavallos' immortal Pagliacci, he "smiled though his heart was broken."

BENEFIT CONCERT FRIDAY NIGHT

Caledonian Choir Putting On Splendid Concert at Legion Hall Friday Night.

The Caledonian Pipe Band, in conjunction with the Caledonian Choir, will hold a concert in the Canadian Legion Hall, Murray Street, on Friday, March 9, at 8.15 p.m. The proceeds are for the benefit of Alex. Anderson, who has been unfortunate enough to be confined to bed for some time owing to an accident. The programme promises to be a splendid one, so it is hoped a large number will be present to enjoy it and help in this cause. Tickets, 25c for adults and 15c for children, may be obtained from members of the Band or Choir.

The usual meeting of the Caledonian Club has been postponed this week owing to the above concert.

Mary Ellen Smith, who was buried in Southampton, Ont. recently, was a native of Bruce county, Ontario, with the distinction of being the first white child to reside there. She was a daughter of the original government agent. Her husband, the late Henry Smith, C.E., was superintendent of colonization roads for Ontario in the 80's.

Mrs. Margot Dick, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Dick, Ontario sculptor, posed for her mother, who was making the fine study "St. John the Baptist", beside which the young model is standing. Many think the new statue is the greatest of the sculptor's distinguished work. The expression on the face of St. John compels interest because of its youthful earnestness, and the shoulders and arms have the muscular leanness of a man who lives in the open.

When an international society of aviation experts named Charles Lindbergh as having made the most valuable contribution to progress in the air during the year, they also coupled with his name that of Lady Abe Bailey, this being the first time a woman has ever been honored thus by the society. Lady Bailey, who is the wife of the South African mining magnate, has set several women's records with her light Moth plane. She was one of the first Englishwomen to receive a pilot's license.

Seven months around the world brings Miss Margaret Cockshutt, daughter of Ontario's former lieutenant-governor, home again with her bag filled with thousands of feet of celluloid film, trophies of her visit to Africa, Australia and New Zealand. Wild animals snapped from the cow-catcher of a jungle train in Africa form the bulk of the pictures. Above are a few typical South African scenes. (1) Col. Harry Cockshutt of Brantford, his daughter and her companion, Miss Nora Hodgson of Montreal, having lunch on the road to Uganda. With them is their driver, Capt. Sethen, and a native guide. (2) Native "totos." According to Miss Cockshutt these dark skinned children are overdressed in a bangle. (3) Miss Cockshutt herself in the role of the modern huntress with a camera instead of firearms. (4) Miss Cockshutt's party crossing the Victoria Nyanza at the source of the Nile and in the very spot where that day seven natives lost their lives when a hippopotamus upset their canoe. (5) Rickshaw boys in their war paint at Durban. (6) A typical Kenya bungalow in Africa.

When Miss Yvette McKenna, granddaughter of Hon. Narcisse Perodeau, lieutenant-governor of Quebec, made her debut over 1,200 guests, all in historic costumes, gathered in the parliament buildings, Quebec, for the event. Here are pictured, LEFT TO RIGHT, Miss Yvette McKenna as Madame Louise de France; Hon. Narcisse Perodeau as Louis the Fourteenth, and Mrs. McKenna the lieutenant-governor's daughter, as Marie Leszczynska.

Gentlemen may prefer blondes but a sextet of sun kissed brunettes won loud applause in St. Catharines when they vied for the title of colored bathing beauty of the Niagara peninsula, in what is believed to be the first beauty contest ever held for members of their sex. At the left is Louise Freeman of Niagara Falls, Ontario, who smiled her way to victory in the competition. In the centre picture she is shown with the trophy awarded to her; while beside her are her opponents—left to right Dorothy Thomas, St. Catharines; Tessie Banks, Welland; Katherine Johnston, Welland; Esta Terry, Niagara Falls; and Marie Chisholm, of Niagara Falls. The picture at the right is a close up of Miss Chisholm, who ran second to Miss Freeman in popularity.

Bandmaster J. J. Buckle, who has arrived from England to take the leadership of the Regimental Band of the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada. Bandmaster Buckle's experience includes 32 years' connection with bands in the imperial army. For years he was conductor of the band of the Queen's Royal Regiment (West Surrey).

Here are two of the favorites in the contest for Ontario's best milker. Sixteen women, married and single, entered a contest to exhibit their skill as milkmaids at St. Catharines, Ontario. On the left is Miss Beulah Montgomery of St. Davids, who holds the record of milking two cows to a man's one, and who milks eight cows daily. The other picture is Miss Agnes Young of Grantham township who conducts her own farm. Miss Young is said to have refused several offers of marriage because "she finds cows more interesting than men."

Few people realize that Mrs. Chow, wife of K. W. Chow, consul-general for China in Canada, is a daughter of Liang Chi-Chao, the famous Chinese statesman and a father of the revolution. Curiously enough, though advanced in his views he is a great lover of the old traditions. Layout above shows: 1, Liang Chi-Chao; 2, Mr. and Mrs. Chow of Ottawa, and at the right two of Liang's Ottawa grandchildren, Nancy, 3, and Philip, 4.

Liang Chia-Chao was once the means of saving the life of Eugene Chen, the enthusiast of the Chinese revolution.

These pictures show what Gauden Valentin who has been hairdresser to royal families can do. The beautiful new building of the University of Montreal which has existed for scores of years as Laval University, as shown above, is to be erected on the southwest slopes of Mount Royal, occupying a frontage of 1,200 feet and a depth of 750 feet. At present the University, which is quite distinct from McGill, is housed in a series of structures in various parts of the city, and the ambitious new structures, in one imposing group, will replace these. It will be recalled that the original main building of the university was twice partially destroyed by fire. The building will be constructed in cream-colored brick of two tints and will be seven stories high. In the centre will be a court of honor dominated by a central tower 200 feet in height. The main hall will be entered from the court of honor. Construction will commence next spring.

SEYMOUR TAXES NEARLY ALL PAID

Collector Presents a Report Showing $37.10 To Come Yet.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 7. — At the regular meeting of the Seymour Township Council, held Monday afternoon in the Clerk's office, Ferris Block, all the councillors were present and the reeve in the chair. The major portion of the time was occupied with the discussion of the advisability of purchasing road machinery and the machines which should be purchased. A deputation of six, led by T. J. Horkins, president of the Seymour Agricultural Society, waited on the council. Their request was for an increased grant from the council. After hearing their argument, the grant was increased to $300.000 for this year only. This is an increase of $75.00 over the usual amount. The grant was made on motion of Councillors Locke and Innes. Mrs. Thomas Dunham presented her final tax collector's report which showed the amount of uncollected taxes to be $37.10 for the year 1927. The school report for February, presented by George Anderson was received and placed on file. With the conclusion of the regular business, the following accounts were ordered paid:

G. N. Orser, $8.60; Ernest Brunton, $44.00; Earl Brunton, $16.25; Murray Petherick, $15.00; Jos. O'Brien, $35.00; D. T. Petherick, $38.75; Douglas Rutherford, $15.00; Clifford Anderson, $10.00; James Clarke, $10.00; A. Rutherford, $8.00; G. A. Kingston, $48.88; G. A. Hay, $24.36; T. S. Tait, $12.16; P. C. Denyes, $35.75; P. Oddie, $100.00; Mrs. Thomas Dunham, $35.00; George Anderson, $5.00; K. Ferris, $15.00; Alfred Barnum, $8.00. Total $584.75.

Canberra, new capital of Australia, was dedicated May 9, 1927.

MORE COAL MINED IN CANADA IN 1927

Preliminary Figures Show Increase of Nearly Million Tons.

OTTAWA, Ont., Mar. 7.—(Canadian Press.)—More coal was mined in Canada during 1927 than in any previous year, according to a preliminary report of the coal trade of Canada in 1927 by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Preliminary figures for 1927 show a coal output fom Canadian mines of 17,411,505 short tons, as against 16,478,131 tons produced in 1926. The output for 1927 is estimated at $61,809,672 as against $59,875,094 in 1926. There are about 500 coal mines in operation in Canada, representing a capital investment of about $150,000,000.

Exports of Canadian coal during the year amounted to 1,113,300 tons, as compared with a total of 1,028,200 tons in 1926.

Imports reached 19,253,088 tons, including 18,314,248 tons from the United States, 928,544 tons from Great Britain, 4,818 tons from Germany, 5,155 tons from the Netherlands, and 323 tons from Japan. By kinds of coal the import records showed 3,719,326 tons of anthracite in egg and nut sizes, 344,293 tons of anthracite dust, 15,178,640 tons of bituminous coal,and 16,829 tons of lignite.

NEST EGGS.

A Practical Joke That May Surprise the Victim If He Reads This.

When a certain office employee bought two dozen eggs at the market a few weeks ago, he found, some time after his arrival home, that three of them were nest eggs. Perhaps his wife made the discovery that same day as she counted them out of the basket, or it may have been the next morning when she needed the inevitable accessories signified by that phrase of universal currency "ham and —."

Imagine the husband's abashment, and his wife's mild but mordant irony as she razzed him over the morning's marketing. And finally he surrendered. "You can go after this yourself," he declared. "No more market for me."

"I should think not," his wife probably agreed, and she may have added, "After letting some farm woman palm off nest eggs for real ones."

His only essay at mitigating his laxity was the remark to his wife that "he hadn't liked the eye of that woman," and he had particularly noticed her eye and its seemingly repellant glint because he had argued about his change, thinking the woman was trying to hold out on him.

During the week he casually mentioned in the office that he had been "gypped" on the market, and naturally received the sympathy which husbands have or should have (or should they) for one another. But as a matter of fact his office associates had their tongues in their cheeks, for the eggs had been transferred right in the office. A number of nest eggs had been uselessly "setting" for years on a top shelf, and when the market basket appeared that Saturday some vagrant imp of mischief had promptly suggested the practical joke that simply could not be resisted.

And so the week passed with its problem of disposing of the three perfectly good eggs that had been bought from the woman with the supposedly malevolent eye. That eye, by the way, was put down in the husband's memory as clue for future sherlocking and strict accounting.

Two weeks passed, as the films swiftly and conveniently toll off time, and harmony being long since fully restored at home, the husband returns to the market. That day the conspiring imp returned to the job. By some occult means the office learned around the noon hour that a new purchase of eggs had been left at a certain store, so three more of the nest eggs were dusted off, and to use a term favored in police court precincts, were surreptitiously placed in the basket. But they were not substituted this time. Evidently the office conspirators had concluded that enough suspicion had been cast upon the honest farm women of the district. At any rate home went the basket with the inexplicable nest eggs, compounding a domestic mystery of the market which will probably be elucidated for the first time if the husband happens to read these lines.

But in the morning; at the office! It is to laugh.

W.M.S. DECIDES ON THANKOFFERING

St. Andrew's Church Ladies Hold Regular Meeting at Campbellford.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 7.—The regular meeting of the W.M.S. was held in the ladies' parlor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Monday afternoon. The regular meeting day was to have been Tuesday, but circumstances caused the members to select Monday as a more convenient time. There was a large attendance and the chair was occupied by Mrs. A. C. Connor, president pro tem. At the meeting it was decided to ask for an Easter thankoffering and envelopes for this were distributed to the members. Besides the business which was of the general routine, Mrs. Charles Milne sang a solo and Mrs. George Dickson gave a reading. The meeting closed with the usual devotional exercises and a brief prayer by the president.

WEDDING BELLS

GEORGE—DOWN.

ROSENEATH, March 7.—A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Downs, recently, when their daughter, Edna, was united in marriage to Mr. John George, son of the late Thomas George and Mrs. George of Roseneath.

At four o'clock, the bride, in a dainty gown of white satin with veil caught with marguerites, and carrying pink carnations, entered the parlor on the arm of her father, to the strains of the wedding march by Miss Minnie Taylor. The bridesmaid, Miss Tillie Greenley, wore pink silk and carried pink roses. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Harold George.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Brown. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Brown sang, "Promise Me." Immediately following the ceremony, dinner was served to about thirty guests.

The bride and groom received many gifts which testify to the esteem which the young couple were held in the community.

HAIG—GRILLS.

WARKWORTH, March 7.— The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Grills was the scene of a pretty wedding at ten o'clock Thursday morning, March 1, when their daughter, Rhea Agnes, became the bride of Mr. Blake Douglas Haig, of Seymour.

Rev. W. W. Jones officiated.

To the strains of the wedding music played by Mrs. Warrington Hay, sister of the groom, the bride, wearing white crepe-de-chene with brilliant trimmings, entered the living-room and was given in marriage by her father. Miss Irene Grills, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a dress of havana rose satin-faced crepe. Mr. Henry Locke was best man.

After the ceremony, the guests repaired to the dining room where a wedding breakfast was served, after which the happy couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes by motor for Toronto. The bride travelling in a sapphire blue flat crepe with hat and coat to match.

Chest Colds

The obvious answer to the ordinary cold on the chest is warmth on the chest and in the chest. Thermogene! If you can't go to bed, you can put your chest to bed. With a layer of Thermogene snugly placed next to the skin you can go about your business and send the cold about its business at the same time. That comforting protection will keep watch and ward over your chest every moment of a winter's day.

Glowing, comforting, healing all the time, Thermogene is nurse and doctor too. No one knows it is there but yourself, and by the time you get home you probably won't know the cold is there either. Then, when its healing warmth has done its work, Thermogene may be removed layer by layer—safely and comfortably.

THE BEST THAT'S MADE IN EVERY GRADE

Why Is a Cheap Shirt?

Does the average man ever ask himself, "Why is a cheap shirt?"

Now, the query is not, "why is a shirt cheap?" The altered position of the qualifying word "cheap" expresses a distinction that may be quite arbitrary, temporary and personal.

A merchant in reorganizing a business which he has bought, for example, may cut prices as a means to cleaning out the old stock. Or, another men's wear dealer may be hard pressed for ready money, and his immediate concern is to convert stock on his shelves into cash in the bank. Either of these men might sell four dollar shirts for two dollars, but in the ordinary terms of business these are not cheap shirts. They may be a reputable manufacturer's product, bearing his name and trademark with its pledge and guarantee of material and workmanship.

But why is the $1.43 shirt? Everybody knows the answer in a general way. A woman indicated it the other day in a conversation with a friend, which was unavoidably overheard.

They were talking about shoes. This woman remarked: "When I was at home I used to pay two guineas for my shoes, and here I usually pay ten or eleven dollars. It's like everything else, if you want good goods you have to pay for them." By the way two guineas amount approximately to ten dollars. And so it goes with shoes, shirts, paints, period furniture, boyish bobs, motor cars, and so on, running the whole gamut of man's material desires and needs.

If you compared at $1.43 with a three or four dollar one, you would find cheaper material in the cheaper shirt. There is a difference not only in quality but also in quantity. The cheaper shirt usually has half a yard less cloth in it. The skimping shows plainly enough in the length of the respective shirts. The cheap one will likely be several inches shorter, and because it is shorter it has only four buttons down the front as against five on the better one. The dearer shirt may be roomies all around. The $1.43 sample will likely have "gussets" in the sleeves, patches as it were, instead of being cut from the whole cloth. The sewing, reinforcing, in brief, the finished workmanship of the one is patently inferior to the same details on the other.

Ask your haberdasher. He will point out some of the differences. Your haberdasher, however, may fall dead if you manifest any interest in the quality of the shirt you intend to buy. He has heard so much about price, that he has begun to think only in odd numbers. However, he has been meeting shirt travellers all his life, listening to their sales talk on some of the points set out above, he may have visited some of the factories, and he knows the goods he has bought for you.

On the other hand, you in your shop or office or on the land as your condition may be, you are inclined to become suspicious once your men's wear dealer begins to talk quality. In all probability you never saw a shirt made, and never heard any one tell how it is made. But you look wise that is skeptically wise.

All you know is just shirt, and if you put that atom of knowledge under a microscope it won't fill your eye. Most men never learn anything about even the garments they wear. Price is their chief concern; but a certain men's wear declares that when you buy a shirt the last fifty cents you spend is the best part of your investment. This applies to the better grades, of course.

Completely Relieved After Using Two Boxes

Mrs. James Lynch Is Very Satisfied With Dodd's Kidney Pills.

New Brunswick Lady Suffered With Pains in the Back and Has Not Been Troubled Since

Blackville, N.B., March 6.—(Special).—Mrs. J. Lynch, a resident of this place, relates her experience with Dodd's Kidney Pills in the following brief letter. She states: "I was troubled with a severe pain in my back. After using two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills it was completely relieved. That was four years ago and I have felt no return of this trouble since.

Other sufferers of backache tell of pains relieved and health restored through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They act directly on the kidneys. They strengthen the kidneys and put them in shape to strain the uric acid out of the blood.

Your health, strength and vitality depend upon the condition of your blood, for it is through the blood that every part of your body is nourished and built up. To enjoy good health the blood must be kept pure.

Let Dodd's Kidney Pills do this work for you.

Obituary

MISS ETHEL REID.

STIRLING, March 7. — Miss Ethel Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin Reid, of Ivannoe, who had been visiting her uncle and aunt having accompanied the latter to her home in Chillicothe, Illinois, the week before Christmas, was taken suddenly ill last Friday, and passed away after a few hours' illness.

The remains were received at her home on Monday, the funeral taking place on Tuesday, interment being in the cemetery at West Huntingdon.

Deceased was seventeen years of age, and leaves her parents and a brother and sister to mourn her loss.

JOSEPH HUARD.

Joseph Huard died last night in St. Joseph's Hospital after a very short illness. He was born in Peterborough 37 years ago, and had lived all his life in this city. He leaves his wife, six children: Joseph, Cyril, Clair, Billie, Catherine, and Beatrice; his father, Stephen Huard, and two sisters, Mrs. J. Stenson and Mrs. H. Stenson, of Toronto.

The funeral will be held on Thursday morning, leaving his residence, 496 Elm Street, at 8.45, and proceeding to St. Peter's Cathedral and St. Peter's Cemetery.

MRS. WILLIAM LUNN.

MILLBROOK, Mar. 7.—The funeral of Mrs. William Lunn (Hazel Irene McMahon) took place from her late residence, Main street, on Tuesday, at 2.30 p.m., Rev. F. H. Howard being in charge of the servcie.

Mrs. Lunn's death occurred on Saturday evening, following an extended illness; her decease was the first break in a family circle of eleven children. About two years ago her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McMahon, who are among the early settlers of the township, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Deceased was a member of the Unitde church.

rs. Lunn is survived by her husband, one son, eleven years of age; her parents, six sisters, Mrs. William Bristow, Mrs. Thomas Bristow, Mrs. Will Armstrong, of Cavan, Mrs. Joseph Reynolds and Mrs. George Cunningham, of Peterborough, Mrs. DeLora Johnston, of St. Catharines, and four brothers, Messrs. Wesley McMahon, living in the west; Floyd, of Cavan; Hilliard of Bailieboro, and Cecil at home.

Six brothers-in-law acted as pallbearers: Messrs. Thomas and William Bristow, Joseph Reynolds, George Cunningham, Will Armstrong, and Howard Lunn. The funeral was very largely attended and there were many beautiful floral tributes. Interment was at St. Paul's cemetery, Fourth Line, Cavan.

JOHN CONDON

John Condon died this morning at 5.30 at his residence, 273 William Street, after a short illness. He had lived practically all his life in Peterborough and was well known. He was a life-long member of St. Peter's Cathedral.

His wife predeceased him thirteen years ago, and one son, James, died six months ago. Surviving relatives are one son, Edward, at home; one daughter, Gertrude, at home, and four sisters, Mrs. McFarlane, Mrs. Rose, and Mrs. O'Keefe of this city, and Mrs. Ayotte of Burleigh Falls.

The funeral will be held on Friday morning, leaving his home at ten o'clock. Requiem mass will be sung in St. Peter's Cathedral at 10.15 and burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

A STUDY IN ANKLES

In discussing the current vogue for short skirts, the Bishop of Ely declares that in so far as women's dress tends to approximate to man's attire, it becomes a factor in the disintegration of the social order. He adds that there are many who cannot afford to be so candid about their ankles as are modern women. Some English women have been so unkind as to suggest that the trimly-shod and silken-clad ankle of a flapper is just as much worthy of exposure to the public gaze as the gaitered leg of a bishop. The illustration above presents the contrast.

NORWOOD JUNIORS WIN.

Defeat Havelock 3-2 in Well Contested Hockey Match.

HAVELOCK, March 7.—Hovelock Juniors went down to a 3 to 2 defeat at the hands of the Norwood Juniors in a well-contested game of hockey here on Monday evening.

The line-up was as follows:

Norwood.—Copen, goal; Waddell and McConnell, defence; Fenton, Rothwell, forwards; Montgomery and Rogers, subs.

Downward Trend Will Last Some Time

(Special from The Financial Post Syndicate)

TORONTO, March 7.—The mining market has had another severe reaction and there are those who believe that the movement has developed into a major downward movement which may continue for a considerable time. This opinion is based for the most part on the attitude of the banks. Bank managers state that their instructions are to clean up a good many accounts and further loans on any kind of mining stocks are being absolutely refused. In this connection there is some criticism of the banks. It is contended that the banks aided and abetted the public to a considerable extent in their orgy of speculation by granting extensive credit with almost any kind of mining stock as collateral. When the public got loaded up the banks tightened up and forced a great deal of selling. This was a made-to-order situation for the margin houses, as it made it possible for them to get their books in order with little or no effort on their part.

Another development of the soft market has been to dry up to a considerable extent the amount of good news coming from the mines. A good many companies (and this includes many with no stock to sell) like to see the market reflect any good news which comes out in regard to their property. This is impossible at the present and in fact some of the stocks have even gone down on good news, almost proving the theory of one of Canada's wealthiest stock market operators that one should "buy on bad news and sell on good news." The tendency is to hold back news until the market shows some signs of returning to normal.

British Columbia stocks have been booming during the past week and trading in these issues on eastern exchanges has been growing steadily. This has resulted in considerable criticism of easterns who have been selling Ontario stocks to buy the British Columbia issues.

New Sudbury companies continue to make their appearance and the outlook is that the lead-zinc-copper section of the area will boom during the coming summer. Sudbury Basin announced that a diamond drill had cut 50 feet of ore on its property which adjoins Treadwell Yukon on the west. No statement of values was given, but the understanding is that the drill showed a full 70-ft. and that the ore was as rich as that which the Treadwell company has opened up in an extensive way.

The rush of new companies and the weakness of the market at present emphasizes the need of care in present mining commitments. In fact had more care been taken in the selection of issues when the boom was on, it is doubtful if the break in the price of shares would have reached the proportions it has. It is true that there are many offerings of new and unproven operations coming out. If these are purchased from the companies at a reasonable price, the gambler has a chance of a cleanup if the operation proves successful, incidentally helping the mining industry at the same time. But there is no need to go onto the mining exchange and purchase stocks of such operations, for the reason that there are now so many attractive propositions with proven ore bodies. In these the element of risk is greatly reduced. Another factor also is that when the market breaks the decline in these issues is not so great as it is in stocks that are pure gambles. It is also true that the action of Wright Hargreaves and Noranda in the recent market would lead to another conclusion, but the break in these shares was due to untoward circumstances that had nothing in common with the general break in the market. It is likely that they would have dropped back, even had the market continued upward.

GEORGE DUNCAN IS ACQUITTED

Jury Instructed By Judge To Bring in Verdict of Not Guilty.

ARRESTED AGAIN.

BRANTFORD, Ont., March 7.—George Duncan gained his liberty at 6.30 yesterday evening when Mr. Justice Logie instructed the Brant County Assize Jury to return a verdict of "not guilty" on the indictment charging the prisoner with the murder of his wife, Margaret Brash Duncan, on the night of September 28th. His Lordship's decision, which came after Duncan had entered the witness box and given his own account of the tragedy, was greeted with a burst of applause from a number of the accused's relatives and friends, but the noisy demonstration incurred the displeasure of the judge who threatened to commit the offenders to jail should there be a repetition of the offence.

Again Arrested.

Although acquitted on the murder charge, Duncan has not entirely escaped the toils of the law. He had scarcely been welcomed back to freedom by his friends when he was again taken into custody by Provincial Officer Miller on a warrant previously sworn out by one Mogk, a witness at the trial. Mogk charges Duncan with threatening him with violence, the latter having allegedly declared that he "would knock him cold." Constable Milligan held his prisoner until he received instructions that a summons had been issued for Duncan in connection with the Mogk case. Duncan was then set at liberty, but will later be summoned to appear on this charge.

The action of Mr. Justice Logie in directing the acquittal of the prisoner was concurred in by R. V. Sinclair, K.C., special Crown Prosecutor, who virtually admitted that the Crown had been unable to establish a prima facie case of murder against the prisoner. During the long trial, which commenced at 9 o'clock in the morning, Mr. Sinclair and his associate, Crown Attorney W. M. Charlton, K.C., delved deep into Duncan's past life, uncovering many sordid and unsavory incidents. There was evidence aplenty of the prisoner's vicious nature and immoral character, but there was no evidence that Duncan killed his wife or that he even had a motive for doing so. In dismissing Duncan, His Lordship commented upon his immoral record and advised him to take heed to the future.

No Proof of Guilt.

In directing the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty, Justice Logie said: "In view of the fact that there is no evidence of motive nor is there any evidence that carbolic acid has ever been bought by this man, and the very great unlikelihood that carbolic acid could be forced upon a chunky woman without either burning her face or her lips, the Crown Prosecutor agrees with me that I should instruct you to bring in a verdict of not guilty.

"I cannot see that there is any proof that this man committed murder. His life has been extremely sordid, and the result has been that he came under suspicion, but suspicion cannot affect your judgment."

Then addressing the prisoner, His Lordship said: "Duncan, you have had a varied life, and as far as I have heard, very little of it has been to your credit. You have been convicted of manslaughter, and have been living with two women, neither of them your wife, until recently. You can go now, but let this be a warning to you. Take heed to the future."

CAMPBELLFORD WINS IN STIRLING

Defeats Rival Team 3-1 in Friendly Match Last Night.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 7.—The Campbellford Trent Valley Hockey League team, with the exception of one player and one sub., played the first of a home-and-home series games in the Stirling Arena last night. Cowell, Campbellford's left winger, has been forbidden by the doctor to indulge in any more strenuous sport, and Horkins, who was barred from league fixtures, was the centre man for the visitors. Basil Reynolds was taken along as the third sub., and has already given a good account of himself in some of the later league games. Otherwise, the visitors' line-up was the same as for league fixtures. The Stirling line-up was the regular one.

William (more frequently Bill) Whitty was the man whose duty it was to ring the bell and keep the game in order. Only ten times during the entire play did he find it necessary to send players from the ice, and on every occasion the penalty was of a minor nature. Nine of the penalties went to the visitors, but the invaders got the major portion of the back to Campbellford, and only one remained as a souvenir for Stirling.

Even so, Stirling got the first count when Jack Ackers, centre, scored for his home team. About three minutes later Horkins evened the count when he scored on a solo rush. Between three and four minutes before the end of the period he repeated the experiment, and the count remained 2-1 for the visitors when the bell rang. Scoring was not to be a feature of the game. In the second period, Johnston scored on a pass from Ibey. This made the count three for the visitors and one for the home team. In the third period there was no scoring done for either team.

The Campbellford game is scheduled for Friday night at 8.15 at Davidson's Arena. Both teams seem to be of about the same calibre, and victory has been a dear purchase every time these players have met. The issue of the Friday game offers a wonderful proposition for sporting blood. Although the crowd in Stirling last night was not as large as at league games, the gate receipts were in excess of two hundred dollars. This would indicate that exhibition hockey between these two teams is well worth seeing. Clifford Weston, town, will be the referee on Friday night.

Reading a portion of the 24th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, and drawing special attention to the 25th verse, Ensign G. Green said: "This is an incident that has a sad pathetic touch for if there is any sadder picture in life than offered by a man who has been brought face to face with the facts of life, and he trembles as they are enumerated, and realizing his position turns and goes his own way, saying good-bye to God. That is just what Felix is doing. Convicted of sin, conscious of his error, yet he says: 'Go thy way for this time; when I have a convenient season I will call for thee.'

"Let us for a few moments think of the surroundings of Felix, living in Ceasarea, a wonderful city, with walls of marble, but there is more yet. The city was of marble, houses, temples, in one of which dwelt Felix. You will read earlier in the chapter that the floor and ceiling were fretted with marble. Surrounding the palace we see the court yard and the beauties of those days. But we see the dark man and his companion—a young princess, who has already destroyed the happiness of one domestic circle, and has been wooed and won by Felix. Little does she realize that very shortl the lava and fire of Vesuvius will bring to them a terrible death—and here tiring of the luxury that surrounds her seeks new excitement and requests Felix bring up the eloquent prisoner and bid him address the court. And as Paul is brought up through the chambers and stairs, and we hear the clank of the chains.

"As he enters the court Paul bows graciously to Felix and Felix demands a display of his eloquence. Let us for a moment look at the prisoner. He was a lawyer who studied at the feet Gamaliel, he could have discoursed on Grecian art or told stories of his imprisonment at Phillipi, even told of the waterways of Corinth or of his journeyings in Thessalonica But no. He was aware of the possibilities of the terrible death fast coming to his hearers, and instead of stories, he spoke of judgment. It was noticed as he proceeded that the stoop of his shoulders disappeared, and while he described the glories to come, and Felix commenced to quake with the realization of what was coming to him, just as many do in these days, when faced with some fear and we imagine we hear Felix order the sheriff remove Paul, and hear those tragic words: 'Go thy way for this time. When I have a convenient season I will call for thee?

"Briefly, there seems to me three reasons why Felix sent Paul back; primarily he did not want to give up his sins. He looked around and saw the lovely young princess—and it meant parting with her, and he thought of that loss. Maybe there is someone here with a 'darling' sin. Remember, there is no entrance into Heaven unless you part with that sin. A question that faces the unsaved in this service tonight is that you must decide against your sins. There are many wonderful women in this fair Dominion of ours, helpers of men, but alas there are also many similar to those described in scripture, such as the young princess in our reading tonight. Then you remember the story of Delilah, and how she destroyed the strength of Samson; another one, Salome and Herod. Possibly you have some other sin, a few nickels left for some unlawful amusement, some low, lewd thoughts to be passed on. Remember, it is easy to row the boat with the tide, and although hard to pull against the stream, the Grace of God can help you in all things.

"Secondly, he did not want to give up his business. He was very busy. The country was ripe for insurrection. If you read the story you will see that assassins were already posted at the doors intent on the life of Felix. This and other affairs of state occupied his mind. There are many in these days who plead 'business'—too busy for God, possibly some one here. It is not affairs of state but it's the 'annoyance of the kitchen' that keeps you from being all you desire to be; too busy for God. Remember when Death comes, no matter how busy, you'll have to stop. Learn by the mistake of Felix and do not put off the Mercy of God.

"Thirdly, Felix could not give up the honor of the world—how he hugged the favor of men. Many similarly court favor of men in these days. Maybe someone here has desired certain honors of this life, but it has slipped away from you. Paul here warned Felix it was his last opportunity. He did not reject God, but put off till a more convenient season. Your entrance into this meeting is a great time and opportunity for seeking God's salvation.

"Maybe there's a boy in this meeting—Mother told you of the love of God and His claims, but you put it off until young manhood; manhood has come and again you put it off till old age. Isn't that the history of many lives in this city of Peterborough? May it not be said that you bid God goodbye. Oh, that to-night the Shepherd might bring in the lost sheep, the Father bring in the prodigal son, the raiser of Lazarus might stand by the tomb of some heart here tonight and restore your dead soul, while yet you have the opportunity."

Simple Home Recipe For Bad Stomach Gives Swift Relief

If you are a victim of Stomach Trouble—Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this good advice.

Artificial digestants and starvation diets are seldom needed. Within reason, most folks may eat what they like, if they will keep their stomach free from souring acids that hinder or paralyze the work of digestion. And the best and easiest way to do this is to follow every meal with a little Bisurated Magnesia—a pleasant, harmless form of Magnesia that swiftly neutralizes acidity and keeps your stomach sweet and clean.

A few days' trial of Bisurated Magnesia (powder or tablets), which any good druggist can supply at trifling cost, should quickly convince you that fully 90 per cent of ordinary stomach distress is absolutely unnecessary. Try Bisurated Magnesia today!

PRINCE WATCHES ANCIENT GAME

It was while witnessing the ancient game of Shrovetide football as the guest of the Duke of Devonshire at Ashbourne, England, that the Prince of Wales broke into the merry laugh with which he is pictured above. Though played for centuries, this was the first time a member of the royal family had expressed a wish to see the game.

Grandmother Knew

there was nothing so good for congestion and colds as mustard. But the old-fashioned mustard plaster burned and blistered.

Musterole gives the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Gently rub it in. See how quickly the pain disappears.

Try Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

UNIFORMS DIFFER

In the recent annual tournament of the Intercollegiate Ladies Basketball Association in Toronto, teams representing University of Toronto, Queen's, McGill and Western Universities competed. The photographs shown above afford an interesting contrast in costumes. The university girls play basketball under girls' rules which prohibit checking of the player with the ball, while the L.O.B.A. girls play under men's rules. The collegians play in the old fashioned middy and bloomer uniforms, which have been in vogue ever since girls have been playing basketball, while the L.O.B.A. girls use the modified men's shorts and jerseys. From left to right are shown—Miss Constance Smith, forward of the Varsity team; Miss Mina Swan, forward of the Lakeside Toronto team; Miss Nora Gordon, forward of the Lakeside team, and Miss Alice Muckle, defense of the Varsity team.

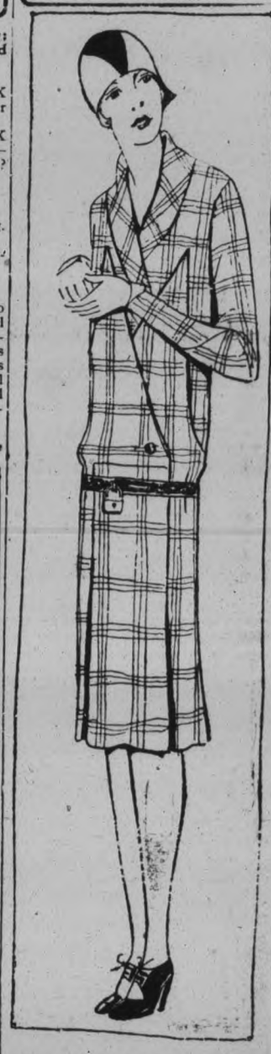
Examination of food by the new lamp has been conducted by Dr. Popp, legal chemist at Frankfort-on-Main. A bluish glow shows the amount of tendons in a sample of sausage, and decay is revealed by a violet shine. Natural fruit juices identify themselves. Wool shows a different fluorescence from cotton or silk.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL



Two shades of gray are shown in the plaid wool used to make this smart costume.

The supposedly quiet tones are sometimes most striking and it sometimes happens that the woman dressed entirely in gray or beige—in a group of other women in multi-colored attire—is as a matter of fact the most arresting figure present.

Gray is enjoying a surprising vogue in Paris at present, surprising in view of the fact that the French have until now considered gray much more appropriate to the English type than the French.

Meanwhile beige holds its own and shows that it is still alive enough to take on new tones for the new season. One of the newest of the season's beige tones is called string. The name alone is enough to recommend it. There is something so blunt and downright about calling a fashionable color simply string. Realism is the fashion in the way of color names—burnt biscuit, pea soup, billiard green, butter, onion skin as against the more romantic color names of the past.

You don't need to be told that violet coats—violet tweed coats—are in fashion. It's rather interesting to note that whenever gray comes to the fore, shades of violet follow, and when violet comes into prominence gray follows in its wake.

I have heard that Mrs. Jerome Bonaparte showed a preference for mauve tones at Palm Beach this season. With light frocks of mauve she sometimes wore a large felt hat also of mauve.

When I look at the new things sent from Paris I am always on the lookout for something that may be made into one of our little pattern-diagrams, and the other day when I saw a cape for a little girl I just hoped that it wouldn't prove too complicated. It occurred to me that there were so many little girls everywhere who needed some such cape to wear over their party frocks. And on examining this little French cape I was delighted to find that it was quite simple.

Lyrics of Life - By Douglas Malloch

THE LIVING CHURCH

Heap high your roofs,
And even higher
Than walls of gray
Your gilded spire,
Yet do not think
To heaven to climb
By gilded spires
On roofs sublime.

For walking down
Some windy street
A worn old woman
You will meet,
And help her through
The traffic's roar—
Will do God's work,
And that means more.

We need a house,
A steeple high,
Our God to praise
And glorify,
But more than gilt
Our steeple needs,
It needs the glow
Of golden deeds.

Then men shall see
This creed of ours
Is not a thing
Of spires and tow'rs,
But walks and breathes
And moves and speaks,
And, if unsought,
Goes out and seeks.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)

THURSDAY, MARCH 8, 1928.

Threatening stars dominate this day, according to astrology which finds many aspects adverse.

Under this planetary government adherence to tried methods of business and avoidance of all chance are wise.

The day is especially menacing for those who deal in stocks and bonds, for the markets will show sudden fluctuations, it is foretold.

Litigation should be avoided at this time when there may be much temptation to go to law on trivial provocation.

Conflict of minds will be more and more intense as the spring advances, it is prophesied, for the stars will cause extreme sensitiveness regarding religion and politics.

Uranus is in an aspect today, that is supposed to make the mind open to suggestion of the pessimistic or critical trend.

This is not an auspicious rule for beginning any new line of business or for developing what is already established.

Merchants should be autious, partiularly those who deal in women's wear, for radi al changes in fashions are foretold.

This is not a lucky day for weddings, astrologers announce, since there may be an inclination toward deceit and suspicion in the domestic partnership.

All the signs appear to indicate much concern regarding love affairs all through this year in which persons of all ages will be susceptible.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of journeys and perhaps financial difficulties.

Children born on this day probably will be serious in mind and inclined to the law. Girls will reveal ability in finance.

NO MATTER WHAT YOUR AGE MAY BE

If Your Life is Handicapped By Inability and Chronic Weakness Make This Test Today!

Remember "old age", lack of ambition, power and the ability to work and enjoy life as in former days is more a matter of reserve vitality and abundant nerve force—than the passing of a certain number of years.

If you really desire it and have a spark of genuine "fighting spirit" left—you do not need to give up your usual activities and submit to the empty meaningless days and chronic weakness of old age—and here's a simple home test to prove it!

Eat plentifully of nourishing foods, take regular but not tiresome exercise and from your druggist obtain a plain sealed package of Double Strength Erbac tablets. The package will contain a 20-day supply, more than enough to convince you or the great value of this special private formula.

No matter about your age or how many treatments you have tried without success—if you now want results you should start this 20-day home test at once. If not well pleased with outcome Bond's or the druggist who supplied you with Erbac is authorized to return your money.

Kitchener Wins Senior O. H. A. Championship

GREENSHIRTS DEFEAT VARSITY BY ONE GOAL IN TWO GAMES; LOSE FINAL GAME BY 2-1 SCORE

Losers Make Gallant Attempt To Cut Down Two Goal Lead.

GIVE ALL THEY HAVE.

Losers Throw Five Men Forward, but Superior Experience Conquers.

TORONTO, March 7. — Epic ice encounters stud the annals of senior hockey history, but few of the sagas of the silver skates hold a chapter which records as gallant a stand as that of University of Toronto against Kitchener last night at the Arena in the second game of the O.H.A. senior final series. The Greenshirts were forced to bow before the Students' battering attacks last night by 2 to 1, but their lead from the first engagement enabled them to win the Ontario Association title by 5 to 4.

There must be something in this "spirit of Varsitee!" The climax of the contest—the final five minutes of play—saw Varsity throwing five men at a sorely-harassed Kitchener defence, penning the Greenshirts behind their own goal and driving bruised and wearied bodies in on the invaders' citadel in a futile attempt to even the score on the round.

Epic of Courage.

Whitehead collapsed from exhaustion in mid-ice; Stewart fought on with his face hidden behind a mask of blood streaming from a cut over his eye; and the other Blue stalwarts carved paths to the very goal mouth on legs that wobbled under the strain but driven by a courage and determination that lives long after tired muscles fail to respond.

Facing a two-goal deficit, the Blue warriors hurled themselves at the green-clad cordon in the first period, and after six minutes of hectic mixing lowered Kitchener's lead by one goal. For the remainder of the frame and through the middle session the pace mounted steadily, as Kitchener's powerful front line retaliated with a will. Four Varsity players pushed the Greenshirts steadily back into their own territory in the early stages of the final dash, but the Twin City veterans were playing cannily, ever watching for the "break." It came after eight minutes, when Roth intercepted a pass, slipped handily around Richards, who held the second line alone, and beat Snyder on a tricky lift from ten feet out. Up went five Varsity men on the attack, and they crashed their way through for a goal with three minutes left to play.

Two Goals Called Back.

Twice during this final 20 minutes the Students pierced the Green bulwark to lodge the rubber in the net, but Referee Smith ruled both plays illegal.

Five minutes before Varsity scored their second goal a three-man passing attack enabled Richards to drive the puck past Berner. The goal was ruled offside. Then four minutes later the same player circled the Kitchener net, and in the melee that ensued the red light flashed. Again the arbiter called the play—and on those two decisions flickered an O.H.A. championship for Varsity and the prospect of Allan Cup laurels.

Whether the official was right or wrong is a matter of conjecture. He alone was on the play, and he was closer than the partisan fans who hurled programs and verbal abuse in the bitterness of their disappointment. Many a railbird tossed his leg over the barrier for the rush that might have started a small riot, but cooler heads prevailed and the play went on.

Experience Turns Tide.

It was that leavening of experience that gave Kitchener the title. There was little to choose between the teams in offensive and defensive power, though the Blue had the margin in aggressiveness forced by their opponents' two-goal lead. Battling stubbornly under severe pressure, the Green Shirts made few mistakes, and the coolness of Goaler Berner, the ancient Karges and the Sulky Cammie Seagram held the frenzied attacks of the Students at bay in the pinches when a greener team would have collapsed in utter bewilderment.

It was the fastest amateur game of the season and the pity of it was that only three thousand fans turned out. Great wide open spaces were apparent in the sections, but the honors at stake and the willingness of the teams to open the play had the spectators on edge every minute. It is safe to say that not a fan rested on the benches for more than three minutes of the final period. Wildly partisan cheering, colored by the ringing "shout and fight" war cry of Toronto Varsity provided a fitting background to the fast moving spectacle on the ice.

The much advertised — and unfortunately much used—six-man defence was conspicuous by its absence. It was seldom used and then only when the attacking divisions forced the opposition to fall into the formation by persistent pressing, as Varsity did in the final session. It was a reversion to the style of play that made senior hockey the great drawing card it was a few years back. The front lines swept in with never a thought of checking back until the play was completed.

The teams:

Kitchener—Goal, Berner; defence, Karges and Schneider; centre, Seagram; wings, Molson and Roth; subs, Heller and Farrell.

Varsity—Goal, Snyder; defence, Kirkpatrick and Whitehead; centre, McMullen; wings, Harley and Richards; subs, Legon and Stewart.

Referee—Guy Smith, Hamilton.

The Summary.

First Period:

1—Varsity, Harley, 6.00.

Second Period:

No score.

Third Period:

2—Kitchener, Roth, 8.00.

3—Varsity, Whitehead, 9.00.

RIVAL SCHOOLS CLASH HERE IN FINAL BATTLE

Belleville and Peterborough Students Come Together To-night.

A REAL ARGUMENT.

Easterners Fast and Clever, But Local Team is Confident.

Belleville and Peterborough Collegiates will clash at Brock Street Rink to-night in the first game of a home-and-home series to decide the Interscholastic championship, and the game should be well worth seeing.

The local students, who are in a position to give Peterborough one hockey title have played splendid hockey this year and their record is one of the best in the history of the school. They won their own series from Port Hope, defeated Bowmanville, who had previously eliminated Oshawa, and then travelled to Orillia and defeated Bracebridge, the northern winners.

The Belleville team is reported to be fast and clever but the Garnet and Grey players are confident of victory, not only to-night, but on the round.

There should be a real crowd out to-night to support the Students.

The ice will be in good shape.

BRICKSEN LEADS IN THIRD LAP

Takes Lead Over Quamamahu Over Trying Uphill Desert Course.

TRANSCONTINENTAL DERBY.

VICTORVILLE, Calif., March 7. — (Canadian Press.)—Another flying son of Finland came in for laurels in the transcontinental foot derby yesterday when Nester Ericksen showed his heels to the dwindling field of runners and walkers by covering 45.4 miles of the 3,400 mile course in 6 hours 4 minutes and 20 seconds.

Ericksen flashed into the lead in the third lap after a thrilling race with the Hopi Indian runner, Quamawahu, which took them past a trying uphill course over the summit of Cajon Pass, 4,250 feet above sea level.

Honors on the two laps of the race, 12 miles from Los Angeles to Puente, and 34.4 miles to Bloomington, had been won by a fellow countryman sturdy Willie Kolehmainen of New York City. The long hard course from Bloomington to Victorville had its effects yesterday and more than a dozen entrants dropped from the running, including Paolo Bruno, walking mate of Umek, the Italian entry.

What You Want In the WANT ADS

JOHNSTON'S LEGS ARE PLAYED OUT

Mary K. Browne Thinks California May Get Back in Big Ten of Tennis.

Little Bill Johnston has passed from the ranks of the big ten of American tennis for the year 1928, but I do not believe permanently, unless he decides not to compete again in eastern tournaments.

Little Bill told me just after his unsuccessful attempt to hold the fort against the French offensive that he would not join the tennis "A.E.F." on its pilgrimage to return the "Holy Tennis Grail" to the United States. He has had enough Davis Cup play. He thought the youngsters should be given a chance. He wanted to devote himself more to business and less to tennis.

Johnston has had a remarkable record in Davis Cup play, having won 11 out of 12 Davis Cup matches covering a period of six years up until last season's play when he tried something new, entirely new. He thought he could reach top form with only 10 days' practice on grass and did not enter any of the preliminary tournaments leading up to the Davis Cup matches.

He felt he should conserve every atom of strength in his scarcely more than an atom of body because he knew the French tactics were to prolong the rallies with the idea of exhausting him. Big Bill Tilden overdid things in the opposite direction. He played enough tennis to spread thickly over a period of two seasons. Funny, we could not have had two more widely different methods of training for the same event.

Both were wrong in going to opposite extremes. The Frenchmen carefully conserved their energy, holding in reserve their best efforts until the crucial moment arrived, when they then unleashed their full strength.

How my heart ached for Little Bill in these historical matches which gave the famous trophy to France! His last match against Henri Cochet decided the issue. Little Bill struggled valiantly against too great odds. Here was youth in its first flush of Davis Cup play pitted against the tired and frail-looking veteran of seven years of defense.

Bill Johnston was glorious in defeat as he always had been in victory. He never gave way when he was twice within a point of losing the match. He rallied and took the game and the set, only to fall a victim finally of his own lack of stamina, rather than his lack of tennis equipment.

I remember then being struck with the thought that here was Little Bill with just as fine strokes as ever, one of the greatest match players the game has ever had, just as keen of eye and brave of heart—but his legs had lost the urge to go.

Sports history repeating itself. Further proof that legs go first. At that identical moment when Johnston was playing a losing game ON FOOT, the older veterans of international polo, Devereux Milburn, Watson Webb and Malcolm Stephenson, were playing a winning game because they were mounted on fast ponies with young legs.

I have known Little Bill for many years and know him to be sensitive about his frail physique. He hates to be babied. Time and again he has left the east determined to put on pounds of weight, but he cannot do it. He has never weighed over 130 pounds and loses rapidly when playing in competition.

Well I remember the historic match when Big Bill and Little Bill, each with "two legs" on the national trophy, met in the finals and the match decided the permament possession of the trophy. Tilden's entire game was designed to exhaust Johnston. The first two sets he just kept the ball in play as much as possible. Tilden told me afterwards he dared not bring forth his best shots against an untired Johnston, for they would come back and he, Tilden, would lose confidence.

Johnston won the first two sets and many thought that Little Bill would make it three straight. However, before the third set progressed very far it was not hard to see the handwriting on the wall. Billy began to tire. His shots lost their sting and depth. Then Tilden started to fire over his cannonball service and stinging drives, and Little Bill wilted under the steady barrage. He played the last set on his nerve, completely exhausted and lost the match.

Little Bill, in discussing the match afterward, told me that when he began to tire, Tilden seemed to assume the proportions of a giant and to grow larger and larger. I could visualize Little Bill looking around frantically for his bean stalk.

It is to be hoped that tennis fans have not seen the last of Little Bill in tennis competitions, but it would be unkind to expect more of him in Davis Cup play.

IN TRAINING CAMP

TID-BITS FROM MAJOR CAMPS IN SOUTH

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 7. — The Philadelphia Athletics took the final workout yesterday in preparation for the opening exhibition game of the training season with the Phillies here to-day.

This Speaker made four hits, fielded sensationally, and stole a base in the regulars' 11 to 9 victory over the Yannigans.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 7. — Ernie Nevers, former Stanford football and baseball star, will pitch the first three innings of the St. Louis Browns' opening exhibition game with the Cincinnati Reds here on Saturday. The infield will be composed of Blue at first, Brannon at second, Kress at short, and O'Rourke at third. With Heinie Manush still absent, the outfield is uncertain.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 7. — Outfielder Arnold Statz was due here yesterday to complete the Brooklyn Robins' squad of 36 players with the exception of Ray Moss, invalid pitcher. Manager Wilbert Robinson plans to start double workouts.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 7. — First Baseman Bill Terry and Catcher Jack Cummings were scheduled to take their first workouts of the training season with the New York Giants yesterday.

NORWAY WINS SKATING HONORS

Sonja Heni Captures Ladies' Skating Championship For Second Time.

ROYALTY ATTEND.

LONDON, March 7 (Associated Press). — Flashing over the ice like an ethereal nymph, garbed in emerald green, little Sonja Henie, of Norway, won her second world's championship in ladies' figure skating yesterday, with the graceful, spirited Maribel Vinson, of Boston, in second place. Only a few points separated the two in the official scoring. Miss Henie getting 1,865¼ and Miss Vinson 1,779 points.

Probably the biggest sensation of the whole exhibition was Constance Wilson, of Toronto. Clad in white from top to toe, she spun, floated, dived, and dipped like a Canadian snowflake.

Miss Wilson's point scoring in Monday's compulsory figures, however, was not on a level with the other competitors, and she was placed fourth with 1,721½ points. Third place went to Fritzi Burger, of Vienna, who, in a cerise costume, seemed to be a red flame darting about the rink. She scored 1,765 points.

According to Ulrich Salchow, president of the International Skating Union, both Miss Wilson and Miss Vinson have good chances of winning the championship at Budapest next year. Miss Vinson has all the dash and grace of a champion, and needs only a little polish and perfection in her free style exhibitions. Miss Wilson is already excellent at free skating, and wants only pace and firmness in executing the set figures. Salchow characterized Miss Wilson's exhibition yesterday afternoon as the best ever seen in Europe, and said she would have had a fine chance of winning if Monday's tests had not lowered her score.

The speed and daring, the perfection of the figures the little Norwegian girl, Sonja Henie, cut on the ice counted heavily, while her jumps with two complete revolutions in the air and her spins on flat skates were revelations to Londoners, who were seeing their first figure-skating championship in many years.

Miss Henie repeated her recent victory in the Olympic championships at St. Moritz.

Their Majesties evidently enjoyed Monday night's performance so much that they went back to the palace and spread the news, for yesterday afternoon the whole Royal box was filled with titled celebrities, headed by Princess Victoria, who applauded the display by half a dozen girls from five countries.

Miss Vinson, a beautiful, slim figure in a mauve costume, faced a difficult task against Miss Henie, but she smiled as she met it, and at the termination of her five minutes' exhibition of glides, spins, jumps, and spreadeagles, she was greeted with great applause.

MILLBROOK HOLDS CAREW CUP STILL

Defeats Challengers From Gravenhurst in Close Game.

MILLBROOK, March 6.—A rink from Gravenhurst came here on the 9.35 train on Monday night to play for the Carew Challenge Cup, the trophy being won for the fourth successive time this season by the local club, a different rink defending it on each occasion.

The ice was in splendid condition and the game was a fine exhibition of good curling throughout; a sixteen-end game is compulsory for this Cup, and it was not until after the fourteenth end that the local four were able to keep the lead, the score being pretty well tied up till that time, and finally coming out 15—10.

Four times since the new year the Carew Cup has been carried to the rink when the challenge games were scheduled, and four times it has been carried back to its central position among the other trophies, brought home from various bonspiels, and displayed in J. Steele's window.

The play on Monday night began about ten o'clock, and lasted until around 1.30, a large number of spectators being on hand for the game. The rinks were:

Gravenhurst:	Millbrook.
A. J. Bass	J. A. Vance
E. N. Clipsham	J. E. Allen
W. F. Wasley	G. W Sayles
A. W. Gaudrie	J. N. McGill

By ends the score was:

Gravenhurst . . .1003010111011000—10

Millbrook . . . .2010103000300112—15

Fenelon Falls is next in line in the list of challengers and the play will come off within ten days, or at the most two weeks, providing the ice will permit.

GROVE GRADS DEFEAT RATS

Lose Out 8-6 in Lakefield District Hockey League Fixture.

GOALIES GOOD.

Lakefield, March 7. — One of the fastest hockey matches played in Lakefield, was played on Monday night when the Rink Rats and the Grads battled through three strenuous periods and ten minutes overtime, to decide which team would stay in the district league to the finish. The Rats were eliminated after a keen game by a score of 8-6. The game was clean for a game as fast as it was but both sides used their weight at every chance. The goalies were both good and played a strong game and while a few went in they were as naught to those which were stopped. Moore and Hamblin were outstanding in their work.

For the Grads Loosemore and Hamilton were the stars of the team and throughout played a good game, their hard work saving the game for the Grads when the Rats were tired out. Stabler Northey and "Babe" Wannamaker were the stars of the Rats' aggregation and if they had kept their positions throughout instead of pushing Northey back to the defence the outcome of the game might have been different. Northey is a front line man and plays well with his team mates and the three put up the best combination of the game.

While picking out a few to give special credit, it is only fair to state that every man played his best and worked for his team from the first bell to the last clang of the gong. The bell was handled by John Sabatino.

The first period was decidedly to the advantage of the Rats who played splendid combination and strong defence.

One minute after the bell rang Stabler scored and five minutes later again eluded Moore's vigilance and scored again. Tate found the nets four minutes later and after four minutes' close play "Babe" Wannamaker added another to the Rats' score. Hamilton scored one minute later and "Babe" in one minute later.

The first period had no penalties and was the best in some respects.

Second period was marked in its early stages by rather wild shooting —apparently the Rats only wished to hold the score as it was but after a few minutes of hard though rather desultory play both teams tightened up and got down to real hockey.

Eleven minutes after the period opened Stabler scored and two minutes later "Babe" Wanamaker scored what proved to be the last goal for the Rats.

The Grads came into their own when Pringle, a young but very reliable player scored two minutes after "Babe," one minute later Tate surprised Hamblin by a long shot from the side line, and three minutes later Loosemore scored again. "Curley" Northey drew the only penalty of the period.

The third period was the keenest as both sides were out to win and the checking was close. Over and over Hamilton rushed but never was allowed to connect with the nets. After 18 minutes of hard work Loosemore scored the only goal of the period which tied the score.

Hamblin, Stabler and "Babe" Wannamaker each spent a short vacation in the penalty box for minor offences.

The referee announced ten minutes overtime and in each section the Grads scored once, Hamilton scoring first and Loosemore one minute before the last gong.

Broomaloo.

The mill operatives and the electricians of the Canada Cement plant played a game of Broomaloo on Monday evening in the rink. G. H. Loosemore handled the bell. The game was close and neither side scored. Louis Sabatino guarded the citadel of the Electricians and Dan Huston was the custodian of the operatives' nets. The nets were larger than the regulation hockey net with the network triangularly placed on the frame and a bar across the front, and are evidently designed for this game which is a favorite at the Cement plant. All the players appeared to enjoy themselves and while the checking was close and tumbles frequent it is played less seriously than hockey. Both sides were well supplied with rooters who advised from the side lines.

The teams were as follows:

Electricians: L. Sabatino, Cramp, J. Brown, Abrams, C. Jackman, R. Alford, N. McCracken, J. O'Neill, A. Simpson, F. Davidson.

Operatives: D. Huston, E. Robertshaw, L. Kerr, K. Junkin W. Wingett, M. Meade, P. Condon.

TROUBLE BREWING OVER JUNIOR FINALS

Arena Gardens Claim a Definite Agreement For All Three Dates.

TORONTO, March 7.—S. P. "Silver" Quilty of Ottawa may have announced that the dominion junior hockey finals will be played here March 21 at the Arena Gardens, March 23 at Varsity arena, and March 26—if necessary—back again at the Arena Gardens, but there may be legal action for breach of agreement before the thing is over. A. B. Taylor, manager of the Arena Gardens, yesterday submitted to his directors details of an alleged agreement made between Dr. Sandercock of Calgary, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, the Arena Gardens of Toronto and other interested parties by which the Arena Gardens were to get all the dominion junior finals and that they were to be played March 26, 28, 30 and submitted the question of legal action to enforce that agreement to them. Taylor says that to keep the Arena Gardens free for the dates the C.A.H.A. agreed upon for the dominion junior finals he, at great pains, secured the consent of the Toronto Skating Club to advance the dates of their annual skating carnival and ice divertisement to March 22-23, and he feels that the Arena Gardens has been unfairly deprived of the second junior final gate by the switch in the dates announced by Quilty from Ottawa. Taylor's dealings were with Dr. Sandercock and to-day he despatched by wire a strong protest against the change in the original dates.

JERSEY CITY HAS YOUNG PLAYERS

Young Blood Form Nucleus of International Club This Season.

MERIDIAN, Miss., March 7.—Young blood will form the nucleus of the Jersey City Club of the International League this season.

Manager Frank Gilhooley, former New York Yankee and Toronto outfielder, will depend largely on players under 25 to keep Jersey City in the pennant race. Of the forty players on the squad only six are veterans.

The most prominent vets are Jim Bagby, the former Cleveland hurling star; Herb Thormahlen, former New York Yankee southpaw; Goldie Rapp, former New York Giant third baseman, and Outfielder Otis Lawry.

Gilhooley expects his pitching staff to be as strong as any in the league. The pitchers are tall and rangy, all measuring over six feet excepting Sammy Horne.

With Ed. Kunesch, Williard (C.Q.) Fleming, Lawry, and himself in the outfield, Gilhooley anticipates no weakness there.

If the young catchers and outfielders come through as expected, Gilhooley believes Jersey City will have a formidable team this season.

AT THE CAPITOL.

KEN'S LATEST FILM CRAMMED FULL OF VIVID ADVENTURE

One of the most romantic and picturesque as well as the fastest and most thrilling picture Ken Maynard has ever made is his latest, "The Canyon of Adventure," which is scheduled for the Capitol Theatre tomorrow.

Maynard is fast developing, if he is not already one of the most popular Western stars on the screen today. His daring and spectacular trick riding, coupled with a winning personality and real acting ability have won him an enviable position among the screen notables. In this latest epic, "The Canyon of Adventure" which tells of the old California during the days of the Spanish dons and grandees, he has won still more plaudits.

"The Canyon of Adventure" was written especially for him by Marion Jackson, who has been responsible for practically all of his stories and was compiled with true historical fact in mind as well as providing ample opportunity for fast action, quick moving and daring riding. The story is laid during the time of California's entry into the Union and the trouble of land laws concerning the huge land grants given by the King of Spain to the Western dons. Many of these grants were not registered in the government land office and naturally became public property.

Maynard has the role of a young, dashing U. S. arm officer who tries to prevent complications of international law, only to run into plenty of trouble with individuals and, of course, the girl.

The cast includes Virginia Browne Faire, who has the leading femininte role; Eric Mayne, Theodore Lorch and William Franey. Albert Rogell is the director, with Harry J. Brown supervising production.

AT THE REGENT.

MAKES HIMSELF OVER FOR ROLE.

Conrad Nagel Finds New Medium in M.G.M.'s "There you Are."

Every now and then a screen star makes himself over successfully.

This is what Conrad Nagel has apparently done. The dignified and romantic hero of society dramas and aristocratic stories such as Elinor Glyn's "The Only Thing," has lapsed from these into a whimsical type of comedy that in a way suggests the late Thomas Reid—only he goes a step further in it. And—judging from the gale of mirth that greeted "There You Are," directed by Edward Sedgwick, running at the Regent Theatre, has found a medium that will probably raise him to greater heights than did the former type of work that first won him stardom.

There can be no doubt that Conrad Nagel can become the supreme comedian of the screen—if he wants to. He has the facility of getting gales of laughter by a little trick—a sudden expression, or some little mannerism. Not a bit of slapstick mars his performance; he doesn't need it. He is one of the most finished actors on the stage, and that is why in comedy, the hardest of all acting, he seems to bid fair to become a new king.

The new story which Metro-Goldwin-Mayer produced from F. Hugh Herbert's hilarious novel, tells the tale of an office clerk eloping with an heiress, pursued by an angry father, and most of a city traffic squad; tangled in a maze of mistaken identity and saddled with a strange baby, and an irrepressibly friendly collie dog. Between them they keep him as busy as a Mexican jumping bean.

Nagel's smooth acting has an excellent foil in the beautiful Edith Roberts, who plays the heroine of the new story, and George Fawcett as the irate father does a bit of inimitable comedy. Eddie Gribbon as the hard-boiled taxi driver, tough as a cafeteria steak, is another great character in the lightning-like comedy, and Phillips Smalley, Gwen Lee, Gertrude Bennett and other players, are admirably cast.

There are thrills with the laughs—a remarkable chase through city traffic, a taxicab traffic jam that creates howls of mirth, a desperate jump from an apartment window, and other comical embellishments.

KELLAND STORY STARTS AT REGENT THEATRE TO-MORROW

"The Masked Menace," the new ten chapter Pathe serial, adapted from Clarence Budington Kelland's Saturday Evening Post story, "Still Face," starts Thursday at the Regent Theatre with the showing of "Against Odds," the first chapter. Larry Kent and Jean Arthur are starred.

Westminster, a New England lumber mill town, ils the scene of the amazing, startling and enthralling story written in Mr. Kelland's most entertaining manner. There two interesting things happen almost simultaneously—a stranger comes to town to live and sets tongues wagging because his beautiful face never moves; and Grandma Newton decides to attempt to recoup the family fortunes by running the old lumber mill again. The stranger is known as "Still Face" and Grandma's petulant and spoiled granddaughter, Faith, objects to throwing what little money they have into the hopeless task of operating the mill. This attitude makes her naturally hateful to Keats Dodd, Grandma's chief support and a very nice young man whom Faith normally should have fallen in love with at sight. But, the insidious and mysterious "Still Face" interests her far more, which is dangerous!

Mine Market Steady; Early Advances Lost

TORONTO, Mar. 7. — (Canadian Press.)—Sherritt Gordon and Hudson Bay Smelting were the favorites on the standard mining exchange this morning. The remainder of the list showed steadiness, though Sudbury Basin and Pend O'Reille appeared weak. Many good gains were knocked down to moderate improvements by noon. Sheritt finished at 775, up thirty cents, and Hudson Bay 25 cents higher at 17.50. Sudbury Basin eased to 885 for a loss of 30, while Pend lost 19 at 1806.

The Kirkland Lakes were strong with Wright Hargreaves touching 5.60 and finishing at 5.51 bid for a gain of just one point. Kirkland Lake's close of 2.14 was also a net gain of one point after touching a much higher mark, while Teck Hughes and Sylvanite were slightly higher. Barry Hollinger continued strong around 107.

Wheat Steady To-day While Corn Declines

CHICAGO, Mar. 7. — (Canadian Press.)—Unusual steadinesss prevailed in the wheat market to-day during the early dealing, prices being upheld by continued reports of probable heavy abandonment east of the Mississippi. Corn was easy owing to favorable weather for corn movement. Opening unchanged to ¼c. up, but subsequently underwent a setback to below yesterday's finish. Oats were relatively firm.

Opening prices were: Wheat, March 137, May 137¼. Corn, March 95⅛, May 98⅜. Oats, March 57¼, May 58⅝.

Toronto Market Firm But Quiet This Morning

TORONTO, March 7 (Canadian Press). — International Nickel was the outstanding stock on a quiet market on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, and after opening at 85½ slumped to 83½ at the close for a net loss of 2¼ points. Page Hersey was very active and closed at 94 for a gain of ¼ over yesterday's close. Building Products, although not very active, made a gain of 1½ at 41½, and Brazilian Rights, selling at 19¾, made a gain of ⅞. International Petroleum and British American Oil were two outstanding leaders in the unlisted section, selling up ¼ at 37 and 35¾ respectively. Carlings at 37 was up ⅝ over yesterday's close, White Maple Leaf Preferred and Canadian Industrial Alcohol made fractional gains. City Dairy suffered the biggest loss, selling down one point at 46.

Stock Prices Climb In New York Market

NEW YORK, March 7 (Canadian Press).—Stock prices resumed their upward movement after an early period of irregularity today, with new leaders brought forward when some of the old favorites showed signs of lagging. General Motors continued in the forefront of the advance, creating a new high record for the fourth consecutive session. After touching 150¾ in the early trading, Motors sold down to 148¾, but was back near the top by early afternoon.

The raising of the annual Rock Island Railroad Common dividend from $5 to $6 and the statement of weekly trade reviews that steel production is being well maintained with indications that the present rate of operations may carry through April, in contrast with the decline in that month a year ago, had a bullish effect on speculative sentiment. The only disturbing note was the further collapse in crude rubber to the lowest prices in several years, which was reflected in renewed weakness of rubber shares.

Hudson assumed a more prominent place in the motor group by advancing three points to a new 1928 top at 90¾, or within 1¼ points of last year's top. Radio, after selling down to around 97, rallied to 99, one block of 11,500 shares changing hands at the top price in the early afternoon.

MINES.

F. G. Oke and Company wire as follows:

Toronto, March 7. — The Mining Market this morning continued its upward tendency. The features were that of Howey Gold, which opened up at $1.50 per share, and maintained most of this gain over yesterday's closing prices under heavy profit-taking. The reason for this movement is believed anticipation of developments on the 500-foot level at Howey Gold and rumors that Mr. Hammell has given assurance of progress reports being issued from time to time as exploration and development proceeds.

Kirkland Lake Gold also showed an appreciable gain over yesterday's prices and seems in sound position for further advances.

Amulet was a little off, selling as low as $3.85 on the report, that the annual report of Amulet would not be issued until after June 30. Apparently the fiscal year was changed when Amulet Mines, Limited, the present company, took over the assets and liabilities of Amulet Gold Mines, Ltd.

It seems as though the anticipated report on ore reserves and ore in sight has been connected with this statement, but we wish to bring the notice of those with this opinion that because the annual meeting of Amulet will not be held until the end of June. It does not necessarily mean that the Amulet management will wait until this time before coming out with an official statement regarding ore reserves and ore in sight. This statement is still confidently expected in the comparatively near future.

Bedford and McDougall were in strong demand at current prices this morning, apparently on account of the advance in Sherritt-Gordon, for McDougall and Bedford each hold well over 150,000 shares of Sherritt-Gordon.

Sherritt-Gordon certainly appears strong at current quotations, and we would not be surprised at a further advance in this issue.

The remainder of the market was quite firm, and it seems that we can look for further forward movement in the Mining Market to materially higher levels during the course of the next few days.

Manitoba Mines Become Prominent

Manitoba is to-day among Caanda's real mining provinces. The change in the last twelve months has been remarkable in two ways. First in the mining development that has taken place and secondly, but not the least, the attitude of the public is judged by the situation in Winnipeg. Manitoba has, to-day, coming along precious and base metal mines of the first magnitude. A year ago it was a toss-up if any of them would make good. A year ago people of the province knew little about mining and the great majority cared less. To-day they are keenly alive to the tremendous business expansion which must come to their province, and which has already made itself manifest, as a result of the mineral development.

In regard to base metals, the outlook is decidedly encouraging for the setting up of an industry that will vie with that at Sudbury. Already there are two properties, Flin Flon and Sherritt Gordon that measure their ore in millions of tons each with a copper and zinc content and a nice sweetener of precious metals. In close proximity are two others, Callman Flin Flon and Mandy, that have a considerable amount of ore and great prospects of more. In addition there are reports of innumerable important discoveries, important because initial sampling shows good values and good widths that are yet to be opened out as to length and tested as to depth. The big and interesting features about the know and tested deposits and which temoprarily at least provides a sort of yard stick by which to measure others, is that the deposits are so large and well defined as to make it possible to measure the ore with considerable accuracy by diamond drilling. This means that a limited expenditure on diamond drilling, following surface exploration, will actually block out ore, something it is impossible to do in gold mining. The result is that the element of risk is greatly reduced and a minimum gamble quickly decides the fate of the property.

Sherritt-Gordon may be cited. The body has been proven to extend for about 18,000 feet in length. It will average 15 feet in width and has been proven to be as strong at 500 feet as on the surface, and will run at least $13.00 per ton with the ore body so strong as 500 feet, it is assumed, and this is considered good mining practice, that it carries to 1,000 feet in depth. Thus then in an ore body—say 12,000 by 1,000 by 15 feet or 240,000,000 cubic feet or ore per 1,000 feet of depth—dividing by 12, the number of cubic feet to the ton gives 20,000,000 tons worth of ore worth at least $13.00 per ton gross or $260,000,000. This is a gross figure, and from this must come metallurgical losses, etc., which will materially cut into the real value, but there are still possibilities that this length will be materially added to, and there are great possibilities of the same ore carrying to great depth.

There are estimates that the limited amount of work done on the Flin Flon has put in sight $268,000,000 of ore down to a depth of 2,000 feet, and this deposit also has possibilities of great increases, especially under Flin Flon Lake, which belongs of Callinan Flin Flon.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the area to the north of Sherritt-Gordon, which is about 120 miles west and north from The Pas, and mineralized zones of great width and showing high values for the limited sampling done, are indicated.

Central Manitoba, which is an area about 100 miles north from Winnipeg and stretching east to the Ontario boundary, promises to develop into an important gold producing section. Already it has one producer. Central Manitoba mines and has three others that are indicated mines. There are also promising prospects coming along.

The striking feature about these deposits is the great length of the veins and fairly consistent widths. Not all the veins are alike. In some cases the gold is fine grained and not visible with values yell disseminated and fairly consistent. This is true of Central Manitoba Mines. On others there is plenty of free gold and fairly consistent with a great widening tendency in depth. Eldorado Mines is a typical example of this. In others are places where veritable jewellery boxes are opened up and values are high, things somewhat spotty and with a very good average. An encouraging feature is that funds are now being made available freely and practically. Every operation is in good hands, with money being spent intelligently under skilled engineering and geological guidance. This promises well for the future of the industry in this Province. Capital expenditures now being made are tremendous, and promise to benefit all branches of business in the province.

ICE FISHING RULE ASKED BY CHAMBER

Resolutions Forwarded To Interested Departments Some Weeks Ago.

Commending W. H. Bradburn, M.P. P., on his request made to the Fish and Game committee of the Legislature, that fishing through the ice be prohibited in his constituency, Secretary F. G. Stinson, of the Chamber of Commerce, recalled that on February 17, the Chamber had passed and forwarded resolutions to the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa and the Department of Game and Fisheries, Toronto, urging that in view of the immediate likelihood of the lakes being entirely robbed of their fish, legislation be passed and enforced to stop ice fishing in the counties of Northumberland, Durham, Peterborough and Victoria.

These resolutions were in accordance with the policies of and measures advocated by the Peterborough County Fish and Game Protective Association, the Trent Waterway Development Association, and similar bodies interested in fishing and the tourist trade.

GRAFTON'S SAY "OUT WITH 'EM"

Repeating the Offering of Last Week For Another Three Days' Rush Sale.

The wonderful reception given last week's 3-day sale, and the requests of many who were unable to take advantage of it, has resulted in the decision to repeat the phenomenal event for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Some of last week's items were completely exhausted, but these have been replaced by other just as attractive, and the same three day rush is confidently expected by the management. Such a store wide price slash as this is announced to be, could not be continued, but for the three days mentioned, the policy of the big store will be, 'Out With 'Em."

Kootenay Florence

Mining Company, Limited

(Non-Personal Liability)

CAPITALIZATION

$1,200,000 in shares of par value of 20 cents.

PROPERTIES

PROPERTY comprises Kootenay Florence and Lakeshore groups, adjoining Highland mine of Consolidated Smelters, on the west shore of Kootenay Lake, near Ainsworth, B. C., in all approximately 700 acres.

KOOTENAY FLORENCE has yielded over $1,000,000 worth of lead-silver ore from upper workings, and lake level adit is now being driven to open these ore bodies at further depth of 550 feet. Tunnel is now in between 2,600 and 2,700 feet, and will reach its objective at 3,200 feet within the next few months.

EQUIPMENT includes 200-ton concentrating plant, hydro-electric plant, locomotives and all other necessities to economical mining operations. Electric power is being brought in from Balfour, twelve miles south, where connection is made with the municipal lines of the City of Nelson.

CASH resources ample to carry out all development and re-equipment necessary to production, which should be reached this summer on a large scale.

In view of the interesting stage of development we believe Kootenay Florence offers a peculiarly attractive opportunity for profit at present levels, and so recommend it.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

© Charles Scribner's Sons

by S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR of THE BENSON MURDER CASE

THE STORY THUS FAR

Margaret Odell is found strangled. Skeel's finger prints are found in the apartment, but Vance believes Skeel had been hiding in a closet while the strangler did his work. The thing that baffles police is the side door to the alley, which had been bolted on the inside the night before and was found the same way in the morning. Mannix, Dr. Lindquist and Cleaver all lie about their whereabouts the night of the murder. Spotswoode, who had called on the girl, had rushed to her door at the sound of a scream, but had been reassured that everything was all right. Then Skeel is found strangled, after promising to tell who murdered the girl. Heath arrests Jessup, believing him the only one able to manipulate the side door; but Vance demonstrates how Skeel could have done it.

CHAPTER XLV.

(Monday, September 17: noon)

When Vance finished speaking, there was several minutes' silence. Markham sat deep in his chair glaring into space. Heath, however, was watching Vance with a kind of grudging admiration. The corner-stone in the foundation of his case against Jessup had been knocked out, and the structure he had built was tottering precariously. Markham realized this, and the fact played havoc with his hopes.

"I wish your inspirations were more helpful," he grumbled, turning his gaze upon Vance. "This latest revelation of yours puts us back almost to where we started from."

"Oh, don't be pessimistic. Let us face the future with a bright eye . . . Want to hear my theory?—it's fairly bulging with possibilities."

He arranged himself comfortably in his chair. "Skeel needed money—no doubt his silk shirts were running low—and after his unsuccessful attempt to extort it from the lady a week before her demise, he came here last Monday night.

"He had learned she would be out, and he intended to wait forher; for she had probably refused to receive him in the custom'ry social way. He knew the side door was bolted at night, and, as he didn't want to be seen entering the apartment, he devised the little scheme of unbolting the door for himself under cover of a futile call at half-past nine.

"The unbolting accomplished, he returned via the alleyway, and let himself into the apartment at some time before eleven. When the lady returned with an escort, he quickly hid in the clothes closet, and remained there until the escort had departed. Then he came forth, and the lady, startled by his sudden appearance, screamed.

"But, on recognizing him, she told Spotswoode, who was now hammering at the door, that it was all a mistake. So Spotswoode ran along and played poker. A financial discussion between Skeel and the lady—probably a highly acrimonious tiff—ensued. In the midst of it the telephone rang, and Skeel snatched off the receiver and said the Canary was out.

"The tiff was resumed; but presently another suitor appeared on the scene. Whether he rang the bell or let himself in with a key I can't say—probably the latter, for the phone operator was unaware of his visit. Skeel hid himself a second time in the closet, and luckily took the precaution of locking himself in. Also, he quite naturally put his eyes to the keyhole to see who the second intruder was."

Vance pointed to the closet door. "The keyhole, you will observe, is on a line with the davenport; and as Skeel peered out into the room he saw a sight that froze his blood. The new arrival—in the midst, perhaps, of some endearing sentence—seized the lady by the throat and proceeded to throttle her. . . Imagine Skeel's emotions, my dear Markham. There he was, crouching in a dark closet, and a few feet from him stood a murderer in the act of strangling a lady!

"I don't wonder he was petrified and speechless. He saw what he imagined to be maniacal fury in the strangler's eyes; and the strangler must have been a fairly powerful creature, whereas Skeel was slender and almost undersized. . . No, merci. Skeel wasn't having any. He lay doggo. And I can't say that I blame the beggar, what?"

He made a gesture of interrogation.

"What did the strangler do next? Well, well; we'll probably never know, now that Skeel, the horrified witness, has gone to his Maker. But I rather imagine he got out that black document box, opened it with a key he had taken from the lady's hand-bag, and extracted a goodly number of incriminating documents.

"Then, I fancy, the fireworks began. The gentleman proceeded to wreck the apartment in order to give the effect of a professional burglary. He tore the lace on the lady's gown and severed the shoulder-strap; snatched her orchid corsage and threw it in her lap; stripped off her rings and bracelets; and tore the pendant from its chain.

"After that he upset the lamp, rifled the escritoire, ransacked the Boule cabinet, broke the mirror, overturned the chairs, tore the draperies. . . And all the time Skeel kept his eye glued to the keyhole with fascinated horror, afraid to move, terrified lest he be discovered and sent to join his erstwhile inamorata, for by now he was no doubt thoroughly convinced that the man outside was a raving lunatic.—I can't say that I envy Skeel his predicament it was ticklish, y' know. Rather!—and the devastation went on. He could hear it even when the operations had passed from out his radius of vision. And he himself was caught like a rat in a trap, with no means of escape. A harrowin' situation—my word!"

Vance smoked a moment, and then shifted his position slightly.

"Y' know, Markham, I imagine that the worst moment in the whole of Skeel's checkered career came when that mysterious wrecker tried to open the closet door behind which he was crouching.

"Fancy! There he was cornered, and not two inches from him stood, apparently, a homicidal maniac trying to get to him, rattling that thin barricade of white pine. . . Can you picture the blighter's relief when the murderer finally released the knob and turned away? It's a wonder he didn't collapse from the reaction. But he didn't. He listened and watched in a sort of hypnotic panic, until he heard the invader leave the apartment. Then, weak-kneed and in a cold sweat, he came forth and surveyed the battlefield."

Vance glanced about him.

"Not a pretty sight—eh, what? And there on the davenport reclined the lady's strangled body. That corpse was Skeel's dominant horror.

"He staggered to the table to look at it, and steadied himself with his right hand—that's how you got your finger-prints, Sergeant. Then the realization of his own position suddenly smote him. Here he was alone with a murdered person. He was known to have been intimate with the lady; and he was a burglar with a record. Who would believe that he was innocent? And though he had probably recognized the man who had negotiated the business, he was in no position to tell his story.

"Everything was against him—his sneaking in, his presence in the house at half-past nine, his relations with the girl, his profession, his reputation. He hadn't a chance in the world. . . I say, Markham, would you have credited his tale?"

"Never mind that," retorted Markham. "Go on with your theory." He and Heath had been listening with rapt interest.

"My theory from this point on," resumed Vance, "is what you might term self-developing. It proceeds on its own inertia, so to speak.—Skeel was confronted by the urgent problem of getting away and covering up his tracks. His mind in this emergency became keen and highly active his life was forfeit if he didn't succeed. He began to think furiously.

"He could have left by the side door at once without being seen; but then, the door would have been found unbolted. And this fact, taken in connection with his earlier visit that night, would have suggested his manner of unbolting the door. . . No, that method of escape wouldn't do—decidedly it wouldn't do.

"He knew he was likely, in any event, to be suspected of the murder, in view of his shady association with the lady and his general character. Motive, place, opportunity, time, means, conduct, and his own record—all were against him. Either he must cover up his tracks, don't y' know, or else his career as a Lothario was at an end. A sweet dilemma! He realized, of course, that if he could get out and leave that side door bolted on the inside, he'd be comparatively safe.

"No one could then explain how he had come in or gone out. It would establish his only possible alibi—a negative one, to be sure; but, with a good lawyer, he could probably make it hold. Doubtless he searched for other means of escape, but found himself confronted with obstacles on every hand. The side door was his only hope. How could it be worked?"

Vance rose and yawned.

"That's my theory. Skeel was caught in a trap, and with his shrewd, tricky brain he figured his way out. He may have roamed up and down these two rooms for hours before he hit on his plan; and it's not unlikely that he appealed to the Deity with an occasional 'Oh, my God!'

"As for his using the tweezers, I'm inclined to think the mechanism of the idea came to him almost immediately.—Y' know, Sergeant, this locking of a door on the inside is an old trick. There are any number of recorded cases of it in the criminal literature of Europe. Indeed, in Professor Hans Gross's handbook of criminology there's a whole chapter on the devices used by burglars for illegal entries and exits.

"But all such devices have had to do with the locking—not the bolting—of doors.

"The principle, of course, is the same, but the technic is different. To lock a door on the inside, a needle, or strong slender pin, is inserted through the bow of the key, and pulled downward with a string. But on the side door of this house there is no lock and key; nor is there a bow in the bolt-handle.—Now, the resourceful Skeel, while pacing nervously about, looking for something that might offer a suggestion, probably espied the tweezers on the lady's dressing-table—no lady nowadays is without these little eyebrow-pluckers, don't y' know—and immediately his problem was solved.

"It remained only to test the device. Before departing, however, he chiseled open the jewel case which the other chap had merely dinted, and found the solitaire diamond ring that he later attempted to pawn.

"Then he erased, as he thought, all his finger-prints, forgetting to wipe off the inside door-knob of the closet, and overlooking the handmark on the table. After that, he let himself out quietly, and rebolted the side door the same as I did, stuffing the tweezers in his waistcoat pocket and forgetting them."

IN life, as in sport, staying power counts for as much as skill in the game. And on what does endurance depend more than on fitness and sound health?

The very key rule to health is to avoid internal sluggishness. That is where ENO's "Fruit Salt" has its place. ENO keeps waste and stagnation out of the blood stream. It cleanses, purifies and invigorates. FAMOUS LOVE ROMANCES — Dante Gabriel Rossetti and Elizabeth Siddal (III) — By Nicholas Afonsky

When Rossetti and Elizabeth Siddal first met, she was quite uneducated. She said she had read the poems of Tennyson, because some of them were printed on a sheet of newspaper wrapped around a pat of butter. She was anxious to learn, and Rossetti's sister, the poet Christina, who had been his model, helped teach her.

Rossetti adored her. He called her Guggums, and all day long he painted her or wrote poems to her. While she was posing for him, she used to try sketching on her own account, and turned out some charming sketches. Ruskin, the essayist, said he would buy anything she did—and this helped financially.

But still Rossetti and Elizabeth put off their marriage. Her health was wretched. They had little money. Ruskin's aid in buying her sketches and Rossetti's pictures helped. And, with all the money he could get together, Rossetti sent Elizabeth for a long holiday in France to try and make her well.

But in France she became seriously ill—and Rossetti worked frantically on one of his pictures, hurrying to finish it, so that he might sell it and send the money to his beloved Elizabeth. When she came back from France she was weaker than ever—but Rossetti loved her, if possible, more than before.

PUNISHMENT OF PUPILS UPHELD

turned phrase, "More honored in the breach than in the observance."

The act also required the Board, on appeal, to repeal, modify, or confirm. If the board confirmed the suspension it was confirming an illegal and unjust act. He asked that the suspension be repealed. True, he said, the suspension had already taken place and the penalty had been suffered, but the stigma still clung and affected the honor of his daughter and the other children.

Mrs. Morris stated that she regarded the matter as something more than an appeal of a group of taxpayers. It was something that had affected many homes in the city. The first point to be considered was legality, and her own reading convinced her that the suspension had not been carried out in a manner according to the act.

Personally she was not prepared to support anything illegal, and thought the action out of order.

H. B. Cowan remarked that he knew something of the difficulties of a Principal and had no wish to weaken Mr. Kenner's position, and had come with regret, but he felt that injustice had been done. He hoped that some way would be found to secure justice, as there had been general protest against the punishment.

Mr. Robinson added that he had heard of at least one pupil who asked a teacher who confirmed his supposition that the school was dismissed.

"Has Lost Caste."

When the chairman, E. B. Fowler, expressed the opinion that Mr. Kenner's authority should not be weakened, Dr. McCulloch agreed, but said he feared Mr. Kenner had lost caste with the pupils because they felt he had dealt unfairly with them. If Mr. Kenner would admit that there might have been a misunderstanding and that if he had known all the circumstances at the time he might not have acted in the way he did, he would regain their respect. His characterization of the action as a wilful breach of the act was resented by Trustee W. R. Turner, who thought the word wilful unjustified, and Dr. McCulloch explained that what he meant to imply was that M... regarded the reg... That the suspen... gularly made was ... 'It seems to me," he declared, "that we will have to back up Mr. Kenner or he will lose all control, and if there is any way to get around this we should do so. We must admit there was irregularity."

The same opinion was advanced by W. R. Turner. Dr. McCulloch asked what he would say to the report that other pupils had called up Mr. Kenner that night and he had refused to come to the 'phone. This Mr. Kenner declared was untrue, and Dr. McCulloch said it was a statement he had heard made. Mr. Turner went on to say that he thought anything in the line of retraction would weaken Mr. Kenner's position in the school.

"I regard that portion of the act about notifying the parent is intended to bring him in touch with the matter," said Mrs. Morris. "The provision about notifying the board safeguards the principal, as the board can then confirm, modify, or remove the suspension."

Punishment Needed.

Mr. Strickland — "I think the suspension illegal but not the punishment. There should have been some punishment."

Dr. McCulloch—"Certainly."

Mr. Fowler—"The irregularity is admitted; the suspension cannot be re-called; there is no record of it. What action can the board take that will not be picked up by the pupils and magnified to the detriment of the school?"

Dr. McCulloch—"I want the stigma of suspension lifted from my daughter."

Mr. Fowler—"Will a motion do that?"

Dr. McCulloch—"It would exonerate her."

Mr. Strickland—"I think the deputation is going too far in asking us to exonerate the pupils for their absence."

Dr. McCulloch—"I mean exonerate her from suspension."

Dr. Craig moved that the board sustain Mr. Kenner in his action in punishing the pupils but that, as the suspension had been carried out in a manner contrary to the regulations, it be removed.

On Mr. Kenner pointing out that the suspension could hardly be removed when it had been served, Mrs. Morris prepared a motion calling for the removal of the status of suspension and admitting that some innocent pupils might have been punished.

"Tried To Get Away With It."

That not all the pupils had misunderstood was taken by E. F. Reid from a statement he had heard one of them make the morning they were refused admission: "We tried to get away with a half holiday but couldn't make it."

After some discussion by various groups of the board trying to frame a motion to cover the situation, that of Mrs. Morris was accepted and the deputation departed, apparently satisfied.

An offer of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission to inspect and adjust the electrical apparatus for the schools periodically for an annual fee of $25 was accepted.

The trustees of George Street Church having accepted the board's offer of $5,750 for the Grace Church property, the board's solicitor, E. A. Peck, M.P., was instructed to complete the transfer.

As there will be considerable upheaval at the Queen Alexandra playgrounds this year, because of the taking over of the church property, the playground equipment and staff will be located at the King George School grounds this summer.

A proposal for group insurance on the teachers was submitted by the London Life Insurance Company, which stated that seventy of the teachers had agreed to enter on the plan.

Insurance of $1,000 for each of 70 teachers would cost an annual fee of $747.32. The teachers would pay $504, or $7.20 each, and the board would pay $243.32, or an annual cost of $3.48 a teacher. A second proposition was for $2,000 insurance for 26 men was $1,000 each for 44 ladies. The total fee would be $1,082.48, of which the board would pay $391.28.

Dr. Craig asked if it were true that a member of the school staff who has a part time contract for selling insurance had been the promoter of the scheme. Mr. Fowler assured him that he had not, and that he had taken it upon himself to write the teacher in question that the board is paying him to teach, not to sell insurance. The matter was referred to the finance committee to find out if it is economical and legal for the board to enter such a plan.

Nothing but work risk has been placed on the Collegiate extension so far, Mr. Wilson stated in response to a question prompted by complaints that two firms have most of the board's insurance and that already $30,000 has been placed on the new building. The matter of placing the insurance will be gone into when the school is completed, he said.

The school attendance report for February is as follows:

RUBBER PRICES FALL.

Trade Generally in Favor of Removing Restrictions On Exports.

NEW YORK, March 7 (Canadian Press)—Cable advices from Singaport indicating that the rubber trade generally is in favor of removing the present restriction on rubber exports, caused a break of about two and a half cents a pound on the New York Rubber Exchange today. All futures sold at the lowest levels in the history of the exchange. The March option declined to 26 cents a pound.

TRANSIENT TRADERS OPPOSE PROPOSALS

Contend That Bill Licensing Hawkers and Pedlars Is Unfair.

TORONTO, March 7 (Canadian Press).—Contending that the bill is unfair and discriminatory, representatives of transient traders and of several manufacturing companies appeared before the Ontario Legislature's Municipal Law Committee today to oppose the projected bill licensing hawkers and pedlars. The Hon. William Finlayson, chairman, suggested that the companies pay one tax to the municipality and a small regulatory tax on each salesman, and this met with the tacit agreement of the representatives of the aluminum, brush, corset, road machine, and wood interests. The committee decided that salesmen selling Bibles and "high class" educational works should be exempted from tax, after it was pointed out that no exemption had been provided.

Obituary

REV. DR. JOHN MACLEAN.

WINNIPEG, March 7 (Canadian Press).—Rev. Dr. John MacLean, historian and pioneer missionary of Western Canada, died here to-day, following an attack of influenza.

Dr. MacLean, who was 77, for more than fifty years had been prominently connected with the activities of the Methodist Church in Canada.

Of the picturesque circuit riders of Western Canada's pioneer days, John MacLean made a notable contribution, not only to the cause of religion on the prairies, but to the ordered life and stability which have replaced the frontier civilization encountered four decades ago. As the missionary to both the whites and the Indians in the far western extremities of the prairies and as the first public school superintendent in the territory now known as Southern Alberta, he witnessed the beginnings of the colonization work in this area. The events of this period and those of the latter stages of development he published in numerous writings which won for him a place as one of the foremost historians of the Canadian West. As archivist of the Methodist Church in Canada he faithfully recorded the eventful history of his denomination throughout the Dominion.

Born in Ayrshire, Scotland, on October 30, 1851, he came to Canada 47 years ago. Prior to coming west in 1880 he graduated from the University of Toronto, taking both his B.A. and M.A. degrees, after which he completed his theological course at Victoria College and was ordained as a Methodist minister. He went to the prairies to take up the work of George MacDougall, the heroic Methodist missionary who lost his life in a blizzard not far distant from the site of the present city of Calgary.

Dr. MacLean's first circuit comprised almost the whole of what is now the southern half of the Province of Alberta. In this big area he served both the Indians and the white settlers, making his long journeys on horseback, and conducting services, baptizing children and solemnizing marriages, as the occasion demanded.

Particularly during his work in the foothills he came into intimate contact with the Indian tribes. He learned their dialects, preached to them in their own languages, and became influential in their counsels. He was regarded as an authority on their languages, while his books and articles on their habits and life won for him wide recognition in historical circles.

Dr. MacLean was always prominent in the work of the Methodist Church. He served one term as president of the old Manitoba and North-West Conference, and on numerous occasions acted as chairman of Methodist districts. From 1883 he acted as historian for the Methodist Church in the west. In 1902 he served as editor of "The Wesleyan," the official Methodist magazine published in Halifax. Latterly he was superintendent of Bethel Mission (afterwards MacLean Mission) in Winnipeg, and librarian at Wesley College, Winnipeg.

Among Dr. MacLean's better known publications are: "Canadian Savage Folk," which has been characterized as the leading book on the Indian tribes of the Dominion; "The Indians of Canada," "The Warden of the Plains," "Life of James Evans," "Grammar of the Blackfoot Language," "Vanguards of Canada," etc., etc.

During the war Dr. MacLean's three sons and one son-in-law all served at the front, while his daughter saw service as a nurse overseas. He is survived by two sons, Albert and Oswald, and one daughter, Mrs. Harold T. Garden.

100 YEARS OLD.

Mrs. John J. Haslett, of Toronto, who on February 29 celebrated her 100th birthday. She came to Canada from Ireland in a sailing vessel seventy-seven years ago. Her husband, who was one of Canada's pioneer surveyor, died 35 years ago, when they lived in Belleville, Ont.

LIFE FORCE

The brain is the source of life energy within the body. This energy is conveyed from the brain to all parts of the body by the spinal cord and nerves. Everybody knows that if the nerves leading to the arm are cut that arm is paralyzed. It cannot move. Its muscles shrink. It is useless. Why? Because its supply of energy is interferred with.

JUST

as this is true of the arm, it is also true of every other part of the body. For every tissue cell receives its energy or working power from the brain. If cutting the nerves of the arm paralyzes it, how would heavy constriction or pressure upon the nerves affect the arm? It would cause partial paralysis, and the degree of uselessness of the arm would depend entirely upon the degree of pressure upon the nerve fibres.

NERVES

which supply all portions of the body emit from the spinal column through openings between the vertebrae. Constriction of any of these nerves may result from tightened spinal ligaments or derangement of vertebrae. When either of these conditions exist correction can be accomplished by Chiropractic spinal manipulation, and then the nerves are capable of carrying proper life currents to the weakened tissues.

MINERS WOULD NOT LOSE JOBS TELLING TRUTH REGARDING FIRE OFFICIALS ASSURE COMMISSION

Felt Evidence During Inquiry Withheld Through Fear of Consequences.

HEARING ADJOURNED.

Will Discuss Ventilation and Safety Measures at Later Date.

TIMMINS, Ont., March 8 (Canadian Press).—With a final reference to "the very disturbing thought" that evidence may have been kept back from the enquiry through fear of possible consequences, Mr. Justice Godson late yesterday afternoon adjourned indefinitely the sittings of the Royal Commission, investigating the Hollinger disaster. The suspicion has been voiced during the hearings that employees may have been afraid of their jobs if they testified before the probe, but yesterday both A. F. Brigham, general manager, and C. C. Williams, general superintendent, assured the commissioner no such threat hung over the heads of the men.

"The commission must not be left in the position of not having thoroughly probed the matter," said Mr. Justice Godson, in announcing the adjournment. He appealed to any men who had evidence to give which might help in reaching a decision to testify at the coroner's inquest in view of what Mr. Brigham had said and which His Lordship described as "the only manly and decent thing to say in the circumstances. The general manager, answering Peter White, counsel for the commission, stated that "if any man in the Hollinger organization thinks he will be penalized by giving evidence, tell him I will protect him and that he will not lose his job for telling the truth." On this same point, Mr. Williams said that there was no intention of discriminating against men who testified and that to do so would be "decidedly unjust."

Suggestions Heard

In the closing hours of the enquiry, meantime it will be resumed later to deal with ventilation and safety measures and other points that may arise—the commission heard a number of suggestions as regards safeguards from Thomas F. Sutherland, Chief Mining Inspector for Ontario, and Dr. George D. Nasmith, Toronto. The former considered the only principle that works well is to make the bosses underground responsible for the safety of their men, as is done in South Africa by legislation, and he also urged the purchasing by the mines in the different camps of apparatus which would be interchangeable in times of emergency. Dr. Nasmith spoke of "a powerful stench" being sent through the working as a warning in times of danger, and he favored controlled ventilation by means of a series of fire and emergency doors.

A. G. Slaght for the Hollinger questioned the propriety of some of Dr. Nasmith's evidence on the ground that it infringed on the responsibilities of the commission. Witness had stated in reference to gas masks worn, that their presence had given the rescue men confidence, and he thought that those who escaped without them had "a piece of luck." The commissioner intimated he agreed with Dr. Nasmith and said he would certainly recommend that these should be available. In adjourning the commissioner expressed the sincere sympathy of the enquiry with the bereaved "in an accident apparently not anticipated by anybody" and he commented on the absence of bitterness, which he said was characteristic of the people of the north.

Had Reported Conditions.

Evidence that he had seen powder thaw refuse in different stopes and that, in one case four or five years ago, he had called the attention of Captain Young to the condition of the rubbish, was given by Edwin O'Callaghan, a former employee and now consulting engineer for the Quartz Lake Mines. This witness said either he or Young had notified V. H. Emery, mine superintendent after they had agreed, on Young's suggestion, that it was a fire menace, and that orders were sent immediately to have the debris covered with waste to protect it. Orders also were given that no more refuse was to be dumped in this stope, on M2, said O'Callaghan, who added that the practice was stopped in other stopes when he drew attention to it.

The debris question cropped up at intervals all day. The system of dealing with it by dilution with current waste or in the waste pass was defended by Mr. Williams, who considered the policy, determined upon by Emery and himself, as an unwise decision in the light of events, but not a mistake. There was no possible danger of fire if the refuse had been treated as suggested. Mr. Brigham, who had not discussed the matter before the fire, was of a similar opinion, although admitting "someone slipped a cog" and that the change of policy resulted in the fire. He told the court that, "frankly, I thought it was com-

No Sales Made In Labor Auction

NEW YORK, March 8 (Canadian Press).—Mr. Zero made no sales in his labor auction at his "tub" in the lower East Side yesterday.

In an effort to help 200 unemployed patrons of his cafeteria, where a soup-and-roll meal may be had for a nickel, Urban Ledoux, better known as Mr. Zero, vainly waved the hammer of the auctioneer and ballyhooed the talents of his army.

A giant Negro was first placed on the block, and a client bid $75 for his services as a combination bricklayer, plasterer and plumber. Mr. Zero refused to sell. Two other men were offered, but no bids were received and the auctioneer adjourned the sale until to-day.

FLIER ABSENT FROM HANGAR

Hinchcliffe Shows No Sign of Being About To Make Long Flight.

PLANE NOT PREPARED.

CRANWELL, March 8 (Canadian Press)—If Capt. Hinchcliffe, famous British flier, had any intention of taking off today on a non-stop flight across the Atlantic, as has been reported by a London newspaper, there were no indications of it at the Aerodrome today. For the first time in several days the flier failed to appear, and the plane in which it is popularly supposed that he is about to attempt a mystery flight, the longest ever known, was snug in the hangar.

CHAPTER TO SELL JUBILEE QUILT

Work of Ladies On Parade Float Will Be Disposed of By Draw.

The Confederation quilt which formed a portion of the activities of the energetic ladies who formed the personnel on the float sponsored by the Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E. during the Confederation Day parade last summer, formed one of the items of business at the regular meeting of the Chapter, held yesterday afternoon in the green room of the Y.W.C.A. It was decided to sell this quilt, which was finished and donated to the society by Mrs. M. McNabb, and tickets are available from now until the next meeting, when the lucky winner will be announced.

There was a good attendance at yesterday's meeting, which was presided over by the Regent, Mrs. F. L. Robinson. It was also decided to sell tickets for a Hope Chest, to gain funds for the organization's charitable work, to hold the annual sale and tea in November and to have a community bridge party after Lent is over. Arrangements were completed for the bridge party of the Chapter at the Downyflake on Friday evening.

Committee Opposed Withdrawing Marines

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 8 (Canadian Press). — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee went on record yesterday against the withdrawal of United States Marines from Nicaragua until after the fulfillment of the agreement entered into with the contending factions there for a supervision of the presidential election next October.

Speaking for a majority of the committee, Chairman Borah issued a statement saying that the agreement to supervise the election "places an obligation upon us that we cannot at this time escape."

"I think the entire committee would like to see us get out of Nicaragua," he added. "If we could hold a fair election and recognize the Government resulting from that election, there would be some chance of getting out and staying out."

Senator Borah expressed his own view that if a fair election is held, the Liberals will win because they constitute from 75 to 80 per cent. of the population.

"Backed up by the people of Nicaragua and by our recognition, there is a hope for stability," he added.

Seven Arraigned On Slot Machine Charge

MONTREAL, Que., March 8.—(Canadian Press).—A campaign being conducted by Montreal police to abolish slot machines from this city resulted in the arraignment of seven restaurant proprietors in Recorder's Court yesterday on charges of having slot machines on their premises. Six pleaded not guilty and were remanded for trial, while one admitted the charge and was fined $10 and costs, or 15 days in jail.

BRITISH FORCE GUARDS BORDER

Detachment Equipped With Cars and Planes Protects Border.

VILLAGES CAPTURED.

BASRA, Irak, March 8. — Canadian Press. — A British military detachment, equipped with ten armoured cars, ten airplanes, and a number of transport cars, was to-day sent outside the walls of Koweit to a point near the Nejd frontier.

Marines and blue jackets from the British warship Emerald have been parading the streets of Koweit daily, as an object lesson to the malcontents and to make the men ready for emergencies. Unconfirmed reports have reached here that small bands of Wahabis have captured some villages in Trans-Jordania.

These reports stated that the overland automobile route from Bagdad to Damascus had been temporarily closed.

SCOUTING COURSE PLANNED FOR CITY

Local Authorities Discuss Short "Vestibule" Course Here.

Scout Commissioner J. J. Turner is in receipt of a communication from headquarters relative to the putting on of a "vestibule" course in scouting, in Peterborough. The course, of three days' duration, will be of great value to scout leaders and scouts and it is likely that it will be put on in the near future.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH RECEIVES MEMBERS

Thirty-nine Join at Preparatory Service Last Night.

The preparatory service held in St. Paul's Presbyterian church last evening was attended by a large number of members of the congregation as well as some thirty-nine new members, who were received either by certificate or confession of faith.

At the meeting last night, presided over by the Rev. William Allan, a most helpful sermon was delivered by the Rev. James Grier, B.A., of Campbellford, who, taking his text from Revelation 21: 13, showed the different periods at which people come into the church and the process through which they come. There was an offering taken for the poor.

A special Communion service will be held this Sunday morning, while in the evening the service will be especially for young men and young women. In preparation for this, the choir last evening held a rehearsal; the ladies' chorus taking its place in the gallery and an augmented men's chorus occupying the choir seats. Antiphonal singing will be a part of the Sunday evening service.

MORE FISHING INSPECTORS ASKED BY FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION

Want Government To Appoint Three Men To Assist Capt. Carson.

CLASSIFY "PICKEREL."

Fred Roy, president of the Peterborough County Fish and Game Protective Association, entertained the members with moving pictures in his studio last night, after which there was a short business section. The association decided to recommend to the department that three permanent inspectors be appointed in this district to work under the supervision of Captain Carson so that the fish will receive adequate protection.

A beautiful Rice Lake pickerel was on exhibit and after those present had consulted a prominent fish and game book, the fish was classified as a wall eye pike, belonging to the perch family. Some of the members carried the investigation further and found that the fish had been caught in a net instead of a legal way with a hook and line.

The association is endeavoring to make fishing through the ice illegal and as a result of the controversy in the papers action will probably be taken, as W. H. Bradburn asked the fish and game com-

One member declared that at present there was fishing through the ice in Stoney Lake, a place where pickerel have never been known to be caught.

Claude Rogers introduced the question of fish sanctuaries, which he believes are the logical solution for re-stocking the waters with fish. He suggested that steps be taken to get the department to set aside certain sanctuaries in this district. In these sanctuaries the fish would receive adequate protection. Here they would spawn and as they became too numerous in the sanctuary they would go out into the other waters but always come back to the sanctuary in spawning season.

H. Foote thought there should be more adequate inspection, especially during the spawning season. All the fish taken out in a legal way during the summer will not deplete the waters but it is the fish that are caught in the spawning season that will considerably curtail future fishing," said Mr. Foote.

C. Graham told the members of the small hatchery the government started in Pigeon Lake last summer. Three adult lunge were placed in the hatchery and as a result 100,000 young fish were hatched.

Another suggestion from Mr. Rogers was that the fish department in Ontario is under the wrong head. "Instead of being in charge of the Minister of Mines it should be under the Minister of Forests, as both are conserving departments," he said.

A motion of appreciation and thanks was passed to The Examiner for the way in which it has co-operated in aiding the association in its great work.

CARPET WORKERS HOLD SLEIGH DRIVE

Dance Winds Up Happy Evening For Setting Department Staffs.

A most enjoyable sleigh drive and party was held by the girls of the Brinton Carpet Company (setting department), and their friends, under the leadership of Miss Ruth Agnew.

There were about 40 persons present, and they were all taken to Springville, on the Highway, in two sleighs, returning via Willow Grove, to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Agnew, Lock Street, after a most enjoyable ride, during which there was much merriment.

Upon arriving at the home of Mrs. Agnew, it was found she had prepared delightful refreshments, which were heartily enjoyed by all after the 18-mile drive.

After supper the large room was converted into a dance hall, in which everyone took part in dancing and games, the music being provided by Miss Kate Robinson on the piano, and A. Roberts on the violin.

During the course of the evening selections were given on the accordian by G. Furphy, which were much appreciated. A special feature of the night was a demonstration of the Charleston by Miss Edith Lynch.

When the 'wee' hours of the morning had been reached, the night's gaiety was brought to a close, when W. Firth tendered a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Agnew and their daughter, Ruth, for their very kind hospitality.

Adler Found Guilty On Smuggling Charge

NEW YORK, March 8 (Canadian Press).—Julius Adler, a haberdasher, was found guilty yesterday of conspiring to smuggle diamonds into this country and his conviction was hailed by Federal officers as ending the activities of the band they said had sneaked millions of dollars worth of gems past the Customs.

He was found guilty on four counts, on each of which he may receive a prison term of two years when he is sentenced next Wednesday.

The principal witness against Adler was Florente Lamot, former second electrician on the liner Lapland, who was arrested last November after bringing ashore $100,000 worth of diamonds hidden in his oversized shoes. Lamot said he was to have been paid $66 in Belgian francs for getting the gems into this country. He pleaded guilty but has not yet been sentenced.

PRIVATE BILLS ARE REPORTED

City of London Legislation Approved in Spite of Opposition.

WINDSOR COUNCIL CUT.

TORONTO, March 8. Canadian Press. — Despite some opposition encountered the City of London bill, providing for confirmation of expenditures made by the city council in 1926-27 for the reception of distinguished guests and for travelling expenses, was reported by the Private Bills Committee of the Ontario Legislature to-day. The bill giving the Hamilton, Grimsby and Beamsville Railway Company the right to apply to the Ontario Railway and municipal board for the right to increase their fares was approved.

Other bills reported enabled Windsor to reduce its city council from twelve to six members, give Niagara Falls the right to grant a renewal of the fixed assesment to the Niagara Falls suspension Bridge Company, gave St. Catharines the right to acquire land outside the city for an airport, defined the harbor line of the town of LaSalle, and amended the Church of England Trust Fund Act.

STRIKING STUDENTS DAMAGE COLLEGE

Men From Egyptian School Attack American College Premises.

CAIRO, Mar. 8.—(Canadian Press.)—During a series of student disturbances yesterday, an attack was made by the students of the Sheikh school at Assuit on the American college, causing minor casualties among the defenders, including Dr. Russell, the principal. The Sheikh school students, who are on strike, endeavored to make the students of the college come out also. The latter refused, whereupon the strikers smashed gates, tore up trees and broke the windows with stones. Student disturbances growing out of the Anglo-Egyptian question also took place in Cairo today. A body of fifteen hundred striking students marched to the Nationalist headquarters and stoned the police. In the melee eight policemen and twenty-eight students were injured.

ENNISMORE PASTOR BECOMES MEMBER

Rev. J. V. McAuley Thinks the Chamber of Commerce Can Do Much Good.

Indicative of the diversity of interest in the Peterborough Forward Movement as put on by the Chamber of Commerce a letter has just been received from the Rev. Father J. V. McAuley, of St. Martin's church, Ennismore. Enclosed with it was a cheque for one membership in the Chamber of Commerce.

In his letter the reverend gentleman expresses the belief that, "if properly supported by the citizens the Chamber can render splendid service to the city, and, indirectly, to the surrounding country as well."

Spent $225,000,000 In 1927 Advertising

NEW YORK, March 8 (Canadian Press).—National advertisers spent $225,000,000 for newspaper advertising in 1927, the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association announced yesterday.

Estimates showed that 353 companies had expended $122,500,000, of which the greatest sum, $33,505,000, was spent by 57 automobile concerns. Eighty-two food advertisers spent $24,045,000 and 14 tobacco companies spent $15,260,000.

SMITH TO SPEND $8,000 ON ROADS

By-law Passed Authorizing Expenditure For Coming Season.

ROAD SALE ADVERTISED.

The Municipal Council of the Township of Smith met in the County Council Chambers, Peterborough, on Saturday, March 3, at 10.30 a.m. with Reeve Middleton presiding and all the members present.

By-law No. 855 was passed, providing for expenditure on roads in and under the jurisdiction of the Township of Smith during 1928, as follows:

Construction	$1,000
Maintenance	6,300
Machinery	300
Salary	400
Total	$8,000

Moved by Councillors Mullen and Fitzgerald that the clerk order a "No. 2 Road Boss Grader", through E. Brown from the Canada Ingot Iron Company of Guelph.

C. E. Moore, sheep valuator, sent a communication to the effect that William Steinkrauss had had one sheep killed by dogs on or about February 5.

Communications were received from R. C. Heard, quoting prices on various styles of wire fencing, Eastern Ontario Good Roads Association, and the Ontario Educational Association, which after discussion were left for future action.

Moved by Deputy Reeve Coons and Councillor Fitzgerald that the following accounts be paid: Peterborough Review, $2.40; J. A. Jobe, $5.00; William Steinkrauss, $20; Percy T. Udy, $17.25.

HUMANE SOCIETY WORKER TO SPEAK

Miss Elizabeth Harrison Will Address Home and School Associations.

Miss Elizabeth Harrison, chairman of the committee of Humane Education in the World's Federation of Education Associations, will address the Peterborough Home and School Associations in the Trinity Sunday School hall on Reid street on Friday night. Miss Harrison is a very prominent Humane Society worker, and it is expected that her address will be a real help to the local associations.

On Saturday afternoon Miss Harrison will give an illustrated address to the Peterborough Junior Humane Society in St. John's Parish hall at 3.00 p.m.

STRANGE VISITOR FRIGHTENS LADIES

Calls at Home of Ald. C. H. Ackerman, But is Scared Off.

A man described as tall, fair, and very well dressed appeared at the home of C. H. Ackerman on Tuesday night and badly fightened the women who were at home. About 6.30 the door bell rang and when the maid answered it a man asked for Alderman Ackerman. He was told that Mr. Ackerman was out of the city, out Mrs. Ackerman was at home. Mrs. Ackerman came, and the man mumbled something about the Air Force and then reached to his hip pocket as if to pull a gun. Mrs. Ackerman, with presence of mind, said to him that the chauffeur was in the kitchen and perhaps could tell him. The man by this time was being carefully watched by the four women in the house, one of them having a poker in her hand. He mumbled something else and backed to the door, paying careful attention to the lock as he went. When he got outside, he ran to a waiting automobile and made a get-away.

NOTE PRESENTED TO EGYPT MAY AFFECT BRITISH RELATIONS THROUGHOUT THE NEAR EAST

Despatches Assert Political Situation Fraught With Confusion and Uncertainty.

STICK TO DEMANDS.

Not Tolerate Any Legislation Likely To Hinder Protection of British Interests.

LONDON, March 8 (Associated Press). — The stern note which Great Britain presented to Egypt, stating in effect that the British will not grant full independence to that country at present, has been coupled with the "holy war" in Arabia to create a situation which may affect British relations throughout the Near East to the borders of India.

Despatches last night from Egypt asserted that the political situation there is fraught with confusion, uncertainty and excitement. Egypt is without a Cabinet, but the Nationalist leader, Nahas Pasha, after an hour's audience with King Fuad, declared that constitutional governments would be formed as long as the constitution exists.

The British note, which apparently dropped like a bombshell in Cairo political circles after the breakdown of negotiations for an Anglo-Egyptian alliance, makes it clear to the Nile country that Great Britain will not tolerate any legislation that is likely to hinder British power in protecting foreign life and property in Egypt. The note reveals that the British Government has for some time feared that such legislation would be adopted by the Egyptian Parliament. But so long as there was the prospect of a treaty of alliance, Britain refrained from expressing those fears.

Well-informed British observers believe that the home Government has now said her final word, and that the burden of the next move in the imbroglio rests in Egypt. Shorn of diplomatic verbiage, the position is about as follows:

Egypt declines to sign any treaty of alliance which does not accord absolute independence to her. She rejects the right of Great Britain to maintain troops in Egypt or to have any control over the Egyptian Police.

Britain, on the other hand, firmly intends to keep her troops there, believing the soldiers are necessary for protection of the Suez Canal. She also insists on maintaining a measure of control over the Egyptian Police, and observers explain that this is to prevent any situation arising which might result in some other Power taking a hand in Egyptian affairs.

Stick to Demands.

Whether Egypt signs such a treaty or not, Great Britain will stick to these demands, in the opinion of British observers.

These same sources argue that a parallel situation exists in respect to the United States and the Panama Canal.

Whether the present deadlock continues or becomes more acute, depends, it is said, on what sort of Government is put in power at Cairo. Should the Extremists succeed the present regime, the situation would not be improved, to say the least. On the other hand, a more liberal Government might alleviate the crisis. In any event, the British observers say, Great Britain will stick to her main demands.

The full correspondence between the two countries was published last night in a lengthy Government "White Paper." This outlines 14 articles upon which Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, and Sarwat Pasha, recently resigned Egyptian Premier, agreed, but over which the Egyptian Parliament balked. Chief of these was the article authorizing Great Britain to maintain troops for ten years, after which any dispute that remained was to be submitted to the League of Nations.

SEND AIRPLANES.

JERUSALEM, March 8 (Canadian Press). — Twenty-two airplanes and seven tanks were despatched to the frontier of the Transjordania to protect the territory from the attacks of the Wahabi tribesmen under the leadership of Ibn Saud.

Reports published yesterday by Irak newspapers state that an uprising has occurred in Nejd, stronghold of Ibn Saud. A part of the population is said to be in support of the uprising.

Reports from Basra state that a Wahabi force led by Sheik Ed Dowish, with fourteen hundred camels, is marching toward Irak.

The Palestine population is watching with some anxiety the extensive preparations to utilize for the first time the Royal Air Force stationed at Ramleh and Sarafand. Palestine will thus for the first time serve as a war base for the Air Force. Observers here commented that Ibn Saud chose a propitious moment for his declaration of the "holy war against the infidels," as airplane fighting is difficult in the hot months.

Small Boy Loses Life In Thames River

LONDON, Ont., March 8 (Canadian Press).—Arthur Bottom, five years old, of 102 High Street, was drowned yesterday afternoon in the Thames River at the foot of Front Street. The boy, together with his brother and a small girl, was playing along the river bank. Arthur crossed a log which ran from shore to an ice floe about twelve feet from shore. Crossing back he fell in. His two playmates did not realize what had happended and sent home and told Arthur's mother that he had fallen down a well. It was three hours later that dragging operations were commenced at the spot where the fatality occurred. The body has not yet been recovered.

WAS REBUKED FOR COMPLAINT

Was Told To Mind His Own Business—Complained of Conditions.

MEN'S SAFETY AFFECTED.

TIMMINS, Ont., March 8 (Canadian Press). — Arthur Mortimer, the man whose name was given in an anonymous letter as "Matener," appeared before the Royal Commission investigating the Hollinger disaster in special session to-day, and told how, on one occasion, when he had complained of conditions in the stope as affecting the safety of his men, the answer he got back from his superiors was, "Tell Mortimer to mind his own business and get on with the track-laying. That's what he's here for."

Mortimer told the counsel for the Commission that he had four reasons for not reporting to his superiors certain conditions in the stopes with regard to powder thaw refuse being dumped there. One was the rebuke already stated. He felt that whoever knew the trestle was built must have known what it was for. The same applied to the transportation boss who ordered the track, and the witness had seen so much refuse dumped that he paid little attention to it. The fourth reason had to do with loose ground he had found.

A. Young, assistant mine superintendent, told the Court that he had investigated the conditions complained of by Mortimer, that he had taken the matter up with the mine superintendent, and it was decided that the captains were to sign reports certifying when the stopes were safe for track-laying. Mortimer was so advised.

FEWER CANADIANS LEAVING ONTARIO

Province's Loss To States Decreased 15,000 During 1927.

TORONTO, Mar. 8. — (Canadian Press.)—Indications that the number of Canadians leaving Ontario for the United States considerably decreased in 1927 compared with the previous year are given in the report of the Registrar-General, which has been presented to the Legislature. A drop of fifteen thousand in the number is shown.

BRITISH PREMIER TO ADDRESS WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE MEETING

First Time Baldwin Has Ever Addressed Equal Voting Rights Gathering.

WILL HOLD CELEBRATION.

Sir Oliver Lodge To Discuss Equal Franchise From Viewpoint of Scientists.

LONDON, March 8. — (Associated Press.)—A historic precedent will be established to-day in England when the women's equal suffrage forces hold a huge united franchise demonstration in Queen's Hall and Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, the prime minister, delivers an address.

It will be the first time that a prime minister while in office has addressed a meeting of women agitators for equal voting rights.

The young suffragists, elated in anticipation of what appears to be success in ther battle for enfranchisement, have conferred upon their powerful champion the expressive title of "Daddy." They will dess in picturesque costumes to greet "Daddy" Baldwin, and recruited from 150 suffrage organizations, will march round the hall singing songs of victory.

The advocacy of the premier and the cordial approval of the Labor party chief, Ramsay MacDonald, and his followers in Parliament, appears to make certain realization of "votes for flappers," and the young women under thirty, who then will be placed on an equal footing with male voters, felt that celebration need not be further postponed.

Among other speakers who will be heard in the demonstration meeting is Sir Oliver Lodge, who will discuss equal franchise for women from the viewpoint of the scientists.

Some Distinguished Friends.

British women in their fight for equal voting rights, although never before openly supported by the personal appearance of the head of the government, have had some distinguished friends in their long campaign. Benjamin Disraeli was the first "Daddy" of unfranchised women in England. While he declared himself in favor of woman suffrage on the limited property qualification, he was too adroit to sponsor an appropriate Parliametnary measure.

Queen Victoria and the British public would have been horrified if he had appeared on a platform with female suffrage agitators.

Lord Salisbury, and Arthur Balfour, after Disraeli, were also friends of the woman suffrage principle, but they also were unwilling to throw their full official weight into the movement. Mr. Gladstone courteously but firmly opposed the movement. It was in 1918 that the female franchise idea gained such prestige that the limited franchise bill was introduced under the Lloyd-George-Bonar Law coalition.

Five million women are looking to Mr. Baldwin to push through Parliament at the present session the bill which will remove their electoral disabilities and give them full privilege of the ballot.

Y.P.L. HEARS OF AIMS AND IDEALS

Arthur McNeilley Gives Interesting Address at Norham.

NORHAM, March 8.—Arthur Meneilley gave the address at the Young People's League, under the direction of the fellowship program. The president, Hayden Newman, presided, and Miss Lulu Mitchell had charge of the program. Mr. Meneilley's address was based on "Our Social Aims and Ideals", and in the course of it he spoke of individual's ideals; a group's ideals; the minority in a group; our social ideals as related to our pattern Jesus Christ."

Other items were: Reading, Little Tommy's Prayer", Mrs. Lorne Evans; solo, Mrs. Peterson; reading, "The Minister's Vacation", Mrs. B. West.

Personals.

Owing to the storm on Sunday Rev. D. R. Clare was unable to take the afternoon services there. Services were held in Norham on Sunday evening.

The Least Excitement Made Her Heart Palpitate and Flutter

Mrs. Ambrose Orser, Elginburg, Ont., writes:—"I suffered for some time with a bad heart which seemed to be controlled by my nerves. The least little excitement would cause it to flutter and palpitate, and at times I would have real bad spells. I suffered in this way for some time when, one day, I saw advertised, so decided to try them. I had only taken a few boxes when I noticed that I felt better, so I continued taking them and in a short time my heart felt entirely different."

Price 50c. a box at all druggists and dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Broadcast Weather Reports To Fishermen

OTTAWA, Ont., March 8 (Canadian Press). — William Duff (Lib., Antigonish Guysboro), asked in the Commons yesterday, if the Marine and Fisheries Department intended to open the Louisburg radio station to broadcast weather reports of fishermen, as most of the fishing fleet would set out next week.

Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Minister of the Department, replied that only recently had representations been made to the effect that fishermen were equipping their boats with receiving sets. The equipment for the Louisburg station had been ordered and as soon as it was set up broadcasting of weather reports would commence.

MILLBROOK HAS SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. W. Fred Fallis Receive Beautiful Gifts.

MILLBROOK, March 8.—The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. Fred Fallis, "Windermere Farm," Fallis Line, was fittingly observed on Monday evening, March 5, when more than eighty of their friends gathered at their home, the entire event being planned as a surprise for the host and hostess, the guests being self-invited for the occasion.

Rev. F. H. Howard acted as chairman, and while Mrs. H. W. Johnston played Lohengrin's "Wedding March," the 'bride and groom' were escorted to seats specially arranged for them, and presented with a handsome set of the fashionable 'pieces of eight' in Grosvenor pattern, the container holding the silverware lifting out and disclosing a service tray dainty in pattern, and generous in size.

Mrs. Stuart Fallis, on behalf of a wide circle of friends, offered the gift, and the address, which was read by Miss Pearl Burnham, was signed by A. J. Brown, Mrs. Stuart Fallis, H .A. Fallis, T. H. Aiken, and A. J. Henderson.

Mr. Fallis made suitable reply on behalf of his wife and himself, and among others who made addresses were W. H. Wood, who claimed to be the "oldest man present," and who gave many interesting reminiscences of earlier days when there were large families of the "Fallis" clan in the neighborhood, and examples were given of the curious nicknames adopted to distinguish these having the same Christian names from one another; W. T. Garnett, of Port Hope; A. J. Fallis, former M.P.P.; J. H. George, and Stuart Fallis.

Other numbers on the program were a duet, "Pal of Mine," by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston; a solo, "The Floral Dance," by W. H. Coombe, and a reading, "The Minister's Mistake," by Mrs. F. P. Stinson.

An amusing contest in which four men, "raced" to be first in draining the contents of the milk bottles which the lady standing opposite held to their lips, through a rubber contrivance usually associated with a baby's feeding time, was followed by music, games, and the service of refreshments, a very happy evening being brought to a close shortly after the midnight hour.

NORWOOD, March 8.—Miss Fay Rusaw, Hastings road, entertained the members of the Norwood Presbyterian Y.W.A. at the regular meeting held recently. About fourteen members enjoyed a sleigh ride out and back, also the program which was in charge of Miss Laura Cuthbertson. Miss Rusaw served lunch at the conclusion of the meeting.

LIBERAL ELECTED.

Kingsley Griffith Elected To Commons in By-election at Middlesborough.

LONDON, March 8. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—Kingsley Griffith, Liberal, was elected in the by-election at Middlesbrough to fill the vacancy in the House created by the death of Trevelyan Thomson, who was also a Liberal.

The vote yesterday was: Griffith 10,717; A. R. Ellis, Labor, 10,628; Stanley Sadler, Conservative, 8,213.

LITTLE GIRL HURT.

Alice Rowat, Six, Falls Beneath Sleigh—Leg Broken.

HAVELOCK, March 8.—Alice Rowat, the little six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Rowat, met with a very painful accident on Tuesday when attempting to alight from a bobsleigh. She slipped under the sleigh, the rear part of which passed over her, breaking her leg just above the knee.

First Liberal Woman In Present House Elected In Saint Ives By-Election

PENZANCE, England, March 8 (Canadian and Associated Press Cables).—The first woman Liberal in the present British Parliament and the first husband and wife combination in the House of Commons have resulted from Tuesday's by-election in Saint Ives.

Mrs. Walter Runciman, wife of the Liberal member from Swansea West, not only became the first woman Liberal in the present House, but succeeded in capturing the St. Ives constituency from the Conservatives.

The district formerly was a Liberal stronghold, but returned a Conservative at the last general election in 1924. This was J. A. Hawke, who was recently elevated to the Bench, leaving the seat vacant.

The vote was: Mrs. Runciman, Liberal, 10,241; Sir Andrew Caird, Conservative, 9,478, and F. J. Hopkins, Labor, 4,343. Although Mrs. Runiceman picked up more than 300 Conservative votes, the Labor candidate picked up the remainder of the 1,691 which the Conservatives lost over the figures for 1924.

Mr. Runciman, who is a prominent figure in the Liberal party, actively supported his wife's candidacy. David Lloyd-George, the Liberal leader, did not speak in behalf of Mrs. Runciman, who has shown a decidedly independent spirit politically, and the public watched closely to see if the Liberals could win without their chief's participation in the campaign.

Mrs. Runciman will be the eighth woman member of the House. The others are Viscountess Astor, the first woman ever to hold a seat in the Commons; the Duchess of Atholl; Mrs. Hilton Philipson, known on the stage as Mabel Russell; and Lady Iveagh, wife of Lord Iveagh. The other three women members are Laborites, being Miss Margaret Bondfield, Miss Ellen Wilkinson, and Miss Susan Lawrence.

W.M.S. ENTERTAINED BY MRS. R. PAYNE

Warsaw Organization Hears Study Lesson By Mrs. R. Moore.

WARSAW, March 8.—Mrs. Robert Payne entertained the members of the Women's Missionary Society at the regular meeting held recently. The president, Mrs. George Raylor presided and the scriptural reading was given by Mrs. James Hawthorne. The chapter of the study book "Christian Missions, and America's International Attitude", was taken by Mrs. Robert Moore, and Mrs. Charlotte Cooper. A solo by Mrs. Rufus Payne and a reading "Send the Gospel" by Mrs. Pratt were also given. The treasurer reported a balance of $24.30. The memorial fund for Mrs. Eliza Wasson Edwards is $5.80. Mrs. Taylor read a letter from Mrs. Robb of Norwood giving the allocation for the bale.

Lunch was served after the program and the usual social half hour enjoyed. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mesdams Robert Payne, J. Greystock, and G. Taylor.

Debate Postponed.

The debate "Resolved that war is inconsistent with Christianity", has been postponed until March 13, owing to the bad condition of the roads.

Roads Are Bad.

Some farmers took the stock they had ready for shipping to Lakefield on Monday, but had some difficulty because of the condition of the roads.

OMEMEE TO VOTE ON TANNERY LAW

OMEMEE, March 8.—A number of by-laws were passed at the regular meeting of the Omemee Council, which was held on Monday evening. By-law No. 546 for fixing the assessment of the property of the North American Leather Co., Ltd., received its several readings. A motion was carried to the effect that the votes on the Tannery by-law be taken on April 2, 1928. A by-law to provide for taking the votes of the electors on the proposed by-law was passed; also for the purpose of borrowing money in the year 1928. Upon motion, by-law No. 546 and attached notice regarding the vote, will be published in the Watchman Warder for three consecutive issues.

The resignation of Councillor R. Poast, was accepted, and nominations for filling the vacancy in the council will be held on March 26 at 7.30 p.m. and, if necessary, the election will be held on April 2. The auditor's report was accepted and the usual number of copies ordered.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid: Street lights, $79.54; fire hall lights, $2; Coronation Hall lights, $9.08; Municipal World, $4.90; express, 65c; La France Fire Engine Co's account, $27; rent of safety deposit box, $5; auditor's fees and expenses, $12.50.

WORK STARTED ON POWER LINE

P. C. Denyes Begins Construction of Extension of Campbellford System.

INTO EAST SEYMOUR.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 8.—The construction for the power line to be run south of the town on the Stirling road has already been started. P. C. Denyes, town, was awarded the contract and began work immediately. His men are at present engaged in cutting poles on the Ernest Ingram farm, and Mr. Denyes states that some of those poles will be installed before the frost is out of the ground. The contract calls for the completion of the work by August 1st of this year, and the contractor is of the opinion that the time allowance is ample. According to his estimates the number of poles required will be about five hundred and fifty. The circuit will be a two wire affair with number six copper wire carrying a 6,600 volt, 60 cycle, single phase current. As nearly as can be ascertained at present, the line will run from the town power house, south along the Stirling road as far as the first cross road west of Hoards' station. It has not yet been given out whether an extension will be made after that point has been reached or not. In some circles it is expected that the line will be continued north along this crossroad and return almost to the town limits via the seventh concession of Seymour township. This will permit many more farmers to take advantage of the cheap power.

SAFETY IDEAS WIN 7 PRIZES

Deloro Safety Committee Hears Interesting Reports of Month.

GOOD WORK DONE.

MARMORA, March 8.—Satisfactory reports were given by the various committees at the monthly meeting of the Deloro Safety Committee, held at the Hub Dining Room on Monday evening. W. Williams reported for the suggestion committee, describing some twenty-eight suggestions which had effected minor improvements. In the absence of R. Hunter, J. Hemhill reported for the competitive committee, showing that minor accidents during January and February of this year were seven-tenths proportion with that of last year.

Seven prizes were awarded for worthy suggestions. The flag and star were given to the oxide plant, which the engineers are reported to have a clear sheet thus. R. A. Elliott commented on the good type of suggestions received. Questions of safety devices were discussed after which W. R. Reynolds outlined the month's activities of the publicity committee. Floyd Gray, chairman of the inspection committee and floating member for February, gave a satisfactory report, and K. Buchanan was appointed floating member for March. The monthly statement of the benevolent relief fund was given by C. H. Buskard, after which H. A. McNally reported three practices of artificial respiration carried out in the silver plant during the past month. Mr. Thompson was assigned similar duties in the oxide plant for March. The chairman stated that if possible the annual mass meeting will be held in the latter part of April. He also referred to the impending departure of one of the original members, Robert Scott, and wishing him on behalf of all present, success in his new sphere

The Seal of Service

The Blue Star Seal on the oven door is an extra symbol of that service; the recommendation of an industry that has built nothing else but cooking ranges for over 40 years.

Look for the Blue Star Seal before buying a gas range. It is not an ornament, but rather the builder's seal of approval, and your assurance that the range you are buying comes up to basic standards prescribed by the Canadian and the American Gas Association, Bureau of Standards, the Bureau of Mines, and the Public Health Service.

IMPORTANT FACTS REGARDING THE EXAMINER PUZZLE CONTEST

Now Entering On Last Week—Will Be Decided Strictly According to the Rules of the Contest.

A number of contestants during the past few days have enquired as to the kind of tie-breaker the "Examiner" will use should one be necessary, and how many subscribers they will need to get on the second puzzle in order to be among the prize winners, and such similar questions. No doubt these enquiries are due to the fact that during the past few months a number of concerns have used these puzzles for commercial purposes and have departed somewhat from the original ideas of the contest. Tie breakers, as a first puzzle they have given a fairly simple puzzle in figures which a very large percentage can get correct and later follow with a tie breaker which is of an altogether different nature and in which many contestants are at a great disadvantage. We want to emphasize that the "Examiner" contest is being run strictly to the rules and the original intentions of the contest. The "Lift Lock Puzzle" is very interesting and amusing but is not as easy as it looks as is proved by the large variety of answers.

If a second puzzle or tie-breaker is necessary absolutely nothing is asked of the contestant who is entitled to a tie-breaker, other than they complete the tie-breaker and send in within the specified time, and we can gaurantee that no money whatever will be received, or asked for on the second puzzle.

The tie-breakers to be used by the "Examiner" is a novel and entirely new puzzle and will be even more interesting and entertaining than the Life-Lock Puzzle, but like most tie-breakers it will require a good deal of patience and skill in order to get the best possible answer. It will be a puzzle in simple addition and is so designed that every contestant will have absolutely the same chance. The only requirement being the ability to add correctly and the patience and skill to work out the best possible answer. Therefore if you wish to have a few good evenings' interesting amusement, you can do no better than enter into the Life Lock Puzzle and aim to be among those who will secure one of these tie-breakers, with an equal chance of winning one of the big prizes. We are now entering upon the last week or so of the contest and we wish to assure our contestants that the Examiner contest will not divert from the rules in any way and, that the tie-breaker will be one of figures in which every one has an equal chance, with no further money payments required.

DENIES HUSBAND TO CROSS OCEAN

Capt. Hinchcliffe Will First Fly To India, Says Wife—Levine Returns.

LONDON, Mar. 8 (Canadian Press).—Mrs. Walter Hinchcliffe to-day said that her husband, Capt. Hinchcliffe, has no intention of flying to the United States, at least until he has made a trip to India. She told the Associated Press that Capt. Hinchcliffe, with a friend, Capt. Sinclair, is now at Cranwell getting a Stinson plane in trim for a flight to India when weather conditions are favorable.

Levine Coming Home.

HAVANA, March 8 (Canadian Press).—Charles Levine, who arrived here with Miss Mabel Boll and Wilmer Stultz in the trans-Atlantic plane Columbia on Tuesday, announced to-day that he would leave at three p.m. on the return flight. He will stop at Palm Beach, Miami, St. Petersburgh, and Charleston, South Carolina. He expects to arrive in New York on Sunday.

District Churches

Gilmour Memorial.

Rev. W. S. Edgar chose for his text Sunday morning, Phil. 4:5: "Let your moderation be known to all men." "This is the tenderest of all the epistles," he said. "There is no chiding, no rebuke. It is permeated with the spirit of good cheer, of joy and peace, though it is written in bonds to which the apostle makes frequent references, yet there is no trace of despondency or gloom. Although sent to a church which he had not seen for five or six years, there appeared no necessity for those strictures and reproofs with which the other epistles are filled.

"This epistle is supposed to have been written at the beginning of Paul's imprisonment in Rome. It is, therefore, the first part of that precious prison literature of the church, which is amongst our greatest treasures. It was a persecuted apostle writing to a persecuted church. In the verse preceding our text he calls upon them to rejoice always, amid your tears keep a trustful, restful, joyful heart, not rejoicing in your success, in your friends, but in Him—rejoice in the Lord. The secret of perennial joy is in the realized companionship of the Redeemer. It is easy to bear all, to endure all, to believe all, when the overshadowing presence of the Lord Jesus is realized.

"There are several kinds of pride to which we Christians are exposed, and of all kinds of pride spiritual pride easily comes first. There is pride of orthodoxy. We Baptists believe that we hold the truth, the deep, full, evangelical Christian truth. The admonition of the text applies to matters of character. We are tempted to judge our brethren harshly; some of them are not like us in certain particulars and we conclude that they are inferior in wisdow and devotion. We must beware lest we deal offensively with any whom we may imagine to be less worthy than ourselves. We have all no doubt met and suffered at the hands of the 'superior person' who thinks that he cherishes higher ideals—has attained to greater strength and purity of character than his brethren. He fancies that he is more bold, zealous generous and helpful than the average Christian.

"This admonition applies to matters of conduct. We are to display our reasonableness in daily life, and not severely to judge our fellows. It is not easy always to say what is exactly right and fitting to be done in certain circumstances. We must, therefore watch against uncharitableness and painful dogmatism.

"The holiness of Jesus Christ revealed a yieldingness, a power and freedom of accommodation to circumstances which contrasted strikingly with the stern formalism of the Pharisee.

"We can act thus without in any way compromising our Christian position and principle. We must remember that we live continually in the Master's presence, and therefore in His strength, and for His sake let us show in all our dealings with men the same graciousness and winsomeness which he ever manifests and which won all hearts to Himself."

He did so, he says, because Mrs. Helen Lawrence, No. 2, said to be his common law wife, continuously nagged him. No. 3 is Bobby, one of the drowned boys, and No. 4, George, junior, the other.

70 YEARS YOUNG OR 40 YEARS OLD?

Many Folks in Early Life Older Than Others Past 70—In Which Class Are You?

Just because you are near or past 50 years old and are handicapped by Ill Health, Nervousness and a lack of former strength—don't make the mistake of thinking your case is hopeless or that you must now submit to old age.

A prominent Doctor recently said, "Old age is not always a matter of years. Weakness, disability, wrinkles, dimmed eyesight and gray hairs are frequently due to lack of vitality and nerve force, as a result of worry, high speed living and overwork!"

For conditions of this kind—lack of strength and energy; sleeplessness, despondency, depleted nerve force and signs of premature old age—the recent Erbac discovery has brought joy and satisfaction to many hundreds. One business man says, "Erbac has certainly been worth a million to me. At 51 I seemed pretty much 'all in' and had felt badly for years—now, thanks to Erbac, I feel like a boy again!"

Plainly wrapped and put up in convenient tablet form for easy home use—the genuine Double Strength Erbac can now be obtained from Bond's or local druggists who have been furnished with the regular 20-day treatments to supply to all adults who wish to try it on a no risk basis. Double Strength Erbac—always sold on a guarantee of money back if not satisfied—is a special formula, and should not be confused with ordinary tonics.

HUGE DEVELOPMENT.

Statements of the improving trend of business conditions through 1927 are well supported by the fact, pointed out in the annual report of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, of a net gain during the year of 38,222 telephones. On December 31st, last there were 688,383 Bell Telephones in service in Ontario and Quebec.

The importance of this development is appreciated when, adding to this number the 133,581 telephones operated in the two provinces by independent companies which connect with Bell exchanges, it becomes apparent that the total of 801,964 telephones gives to Ontario and Quebec a notable status as regards this vital service. In comparison, the European countries of France, Roumania and Portugal combined had 799,909 telephones in service at the beginning of 1926.

Troubled With Painful Eruptions Cuticura Healed

"I was troubled with itchy, sore eruptions on my head for over a year. They were very embarrassing in company as I wanted to be scratching all the time, and if I did scratch them a watery fluid came from them. They were very painful, and my hair came out in patches.

"I tried many remedies during that time but without success. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment so purchased some. The irritation stopped after one week's treatment, and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss B. Rendall, 309 Kensington St., St. James, Man., Sept. 7, 1927.

DURHAM COUNTY DEBATERS WIN

Defeat Ontario County Team in Inter-County Contest.

MARGIN IS CLOSE.

In the first inter-county debating league contest, held Tuesday evening, March 6th, at Greenbank, Ontario county, Durham county team won by a very close margin over the representatives of Ontario county.

The subject of the debate was, "Resolved that country life affords greater opportunity to build character than does life in the city." The speakers for the affirmative from Ontario county were Noreen Croxall, Greenbank, and John Dryden, Brooklin, while the negative was taken by Lillian Clemence, Newcastle, and Norman Hogg, Orono. Splendid addresses were given by each of the debaters and many interesting features on this topic were touched on.

The Department feels that these debates are of great benefit to those taking part, as they develop self confidence, reliance and self control.

The agricultural representatives, W. M. Croskery, Uxbridge, and J. Y. Kellough, Port Hope, expressed themselves as being delighted with the response given to this feature of their work by the young people and hope that public speaking and debating may be expanded in each county.

Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, March 8.—Mrs. Wm. Whitthun, St. Catharines, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wood, Front street.

The Reverend James Grier conducted the preparatory service in St. Paul's church, Peterborough, last night.

Miss Norma Nadoo has returned to her home here after visiting in Toronto.

At the regular meeting of the Golden Rule Masonic Lodge here, Mr. Hayden, secretary-treasurer of the Masonic Research Bureau, Toronto, gave a very interesting address on the Masonic ritual and also spoke on the functioning of the research bureau.

Mrs. C. H. Nadoo has just learned that her daughter, Thelma, was proclaimed the best waltzer at the 176th Masonic 'At Home' held recently in the Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal. The prize was a beautiful silver dish. Miss Nadoo did not mention the name of her dancing partner in her letter.

THE FEEDING OF BABIES.

From time immemorial it has been recognized that babies thrive best when breast-fed, and it is the ambition of every mother to nurse her baby. But since it frequently happens that this is not practicable for one reason or another, the young mother looks about most anxiously for that food which is not obtainable. It is essential that the food used should be absolutely pure, that it should contain all the necessary elements of nourishment for the child, and finally that it should be easily digestible. For three generations Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk has been the standby of mothers who have been unable to nurse their babies. It is the leading infants' food, more Eagle Brand being used than the combined total of all others. It measures up to the requirements of the infants perfectly, and nearly all babies thrive on it from the first feeding.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, and emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or 'flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CREOMULSION

"I wish I'd known"

There's always a new experience ahead—something you haven't done before and which calls for a decision.

You become engaged—and immediately you are called upon to decide on the purchase of many, many things you never bought before.

You marry—and furniture, draperies, silverware, china, talking machines, oil-burners, gas-stoves, automobiles claim your dollars and call for your choice.

A baby comes—and again you face a new experience in purchasing clothes and powders and blankets; in buying a crib, baby-carriage, foods, toys.

Next—what school? For the years pass incredibly fast. Once more, a new decision.

Every room in your house requires a choice. Every meal served in your dining-room results from your having decided on what to serve. Every day confronts you with a multitude of possibilities from which you must select those which make life happier and better, and make the dollars go farther.

How on earth are you going to make those decisions? How can you know what you want and what you don't want? How can you buy to such advantage that you'll seldom, if ever, have occasion to use that futile phrase, "I wish I'd bought something else?"

THURSDAY, MARCH 8, 1928.

BACK TO THE OLD SEASON.

The frankness with which Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister in charge of the Ontario Fish and Game Department, admitted to the Fish and Game Committee that a mistake had been made last year in lengthening the deer hunting season to a month, is encouraging.

"We are only too glad to rectify a mistake when we see we have been wrong," he told the committee in announcing a change to the old two weeks' open season.

Such an attitude, of course, is merely common sense, but too often in politics common sense has to take second place to party prestige, and thus politicians as a rule refuse to acknowledge weaknesses in anything they have advocated and stubbornly refuse to rectify mistakes, even when in their own mind they are convinced that errors have been made.

The longer deer hunting season was a mistake; one trial was enough to show that it would not work out as it was hoped, and that if our rapidly vanishing deer were to be conserved the former time limit would have to be restored.

The department is going back to the fifteen-day season, and its willingness to correct something that has been shown to be wrong might be emulated in other cases where a change of front is indicated.

A GREAT NEWSPAPER.

The Toronto Globe celebrated its eighty-fourth birthday this week, and many nice things are being said about that great newspaper by other Canadian journals

It is easy to say nice things about a newspaper that has such a record of consistent adherence to principle and of willingness to sacrifice its own interests in support of its convictions.

It is easy, too, to say nice things about a newspaper that has continued to set an example in the accuracy of its news matter, in the meticulous fairness in which its news columns deal with political events so that all parties and all views are equitably represented, in its refusal to over-stress the sensational and the morbid, in its wise avoidance of the tactics of the tabloids, in the brightness and literary skill displayed by its able staff of writers, and in its general air of fairness, accuracy and merit that causes it to be admired by every Canadian newspaperman worthy of the name.

With The Globe's opinions we may not always be in accord, but that does not prevent us from regarding it as a really great Canadian newspaper, a credit to its owners and staff.

ADVERTISING FOR TOURISTS.

Owing to the fact that the Ontario Tourist Association is not now operating and its tourist bureau in the United States will not be available, the necessity of this district doing some publicity work on its own account has become increasingly great.

The proposal, therefore, that the Trent Waterway and the Kawartha Lakes should be represented by a special exhibit at the Ohio Sportsmen's and Outdoor Exposition in May has considerable merit.

A large proportion of our tourist traffic originates in Ohio, and undoubtedly an attractive exhibit at this show, which is expected to draw many thousands of visitors, would have a very beneficial effect so far as bringing the advantages of this section of Ontario before a class of people we should be most anxious to reach.

The expense, divided among the municipalities in the Trent Waterway district, would be trifling in comparison with the returns that could be expected from the investment, and this fact has already been recognized by the town of Midland, the Council of which has made a grant of $200 toward the expense fund.

Advertising for tourists is good business that produces sure dividends each summer.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PROSPECTS.

The Chamber of Commerce campaign accomplished one advantageous result in the public attention it directed to the Chamber as a community asset, especially as an unofficial auxiliary for the promotion of Peterborough's general welfare.

If this attention did not yield all the new memberships that were originally expected, it may yet have a gradually accumulative effect. Some men hedged and evaded the appeal, but their superficial adverse arguments probably didn't even convince themselves. However, they need not be listed as a total loss. They might be classed as prospects, whose adherence and help may yet be won by the actual worthiness of the Chamber's plans and possibilities.

Such men might be most effectively impressed by the efforts the Chamber puts forth under its new dispensation. Within the membership itself old ambitions and plans have been refurnished and recharged with energy that was generated by the campaign, and this fresh stimulus should presently materialize in fresh activities along both old and new fronts.

The Chamber has gained quite a number of new recruits who with the veterans in the ranks should remember that merely paying the membership fee is only one aspect of the responsibility of intelligent membership. There must be willing, individual effort, and as a consequence there should be fine achievements. And with such success comes morale with the organization, and acknowledgment and tribute from outside.

Once get the old chariot going and they'll all hang on, or try to. For example, it took a long time to get the right brand of lubrication and self-starters for the Peterborough Exhibition band-waggon, but it is at last running smoothly and merrily with scores of helpers, and the whole countryside eager to lend a shoulder whenever needed and "say a good word" at every opportunity.

SELLING OUR ESTATE.

The Hon. R. B. Bennett, the new leader of the Conservative party, admits that Canada is prosperous, but adds that we are prosperous only because we are selling our estate. Amplifying this idea, Mr. Bennett told a Montreal audience that imports of finished goods are increasing year by year and are being paid for by the proceeds of the sale of the Dominion's raw materials. This, he submits, is not the way to ultimate prosperity.

There is much to be said for Mr. Bennett's argument. The situation he mentions is one that has given cause for concern in recent years. The Conservative leader intimates, of course, that the present condition is due to the presence of a Liberal administration at Ottawa. Still, one does not recall that things were greatly different when Mr. Bennett's own party was in power. Both Liberals and Conservatives must be held responsible.

In matters of this kind, of course, it is easy to condemn, but not always so simple to suggest remedies. It is perfectly true that Canada exports too much of her natural resource in the unfinished state, and imports far too many finished articles. Whenever one gets down to cases, however, obstacles appear. As an example, there has been a continual agitation for years to prevent the export of pulpwood to the United States. The argument has been offered—and it seems eminently simple and logical, on the face of it—that all our pulpwood should be manufactured into paper here, and the paper itself exported, thus giving Canada a greatly increased compensation for something with which Nature has provided us. Thousands of men are now employed in the United States in the manufacture of paper for which Canada supplied the raw material. It would seem reasonable for Canada to so regulate the industry that all this manufacturing would be done on this side of the line. As soon as the suggestion is made, however, objections are raised by those vitally concerned. They say that an embargo on pulpwood would place them at the mercy of a few buyers. They want the market open and unrestricted. They submit, in a word, that there should be no Government interference with their perfectly legitimate private business.

Take another matter, Canadian coal, produced in Mr. Bennett's own Province, Alberta. Many Canadians believe that Ontario should cease importing American fuel and use the Alberta product. They point out that Alberta has millions of tons of perfectly good coal and all that prevents the development of the industry on a great scale is the lack of market. It seems perfectly reasonable that Ontario, without coal of her own, should buy from Alberta and stop sending millions of dollars into the United States each year for this purpose. So far, however, the authorities interested in developing the Alberta coal trade have had little success. The great obstacle encountered has been that of freight rates. The railways claim they cannot carry Alberta coal to this Province at a figure that will make it possible for the Western fuel to compete, in a price way, with the American article, hauled only a short distance. Now, in this case, it would seem like good business to place such a heavy import duty on American coal that the Alberta article would be able to undersell it, even after paying the much higher haulage cost. Also, it would probably be good business from a national standpoint, for Ontario users to pay more for the Alberta article in order to keep the money in Canada. It is not human nature, however, to do so. The average man is usually concerned with buying the best article for the least money. Alberta coal will be generally used in Ontario, then, when those interested in it are able to secure a freight rate low enough to permit of its being sold as advantageously as the competing article from the U. S. A.

The situation with respect to motor cars offers another example of the difficulties that any Government—Liberal or Conservative—must face. The obvious way to induce additional motor manufacturers to locate in Canada is to put the duty up so high that they will have to establish branches here in order to do a Canadian business. But what happens when any suggestion to this effect is made? There would be a big kick from the car-buying public which would feel it was being made to pay a heavy premium on its automobile purchases. An interesting example of this reaction was seen when the Government made a slight reduction in automobile duties a year or so ago. This cut was one of the features of the Robb Budget that year and as a vote-getter it was exceedingly potent.

Every Canadian who is interested in seeing his country progress will agree with Mr. Bennett that Canada should endeavor to extract the most complete measure of benefit from all its wonderful resources. Any and all suggestions that the Conservative leader may make will receive serious consideration. If Mr. Bennett can map out a program to this end, there is no doubt that the people will be with him. The average man has little interest in political parties any more. He is more concerned with the interests of the country and he is prepared to follow any leader who can show him a better way.—Border Cities Star.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., Mar. 7 (Canadian Press). — A moderate amount of business was worked with foreign buyers in Manitoba wheat here yesterday. Sales of several loads of No. 3 Northern were made at 3 cents per bushel under the Winnipeg May option, c.i.f. bay ports. Some business was also done in Canadian Western oats for all-rail shipment from Fort William, and there was a steady demand from local and country buyers for carlots on spot. The tone of the market was firm.

The local and export trade in spring wheat grades of flour was fair and values were steady. The trade in inter wheat flour was quiet, but prices were unchanged.

The demand for all lines of millfeed continued good, and a fairly active trade was done at firm prices. Prices for standard grades of rolled oats were were maintained, but the demand was dull.

The fresh egg market was moderately active and firm. The trade in storage grades was small on account of the small offerings. The receipts were 781 cases.

A fairly active business was done in Quebec potatoes and prices were steady.

The undertone to the market for imported beans was firm, under a moderate demand. Sales of car lots of choice white hand-picked were made at $3.50 per bushel, ex-track, and smaller quantities at $3.60 per bushel, ex-store.

The butter trade continued active and firm. Ontario butter sold at 39c to 39½c, and small lots of New Zealand at 40c per pound. The receipts were 1,547 packages.

The tone of the market for cheese was firm, but the inquiry was inactive. The receipts were 62 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 8 (Canadian Press). — Delivery of wheat led to a lively all-round advance yesterday in wheat values here. July wheat established a new high price record for the season. Houses with European connections did much of the buying, and talk was current that Germany must import 60,000,000 bushels of rye or wheat before German new crops are available.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong, 1¼c to 2¾c net higher, with corn at ¼c decline to ¼c advance, oats unchanged to ¼c to ¼c off, and provisions varying from 5 cents setback to an equal gain.

Foreigners who previously were on the selling side of the wheat market appeared to be reversing their position yesterday on a large scale.

The chief reason given was that traders short of wheat to fill Chicago March contracts have found themselves in somewhat of a predicament, surplus stocks now consisting chiefly of spring wheat, the bulk of which will not be available in Chicago until lake navigation opens.

Resulting premiums for wheat ready to be utilized at once were thus a good deal responsible for yesterday's lightening up of prices of the March delivery and for general strengthening of the market as a whole. There was also considerable notice of the fact that mill feeds were yesterday bringing highest prices since the World War.

A feature of the sudden upward swing of the wheat market was forced execution of numerous orders to stop losses at various fixed limits. Meanwhile, unfavorable crop reports from the Central West, together with lack of rainfall south-west, were contributing bullish factors.

Throughout the day the corn market was inclined to drag.

The oats market was easy on account of selling to realize profits.

Provisions developed no decided trend.

RE PICKEREL.

Editor, Peterborough Examiner.

Dear Sir:

Noting an article in the Voice of the People column in your paper of March 6th, in reference as to what species of fish this controversy is about, I might state it is not the real pickerel.

Wall-eyed pike is proper; equivalent, pike-perch, dory, pike, yellow pike, blue pike, white-eye, jack salmon, river trout, jack, dore, blow-fish. Belongs to the perch family. This fish has two fins on its back (at the lower and upper parts), instead of one fin (at the lower part) such as the lunge, northern pike and eastern pickerel (real pickerel).

To further enlightment lets start from the lunge.

Northern pike; equivalent, pickerel, great lakes pike, comomn pike true pike. Belongs to the pike family, closely resembling and having many of the traits of the muskallunge.

Eastern pickerel; equivalent, chain pickerel, green pike, red-finned pike, black pike, duck-billed pike, federation pike, true pickerel. Belongs to the pike family and always looking for a scrap.

The above named three, lunge, pike and pickerel each have the same number of fins located approximately. Whereas the wall-eyed pike (Rice Lake pickerel) belonging to the perch family has one fin more (finned the same as the yellow perch).

This fish is excellent food value.

I have done considerable fishing on both sides of the line and certainly enjoy the sport and know there are thousands of others the same.

Winter fishing through the ice on inland waters should never be allowed as the fish don't get the same chance, and where is the sport?

The wall-eyed pike (Rice Lake pickerel) no doubt isn't as gamey a fish as the member of the pike family but at the same time it has considerable game qualities and is worth all the pleasure of going after. I think myself its open and closed season should be the same as our other game fish.

Yours truly,
THOS. H. AITKENS.

GOD'S MINUTE

"Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you."—Matt. 6: 33.

Our Father in Heaven, we bless Thee that Thou are near at hand, and not afar off. We thank Thee for Thy protecting care and Thy sustaining grace. We rejoice in our material comforts and our social joys. We recognize Thy Hand in all the good of life.

Forgive us our sins that are past through the mercy and forbearance of God. Make us pure and strong and true this day. Bless us and ours, and all mankind. May Thy Kingdom come! May righteousness and peace and good will prevail in all the relationships of mankind.

May we go forth to our tasks today in the fear of God, and with a rejoicing sense of Thy presence with us, and when the evening shadows gather may we go to rest with the assurance that He Who keepeth us doth not slumber nor sleep. May we do our work well through life, and when the day of life is over, when our work is done and the night come on at eventide may it still be light unto us. In Jesus' Name. Amen.

GENERAL CONTEST RULES

How to Enter

1. The contest is open to everyone except:
   (a) Employees of The Peterborough Examiner, Ltd., or their immediate family.
   (b) Prize-winners in any similar contest who have won any of the major prizes.
2. Additional puzzle-charts may be obtained free by writing to the Contest Department or by calling at The Examiner Office.
3. Every figure in the puzzle is complete and entirely free from tricks or illusions. If any contestant is in doubt about any of the figures, send in the chart with the figures marked and the Contest Department will gladly give a ruling on the figure.
4. When you have solved the puzzle, fill in completely the solution blank, which must be accompanied by a remittance for at least a six months' subscription at the regular rates to The Evening Examiner. (See subscription rates.) See also the prize-list and note how the value of your prize is increased by paying for a year's subscription and by getting subscriptions from your friends. Renewal subscriptions, or subscriptions in arrears, if paid during contest period, count the same as new subscriptions and will be extended from the present expiry date, but not more than $15.00 will be received on any one solution or subscription.
5. In order that subscribers who pay carrier boys weekly may participate in this contest, books of tickets containing 22 weekly tickets for $3.00, or 44 for $6.00, will be sold. These remittances must be made direct to the Contest Department with your solution. Otherwise it cannot be registered. Each ticket is valued at 15c and will be redeemed from the carrier boy at that price.
6. Readers who give their subscription to some other contestant and later want to send in an answer themselves, may do so providing they fill in the coupon, giving the name of the person they paid their subscription to and the amount paid. No further payment is necessary.
7. The contest will close on March 15, 1928, but send in your solution as soon as possible as we are offering special prizes for the first correct solutions. (See full details under "Special Prizes.") There is nothing gained by holding back your answer once you have solved the puzzle, as a contestant may make several remittances on any answer sent in while the contest lasts up to a total amount of $15.00.
8. Contestants may send in a different answer to the puzzle with each remittance, but if one of your answers is correct the money sent in on your other answers will not increase the total value of your prize, and not more than one regular prize will be paid to one family.
9. Everyone has an equal chance. You can win the first prize and extra cash for only a six months' subscription, but note how the value of the first five prizes increases if you send in more money. Aim to win the maximum Grand Prize. The Evening Examiner is now recognized as the leading daily in Peterborough district and surrounding counties and no difficulty should be found in getting your friends or neighbors to subscribe for it.
10. Contestants who remit by mail or pay at the office should see that these remittances and answers are made on a proper contest coupon to ensure them reaching the Contest Department.
11. If the correct answer is not sent in by any contestant the prizes will be awarded for the nearest correct solutions. In the event of a tie a second puzzle will be presented which will be as practicable and solvable as the first. Only those tieing will be permitted to solve the second puzzle. Should two or more persons be tied in the second puzzle the prizes will be divided equally among those tieing. No cash will be accepted on the second puzzle.
12. In entering the contest, contestants agree to abide by the rules of the contest and to accept the decision of the judges as final. The Contest Department reserve the right to alter and amend its rules if necessary for the protection of contestants or The Peterborough Examiner. It also reserves the right to refund any subscriptions and to disqualify any contestants whom they consider should not be in the contest. Contestants are assured of the same impartial treatment which characterizes The Examiner in all its dealings.

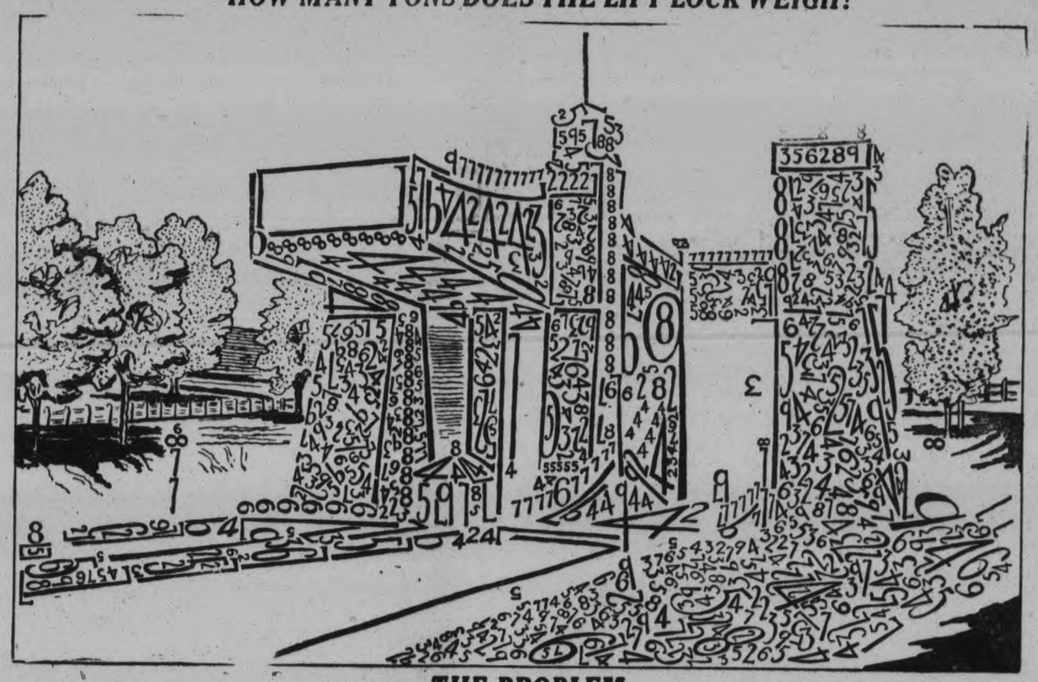
HOW MANY TONS DOES THE LIFT LOCK WEIGH?



THE PROBLEM

The problem is to add together all the figures shown above, which, when added together, represent the total number of tons that the Lift Lock weighs.

The puzzle is entirely free from tricks or illusions, every figure is complete and stands alone. The figures range from two to nine. There are no ones (1) or ciphers (0) in the puzzle. The sixes are curved, while the stem of the nines are straight.

We wish it clearly understood that every figure can be plainly seen. There is nothing hidden in the trees or shadows, but the problem of adding these is a real test of accuracy.

Remember, each figure is added separately. For example, 9777 is counted 9 plus 7 plus 7 plus 7, or, in other words, simply add them as if each figure stood one above the other in a single column.

REMEMBER, NO ONE KNOWS THE CORRECT ANSWER UNTIL THE CONTEST CLOSES

To ensure this we had Mr. E. M. Elliott, County Treasurer, and Mr. Frank Adams, City Treasurer, each erase one or more figures from the original drawing, which they carefully noted and sealed in an envelope and gave to the manager of the Royal Bank for safe keeping until the contest closes.

SPECIAL PRIZES—While the contest will not close until March 15, we are offering Five Special Prizes for the first five correct, or nearest correct, solutions secured by us. The prizes will be: First Prize, $3.00; Second Prize, $7.00; Third Prize, $5.00; Fourth Prize, $3.00; Fifth Prize, $2.00.

A TIP ON HOW TO WIN

Take a pencil and put down the numbers as you stroke them out, then add them up. Some suggest that you cut the chart into dozens of pieces, then check them from all sides; or if you wish, try blotting them out with colored ink or pencil. Others think the best way is to pick out all the twos, threes, fours, etc. Any they miss the first time they find later. Or suppose you try taking a combination of figures which, when added together, makes a total of ten. For example, 5 and 3 and 2 make 10. Tens are not only easily added together, but there is less danger of making a mistake.

1. Everyone has the same opportunity. A person sending in only $3.00 in subscriptions has the same chance of winning the first prize as a person sending in more money. The advantage of sending in more money is to increase the value of the first five prizes.
2. This is a contest for Central Ontario district, or to any subscriber of The Examiner, no matter where he resides.
3. Don't forget to answer all the necessary questions on the solution blank.
4. If you collect a subscription from a friend or neighbour, that person can also submit an answer to the puzzle without further payment.

THE JUDGES

In order that each Contestant shall have fair and impartial treatment, we have arranged with Mr. Roland Denne, Mayor of the City and Alderman Nagel Phelan to act as judges for the contest. Any complaints in this connection will be referred to these judges whose decision will be absolutely final.

GRAFTON'S

THREAT SENT TO MAGISTRATE

Windsor Official Ordered To Return At Once To Sudbury.

DEATH THREATENED.

WINDSOR, Ont., Mar. 8.— Despite death threats contained in an anonymous letter received in his mail this afternoon, David M. Brodie, acting magistrate at Windsor, will continue his stay here until relieved by order of the attorney general.

"I am so little alarmed about the threats," Mr. Brodie said, "that I do not think it necessary to ask the police to make an investigation."

Written in a scrawly hand the letter warned Mr. Brodie to return immediately to his home at Sudbury, or be "filled with lead." On the back of the communication, which was mailed last night in the city, is a rough drawing in ink of the skull and crossbones, and the final warning: "We mean business."

T.C.S. MAY USE VACANT COLLEGE

TORONTO, March 8.—Woodstock College is being considered as a possible location for the senior school of Trinity College School, pending the erection of new buildings at Port Hope. This was revealed following a meeting of the board of Governors held yesterday, when reports were received on various available buildings for housing the classes.

Dyce W. Saunders, secretary of the board, said after the meeting that no definite action was taken but that the various reports will be considered, and an effort made as soon as possible to solve the problem of accommodation brought about by last week's disastrous fire. Aside from the fact that Woodstock College was under consideration, the secretary would not name any other possible locations for sections of the school.

Room for Only Part

Mr. Saunders pointed out that the governors have had little time as yet to seek accommodation, and that such consideration must be given the question.

Quarters in the Port Hope Town hall have been offered, but these will house only a fraction of the pupils who are without a place to continue their studies.

According to a Woodstock dispatch, Dr. F. G. Orchard, principal of the school, accompanied by Mrs. Orchard and two members of the staff, visited the college there. They were accompanied on a tour of inspection by Mayor Sales, Rev. J. S. LaFlair, H. H. Wilson and George Parker. Dr. and Mrs. Orchard were reported to be thoroughly satisfied with the buildings, though they have not been in use for two years. They arranged over long-distance telephone after a conference with McMaster University officials, at which an agreement for the use of the college might be discussed.

Chancellor H. P. Whidden, of McMaster, announced last night that he and Dr. Orchard had discussed the matter. As a result of the talk, a request will be made to the governors of McMaster, and Dr. Orchard will meet them in a day or two to go into details of the agreement desired. The senior school, for which accommodation in Woodstock is sought, has an enrolment of about 220 boys.

MINES.

F. G. Oke and Company wire as follows:

Toronto, March 8.—The feature of this morning's market was that of Bidgood Gold Mines, Limited, which rapidly sold as high as 92c per share, but later eased off a little under heavy selling. The reason for this advance is sought on street, and as far as we could find it is the result of rumors of high values being obtained from the recent assaying of Bidgood ore.

Amulet appeared in good demand at prevailing prices and showed a gain of 15 points, seemingly on further reports that a statement could be expected from officials in the near future regarding ore reserves. The rest of the market could be considered firm and no doubt a lot of profit-taking is represented in present prices which has been afforded by the material advance in mining stocks during the past week or two.

Judging by the increased volume of sales yesterday, which totalled nearly two million shares, it appears quite probable that we may be running into a real bull market in the very near future. One thing is quite certain, there is a great deal of constructive news anticipated from the mining operations during the next few months, such as increases in production, increases in dividends, the rapid development of newer properties, new properties entering production, etc.

We are of the opinion that the aggregate effect of such favorable information can be nothing else than higher prices for many of the active and leading issues on the mining board to-day.

Stocks appear selling comparatively cheap and many experienced mining speculators are well known to be making their mining stock commitments now.

Bidgood Remains Strong Other Stocks Ease Slightly

TORONTO, March 8 (Canadian Press). — The market on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day eased off slightly from recent high prices but losses generally were small. Bidgood featured the Kirklands with an advance past 90 on a big turnover, later selling around 85 compared with yesterday's close of 81. Other stocks in this group, however, eased slightly, with Lake Shore at 24.15, Teck Hughes at 9.00, Wright Hargreaves at 5.40, and Kirkland Lakes at 2.06. Among the Porcupines, McIntyre at 27.60 and Hollinger at 17.20 were slightly firmer. Nipissing improved improved to 4.80 and Hudson Bay Smelting contained strong between 17.50 and a quarter higher. Pend O'Reille weakened to 17.25 and Coast Copper dropped back to 44.

Profit Taking Sales Slow Up Market

NEW YORK, March 8 (Canadian Press). — Speculative operations for the advance were assumed in to-day's stock market, but they appeared to have lost much of their momentum, due to heavy profit-taking sales. General Motors created a new high record for the fifth consecutive day, but trading in that issue showed a marked falling off in volume. Buying operations were most effective in the oils, public utilities, and specialties, a number of which were marked up three to nearly six points.

Overnight news developments were generally bullish. Federal Reserve Governor Young's testimony on the brokers' loans before the United States Senate Committee received widespread favorable comment in Wall Street, where considerably less concern is apparent over the possibility of restrictive legislation. The decision of California oil producers to curtail production, coupled with an increase in export gasoline prices, brought fresh buying into the oil shares.

Weather Conditions Give Setback To Chicago Wheat

CHICAGO, March 8 Canadian Press). — Rains in the west and the south-west, together with Liverpool unresponsiveness to price upturns here, led to an early setback in the Chicago wheat values to-day. Besides, some Minneapolis wheat was reported to have been sold for rail shipment to this city. Opening ⅝c to 1⅛c off, Chicago wheat later held near to initial figures. Corn and oats were relatively firm, corn starting ¼c to ⅜c down, but afterward scoring some advance.

International Nickel Leader On Inactive Exchange

TORONTO, March 8 (Canadian Press). — Trade on the Toronto Stock Exchange was very quiet this morning, with gains and losses about even. International Nickel was again leader of the listed section, and after opening strong at 83½ eased down at the close to 82½ for the loss of ½. Arnold Brothers was a strong feature, selling up ⅜ at 15. Canadian Oil made a gain of ⅞ at 54, while Cosmos Common at 21 was up ¾. Brazilian Common at 199½ was 1½ points lower than at yesterday's close. Page Hersey also lost selling down one point at 93, while Shredded Wheat closed ½ lower at 69. International Petroleum led unlisted section selling up one at 37¾, while British American Oil 35½ advanced ¼. Service Stations and Hiram Walker at 39½ and 58½ were down 1½ and ¼ respectively.

Legion Notes

Last night at the Canadian Legion Hall the regular weekly euchre drive was well attended by the patrons, followed by a dance, and those present enjoyed an enjoyable evening dancing to the exquisite music supplied by Logan's Merrymakers.

Commencing with next Wednesday evening the Euchre committee has decided to commence a series of bridge evenings in addition to the euchre games, so that those interested in playing bridge will have an opportunity of displaying their skill in this game, which has become so popular. The euchre will be played on the top floor and the bridge games will be played in the dance hall.

To-mororw evening the Executive committee will meet at 7 o'clock when much important business will be transacted.

The Dominion convention of the Canadian Legion will be held this year at St. Johns, N.B., on June the 11th, and is expected to last for four days.

The preparations for the annual church parade will be under consideration. This service will probably be held on Sunday, April 22.

Many cases of pension adjustment are coming in from outside points, with a request that they be taken up from this office. In January last a case was sent in from Brampton, Ont., which had repeatedly been rejected by the B. P. C., but which has happily been adjusted.

This morning a letter was received at the office expressing the thanks of the writer on behalf of his brother for the efforts put forth by the officials of the local branch for the success they had attained in the case, and which is quoted below:

"I have to thank you for a copy of the Minister's letter to you stating that the following reconsideration of my brother's case, and that the Board of Pensioon Commissioners have authorized pension on his behalf.

"I am most grateful to you and your Association for the prompt and efficient manner in which the case was handled.

"Your familiarity with the Pensions Act and amendments thereto must have been of considerable assistance to the board in disposing of the case, as it cannot be more than three weeks since you were presented with the appeal.

"Yours sincerely,
"E H. BARTLETT."

During the past week several applications for membership have been received and application forms mailed out to the prospective members.

INQUIRY BEGINS ON IMMIGRATION

Cahan and Forke Clash at Meeting of Select Committee.

DEPUTY TESTIFIES.

OTTAWA, March 8. Canadian Press. — The initial session of the select standing committee on Agriculture and Colonization called to inquire into the affairs and functions of the Department of Immigration, was productive of a few minor passages at arms to-day in which the Hon. Robert Forke and C. H. Cahan (Conservative, St. Lawrence-St. George), figured. The sitting however, progressed smoothly, and was devoted to the evidence given by W. J. Egan, deputy minister of Immigration.

Dr. Egan explained the workings of the department, its operations in the United States, the British Isles, and Europe, and laid special stress upon the working out of the three thousand family settlement scheme, and the arrangements regarding assisted passages.

W. Kay (Liberal, Brome, Mississoquoi) is chairman. The terms of reference are wide and bring the whole immigration act and the regulations attached thereto under survey.

Rout the Devils Worry and Hurry

PERHAPS two of the worst enemies of mental composure and physical health, rated among the most common causes of nervousness, are the twin devils, worry and hurry. They are closely related because the one generally inspires the other.

LOSING YOUR TEMPER IS ONE CAUSE FOR "NERVES"

Worry is the cause of many functional ailments such as nervous dyspepsia, headaches, that familiar "loggy" feeling, insomnia and brain fatigue. In fact, all the vital organs are depressed and their functions hindered by worry. Worry affects brain action and thereby upsets the reasoning power and impairs all clear thinking. When the mind is poisoned by worry all the acts dictated by it are liable to be wrong or ineffective.

The good old Quaker precept is well worth remembering. "There are two kinds of things which thee should not worry about, those things that thee can help and those that thee can't help."

Cultivate the fascinations of some wholesome hobby and fill the mind with interests entirely separated from the subjects of worry, if you would enjoy health and serenity.

Diet as an Aid to Digestion

BREAKFAST: An ounce of bran cereal and cream, very little sugar; bran muffins or toast made from graham, whole wheat or rye bread; coffee substitute. LUNCHEON: A vegetable luncheon or a vegetable salad made from any of the following: Lettuce, string beans, cauliflower, cucumbers, tomatoes, turnips-cabbage, watercress, spinach, carrots, celery, Brussel sprouts; fresh cheese; dark bread; buttermilk or some fermented milk; gelatin or fresh fruit. DINNER: Any vegetable soup, tomato, pea, lentil, corn, celery; one broiled lamb chop, a piece of chicken or a small piece of roast beef with at least two vegetables; gelatin salad; dark bread, unsweetened cocoa; tapioca pudding or prune whip.

CURRIE TO BRING RECORDS TO COURT

Will Be Examined For Discovery at Cobourg on Saturday.

COBOURG, March 8.— The Courthouse here will resemble Army headquarters when General Sir Arthur Currie appears for his examination for discovery in connection with his $50,000 suit for alleged libel against F. W. Wilson, publisher of the Port Hope Guide, and W. T. R. Preston, writer of an article in the Guide containing allegedly slanderous references to Sir Arthur's part in the advance on Mons just before Armistice was declared in the Great War.

Sir Arthur has been asked to appear on Saturday morning at eleven o'clock, and John T. Field, the local registrar, has ordered him to produce among other things all military maps applicable to the advance army and operation orders and copies of army and operation orders received by him and issued by him or under his instructions with respect to the engagement.

The former Canadian commander is instructed also to produce all letters, letter-books, a copy of the King's Orders and Rules then in force, and all other memoranda writings, books, papers and other documents in any way relating to the matters in question in the action.

The date for the examination was set for next Saturday in accordance with the order of Judge L. V. O'Connor, but Sir Arthur has yet to signify that this date is suitable to him. W. N. Tilley, K.C., who has been retained by Sir Arthur, was desirous of having the examination in Toronto, instead of in Cobourg, but this could not be arranged.

Mr. Tilley will not be present on Saturday, as he is now in England representing the Province of Ontario in the Tiny Township appeal to the Privy Council.

GREETINGS TO FRIENDS.

Though his stay in Peterborough was brief the following letter from Harry R. McKeen, written in St. Louis, will be read with interest by the host of friends he gained while directing the Forward Movement put on by the Chamber of Commerce during the month of February. The letter, dated March 3, was received by Secretary Frank G. Stinson of the Chamber of Commerce. It says in part:

"I am lonesome for you folks today; didn't realize what a hold you had gotten on me. Weather springlike here. Wheat is greening and farmers are at work. No snow. Greetings to my many friends and well-wishers."

Mr. McKeen goes to Cape Girardeau, Missouri, where he will put on a five weeks' campaign for the Chamber of Commerce there. Cape Girardeau suffered heavily during the Mississippi floods, some four hundred homes being destroyed.

Fill Ugly Hollows With Firm Flesh

New Yeast and Iron Puts on Pounds of Weight in Only 3 Weeks—or pay nothing

Women and men are amazed at the almost magic effects of IRONIZED YEAST. After a single course treatment—thin, weak bodies are brought up in weight and strength. Flesh is made round and firm. Hollows filled out. Skin made satiny smooth with the glow of girlhood. How is this done?

Yeast and Iron have always been considered two of the greatest body and blood builders by medical science. They contain those vital food elements that build up solid flesh, correct skin and digestion troubles and enrich the blood. IRONIZED YEAST contains these two ingredients in highly concentrated form which is nine times more effective than a fresh cake of yeast and iron taken alone.

©C.I.Y. Co. Ltd.

After taking IRONIZED YEAST you will notice an amazing improvement in your health, appearance and spirits. The skin loses its sallow, pimply, blotchy look, pounds of good flesh are taken on and your digestion and bowel action are wonderfully improved.

Don't have a skinny body that looks as though it had never been fed enough. Don't go around with an ugly skin. Take IRONIZED YEAST. Safe for everybody; contains no harmful drugs. Pleasant, tasty tablets in a handy bottle.

Try It on "Money-Back" Offer

Go to any drug store and get a full size treatment. If, after this generous trial you are not delighted with effects, ask for your money back. It will be refunded immediately. If inconvenient to buy from druggist, send $1.25 direct to CANADIAN IRONIZED YEAST CO., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont., Desk 149W.

Hunter Charles Rogers, claimant to the title of world's greatest hoaxer, whose amazing operations in the field of spurious art treasures and relics have finally earned him twelve months in an English prison. He once operated in Toronto. Rogers is seen with "portfolios of Shakespeare writings" he claimed to have discovered on an English peer's estate, but which were branded as fakes.

To what length those inspired with the urge to enter the United States will go in their effort to circumvent legal barriers is illustrated by the thrilling story of a 17-year-old Lithuanian girl, Anna Putriuniate. She risked her life in crossing the roaring Niagara gorge by crawling along the semi-circular network of girders supporting the lower steel arch bridge. A man, now under arrest, fastened a rope around her waist and lowered her several hundred feet over the side of the gorge to the lower abutments of the bridge. Here she was joined by her aide and the two proceeded to crawl along the girders, which, rising in a semi-circle from both sides of the river, culminate in the centre, at a point 250 feet above the surging waters beneath. A slip would have meant instant death. She was arrested on arrival in the States.

A buried treasure of gold, silver and diamonds, valued at $50,000,000, and said to have been buried by Jesuit priests in a hillside on the Sacambaya river, near Inquisivi Bolivia, is the goal of a party of Englishmen, headed by Dr. Edgar Sanders, a mining engineer. A company has been organized and a prospectus issued. The parchments that point to the existence of the treasure have been examined by Sir Edward Denison Ross, an authority, who has pronounced them genuine. Above are shown a map, showing the area in which it is believed the treasure will be found, with a photograph of Sir Edward Denison Ross.

Here are five generations of a Brantford, Ontario, family. They are: Great-great-grandfather Solomon Sayles, retired farmer, born May 2, 1834, in Brant County; great-grandfather, Haggai R. Sayles, well-known Brantford fish merchant, born July 7, 1860, in Brant County; grandfather Roy E. Sayles, Brantford confectioner and transport man, born February 28, 1886, in Brant County; father, Clarence E. Sayles, born February 23, 1907, in Brantford, and the fifth generation, Harry Kenneth Sayles, born October 1, 1927, in Brantford. Left to right: Solomon, Roy, Harry Kenneth, Clarence and Haggai.

The "auld haunted kirk" at Alloway, Scotland, which was made famous by Robert Burns in "Tam O'Shanter" and other poems, has been taken over by the British government and will be preserved in perpetuity as a memorial. In recent years it had been gradually disappearing as the result of neglect and the ravages of vandals.

On the invitation of the Chinese church to return to their work in West China when the revolutionary troubles had somewhat subsided, two Canadians and a Newfoundland man have gone back to their old posts. They are shown ABOVE, LEFT to RIGHT, T. Edgar Plewman, F.R.G.S., Toronto, whose family is in Shanghai; Rev. S. H. Soper of St. John's, Newfoundland, and Rev. Kenneth J. Beaton, whose family is in Japan. The three were evacuated from Szechwan province on order of the British Consul at Pekin almost a year ago.

Dr. Charles Alexander Eastman, Sioux Indian chieftain, is spending two months lecturing on Indian customs. ing to the surface," referring to the debris, and when asked why his tranquility of mind on the subject, replied he had confidence in his staff. Chief Inspector Sutherland thought that if waste and debris were mingled day by day, no harm would be done, but "there was no excuse for dumping it in the stopes alone."

George Cole, District Mining Inspector, had relied on the information given him by Rutherford, safety inspector, on the subject, and exactly where the debris was going, except in a general way into the stopes, and he distinguished between dilution and segregation. Witness said he visited the mine on an average twice a month, spending from four to six hours underground each time. He had been accompanied on occasions by the safety inspectors and by Messrs. Knox, Young or Emery. With regard to the last named, Mr. Brigham adhered to his former expressed opinion that Emery was responsible for underground operations said he, as general manager, would not accept responsibility for transportation and declared that unless radical changes were involved questions would not go beyond Emery. Mr. Williams would not expect Emery to accept responsibility for everything and said the mine superintendent, through his foreman, would carry out policy laid down.

Allegations by David MacKenzie that letter had been sent to the Hollinger and the Department of Mines, these dealing with conditions in the stopes, were denied by William Hogarth, mine secretary, and Inspector Sutherland, respectively. The files had been searched in Timmins and at Toronto, without result. Neither Mr. Brigham nor Mr. Williams could give any further assistance toward determining responsibility for the cause of the fire, and the latter said a mine investigation, called by the official enquiry, would be made later. Mr. Williams told Mr. Slaght safety never had been sacrificed to economy, and Mr. Brigham declared questions of cost and production were not paramount compared with safety. Inspector Cole agreed that a hiatus existed somewhere in the company's organization, when the commission expressed that opinion.

Late last evening it was announced the commission would hold another session in the morning at which some additional evidence would be heard.

OBITUARY

MRS. GEORGE LITTLE.

MARMORA, March 8.—On Sunday last, Minnie, wife of George Little of Toronto passed peacefully away in a hospital in that city. Deceased who was in her fifty-fifth year, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Burns of Marmora and until her marriage seven years ago had resided practically all her life in the village. She was known for her industrious nature and she made many friends. Besides her devoted husband, she leaves to mourn her loss four brothers and a sister, namely, William, John, Fred and Charles of Marmora and Mrs. George Logan of Marmora township. A sister, Cora predeceased her some years ago. The remains arrived at Bonarlaw by train on Tuesday afternoon and were conveyed to the home of her brother, Charles. Among many floral tributes was a magnificent "Gates Ajar" from the Crown Tailoring Co. of Toronto with which the husband is connected and also a beautiful floral pillow from the husband. The funeral takes place on Thursday leaving the house at 2.30 for service at St. Paul's Church, interment following in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

WILLIAM STEPHENSON.

NORWOOD, March 8.—The funeral of the late William Stephenson was held yesterday afternoon from the residence of his sister, Mrs. B. W. Squire, Queen Street. His death occurred in Chicago on Monday, after a lengthy illness. Mr. Stephenson, who was 63 years of age, was the eldest son of the late W. H. Stephenson, who with his family resided here for many years. He is survived by his widow, two sisters, Mrs. B. W. Squire of this village and Miss Olive Stephenson of Toronto, and one brother, Mr. Herb. Stephenson, of Chicago, who accompanied the remains to Norwood.

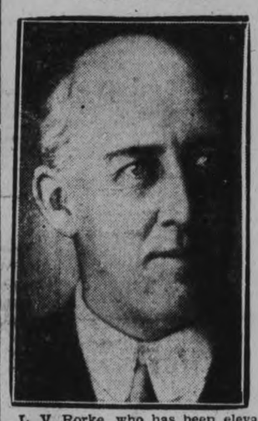
The bearers were: Messrs. E. P. Cuffe, J. W. Rork, W. A. Richardson, J. Weir, J. A. Finlay and J. F. Elliott.

PROMOTED.



L. V. Rorke, who has been elevated from director of surveys in the Ontario department of lands and forests to the post of surveyor-general with the rank of deputy minister.

An Old Recipe to Darken Hair

By JANICE RANDALL

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, for only 75 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years longer.

GEORGE GRIFFIN.

STIRLING, March 8.—The death of George Griffin took place Tuesday evening at his home in the 2nd concession of Rawdon about a mile northwest of the village. About two years ago the deceased suffered a stroke, but recovered sufficiently to supervise his farm work. On Tuesday afternoon he was in the village. While returning home he was taken ill, passing away a few hours later. A widow and three daughters survive him.

HENRY PUFFER.

NORWOOD, March 8.—The death of Henry Puffer occurred on Wednesday evening at the residence of his brother, Isaac Puffer. Deceased, who was in his 69th year, had been in very poor health for some time, but, by an operation about a month ago, it was hoped his health would be improved.

The late Mr. Puffer was a highly respected farmer at Clarina, Stoney Lake. He was very favorably known throughout the district.

HENRY R. PATTERSON.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 8.— The funeral service of the late Henry R. Patterson was held at his late residence, Booth street, at eight o'clock Tuesday evening, the Reverend Ernest Harston officiating. Interment was made in Peterborough, the remains being transferred to that city by the first train this morning.

The late Mr. Patterson was in his 66th year and was one of the leading business men of the town and for some years past had conducted a successful jewelry business on Front street. He is survived by Mrs. Patterson, one daughter, Mary of Campbellford, and one son John, Ottawa.

CHOIR HOLDS SLEIGH DRIVE

Members and Friends From St. John's Church Have Outing.

AT CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 8—Members and friends of St. John's United Church choir, to the number of fifty-five were entertained to a delightful sleigh drive and social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard McKelvie. Three large sleighs specially equipped for the occasion were provided by Henry McKelvie, P. B. Nelson, and Ward Archer. After the drive, a hot supper was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard McKelvie and an evening of games and dancing followed. The party generally took the form of a leap year affair and the novelty added considerably to the merriment.

Evelyn Irwin, A. M. Rollo and Ruth Taylor were among the prize winners for the evening. Miss Irwin won the honors for the best proposal. This bit of delicate oratory was submitted in writing but read aloud later. Mr. Rollo came first with his recipe for a wedding cake, and Miss Taylor outlined the most enjoyable honeymoon to cost not more than one thousand dollars. There were several other games and contests. Later in the evening, dancing became the popular pastime till it was time to return to town.

WOMEN'S GUILD MEETING HE

Omemee Ladies Are Entertained By Mrs. Jamieson—Books Bound.

BUSINESS DISCUSSED.

OMEMEE, March 8.—Mrs. E. Jamieson entertained the members of the Women's Guild of Christ Church at the regular meeting held recently. Business included the rebinding of several choir books which needed repair, and the preparation of robes for two Junior choir boys who lead the choir. It was decided to order the flowers for the Easter service at an early date in order to have a good choice. During the afternoon work was in progress for the annual bazaar and other matters were discussed. Refreshments were served by the hostess, and president, Miss Irene Clemett, to the twenty-three ladies present.

Mrs. W. F. Fallis left on Tuesday for a visit with her cousins, the Messrs. Eyers, in Iowa. The Eyers Brothers motored over from the States in the summer of 1926 and visited their relatives in this section of Ontario, and at other points on their way home. Mrs. Fallis' departure was delayed a day owing to the celebration of her silver wedding anniversary held at her home on Monday evening.

Mrs. Reg. Armstrong of South Monaghan was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ball, and assisted her sister, Mrs. W. Fred Fallis, in receiving the large number of guests who attended the twenty-fifth anniversary of her wedding on Monday evening.

The Five Hundred Club was entertained at its last meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ball; among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Garside, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorndyke, Mr. and Mrs. P. I. Bentley, Mrs. H. A. and Mr. Aubrey Fallis, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, Mrs. R. Armstrong, Misses M. Curtiss and Lila White, and others.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Garnett of Port Hope were guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. W. Fred Fallis, and other friends on the Fallis Line.

Hot cabs—sudden draughts—muscular strain

But no rheumatism for these 249 locomotive firemen and engineers

"ONCE a railroad man—always a railroad man," they say. There's a fascination about the life that holds a man, once he's started on it.

No easy berth either—whether you drive the engine or fire the boilers. It's a tax on the strongest muscles, and you're always in danger of catching a chill from the extremes of heat and cold going in and out of the cab.

What do these hardy men do to keep their muscles strong and supple for their work? How do they ward off colds, chest congestions, rheumatism?

We went right to some locomotive firemen and engineers and asked them these questions.

249 whom we asked said, "We use Sloan's."

The standby of workers everywhere

Ask any group of active men or women these same questions and two out of three of them will give you the same answer. Sloan's is the best thing you can use to keep muscles supple under the hardest work, to kill the pain of overstrain or small injuries, to prevent colds and rheumatism.

Read this letter from a fireman on the Union Pacific:

"I am a fireman on Union Pacific R. R. I was taken sick in Maryville, Kansas, and I worked back to Kansas City with pains shooting all over my back. As soon as I got to Kansas City I got a bottle of your wonderful liniment and started to put it on. It did me a whole lot of good, and, for me, I wouldn't be without a bottle at any time. I carry a bottle in my grip all the time on road. After each trip I put some Sloan's on." C. R. Ellis, 3250 Gillham Road, Kansas City, Mo.

• • •

The minute you apply it you begin to get relief. And it doesn't just deaden the pain temporarily—it gets rid of it. It stimulates the circulation, breaks up congestion, clears out germs and poisons, and the pain stops because the cause is removed.

Get a bottle today and have it on hand. You never can tell when it may save you hours of agony—days of lost time. A bottle that lasts a long time is only 35 cents and you can get it at all druggists. Use it for:

Rheumatism Lame muscles
Sciatica Stiff neck
Lumbago Colds and congestions
Neuralgia
Sprains and bruises

Here's what the company doctor of one of the big railroads says of Sloan's: "People whose work exposes them to strain or to damp and cold usually suffer from a good deal of muscular soreness. We find that Sloan's gives them quick, positive relief."

SLOAN'S Endorsed universally by those who do the world's hard work

BRITISH GATHER MEN ON BORDER

Cars, Tanks, and Planes Being Mobilized To Repel Arabs.

ENEMY ON MOVE.

LONDON, March 8 (Canadian Press).—British preparations for the "holy war" in Arabia continued today. Men, armored cars, tanks, and airplanes were being mobilized along the border of Trans-Jordania to turn back any attack by Wahabi tribesmen under Ibn Saud.

A despatch to The Daily Mail from Jaffa told of preparations being made by the British authorities in Palestine. A frontier force was being mobilized. All officers and men were recalled from leave. An armored car company left Ramleh, Palestine, for Amman yesterday and several airplanes, each understood to be carrying twenty men passed over Jaffa on Tuesday, en route from Egypt to Amman.

Advices received at Basra said that the Ajman and other Wahabi tribes which have been united in border warfare have received rifles, ammunition, food and tents from Ibn Saud. The Jewish Telegraph Agency said Irak newspapers reported an uprising had occurred in Nejd, the stronghold of Saud. It was also said that advices from Basra were that a Wahabi force, led by Shief Ed Dowsk, was marching toward Irak with fourteen hundred camels. British airplane scouts, however, reported that they saw no signs of hostile movements in the desert.

NEW STRENGTH FOR ALL WEAK GIRLS

Comes From the Rich, Red Blood Made By Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

There must be no guesswork in the treatment of pale, anaemic girls and children. If your daughter is languid, has a pale, sallow complexion, is short of breath after slight exertion or on going up stairs, if she has palpitation of the heart, a poor appetite, or a tendency to faint, she has anaemia—the medical name for poverty of the blood. Any delay in treatment may leave her weak and sickly for the rest of her life. When the blood is thin and watery give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, coupled with nourishing food and gentle out-of-door exercise. The new, life-giving blood which comes from a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, increases the appetite, stimulates the nerves and brings a glow of health to pale cheeks. Mrs. Robert Jackson, R.R. No. 5, Shelburne, Ont., praises this medicine for restoring her daughter's health. She says:—"When my daughter was nine years old she was so weak and thin that we feared we would lose her. She was nervous, and going to school seemed too much for her. Often she would have to stay at home for days at a time. At times she would have a very high fever, and the doctor's treatment did not help her. I tried several remedies, but with no good results. One day a friend advised me to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I did so. It was not very long after she began taking the pills that I could see a change for the better. She kept on taking the pills for several months, and through them grew into a strong healthy girl. Since then, if a tonic has been needed at any time, it has always been Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

The pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CANADA ORDERS 20 MORE MOTHS

Planes Will Be Used To Augment Previous Purchase For Civilian Clubs.

SASKATOON CLUB FIRST.

OTTAWA, March 8 (Canadian Press). — Canada has augmented the fleet of light airplanes for loan to civil flying clubs throughout the country by an additional 20 Moth planes, the product of a British concern. The Moths have already been delivered on order to the Government, and are in process of being distributed to clubs which comply with the conditions laid down by the Department of National Defence.

The Minister of National Defence announced that he signed yesterday a formal agreement with the directors of the Saskatoon Aero Club for the issue of two light planes to the club and the granting of the other forms of assistance, as laid down in the standard conditions under which the formation of such clubs will be approved.

A number of other flying clubs in different parts of the country have completed their organization and it is expected that agreements will be signed with them during the next few weeks.

ELECTRICIANS GIVEN BANQUET

Volunteers Who Rewired Campbellford Church Receive Watches.

HAD LONG JOB.

Campbellford, March 8. — As a mark of appreciation for the excellent work done by the six electricians who re-wired the Presbyterian church here, the Board of Management tendered a banquet in Long's Cafe last night. Including the electricians there were seventeen men at the table. The table was well served and equally well enjoyed. At the conclusion of the meal the men were presented with Gruen gold watches suitably engraved, and a fine gold chain.

When the dinner was over, Dr. O. G. Watson, chairman of the board of managers, addressed the satisfied diners briefly. He said he hoped the electricians had enjoyed the dinner which had been tendered them as a mark of appreciation for their very generous services. The number at the table, he said, was small, but this made it all the easier to become more friendly and intimate generally. The re-wiring job had turned out to be a job of much greater proportions than had been originally anticipated and the fact that the volunteer craftsmen had continued in spite of this was all the more reason why their services should be recognized as fittingly as possible. In more than one case, he reminded them they had worked the entire night and so managed to complete the job in the specified time For such generous action the managers of the church did not think they would ever be able to make full reparation, but as a remembrance each of the electricians was presented with a gold watch and chain Those who received the gold watches were Frank DeCarroll, Mr. Murphy, L. Reynolds, B. Reynolds, Hugh Innes and Mr Adamson. The watches were presented by Messrs. Morrison, McGregor, Wallace, Storie, Connos and Curle.

Some time ago it was made plain to the congregation of the church that unless the church was re-wired, disastrous results might be expected to happen any moment. The expense of the operation made the task almost impossible and the solution arrived quite unexpectedly when several electrical men, qualified for this particular work, volunteered to give their services to the church. The generous offer was accepted, and the work rushed to completion by the men who worked after hours, and on more than one occasion, all night. The completed job stands as a credit to the electrical profession, not only for the excellency of the workmanship, but also for the material employed.

The congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church is proud of the new system and their appreciation, is in proportion to their pride.

LADIES' FLUTE BAND FEATURES 'AT HOME'

Campbellford True Blues Hold Enjoyable Social Evening.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 8— The Campbellford Lodge, Lady True Blues, held a very successful box social and entertainment in their Lodge Rooms on Tuesday night. The boxes sold for very acceptable prices and the ladies feel satisfied with the financial result of the evening. To the ladies whose boxes sold for the highest price, there were three prizes given. These were won by Mrs. John Ibey, Meyersburg, Miss Olive Nichols, and Mrs. Long.

A somewhat novel item on the program was the appearance of the ladies' flute band. This is the first time the band has appeared in public, and their playing drew favorable comment from Mr. Long, who occupied the chair for the program. The band played several selections during the evening. Other instrumental music was furnished by George Frederick and his daughter at the piano.

The mock marriage scene was also a favorite number, with Miss Gladys Nichols and Mrs. Frank Clarke as the bride and groom and Olive Nichols as the parson. Community singing served as a variation midway through the program, and two comic recitations by Miss Elma Carter and Miss Gladys Nichols were well received. Mrs. Charles Pettifer and Miss Jessie Carter proved entertaining soloists, and their numbers were well received. Mrs. Ayrhart's and Mrs. Carter's readings were greatly appreciated.

Perhaps the most colorful number was the tableau, "Home, Sweet Home," which was the final number before the sale of boxes. Those on the stage were Mrs. Ayrhart, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Clarke, the Misses Nichols, Miss Janet Scott, Wesley McArthur and Everett Phillips. Back stage, Mr. Long sang the first verse of the old favorite, "Home, Sweet Home."

After the program, the boxes were auctioned for exceptionally good prices which reflected creditably on the ability of Mr. Long as auctioneer, as well as the ability of the ladies to make up an attractive lunch.

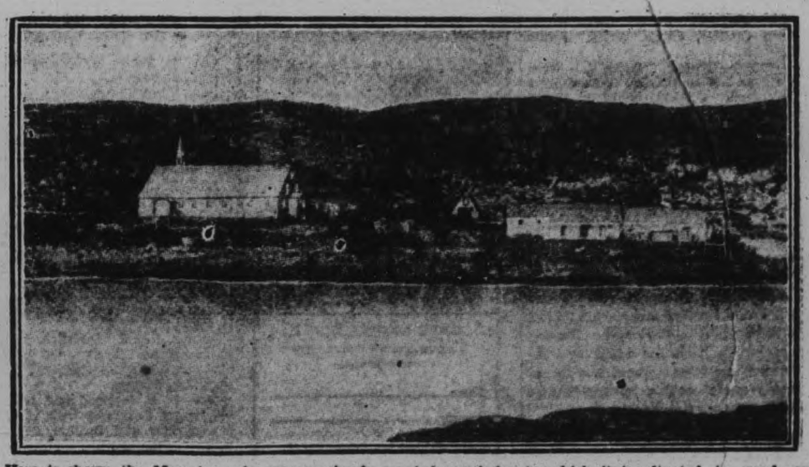
WHERE AVIATORS REPORTED



Here is shown the Moravian mission at Port Burwell, where the missing Canadian airmen are reported safe, the northernmost post of these men, who spend their lives in the Arctic carrying on their work among the Eskimos. This society, which was graciously granted permission to carry on its welfare work in 1769 under royal grant, is credited with revolutionizing the lives of the Eskimos, having abolished bigamy, taught industrial arts and instructing most of the native of the wide region in which it is situated to read and write. The harbor is deep and capable of accommodating large ships and the mission carries a store of supplies for unfortunate mariners who may find it necessary to put ashore for supplies. The surrounding country is hilly and rocky.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)

FRIDAY, MARCH 9, 1928.

Benefic aspects dominate in the planetary government of this day, according to astrology.

There is a sway making for stimulation of energy and increase of efficiency, which will be beneficial to business.

The trend will be more and more toward stable and steady lines of work than toward speculation, while this rule prevails.

Organization will be more and more sought in all lines of business and the widest co-operation will mark enterprises it is foretold.

The seers declare that while wealth will expand greatly in 1928, this development should be watched as a symbol of national power which will have its perils, owing to the force of envy.

Farmers certainly should profit greatly in the coming crops, if astrology is to be taken seriously.

Food values will rise and the earth will be tilled more efficiently than ever before, the seers prophesy.

Big business methods will be extended to agriculture and immense amounts of money expended in developing the earth's resources.

The stars seem to promise to women increase in intellectual gifts as well as great excess of beauty.

Winds and electric storms of suspendous force may be expected this month. Tidal waves on the Pacific coast are indicated.

This should be a most fortunate rule for writers and editors, while advertising will be in greater demand than formerly.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of many pleasures.

Children born on this day probably will be exceptionally talented. They should have a feeling for form which insures first-rate draftsmen.

Hints on Etiquette

1. Where is the monogram embroidered on a large dinner napkin?
2. Why?
3. Is it ever correct to stand the napkin on the service plate as hotels sometimes do?

The Answers.

1. In the center.
2. Because large napkins are folded in thirds, instead of quarters.
3. No.

Here are the 4 Reasons the Doctor Says "Use Kotex" the Scientific Sanitary Napkin

1 Safe to health. Home-made napkins often cause sickness.

2 Scientifically shaped—corners rounded for comfort—softest material—form-fitting—actually non-detectable when worn.

3 Discard easily without embarrassment. Directions in every package.

Lyrics of Life - By Douglas Malloch

SLOGANS

I'd rather wear upon my breast
One little rose than some "At Rest"
That cost some lodge of fellowmen
Five dollars, maybe eight or ten.
In fact, it needn't be a rose;
A daisy's pretty, goodness knows.
And now with one I'd rather stand
Than lie with lilies in my hand.

We're living in a slogan age,
When slogans really are the rage,
And no one ever thought one up
To put upon a loving-cup;
Or on a fence, or in an ad,
Much better than the florists had
When they advised us at all hours
The things we say to say with flow'rs.

But there's another slogan, too,
I'd like to recommend to you,
A slogan equally as pat,
And one to use along with that,
That slogan certainly recall,
So hook the two together. How?
Say It With Flowers, and Do It Now!

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

The new type of raglan sleeve shown on this spring coat of green and yellow jersey.

One uses the comparative in speaking of the new clothes. Skirts are somewhat longer, waistlines are somewhat higher. Coats are very often furless—not always. The silhouette is wider—but not too wide. Contours are more curved—still retaining something of the well-established straight line. Colors are brighter—still, pastels are to be found. There is more elaborateness—but the best dressmakers strive for simplicity.

The return of the cape is important. There are cape effects on coats and frocks, short capes are worn instead of sport jackets at some of the resorts and for street wear there is the seven-eighths cape. Sometimes there are up-and-down slits at the front of the cape for the hands to come through.

Shirring is to be noted on many of the new frocks. Full chiffon skirts are often attached to the bodice with a triple row of shirring. Sometimes the shirring extends from the line of jointure well below hips to form a sort of yoke at the top of the skirt. Sometimes there are shirred sections let in at the side or front of the skirt and again there is a puckering of the material at the front of the skirt held in place by up-and-down shirring.

In evening and afternoon frocks skirts are frequently—I might even say usually—of uneven length. The under side of the skirt is frequently faced up with matching or contrasting material and the legs are then silhouetted against this background of material.

You may not agree with me—but it is my candid opinion that the new clothes are unusually attractive, and the fashions offered for us to choose from are unusually rich in possibilities.

P. C. I. Win First Game of Interscholastic Play-Offs

DEFEAT BELLEVILLE SCHOOL 5-3 IN FIRST GAME OF FINALS FOR INTERSCHOLASTIC TITLE

Local Student Overcome Early Lead of Visitors in Second Period.

NUMEROUS PENALTIES.

Final Counter Scored By Fluke During Scrimmage in Front of Belleville Net.

Victors by 5-3, the Peterborough Collegiate hockey team skated off the ice at the Brock street rink last night, after the first of home - and - home games with Belleville C. I. for Central Ontario Interscholastic title. The game, played before a fairly large crowd, mostly of students and ex-students of P.C.I., was quite as interesting as many Junior O. H. A. games, and the fact that the local lads were only able to secure a two-goal margin is indicative not only of a close battle between two evenly matched teams last night but of a similar struggle in the final clash at Belleville next week.

The first period was Belleville's by a single goal plus a major percentage of the play; the second was Peterborough's, for the local lads not only tied the count but went into the lead; and the third was anybody's session with the Petes adding to their total of goals, having the lead cut down to a 3-all tie and finally coming out on top with an earned and an unearned counter.

Numerous Penalties.

In all there were fifteen penalties handed out by Referee Bill Jackson, eight of them going to the local students and seven to the invaders.

Woods with four, and Clark with three rests, were with the timers most; Hewett and St. Denis were each off on two occasions, and Taylor, Cuthbertson, Clark and Young were the other students to receive impositions. Nevertheless, Woods got two of his team's goals, Hewett one, and Dunkerley one while Clark, Galway and McDonald counted for Belleville.

On their play last night Carl Brown's lads looked good with Hewett doing more work than any man on either team despite the fact that he only landed one counter. His effectiveness was matched by Cuthbertson whose work paved the way for a couple of goals while Woods, who spent eight minutes off the ice, was a big help while in a position to act. Taylor and Dunkerley, the other front line men, are quite as helpful, while Theobald, playing his first game as a regular defence man, looked most dangerous while on the attack. The score itself is indicative of the good work done by Doxsee. Young McGee, used sparingly, showed promise, too.

For Belleville, Galway, Ross and St. Denis were in the hunt all the way, while Clark and McDonald are not to be overlooked. However the tendency toward closer team work on the part of the Quinte lads was not conducive to bright individual effort.

First Period.

The first period went to the visitors by one goal, and a fair margin of the play. Their forwards dogged the Petes from the time they left their blue line and after one rush that ended harmlessly in a corner, the local students found difficulty in clearing. Hewett and Cuthbertson afforded them some relief with a couple of attempts that carried the rubber out of danger, and, as was the case when the visitors held it, only the forwards took much part in the play. The defence played a strictly defensive game and did not carry the rubber beyond their own blue line. Galway, on the visitors' left rail, and St. Denis, gave Doxsee some anxious moments, forcing him to flop on one occasion.

Woods drew the first penalty of the evening for spilling Galway but Clark followed almost immediately for dropping Hewett, and with five men apiece the two outfits swung into a more open brand of hockey, with both goals being threatened. Hewett also went to the fence, and, playing five men to four, the Belleville students pressed hard, but failed to capitalize before Woods returned through Doxsee was called upon to handle three shots without a return from his teammates. Play evened up with all six men out on either side and Galway missed with a long heave that bounced off the goal post. Woods was chased for chopping, and with five minutes to go, Clark drew first blood for his team with a long drifter St Denis and Clark were sent to the timers, and the homesters tried hard without results.

Clark and Taylor were chased soon after the former had returned to the fray. Woods followed them for handing out a heavy check and the invaders missed an open net when Doxsee let a rebound get out of reach before clearing it. There was no further score during the session.

Second Period.

On their play during the middle and final sessions the Petes looked a lot better than in the initial twenty minutes. Their opposition again adopted an offensive style of play but the locals cleared more quickly, and broke away more frequently and got results. Three minutes after the start Dunkerley put his team on even terms on a pass from the corner by Cuthbertson. Back checking, and plenty of it, cramped the opposing snipers but there was plenty of action in the centre ice area. Jackson cleared the decks considerably, when he handed out a bracer of penalties to Woods and St. Denis, followed almost immediately by like treament to Galway and Cuthbertson.

Somehow it didn't look right with so few players on. Neither team showed any particularly good individual work which the lack of numbers would seem to promote. Woods and St. Denis returned and later came Cuthbertson and Galway.Dunkerley lost a golden opportunity when Cuthbertson passed to him at the goal mouth only to have the rubber stop just beyond his reach, but Woods did a solo stunt just before the gong. He travelled up the right rail, swung across, rounded the defence, and slammed the rubber past Colling to make it 2-1 for P.C.I.

Third Period.

It was in the final stanza that Carl Brown's lads managed to salt away a two goal nest egg to carry with them when they play in the Bay of Quinte town They opened up with a dangerous looking rush by Dunkerley, whose shot hit the post but once again it remained for Woods to turn in an individual effort of material worth. Four minutes after hostilities had been resumed he repeated his performance the middle chucker to boost the count to 3-1. For a few minutes the Petes looked the two goals better but the opposition was far from smothered and Galway brought his team back into striking distance with a long drive that Doxsee missed. Two minutes later the Petes went back to trying it all over again, for McDonald tied the count on a pass from Ross.

The home town students proved they could get more when after Young had spilled Hewett, the latter took a pass from Taylor at centre ice, went through the space vacated by Young and beat Colling which ended all the genuine scoring for the night.

The Petes' fifth counter was a gift from the gods. McDonald, the agency by which it came, failed to clear out of Colling's way during a scramble, and as a result the rubber hit his foot and bounced in. The remainder of the play was evenly divided.

The teams:

Belleville: Goal, Colling; defence, Clark and Young; centre, Ross; wings, Galway and St. Denis; subs., McDonald and Black.

Peterborough: Goal, Doxsee; defence, Woods and Theobald; centre, Cuthbertson; wings, Dunkerley and Hewett; subs., Taylor and McGee.

Referee: Bill Jackson, Peterborough.

Large Field Drawn For Tennis Meet

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 8.—(Canadian Press).—A field large in number but including few outstanding players was drawn yesterday for the national indoor tennis championships, starting Saturday on the courts of the seventh regiment armory, for the first time in the history of the event none of the 69 names listed is included among the first ten in the national ranking, while only six are in the first 37.

Four foreign players were seeded in the draw. They are F. R. Leighto-Crawford and G. P. Hughes, both of England, and Marcel Rainville and Leo Boucher, both of Montreal. The French stars, Borotra and Lacoste, who have carried off the indoor title for the last three years, are not entered.

OFFERS $50,000 FOR MANDELL BOUT

Mullen Determined To Outbid Rickard For Lightweight Championship Match.

CHICAGO, March 8.—(Canadian Press).—Promoter Jim Mullen, determined to outbid Tex Rickard for the prized lightweight championship match between Sammy Mandell and Jimmy McLarnin, yesterday dangled a record breaking bid of $50,000 before McLarnin as inducement for him to sign for the match here June 21.

Mullen added just $20,000 to the previous guarantee offered McLarnin—a record-breaking figure for a lightweight challenger. Rocky Kansas, when lightweight champion, received only $50,000 for the match with Mandell, in which the "Sheik of Rockford" won the title here two years ago. Yesterday's offer as revealed by Mullen over long distance telephone from Detroit, where he is seeking future boxing talent.

"Chicago is entitled to this match, not New York," Mullen said, "and I am going to the limit in an effort to land it.

"I do not see how McLarnin can refuse my latest offer. I have the champion signed, and expect to close with "Pop" Foster, McLarnin's manager, when he comes West in about ten days. I have Mandell's word that he will not sign with Rickard, until I release him."

McMullen intends to stage the match in Soldier Field and believes it will set a record gate for lightweights, exceeding the $367,000 record established when Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler met at Jersey City in 1922.

TO RUN IN OLYMPIC RACES

Here are three of Canada's hopes at the next Olympiad, Cliff Bricker, Galt Ont.; Harold Webster, Hamilton, Ont. Percy Wyer, Toronto, and Johnny Miles, formerly of Sydney Mines, N.S. but now a resident of Hamilton, have been selected as the marathon runners to represent Canada at the Olympic games in Holland next August. The Canadian Olympic trail was held in Hamilton in September last and was won by Bricker, with Webster second. These two athletes were immediately selected as members of the Olympic team and decision as to other selections deferred. Now, Wyer and Miles have been chosen with the further announcement that two more may be selectaed, should they, during the next four months, display ability which would warrant their inclusion in the squad. Each nation is entitled to six competitors in the marathon. The cuts from left to right show: Cliff Bricker, Percy Wyer and Johnny Miles.

Prince of Wales Has Narrow Escape From Injury In Manners' Cup Race

BICESTER, England, March 8 (A.P.).—A near-accident spoiled the chances of the Prince of Wales to win his second point-to-point race within a week.

The Prince was almost thrown when his mount, Lady Doone, stumbled at the last fence in the Grenadier Guards Regimental competition for the Lord Manners Cup. The mishap permitted Lieut. Heywood-Lonsdale to sweep over the finish line in first place with the Royal heir a close second.

Riding his own mare, Lady Doone, the Prince led at the halfway mark in the four mile course requiring 24 jumps. Near the finish, Lieut. Lonsdale spurted abreast of the Prince and the horses raced down the course until the final obstacle, where Lady Doone stumbled heavily.

The Prince was thrown on his mount's neck and lost his stirrup leathers, but holding to the saddle with one hand, he aided his mount to recover with the other and got back into full stride without the use of his stirrups. Quickly as this happened, however, the Prince's rival seized the opportunity and swept to victory.

The Prince, who won this race last year, rode to a victory in the St. David's Day run at Tatbury, March 1.

There were fourteen entries in yesterday's race.

IN TRAINING CAMP

TID-BITS FROM MAJOR CAMPS IN SOUTH

FORT MEYERS, Fla., March 8 (Canadian Press).—The Athletics pounded three Phillies pitchers for a total of 15 hits in winning a 14 to 8 victory in the first clash yesterday between the two Philadelphia teams in the Spring training exhibition games.

The Athletics amassed eight runs in the first three innings, while the visiting Phils gathered but a lone tally.

Jimmy Fox, the Athletics' catcher, hit a home run to deep left in the fourth, with no one on base, and Bing Miller, the Athletics' left gardener, duplicating the feat in the sixth.

Each side dismounted moundsmen three times.

Score by innings:

Phillies .. .. ..001200212— 8 11 1
Athletics .. .. ..14310122x—14 15 3

Babe Ruth's ambition is to crash 61 home runs this year. "Let the Heilmans and the Cobbs and the Speakers get the doubles and triples, but give me the lusty four-baggers," is the burden of his song at St. Petersburg. Ruth signalized his first appearance at the camp by driving several balls over the fence.

Rogers Hornsby is smiting the ball with vigor at the Braves' training camp and making glad the heart of Jack Slattery, the bulky manager of the Boston crew.

Over at the Athletics' camp Tris Speaker, that other noble diamond athlete, is showing the youngsters how to bat. He had four hits in five tries in an impromptu affair.

Larry Irvin, a southpaw, who is slated to perform with Rochester is the sensation of the St. Louis Cardinals' games to date. In a recent clash he held the regulars to six hits in as many innings. Sylvester Johnston is also going well. He was with the Stars last season.

MADOC DEFEATED.

Lose To Belleville High School By Score of 2-0 in Stirling.

MADOC, March 8.—Madoc High School hockey team was defeated 2-0 when they played the Belleville High School in Stirling, on Monday night. A special train took about two hundred and twenty-five spectators from Madoc.

WIN MARITIME HONORS.

HALIFAX, N.S., March 8.—(Canadian Press).—Truro Bearcats defeated the Saint John Fusiliers 4 to 2 here last night and won the Maritime Senior Amateur Hockey championship and the right to represent the Maritimes in the Allan Cup series. The game was the third between the two teams in the series to decide the Maritime title, the two previous encounters having ended in 0 to 0 deadlocks.

DUKES TAKE JUNIOR TITLE

BEAT NEWMARKET.

TORONTO, March 8.— Marlboros' powerful defensive bulwark stemmed a desperate Newmarket offensive through sixty minutes of hectic hockey in the second game of the O. H.A. final series last night and the doughty Dukes swept through to the championship by the narrowest of margins. The teams were deadlocked on the evening, 2 to 2, when the final gong rang out its welcome message to the harassed crown crested players, and thus they won the round by 4 to 3.

Last night's contest was all that the first was not. The North Yorkers, faced with the proposition of scoring two more goals than their opponents to take the title, shed their defensive tactics and carried the action to the Dukes. As Marlboros were willing, speed and spills filled the first period but neither machine could batter a breach in the other's citadel.

Scarcely had the fans settled in their seats in the middle session than the red clad lads evened the count on the round when Thoms batted in a lost rebound. The Newmarket section stood up and shouted their joy to the high heavens. Back came the Dukes and after ten minutes of wide open play once more took the lead on the round on a clever pass from the dashing Red Horner to the "Wee MacPhairson."

Bat'er Dukes Back.

Then into the final period with Newmarket sending the husky Pringle up to assist the front line shock troops. The move was disastrous. Mercer broke away, shot from well out and slashed in the rebound as he hurtled to the ice. For a spell Pringle inspired his mates in a terrific bombardment which hemmed the local youngsters behind their blue line and allowed the North Yorkers to pour a fusilade of shots from well in the Dukes' danger zone. Pringle's efforts were rewarded when, with six minutes to go, he lashed a rebound off his own shot into the twine. Once more the red machine was within striking distance of a tie but Marlboros' sound defensive tactics and the over-anxiousness of the wearied attackers saved the day.

Junior hockey redeemed itself in full measure after the defensive fiasco of Monday night. Newmarket, peerless protectionists of their set, were forced to forego their usual style of play and go out and get goals. Marlboros met them on their own ground and the result was the reckless thrusting and speedy backchecking that has built the popularity of junior play. Feeling ran high at times and the rival defences threw their bodies at the attackers with telling effect. Ten minutes had scarcely elapsed before blood was streaming from the faces of Irvine and Pringle, both accidentally cut by sticks. In the second period, Horner met Pringle squarely and the thud of the collision between these two heavyweights could be heard—and almost felt—in the upper benches.

The Mid-Ice Duels.

The battle in mid-ice was a big factor in the result. Thoms, known in the minor set as a "goat-getter," had the tables turned on him by the experienced "Shrimp" MacPherson. The slippery Scot had the Newmarket pivot man talking to himself at times. Excepting for a spell of clever poke-checking, and his goal-scoring sortie in the middle frame, Thoms was not prominent. However, his understudy, the blonde Trivett, turned in a sparkling performance and was the most effective of the Red attackers, but he was not much more dangerous than Don Mercer. The latter combined with MacPherson to provide the Dukes with a cool figuring going both ways that saved more than one tickling situation.

The teams:

Marlboros — Goal, Harris; defence Irvine and Horner; centre, MacPherson; wings, A. Connacher and C. Connacher; subs., Mercer and Morse.

Newmarket — Goal, Ames; defence, Pringle and Perrault; centre, Thoms; wings, Murray and Collings; subs., Tribett and Marshall.

MARRIED MARVELS WIN 6-3 VICTORY

Defeat Bachelors in Return Game Played on Deloro Ice.

MARMORA, March 8.—In the return game on Deloro rink on Tuesday evening between the Married Marvels and Bachelors the latter tried their hardest to avenge the defeat of the week previous but the end of the third period came with the Benedicts victors by the score of 6—3. The Bachelors led at the end of the first period by a goal from the stick of Collins. Though Clemens added a second in the middle frame, the Married forged ahead with a goal obtained by Leal and a brace by Brown. Goals by Brown, Yates and Quinn doubled their score in the last period, the Bachelors only being able to reply through Speagle. The game was of a fast nature and the least inclined to roughness. Leal and McCroden got the only two penalties meted out. A fair crowd witnessed the event.

The teams lined up as follows:

Married.—R. Murray, goal; A. V. Yates and C. Jones, defence; F. Leal, centre; C. R. Quinn and A. S. Brown, wings; J. N. Doyle, subs.

Bachelors.—M. Callery, goal; L. J. Collins and A. Phillips, defence; J. McCrodan and G. Speagle, wings; C. Clemens, centre; C. Robertson and W. Kerr, subs.

Goal umpires, G. Brooks and W. Savage.

Referee.—H. A. McNally.

THEATRES

AT THE REGENT.

MOVING PICTURES MOVE IN NAGEL'S "THERE YOU ARE"

"Moving pictures should move!"

This seems to have been the motto in the making of "There You Are," now playing at the Regent theatre. For the picture moves;—it moves from one tribulation to the other until it becomes a veritable avalanche of laughs.

It is undoubtedly the funniest thing Conrad Nagel has ever given his fans —who have been clamoring for more of Nagel as a whimsical comedian since "Dance Madness," and who have certainly been given full measure in the new Metro-Goldwyn Mayer production. Nagel, the romantic hero, has evidently decided that comedy is his forte—and he certainly makes good the claim.

Thrills are used to make laughs—a wild race through the streets that creates gasps that merge into roars of laughter. It is one of those infectiously-comical stories that give Nagel's fine acting unlimited opportunity. It takes a great actor to play a role of that kind. Nagel is a veritable mirthquake in it.

Edith Roberts is charming and appealing as the blushing bride, while George Fawcett, as the irate father, has a role that fits him like an eel's skin fits that agile denizen of the deep.

The chase with the angry dog is a delightfully humorous bit of business with a twist that makes it strikingly original. What happens isn't at all what the audience expects — and that same thing applies in the episode of the leap from the window. These sudden surprises add greatly to the humor of the new classic in comicality.

"STILL FACE," KELLAND'S BEST STORY, FILMED AS PATHESERIAL.

Clarence Budington Kelland has no equals when it comes to compounding a story out of mystery, adventure and romance and peopling it with fascinating characters, some lovable and some powerfully hateful. "Still Face" is one of his greatest stories, and it has been adapted by Paul Fairfax Fuller into a ten chapter screen story, produced by Pathe, directed by Arch Heath and starring Larry Kent and Jean Arthur, and re-titled "The Masked Menace."

This Patheserial commences its engagement at the Regent Theatre with the showing to-day to Chapter I. of "Against Odds," the first chapter. Ten years before the story starts an adopted son has stolen $200,000 in Liberty Bonds and killed his father escaping. This leaves Faith Newton, the slain man's daughter, now an orphan, practically impoverished. The lumber mill has ceased to run these many years, but Grandma Newton has lots of spunk and, despite the girl's objections, decides to open the mill and try to recoup the family fortunes. Her first step in this direction is to enlist the services of Keats L. S. Dodd, a young man in search of a destination with a leaning toward mechanics.

Very much interested in the activities at the Newton Mill are a stranger in the village known as "Still Face" and the owners of a rival company who do not intend to let the old mill turn again. "Still Face" is so called because there is never a change of expression or a movement of a muscle on his placid, beautiful and spiritual countenance. This difficult role is portrayed by Thomas Holding, and others in the cast besides Larry Kent and Jean Arthur are William Norton Bailey, Ed. Roseman, Laura Alberta, Gus de Weil and Agnes de Dome.

Few men in the Dominion have crowded into their lives such a wide diversity of interests as has Mr. James A. Brain. In addition to conducting a successful retail business at 671 Gerrard Street, Toronto, Mr. Brain, has written several popular songs, and his poems and short stories are eagerly accepted by the leading Canadian publications. Such activities impose a constant strain on his strength and some years ago Mr. Brain was in a sadly weakened condition. "Before taking Tanlac," he writes, "I was all run-down, had little appetite and suffered from Indigestion. I wasn't sleeping well and was often so weak and nervous I could not attend to business. Well, sir! all these ailments disappeared with my first treatment with Tanlac; and to this day I have been eating, sleeping and feeling fine. In all my seventy years, I have never seen the equal of Tanlac. It is a faithful old friend that keeps me in fine condition."

If you are sick, weak and run-down—if you are bothered with Indigestion, Pain after eating—if you are thin, nervous, sleepless—give Tanlac a chance to help you. It costs less than 2c a dose—and your money will be refunded if you are not perfectly satisfied. Tanlac contains no mineral drugs—just roots, barks and herbs—Nature's own medicine for the sick. Get a bottle at your druggist's to-day.

WHEN T.C.S. BURNED

The above photograph was taken about an hour after fire was first observed in the skating rink of Trinity College School at Port Hope. It shows the armories and the gymnasium in the foreground, already in ruins from the fire. Fire had not at this moment yet caught in the main building which was later swept by the flames with heavy loss. The college is to be rebuilt at once.

AN ANALYSIS OF STOMACH DISORDERS

Readers of this column who write to me for advice so often expect me to diagnose their trouble by mail. I have repeatedly written in these columns that such a diagnosis by mail cannot be as good as one made by a physician who is able to give the patient a personal examination as well as to "cross-examine" him, and through these means gain information about the patient which cannot be accomplished through correspondence. I do believe however, that many of my readers can help themselves by a better understanding of the symptoms of different disorders, as well as certain fundamentals of causes and possible cures.

Stomach Pains.

As far as the patient is concerned, stomach pain usually means any kind of a pain from the border of the ribs down to the legs; any place in the abdomen which is that section correctly called the belly. The stomach organ, itself, should be situated mostly to the left of the abdomen, and between the ribs and the naval.

A pain in the pit of the stomach may be due to inflammation at the opening of the stomach, or it may be due to inflammation or congestion in the gall bladder which extends from the right side under the ribs often up to as far as the pit of the stomach. If pain persistently comes in this region, a differential diagnosis can sometimes be made by a patient by taking a teaspoonful of magnesia or baking soda in a glass of water. This will often relieve a pain at the stomach entrance, but seldom has any effect upon gall bladder symptoms.

Other pains in the stomach itself occur from inflammation at the lesser curvature or at the stomach exit, which is called the pylorus. The soda and water usually relieve the pains in the stomach itself by reducing the inflammation or temporarily counteracting an overacidity of the digestive fluids which may exist.

In a case of stomach ulcers even the soda and water sometimes cause pain, where milk may give relief. In severe cases it is not possible to use any food or liquids without intense pain.

The common forms of gastritis or stomach inflammation can be relieved at least temporarily by the drinking of large quantities of water with the addition, if necessary, of some alkal such as soda.

Pains in the lower abdomen may really be pains from the stomach, as there are so many cases of prolapsed stomach, where the stomach has slipped down six or eight inches from its normal position. The stomach entrance stays! in practically the same position, and the place of exit, at the pylorus, is generally only slightly lowered by the prolapsus. The stomach stretches down into a fish-hook shape, and pains may arise from inflammation in the main bulk of the stomach, which is low down in the pelvis.

Questions and Answers.

Question Mrs. H. M. S. writes "Sometime ago I sent in a question which did not appear, so will try again. I have a pain in the back of my neck, also in my back almost continually. Am 49 years old and quite fleshy. Take a laxative every day. Will you please tell me what causes this pain and how it can be cured?"

Answer The pain in your back and in the back of your neck is probably caused from some trouble in the pelvis such as uterine congestion, misplaced uterus, or constipation. If you will take an enema every day it will probably keep you from having this ache in your back and in your neck. I have written special articles on the cause and cure of backaches which I will be glad to send to you if you will send me your name and address the next time you write. I am receiving more than a thousand letters a day from correspondents. Many sign only their initials expecting their questions to be answered in the Question and Answer column. I would like to answer all of these questions but it would use up several pages of this paper and of course that is out of the question. I must select the most interesting questions which touch on many different subjects. Readers take note If you will always sign your name and address you will always get an answer to your letter, but if only the initials are used I must answer your question in the paper, and there is only a limited amount of space for this.

Question D. K. writes "Please give me your opinion as to the value of iodized salt for cooking."

Answer Iodized salt should only be used under a physician's prescription. It is unlikely that all members of the family need this addition of iodine to their diet. Each member of the family should consult his physician regarding the use of iodized salt just the same as if he thought of taking iodine in any other form.

BANKRUPTCY ORDER ISSUED ON C.D.S.L.

TORONTO, March 8.—G. T. Clarkson, interim trustee, has received an offer of purchase for the assets of the Canadian Department Stores, Limited. Through an order made in the Bankruptcy Court, the way is now open for the sale. The order names Mr. Clarkson and A. S. Crighton of the Canadian Credit Men's Association as custodians. The order was made on the application of the National Surety Company.

The purpose of the order for bankruptcy is to permit disposal and sale of the undertaking to the persons who have made the offer to Mr. Clarkson. The general terms of the offer have been communicated to the inspectors of the company, representing the creditors and bondholders, and they have reported in favor of acceptance. Until formal meetings are held, Mr. Clarkson or the parties making the offer are not at liberty to make known the details. While the negotiations for sale are on, the 22 stores will continue under the direction of Mr. Clarkson.

G. T. Clarkson said last night that within the next few days meetings of bondholders and creditors would be held, one in about ten days and the other in three weeks.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

Charles Scribner's Sons ©

By S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR of THE BENSON MURDER CASE

THE STORY THUS FAR

Margaret Odell is found strangled. Skeel's finger prints are found in the apartment, but Vance believes Skeel had been hiding in a closet while the strangler did his work. The thing that baffles police is the side door to the alley, which had been bolted on the inside the night before and was found the same way the next morning. Mannix, Dr. Lindquist and Cleaver all lie about their whereabouts the night of the murder. Spotswoode, who had called on the girl, had rushed to her door at the sound of a scream, but had been reassured through the door that everything was all right. Then Skeel is found strangled, after promising to reveal the murderer. Vance then demonstrates, in support of his theory that Skeel had been hiding in a closet, how Skeel could have left through the side door and relocked the bolt on the inside.

CHAPTER XLVI

Heath nodded his head oracularly. "A crook, no matter how clever he is, always overlooks something."

"Why single out crooks for your criticism, Sergeant?" asked Vance lazily. "Do you know of any body in this imperfect world who doesn't always overlook something?" He gave Heath a benignant smile. "Even the police, don't y' know, overlooked the tweezers."

Heath grunted. His cigar had gone out, and he relighted it slowly and thoroughly.

"What do you think, Mr. Markham?"

"The situation doesn't become much clearer," was Markham's gloomy comment.

"My theory isn't exactly a blindin' illumination," said Vance. "Yet, I wouldn't say that it left things in pristine darkness. There are certain inferences to be drawn from my vagaries. To-wit: Skeel either knew or recognized the murderer; and once he had made good his escape from the apartment and had regained a modicum of self-confidence, he undoubtedly blackmailed his homicidal confrere.

"His death was merely another manifestation of our inconnu's bent for ridding himself of persons who annoyed him. Furthermore, my theory accounts for the chiseled jewel case, the finger-prints, the unmolested closet, the finding of the gems in the refuse tin—the person who took them really didn't want them, y' know—and Skeel's silence. It also explains the unbolting and bolting of the side door."

"Yes," sighed Markham. "It seems to clarify everything but the one all-important point—the identity of the murderer."

"Exactly," said Vance. "Let's go to lunch."

Heath, morose and confused, departed for police headquarters; and Markham, Vance, and I rode to Delmonico's, where we chose the main dining-room in preference to the grill.

"The case now would seem to center in Cleaver and Mannix," said Markham, when we had finished our luncheon. "If your theory that the same man killed both Skeel and the Canary is correct, then Lindquist is out of it, for he certainly was in the Episcopal Hospital Saturday night."

"Quite," agreed Vance. "The doctor is unquestionably eliminated. . . Yes; Cleaver and Mannix—they're the alurin' twins. Don't see any way to go beyond them." He frowned and sipped his coffee. "My original quartet is dwindling and I don't like it. It narrows the thing down too much—there's no scope for the mind, as it were, in only two choices.

"What if we should succeed in eliminating Cleaver and Mannix? Where would we be—eh, what? Nowhere—simply nowhere. And yet, one of the quartet is guilty; let's cling to that consolin' fact.

"It can't be Spotswoode and it can't be Lindquist. Cleaver and Mannix remain; two from four leaves two. Simple arithmetic, what? The only trouble is, this case isn't simple. Lord, no!—I say how would the equation work out if we used algebra, or spherical trigonometry or differential calculus? Let's cast it in the fourth dimension—or the fifth, or the sixth. . . " He held his temples in both hands. "Oh, promise, Markham—promise me that you'll hire a kind, gentle keeper for me."

"I know how you feel. I've been in the same mental state for a week."

"It's the quartet idea that's driving me mad," moaned Vance. "It wrings me to have my tetrad lopped off in such brutal fashion. I'd set my young trustin' heart on that quartet, and now it's only a pair. My sense of order and proportion has been outraged . . . I want my quartet."

"I'm afraid you'll have to be satisfied with two of them," Markham returned wearily. "One of them can't qualify, and one is in bed. You might send some flowers to the hospital, if it would cheer you any."

"One is in bed—one is in bed," repeated Vance. "Well, well—to be sure! And one from four leaves three. More arithmetic. Three! . . On the other hand, there is no such thing as a straight line. All lines are curved; they transcribe circles in space. They look straight, but they're not. Appearances, y' know—so deceptive! . . . Let's enter the silence, and substitute mentation for sight."

He gazed up out of the great windows into Fifth Avenue. For several moments he sat smoking thoughtfully. When he spoke again it was in an even, deliberate voice.

"Markham, would it be difficult for you to invite Mannix and Cleaver and Spotswoode to spend an evening—this evening, let us say in your apartment."

Markham set down his cup with a clatter, and regarded Vance narrowly.

"What new harlequinade is this?"

"Fie on you! Answer my question."

"Well—of course—I might arrange it," replied Markham hesitantly. "They're all more or less under my jurisdiction at present."

"So that such an invitation would be rather in line with the situation—eh, what? And they wouldn't be likely to refuse you, old dear—would they?"

"No; I hardly think so. . ."

"And if, when they had assembled in your quarters, you should propose a few hands of poker, they'd probably accept, without thinking the suggestion strange?"

"Probably," said Markham, nonplussed at Vance's amazing request. "Cleaver and Spotswoode both play, I know; and Mannix doubtless knows the game. But why poker? Are you serious, or has your threatened dementia already overtaken you?"

"Oh, I'm deuced serious." Vance's tone left no doubt as to the fact. "The game of poker, d'ye see, is the crux of the matter. I knew Cleaver was an old hand at the game; and Spotswoode, of course, played with Judge Redfern last Monday night. So that gave me a basis for my plan. Mannix, we'll assume, also plays."

He leaned forward, speaking earnestly.

"Nine-tenths of poker, Markham, is psychology; and if one understands the game, one can learn more of a man's inner nature at a poker table in an hour than during a year's casual association with him.

"You rallied me once when I said I could lead you to the perpetrator of any crime by examining the factors of the crime itself. But naturally I must know the man to whom I am to lead you; otherwise I cannot relate the psychological indications of the crime to the culprit's nature.

"In the present case, I know the kind of man who committed the crime; but I am not sufficiently acquainted with the suspects to point out the guilty one. However, after our game of poker, I hope to be able to tell you who planned and carried out the Canary's murder."

Markham gazed at him in blank astonishment. He knew that Vance played poker with amazing skill, and that he possessed an uncanny knowledge of the psychological elements involved in the game; but he was unprepared for the latter's statement that he might be able to solve the Odell murder by means of it.

Yet Vance had spoken with such undoubted earnestness that Markham was impressed. I knew what was passing in his mind almost as well as if he had voiced his thoughts. He was recalling the way in which Vance had, in a former murder case, put his finger unerringly on the guilty man by a similar process of psychological deduction. And he was also telling himself that, however incomprehensible and seemingly extravagant Vance's requests were, there was always a fundamentally sound reason behind them.

"Damn it!" he muttered at last. "The whole scheme seems idiotic. . . And yet, if you want a game of poker with these men, I've no special objection. It'll get you nowhere—I'll tell you that beforehand. It's stark nonsense to suppose that you can find the guilty man by such fantastic means."

"But why do you include Spotswoode?"

"Really, y' know, I haven't the slightest notion—except, of course, that he's one of my quartet. And we'll need an extra hand."

"Well, don't tell me afterwards that I'm to lock him up for murder. I'd have to draw the line. Strange as it may seem to your layman's mind, I wouldn't care to prosecute a man, knowing that it was physically impossible for him to have committed the crime."

"As to that," drawled Vance; "the only obstacles that stand in the way of physical impossibilities are material facts. And material facts are notoriously deceivin'. Really, y' know, you lawyers would do better if you ignored them entirely."

Markham did not deign to answer such heresy, but the look he gave Vance was most expressive.

*Recently I ran across an article by Doctor George A. Dorsey, professor of anthropology at the University of Chicago, and author of "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," which bore intimate testimony to the scientific accuracy of Vance's theory. In it Doctor Dorsey said: "Poker is a cross-section of life. The way a man behaves in a poker game is the way he behaves in life. . . His success or failure lies in the way his physical organism responds to the stimuli supplied by the game . . . I have studied humanity all my life from the anthropologic and psychological viewpoint. And I have yet to find a better laboratory exercise than to observe the manners of men as they see my raise and come back at me. . . . The psychologist's verbalized, visceral, and manual behaviors are functioning at their highest in a poker game. . . . I can truthfully say that I learned about men from poker."

Finally, ten years after they had first met and became engaged, Rossetti and Elizabeth Siddal were married. She was growing weaker, rather than stronger, and Rossetti, blaming himself for not marrying her sooner, swore that he would nurse her back to health. They went to France for their wedding journey.

After their marriage on May 23, 1860, Rossetti brought his wife home to his studio. He had it enlarged by opening a door into the adjoining house, so that they now had three rooms—one of them hung with sketches which Elizabeth herself had done, and no others. They were happy, in spite of her poor health.

Though Rossetti was always devoted to his wife, and though she was the model for most of his pictures, he sometimes sought other models. Once he and Burne-Jones, brother artist, sat beside two beautiful girls at a theater. Rossetti was immediately struck with one of them, and said he must have her for a model.

So the two young men got an introduction to her father, an Oxford professor, and Rossetti got permission to paint the young girl. Rossetti knew he had a find. Another artist, William Morris, agreed with him, and straightway married the beautiful young girl, and she and Mrs. Rossetti became lifelong friends.

POINTE ANNE TEAM WINS

FASTER AND HEAVIER.

LAKEFIELD, March 8. — A crowd which probably numbered between four and five hundred people, witnessed the exhibition game played between the team from the Point Anne plant of the Canada Cement Company and the team from the Lakefield plant. The first game was played in Belleville last Friday night, with the Point Anne boys the winners by a score of 3-2, and Tuesday night's game added one each way to the score, which was 4-3 in favor of the Point Anne team.

The visitors, who hold the championship of the Bay of Quinte League, were heavier than the locals, but the heavyweights used their weight legitimately and played a fairly clean and decidedly fast game. The trip from Point Anne was made by motor, with the last ten miles very bad going and the team arriving in a rather tired condition. Hamblin, Northey, and Wannamaker played a very strenuous game of hockey the previous night, but nevertheless the game was worth going to see. K. A. Mackenzie, of Lakefield, refereed, and gave general satisfactoon to homesters and visitors, holding down any attempt to "mix it," with a firm hand. Combination play was attempted by both sides, but close checking made the results nil, and the goals were scored in every case by individual effort.

While the game was in no sense a really rough game the pace set was so fast that it was no place for old folks or young children

The local team played hard but were not quite up to their best form, with the exception of Hamblin, who played a steady game, always alert, and although he was fairly bombarded with shots only four eluded him. The Sabatino brothers and Blewett were on the job all the time and did a great deal of good work. Hill and the three lightweights, Northey, Wannamaker and Wingett, did well and checked hard the big fellows, and while none of them scored a goal they made some pretty attempts, but the visitors goalie was in a very literal sene a "strong man." Green and Goyer, the reavy defence men of the visitors' outfit, were exceptionally good and played through the game without any appreciable slackening of speed. Brant, Hull and Maracle were outstanding in the front line and were a strong combination and mighty hard to beat.

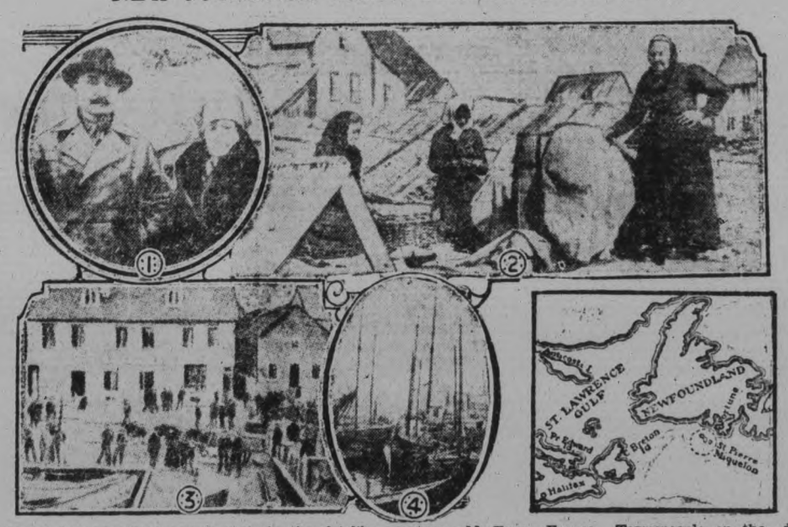
NEW GOVERNOR COMES TO FRENCH AMERICA



France has appointed a new governor to rule her tiny domain in the North Atlantic, St. Pierre et Miquelon, the last vestige of the mother country's vast former power in the new hemisphere. His excellency visited Halifax on February 23, enroute to the dot-like province. M. Francois Juvanon and Mmme. Juvanon (1) have assured Canada that friendship under the two flags will be promoted. Three women natives (2) of the islands are shown drying capelin at Ile aux Chien, for export to France. Townspeople on the dock (3) are shown waiting the arrival of the mail steamer. Ships in the quay (4) at St. Pierre. May (5) shows St. Pierre et Miquelon in their relation to Newfoundland and the gulf of St. Lawrence.

George H. Townsend Nell F. Porter, George J. Russell and J. Russell join 247th Battalion.

March 8, 1918.

The penalties were few only five being given in the whole game.

The first period opened with a strong attempt by both sides to score, and the checking was so strong that it was fifteen minutes after the period opened that Hull planted one for Point Anne. Louis Sabatino landed one in the visitors' nets one minute later. Maracle made an attempt to score afterwards but failed because of being offside but the Lakefield net and Hamblin collapsed in the fray.

The first period ended with a score of 1—1. Green, who gave Northey the boards, was given a few minutes to think about it, taking the only penalty of the period.

Maracle added one to the visitors' count after ten minutes fast play in the second period and after five minutes Blewett scored again, making the score at the end of the second 2—2. Wingett drew two brief rests and Weir and Maracle also took a vacation in the penalty box during the second section.

The third period opened rather more slowly as both teams were showing the strain of the fast pace. Blewett scored one minute after the opening bell and after much dodging with the puck and much checking on both sides, Green found the nets thirteen minutes after Blewett and again the score was tied.

Three minutes before the last gong sounded Hull scored the winning goal and the visitors held their lead. Although there was hard work done in the remaining time there was no more scoring.

There were two casualties, Brant of Point Anne was struck in the chest with a hockey stick, and "Chubby" Blewett lost a tooth and had his mouth cut. Both cases were accidents without a doubt. The line-up was as follows:

Point Anne—Goal, Jeffries defence, Green and Goyer ;centre, Brant; wings, Weir and Hull; subs, McDonald, Maracle and Kachanoski.

Lakefield—Goal, W. Hamblin, defence, J. Sabatino and D. Hill; centre, L. Sabatino; wings, B. Blewett and C. Northey. Subs, E. Wannamaker and B. Wingett.

This is the first visit of the Point Anne hockey team and there is a desire to make these games annual events. Point Anne plant is the neighbor plant of Lakefield plant, and there has been a good deal of intercourse between the two places and last night's game marked a new era in the friendship.

LABOR MEMBER WORKS AT TRADE

A. A. Heaps Upholsters Laurier's Chair in Premier's Office.

OTTAWA, Mar. 7. — (Canadian Press.)—The amenities of parliamentary life are not all confined to the chamber over which Mr. Speaker presides. Social gestures are not uncommon among parliamentarians, but it is seldom that true craftsmanship plays a part in the friendship of members, particularly in the relationship of political opponents.

A. A. Heaps, the Labor member of Parliament from Winnipeg North, is an upholsterer by trade, and with the eye of an artisan he once observed in the Prime Minister's office that Mr. King was using a dilapidated chair which was quite out of accord with the other furniture of the room. The chair happened to be one of Mr. King's most cherished possessions, as Sir Wilfrid Laurier had used it in the office in the east block throughout all the years of his Premiership. Again and again he had refused to permit the Department of Public Works employes to touch it during the periodical renovations of the office, but the offer of the Labor member of Parliament to upholster the prized chair was accepted.

With borrowed tools from an Ottawa workshop, Mr. Heaps upholstered the historic chair with soft olive green leather. It is now back in the Prime Minister's office in the east block along with several smaller chairs which were refinished at the same time, but the excellence of Mr. Heaps' workmanship is apparent even to the most inexpert eye.

PILE SUFFERERS

You can get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Nothing but an internal remedy can do this—that's why cutting and salves fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, is guaranteed to quickly and safely banish any form of Pile misery or money back. McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store, and druggists everywhere sell it with this guarantee.

Having cattle and pigs penned or grouped according to size improves the general appearance and gives a better impression to a prospective purchaser.

An old lady walked into the Canadian Pacific ticket office at King and Yonge streets, Toronto, and asked about the trains and routes to New York.

"Do you wish to go by Buffalo? said the clerk.

"Oh no, she replied, by train."

Had she been going to Vancouver or anywhere in the West she would not have asked at all, as she would know as mostly all do, that the Canadian Pacific "Vancouver Express" which leaves Toronto Union Station at 9.00 p.m. daily is really the ideal way. This train of highest grade all-steel equipment provides the utmost in travel comfort; the excellent cuisine and the outstanding courtesy accorded all passengers have earned for it an enviable reputation.

When going to the West travel "Vancouver Express", nearest Canadian Pacific Agent will gladly arrange every detail of your trip. 3d-fb. 28 Mr. 8.24

TALK ON FALLS WILL BE GIVEN

Engineers To Hear Address On Remedial Measures at Niagara.

PUBLIC INVITED.

At the Peterborough Branch meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada to be held in the Chamber of Commerce at 8.15 p.m., on Thursday, March 8th, a subject of very general interest to all Canadians and especially those in Ontario is to be discussed. The speaker of the evening will be W. K. Bradbury of the Public Relations Department of the Niagara Falls Power Co., Niagara Falls, N.Y., who will speak on the lengthening of the Niagara Falls. Mr. Bradbury may be accompanied by N. R. Gibson, vice-president and chief engineer of the Niagara Falls Power Company.

The address will describe the conditions of natural erosion at the Horseshoe Falls, which causes an impairment to the scenic spectacle. Suggestions recently made by the International Niagara Board will be described and pictures will show the effect of remedial works as tried upon a large scale model of the Falls. Mention will incidentally be made of the human accomplishment in the great power developments at Niagara Falls.

In this connection, the following from a recent article in the Electrical News, of February 15, 1928, will be of interest:

"Certain initial remedial measures which might be profitably undertaken in the immediate future in connection with the preservation of the scenic beauty of Niagara Falls, are outlined in an interim report issued by the Special International Niagara Board and released by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior. This board was appointed by the governments of Canada and the United States to determine how the scenic beauty of Niagara Falls and Rapids can best be maintained and by what means, and to what extent the impairment thereof by erosion or or otherwise can be overcome, and, consistent with the preservation of the scenic beauty of the falls and river, to determine what quantity of water, additional to that permitted to be diverted by the Boundary Waters Treaty of 1909-10 might be diverted, either temporarily or permanently. The board's interim report outlines measures which will constitute an integral and considerable part of the complete works which will be recommended in the board's final report.

"Considering, first, the recession of the Canadian or Horseshoe Falls, an exhaustive study of the geological structure of the falls and gorge, in conjunction with an analysis of the rate and character of the recession of the crestline as disclosed by surveys made from time to time from 1754 to 1927, leads the board to conclude that there is no danger of the Horseshoe degenerating into a cascade or destroying itself by cutting a deep notch. On the contrary there is every reason to believe that the active part of the Horseshoe will broaden out and the crestline lengthen in graceful curves, and that, if adequately supplied with water, the main part of the horseshoe one hundred or two hundred years hence will present an appearance equal or superior to the present.

"The board's investigations made with the aid of competent geologists show a mean rate of recession of the crest of the active part of the fall of 3.7 feet per year since 1842, and of 2.3 feet per year since 1906, indicating that the Horseshoe is now cutting back at a decreasing rate, and that the rate will continue to decrease.

"The United States and Canadian flanks of the Horseshoe are not now perceptibly receding and are already practically bare Within recent years a 415-ft. section of the crest at the Canadian flank has been filled up, and converted from crest into a part of the wall of the gorge. Within the reasonably near future the Goat Island shelf will be completely dry, even in high water season, and this part of the fall, if left to nature, will take its natural place as a part of the wall of the gorge. However, the comparatively simple and inexpensve engineering works hereinafter proposed will enable this part of the fall to be rewatered, thus forming the connection necessary to bind the American Falls with the enlarged Horseshoe into a harmonious whole. The same condition exists at the Canadian flank, but in less degree, and with less necessity for remedial works.

"The type of construction considered by the board as best suited to properly rewater the flanks of the Horseshoe is a combination of excavations and submerged weirs carried from the shores into the flanks into the adjacent main currents only far enough to accomplish the desired deflection of water to the flanks. This plan is susceptible of progressive extension upstream and into the rapids to the extent required to mask the effect of any reasonable additional diversions which may be agreed upon.

"The various types of remedial works which have been considered have been tested out on the model of the falls built by the Niagara Falls Power Company.

"The board is of the opinion that in the interests of the more than two million annual visitors to this scenic centre it is most desirable that the measures for providing such a substantial betterment of the spectacle should be inaugurated at an early date.

"The construction of these initial works will furthermore in some proportionate measure, modify the rate of erosion in the bend of the Horseshoe.

"A further and most important end which this initial construction serves is the opportunity afforded the two governments to actually test out in practice the effect of temporary additional withdrawals of water and the efficiency of remedial works to offset such withdrawals."

As Mr. Bradbury's address is of a popular nature it should be of interest to everyone and a cordial invitation to the meeting is extended.

LORNA DOONE SHOWN IN MOVING PICTURES

Members of Trinity Club Have Interesting Program.

Members of Trnity Club met at Reid Street hall Tuesday evening and witnessed the screen production of "Lorna Doone," which was successfully shown by the new machine which has been recently purchased for use at Trinity Club.

The meeting was opened by singing "O Canada," after which Rev. Mr. Wren gave a short religious talk, followed by a scripture reading.

In charge of A. B. Gates, the Sunday School superintendent, and C. Clarke, the machine proved a great success.

The second item of the program were two beautiful solos rendered by Miss Wolstenholme and Mr. Saunders, who were heartily applauded by the members.

The third feature of the evening was a contest which consisted of guessing the names of the streets of Peterborough from phrases which were placed about the wall with the jumbled names on them.

Dainty refreshments were served, after which the meeting was brought to a close.

WEDDING BELLS

PARKS—DARLING

The marriage of Miss Dora May Darling, daughter of Mr. David Darling, Lakefield, Ontario, and Mr. George Franklin Parks, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Parks of Rochester, N.Y., took place on Saturday, March 3rd, at 4.30 p.m., at the home of Rev. Samuel J. Clarkson.

The attendants were Miss Dottie LeMay of Buffalo, N.Y., and Mr. Floyd Kruegar of Rochester, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Parks will reside at 19 Pearl Street.

MITCHELL—ARGUE.

A very quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Argue, Pontypool, yesterday at 10 o'clock, when their daughter, Letha, was united in marriage to Mr. Harvey Mitchell. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very beautiful in a gown of lucerne blue silk crepe, with silver shoes and blue stockings. She carried a bouquet of American beauty roses with lily of the valley and baby's breath. After a sumptuous dinner served to about twenty-five guests, the happy couple left for Peterborough, where they took the midnight train to Montreal.

The groom's gift to the bride was a Hudson seal coat with sable color. The bride travelled in a navy ensemble costume with tan shoes and stockings, and Hudson seal coat.

On their return they will reside in Lifford, where the groom is a prosperous farmer.

The Grand Lodge of Ontario West convenes in Barrie, Ont., next week. Premier Ferguson is scheduled to address that body on the French-English language subject on March 14th.

ENDURANCE FLIGHT STOPPED BY STORM

Stinson and Haldeman Forced To Descend in Snow Storm.

DETROIT, March 9 (Canadian Press).—The Eddie Stinson-George Haldeman attempt to establish a new endurance record ended far short of its objective after three a.m. today, when a sudden snow storm forced the big Stinson Detroit monoplane to earth. The plane had been in the air since 8.29 a.m. yesterday, when it took off with a load of 3,845 pounds from the ice on Lake St. Clair and began circling Selfridge Field, over which the entire flight was made.

Flight Postponed.

DETROIT, Mar. 9 (Canadian Press) —Unfavorable weather caused Eddie Stinson and George Haldeman to postpone their second attempt to establish a new flight endurance record. Stinson announced the postponement of the flight until "after Sunday."

TURKEY INVITED TO ARMS MEETING

Though Not Member of League, Will Be Asked To Take Part.

GENEVA, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Turkey will be invited to participate in the work of the preparatory commission on disarmament, under a decision reached by the Council of the League of Nations today. Soviet Russia, which suggested this step, will be notified to this effect. Turkey is not a member of the League.

NAVAL ESTIMATES FIVE MILLION LESS

LONDON, March 9 (Canadian Press). — The net total of the British Navy estimates for the coming year is roughly $286,500,000. The original estimate for the current year was two hundred and ninety million dollars, but a supplementary estimate of two and a quarter millions was issued to-day to complete the current financial year. The net total, therefore, will be five and three-quarter millions less than the current figures as amended by supplementary estimate. The new program for this year includes provision for commencing the construction of two cruisers, one submarine depot ship, one flotilla leader, eight destroyers, six submarines, one river gunboat, and four sloops.

Collision Averted In English Port

PLYMOUTH, Eng., March 9.—(Association Press).—The steamship George Washington, of the United States Lines, from New York, after landing her mails and passengers yesterday, had a narrow escape from collision with the French liner Ile de France, from Havre for New York. The passengers ashore waiting to embark for the United States held their breaths at the imminence of a disaster, as the vessels were approaching each other, with the George Washington across the French vessel's bows. But both quickly went astern, and a collision was averted.

BRITAIN UNEASY AWAITING NEWS

Hostilities Expected Hourly, Says Report From Basra.

WAHABIS CONCENTRATE.

LONDON, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Uneasiness over the threat of desert warfare in Arabia prevailed in London to-day, with some reports current that an attack had already been launched and others that hostilities were expected hourly.

Despatches from Basra, Irak, said that Ibn Saud's fanatical Wahabi tribesmen had launched their "holy war against the infidel" by attacking and capturing villages in Trans-Jordania. None of the usual near eastern news centres, nearer the scene than Basra, mentioned any outbreak of fighting, however.

Three Wahabi camps were reported from Amman, Palestine, to have been located, but this was not confirmed. Such concentration would indicate that an attack was planned on Trans-Jordania.

Says Saud Seeks Peace.

CAIRO, March 9. — Canadian Press. — A denial that Ibn Saud, the picturesque desert king of Arabia, has declared a "holy war" or that he is even lending material support to the tribes who are raiding the British mandated territory, was made to-day. The denial came from Sheik Hafiz Wahba. He has just returned from Koweit near the head of the Persian Gulf, where he tried on behalf of Ibn Saud, to negotiate a settlement of the difficulties between the frontier tribes of Nejd and of Irak.

Sheik Hafiz said that instead of fomenting warfare, Ibn Saud is trying to quiet the tribesmen who revolted against the British air raids over the border made by complaining tribesmen in violation of treaties among the clans.

Indian Troops Arrive.

BASRA, March 9. Canadian Press. —Indian troops have been added to the British garrison at Koweit, to guard that town against a threatened attack by Wahabi tribesmen.

PREPARE TO SHIP SCHOOL EFFECTS

Trinity College School Will Carry On in Woodstock For Present.

PORT HOPE, Ont., March 9. — Preparations were under way to-day for shipping by express all the equipment and personal effects of the boys of Trinity College School to Woodstock, where the Woodstock College Buildings will be used pending the re-building of the college destroyed by fire recently.

The work of pulling down the old parts of the destroyed buildings has already commenced and every effort is being put forth to commence construction of the new school as soon as possible.

House of Lords Adjourn Meeting

LONDON, March 9.— (Canadian Press Cable.) — The House of Bishops of the Church of England which has been considering the revised prayer book in strict secrecy for the past three days adjourned last night until March 15 when the amended proposals as finally decided upon will be made public. It was not revealed what alterations, if any, had been made by the Bishops of the book as the Houses of Clergy and Laity left it.

It was officially announced last night that a convocation of the ecclesiastical provinces of Canterbury and York will meet to consider the book on March 18. Then on April 25 the Church Assembly, in which the House of Bishops, Clergy and Laity are incorporated, will meet to give its final approval or rejection of the book as it then stands.

VETERAN MISSION WORKER TELLS OF VALUE OF ESKIMO TO CANADA

Rev. W. G. Walton Has Worked in Ungava For 32 Years.

NOT SAVAGE PEOPLE.

Had No Idea of Deity — Independent When Supplies Are Plentiful.

"The Eskimo, his mode of living, and his value as a future citizen of Canada" formed the subject of an unusual and intensely interesting address delivered at the Kiwanis luncheon in the Empress hotel to-day. Qualified to speak on such a subject as few men are, the Rev. William Gladstone Walton drew from a wealth of knowledge and understanding gained in thirty-two years of labor in the Hudson Bay territory known as Ungava, giving to his hearers a comprehensive description of the Eskimo such as they have probably never been given before.

The meeting to-day was a happy one with a large attendance of members despite the unpleasant weather conditions. President Joe John vacated his place at the head table in favor of Harry Boyle, filled the office most acceptably. He was particularly relentless in his treatment of the tardy ones.

Delegate To Convention.

A number of announcements of interest to the club were made previous to the address of the day. Chief among them was the announcement of the secretary that Isaac P. MacNabb had been appointed delegate to the Kiwanis International Convention which takes place at Seattle in June.

Carl Brown read the invitation from the Lindsay club which requested the presence of some twenty-five Peterborough Club members at their charter night meeting next Wednesday evening, March 14. A special coach will be furnished if that number volunteer to make the trip.

A third announcement was made by Charles Elliott to the effect that next week's meeting will take the form of a father and son banquet with a special out-of-town speaker.

Calling out the corresponding numbers, Booster Percy Bond presented his prizes to Harry Huffman, Colonel Miller, and Ivan Lillico. This was followed by a nicely rendered vocal number by Miss Evelyn Scott, of George Street United Church whose accompanist was G. F. Liddle.

Speaker Introduced.

To the Rev. Doug. Paterson fell the honor of introducing the chief speaker of the day. In so doing he mentioned that Mr. Walton had gone into the Hudson Bay territory through the Hudson straits and had come out by airplane. In all he had spent thirty-two years among the Eskimo and therefore should know whereof he spoke.

Rev. William G. Walton

The Rev. Mr. Walton immediately delved into the main subject of his address. Stating that the Eskimo is of northern Mongolian origin, he told of how the Indian had prevented him from settling in the more fertile country and so he had become a native of the barren icelands his chief food being raw seal, and his home of ice blocks. Only for a brief period during the summer does he live with groups of his fellows, for they must hunt the seal.

Incidentally, as a precaution against famine, the speaker has many times recommended that domesticated reindeer be supplied by the government. Admitting that sometimes, under extreme cases of famine, the old have been left behind and girl babies killed because they were not food producers, the speaker denied that the Eskimos are naturally savage. "They may be unmoral but not immoral," he said.

In the matter of religion, the Eskimo had been found to have no such idea of a diety as we have, but through teaching, the word "good" had come to mean "God" to them. Their ideas of what happened after death were that the better living man or woman went to the bottom of the sea where there was no suffering, while the others went into the barren sky to suffer constant hunger and unrest. The northern lights were thought to be their restless spirits.

The Eskimo is very independent when he has a lot of food on hand, the lot of food being represented by three or four seals, captured after lengthy vigils beside large cracks in the ice, which have been snowed over but beneath which snow the seal comes to rest. He has previously been detected by the dogs, an ice house has been built within a couple of miles of the spot and the hunter has taken up his position to wait, sometimes for a day or two, for the coming of the seal. The speaker described the killing of a seal, and the manner in which it is cut up for consumption.

The ice house of these northern dwellers is from six to ten feet in diameter and is divided into two rooms. In it, ice is melted over an oil and moss flame for drinking purposes, while an occasional polar bear or walrus is the only variety in the diet.

Mr. Walton felt that the dream of shipping grain or of abundant fishing in Hudson Bay and Strait would not be so easily made come true, due

Many Pay Tribute To Boys Who Lost Lives "Because They Were In the Way"

INDIANA HARBOR, Ind., March 9 (A.P.).—Side by side, the two little sons of George Chisholm were laid to rest yesterday. The boys, whose father confessed throwing them into a canal, "because they were in the way," were given one of the largest funerals in the city's history.

The funeral chapel was banked with flowers. Above the caskets were three large wreaths bearing the cards of the city administration, the police department and the children of McKinley School, where the boys were students. Two pastors read the services, two hearses carried the bodies away.

There was a touch of pathos when Robert, Edgar's twin brother who escaped a similar death, was brought from Crown Point, the county seat, yesterday morning to attend the services. He had been visiting his father, who is in jail under two charges of murder, and walked slowly into police headquarters here with bowed head, still dressed in the overalls he'd worn for nearly a week.

Gruff policemen wiped away their tears and in a minute's time a fund was raised and Bobby had the finest suit and outfit in Indiana Harbor. He accompanied his uncle, Edgar Chisholm, of Montreal, to the services.

As the services were being read, the slayer of his sons listened to the reading of the two indictments charging him with murdering the boys. Oliver Starr, state's attorney, said he would go to trial within two weeks. Chisholm has planned to plead not guilty by reason of insanity unless the Canadian Consul in Chicago goes to his aid and provides him with funds for alienists, in which event he will plead guilty and offer insanity with a plea for mercy.

FUELLESS MOTOR IS NOT NEW SCHEME, RECORDS REVEAL

Several Applications Made For Patents During the Past Century.

ANCIENT APPARATUS.

French Inventor, Vion, Tried To Get Power From the Air.

WASHINGTON, March 9. — Five patents on inventions, believed to embody a principle similar to that of the so-called "fulless motor" recently credited to Lester J. Hendershot, of Pittsburg, have already been granted by the U.S. Patent Office, the United Press learned yesterday.

Ancient Apparatus.

All five of the inventions, two dating back to the last century, depend for their power on electricity extracted from the air or the earth and each is claimed to operate without fuel or batteries.

Patents could not be obtained on them yesterday, as inventors are now required to demonstrate the feasibility as well as their novelty.

The first apparatus of this type was patented a year before the Civil War, 1860, by H. C. Vion, a resident of Paris, who wanted to protect his invention in this country.

Vion's Theory.

Vion's idea was to extract electricity from the clouds and also from the earth by means of a captive balloon and a wire conductor. His invention was derived from Benjamin Franklin's electrical experiments with a kite and a key. Positive electricity from the atmosphere was to be united with negative currents from the ground in Vion's apparatus "thus forming an electrical pile of considerable power."

BONDS WERE SOLD ON OPEN MARKET

Evidence Uncovered at Senate Teapot Dome Oil Investigation.

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 9.—Direct evidence was received yesterday by the Senate Teapot Dome Committee that at least some of the $260,000 in Continental Trading Co. Liberty bonds which Harry F. Sinclair turned over to the Republican National Committee in 1923, were parceled out to individuals for sale on the open market and the proceeds used to help extinguish the party deficit before the 1924 campaign.

James A. Patten, a Chicago grain commission merchant, who years ago startled the world by obtaining a near corner on the wheat market, testified that the late Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican Committee at that time gave him $25,000 in Liberty bonds in December, 1923, and asked him to make a contribution in an equal sum to the party to help wipe out a deficit which Upham then placed between $600,000 and $800,000.

Donated to Hospital.

Patton said he sent the National committee his cheque for this amount, collected the bonds later and turned them over to the Jefferson Hospital in Chicago, to which he had promised a donation of $25,000. The one time wheat king said he was "mad and in pain" at the size of the deficit, but saw the necessity of paying it off.

"I wondered why Upham gave me the bonds instead of selling them in the New York market, where the best price might be obtained," Patton said, adding that at the time he had no idea of the origin of the bonds. He furnished the committee a list of the serial numbers and a check of these against those of the Continental bonds by the secretary to Senator Walsh, committee prosecutor, showed that $20,000 of the $25,000 once had been in the possession of the Continental Trading Company.

Besides Patten, the committee examined five other witnesses, including William V. Hodges, of Denver, now treasurer of the Republican National Committee.

Hodges took over the treasurership in 1924 from Upham and testified that his predecessor had delivered to him some memoranda concerning contributions in 1925, when the national committee came into possession of Continental bonds.

The other witnesses also were unable to assist the committee in its quest for those securities.

Assembly Approves Resolution Inviting These Countries To Stay Their Withdrawals.

BRAZIL DOUBTFUL.

Believed That Spain Will Respond Favorably to the Appeal.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Mar. 9.—(Associated Press.)— The return of Spain and Brazil to active participation in the work of the League of Nations will shortly be sought by the League Council.

The council, upon the initiative of Francesco Joe Urrutia, of Colombia, who presided at yesterday's session, approved a suggestion that a resolution and letter inviting these countries to stay their withdrwals to be sent to them.

That Spain will respond favorably to the appeal and not insist upon her resignation was the opinion generally heard in Geneva last night, but no one would hazard a guess as to what answer Brazil would make.

Under the rules of the League, two years' notice of withdrawal must be given. That of Brazil's expires in June, while Spains expires in September.

In addition to fervent appeals by the Latin-American members of the League Council in favor of asking Spain and Brazil to return, Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany said that it was with sincere satisfaction that he heard the suggestion of Senor Urrutia.

The German representative said that he had always felt it was a particularly regrettable coincidence that at the time of Germany's entry into the League two great nations had withdrawn their collaboration in the League's work thus creating a considerable gap.

Chamberlain Approves.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British secretary of the foreign office, said that he welcomed most heartily the invitation taken by Senor Urrutia, but added that he would reserve further observation until the text of the proposed resolution and letter was presented to the council.

Foreign Minister Briand, in the name of France, associated himself fully with the sentiment expressed by the chairman.

The remainder of the day was devoted to long speeches by Count Apponyi, of Hungary, and Foreign Minister Titulescu of Rumania, in the dispute over the dispossession of Transylvanian farmers under Rumanian Agrarian laws. This matter was then adjourned until to-day.

It is understood that Poland has expressed a desire to propose to the council that Turkey be invited to participate in the work of the League disarmament commission as suggested by Soviet Russia. There is little doubt that an invitation will be sent.

SHOP BREAKER VISITED CITY

Peter Charbot, Now Under Arerst, Was Here Last Week.

ORDERED TO LEAVE.

The advantage of a very efficient police force was exhibited last week when Peter Charbot was arrested on a charge of vagrancy.

An officer, while on his beat, noticed this man loitering around. When he questioned the man as to what he was doing, the officer became suspicious and arrested the man.

The next morning he appeared before Magistrate Langley and pleaded not guilty to being a vagrant. Chief Constable Newhall asked for a remand so that he could look up the prisoner's record. He proved to be an ex-convict and when brought before the magistrate a second time he was told to get out of the city.

He left on the noon train for points east where he met another ex-convict, and the following night the two were arrested in Toronto attempting to blow a safe. They are now waiting sentence in the Toronto courts.

One of Those Rescued From Burning House Severely Injured.

AT ST. JEROME, QUE.

ST. JEROME, Que., March 9 (Canadian Press).—A mother and two of her daughters were burned to death when fire destroyed the home of Leon Duquette here early to-day. Therese, another girl member of the family, was severely burned. The father and six other children escaped.

Rioters Arrested Warsaw Uprising

WARSAW, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Anti-Jewish riots which started in Lemberg on Tuesday when the results of Sunday's general election showed that two Jewish deputies were among the four deputies sent to Parliament by the city, continued until late on Wednesday.

Notwithstanding the measures taken by the police, the demonstrators attacked Jewish passers-by and smashed windows in Jewish homes and shops. The attack on the Jewish students' home was particularly severe. The police then took drastic measures, arresting 250 of the rioters.

RUTS TROUBLE AUTO DRIVERS

CARS CAN'T TURN OUT.

Many complaints are being received about the deep ruts on George and Charlotte Streets, and the failure of the Board of Works to have the intersections cut out so that a motorist may turn off the main streets. The police department has had reports of many accidents on account of these ruts in the past few days.

Service station managers and many others complain that their business is being hindered because cars and trucks cannot get into their places of business.

This morning a New Centre Meat Market truck driven by M. Legatt attempted to get into a service station on Charlotte Street. The truck became stalled in the ruts, and while there it was struck by one of W. J. Oke's trucks driven by D. Rex. Mr. Oke's truck was badly damaged around the radiator.

Last night at midnight a car jumped the ruts on the Hunter Street hill and crashed into a tree, damaging the radiator.

The ruts in front of the Canadian Packing Company are so deep that the drivers are unable to get their trucks turned, and only yesterday there was a collision there in which one car was damaged.

PROMISES EQUALITY WITHIN FEW WEEKS

LONDON, March 9. — Stanley Baldwin the first British prime minister to appear before an equal suffrage meeting, promoted a vast assembly of women, representing 140 organizations last night that "in a few weeks" Parliament would grant them complete equality with men in voting privileges.

This declaration was received with frenzied cheering by the women who had met to celebrate the success of their bitter fight extending nearly 100 years.

"I have selected the home secretary to be the Joshua who shall lead you into the promised land," said Premier Baldwin, indicating that Sir William Joynson-Hicks would have charge of the franchise bill which will make the now famous slogan "votes for flappers."

Agreeing with Disraeli, who was one of the early statesmen to favor full rights of citizenship for women, the prime minister asserted that there were no grounds in logic, justice or expediency to withhold the franchise from one sex more than another.

Mr. Baldwin announced that the franchise bill will be introduced in the House of Commons on Monday. It will pass its second reading before Easter and will be completed at the earliest possible date.

Planes Test Flight Before Atlantic Hop

LONDON, March 9 (Associated Press).—A 4,000-mile flight to India as a preliminary test for an attempt to make the first flight from Europe to America in May or June is being planned by Captain Walter Hinchcliffe, noted British aviator.

Reports that the captain was about to start immediately on a flight from England to the United States with the Hon. Elsie MacKay, titled British heiress, as a passenger, brought denials both from Captain Hinchcliffe and Miss MacKay.

The captain said that he probably would start for India in about three weeks as a long preliminary test for a trans-Atlantic hop, but denied that Miss MacKay would accompany him on either attempt.

Miss MacKay, he said, has given financial support to his undertaking, and has taken part in trial flights, but that is the extent of her participation.

GIVES TALK ON LENGTHENING OF NIAGARA FALLS

W. K. Bradbury Addresses Peterborough Branch of Engineering Institute of Canada.

PRESENTATIONS MADE.

A large turnout of members of the Engineering Institute of Canada, Peterborough Branch, greeted W. K. Bradbury, of the Department of Niagara Falls Power Company, the main speaker at the regular meeting, held last evening in the Chamber of Commerce Council room. His subject, "The Lengthening of Niagara Falls," covering the proposed remedial works for the preservation of the natural beauty of the Falls, was one of the finest delivered before the local branch this year.

Presentations Made.

A. E. Caddy, M.E.I.C., presiding, introduced Mr. Bradbury after calling the meeting to order at 8.25. The chairman mentioned several communications received by the secretary and also presented to Messrs. Lowe, Hayes, and Fouckes, badges for having prepared and delivered papers before the local branch.

B. L. Barnes, in a brief address, called attention to the honor reflected upon Peterborough Branch through the paper of W. T. Fanjoy winning first prize in the competition in the student members' paper competition open to student members throughout the Dominion. In conclusion, he presented to Mr. Fanjoy a cheque for his work in the contest.

The recipient, in reply, expressed the hope that the prize might come to Peterborough again in the future. He had derived real benefit from the work of preparing the prize-winning paper.

Mr. Bradbury.

The main address of the evening proved a comprehensive survey of Niagara Falls power development, illustrated in interesting manner by slides thrown on a screen, and an outline of the various means whereby the natural beauty of the district might be preserved and even increased.

Following a number of humorous stories, Mr. Bradbury opened his address with a slide showing the Niagara Falls, and spoke of the growth of the power plants on the American side. The main part, built since the war, he explained in detail, showing the magnitude of the power wheels and general construction of the plant. These wheels, each developing 70,000 h.p., were shown, and a diagram illustrated the courses by which the water reached them—either by canal or tunnel, pictures of the latter during and at the completion of its construction, being thrown on the screen.

Pictures of other power plants, both on the Canadian and American sides, were in turn explained, and the speaker passed on to discuss the problem of preserving the natural beauty of the American and Canadian Falls. By diagrams, pictures, and finally by showing a model of the entire district, built to scale, Mr. Bradbury told of steps necessary and feasible whereby the constant wearing away of the Horseshoe Falls might be checked, and concluded by answering a number of questions from his auditors, ranging from inquiries for technical details to his opinion of the Chicago water diversion.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the speaker at the close of the meeting.

TOBACCO MAY GIVE SPLENDID RETURNS

TORONTO, March 9. — Canadian Press. — The Agricultural committee of the Ontario Legislature today heard a discourse by Prof. Leitch of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph on co-operative marketing, and in particular the growing and marketing of Ontario's newest farm product, tobacco. Properly handled, the growing and sale of tobacco in Ontario would result in a vast return to the farmers, but improperly handled the venture might result in vast losses, he said.

TORONTO, March 9. Canadian Press. — As Ontario Minister of Education, Premier G. H. Ferguson has mailed to officials of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario copies of the various statements he has made in connection with "Regulation 17" and the teaching of English to French-speaking pupils in the schools of Ontario. The Grand Lodge of Ontario West convenes in Barrie, Ont., next week. Premier Ferguson is scheduled to address that body on the French-English language subject on March 14th.

ENDURANCE FLIGHT STOPPED BY STORM

Stinson and Haldeman Forced To Descend in Snow Storm.

DETROIT, March 9 (Canadian Press).—The Eddie Stinson-George Haldeman attempt to establish a new endurance record ended far short of its objective after three a.m. today, when a sudden snow storm forced the big Stinson Detroit monoplane to earth. The plane had been in the air since 8.29 a.m. yesterday, when it took off with a load of 3,845 pounds from the ice on Lake St. Clair and began circling Selfridge Field, over which the entire flight was made.

Flight Postponed.

DETROIT, Mar. 9 (Canadian Press) —Unfavorable weather caused Eddie Stinson and George Haldeman to postpone their second attempt to establish a new flight endurance record. Stinson announced the postponement of the flight until "after Sunday."

TURKEY INVITED TO ARMS MEETING

Though Not Member of League, Will Be Asked To Take Part.

GENEVA, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Turkey will be invited to participate in the work of the preparatory commission on disarmament, under a decision reached by the Council of the League of Nations today. Soviet Russia, which suggested this step, will be notified to this effect. Turkey is not a member of the League.

NAVAL ESTIMATES FIVE MILLION LESS

LONDON, March 9 (Canadian Press). — The net total of the British Navy estimates for the coming year is roughly $286,500,000. The original estimate for the current year was two hundred and ninety million dollars, but a supplementary estimate of two and a quarter millions was issued to-day to complete the current financial year. The net total, therefore, will be five and three-quarter millions less than the current figures as amended by supplementary estimate. The new program for this year includes provision for commencing the construction of two cruisers, one submarine depot ship, one flotilla leader, eight destroyers, six submarines, one river gunboat, and four sloops.

Collision Averted In English Port

PLYMOUTH, Eng., March 9.—(Association Press).—The steamship George Washington, of the United States Lines, from New York, after landing her mails and passengers yesterday, had a narrow escape from collision with the French liner Ile de France, from Havre for New York. The passengers ashore waiting to embark for the United States held their breaths at the imminence of a disaster, as the vessels were approaching each other, with the George Washington across the French vessel's bows. But both quickly went astern, and a collision was averted.

BRITAIN UNEASY AWAITING NEWS

Hostilities Expected Hourly, Says Report From Basra.

WAHABIS CONCENTRATE.

LONDON, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Uneasiness over the threat of desert warfare in Arabia prevailed in London to-day, with some reports current that an attack had already been launched and others that hostilities were expected hourly.

Despatches from Basra, Irak, said that Ibn Saud's fanatical Wahabi tribesmen had launched their "holy war against the infidel" by attacking and capturing villages in Trans-Jordania. None of the usual near eastern news centres, nearer the scene than Basra, mentioned any outbreak of fighting, however.

Three Wahabi camps were reported from Amman, Palestine, to have been located, but this was not confirmed. Such concentration would indicate that an attack was planned on Trans-Jordania.

Says Saud Seeks Peace.

CAIRO, March 9. — Canadian Press. — A denial that Ibn Saud, the picturesque desert king of Arabia, has declared a "holy war" or that he is even lending material support to the tribes who are raiding the British mandated territory, was made to-day. The denial came from Sheik Hafiz Wahba. He has just returned from Koweit near the head of the Persian Gulf, where he tried on behalf of Ib.. Saud, to negotiate a settlement of the difficulties between the frontier tribes of Nejd and of Irak.

Sheik Hafiz said that instead of fomenting warfare, Ibn Saud is trying to quiet the tribesmen who revolted against the British air raids over the border made by complaining tribesmen in violation of treaties among the clans.

Indian Troops Arrive.

BASRA, March 9. Canadian Press. —Indian troops have been added to the British garrison at Koweit, to guard that town against a threatened attack by Wahabi tribesmen.

PREPARE TO SHIP SCHOOL EFFECTS

Trinity College School Will Carry On in Woodstock For Present.

PORT HOPE, Ont., March 9. — Preparations were under way to-day for shipping by express all the equipment and personal effects of the boys of Trinity College School to Woodstock, where the Woodstock College Buildings will be used pending the re-building of the college destroyed by fire recently.

The work of pulling down the old parts of the destroyed buildings has already commenced and every effort is being put forth to commence construction of the new school as soon as possible.

House of Lords Adjourn Meeting

LONDON, March 9.— (Canadian Press Cable.) — The House of Bishops of the Church of England which has been considering the revised prayer book in strict secrecy for the past three days adjourned last night until March 15 when the amended proposals as finally decided upon will be made public. It was not revealed what alterations, if any, had been made by the Bishops of the book as the Houses of Clergy and Laity left it.

It was officially announced last night that a convocation of the ecclesiastical provinces of Canterbury and York will meet to consider the book on March 18. Then on April 25 the Church Assembly, in which the House of Bishops, Clergy and Laity are incorporated, will meet to give its final approval or rejection of the book as it then stands.

VETERAN MISSION WORKER TELLS OF VALUE OF ESKIMO TO CANADA

Rev. W. G. Walton Has Worked in Ungava For 32 Years.

NOT SAVAGE PEOPLE.

Had No Idea of Deity — Independent When Supplies Are Plentiful.

"The Eskimo, his mode of living, and his value as a future citizen of Canada" formed the subject of an unusual and intensely interesting address delivered at the Kiwanis luncheon in the Empress hotel to-day. Qualified to speak on such a subject as few men are, the Rev. William Gladstone Walton drew from a wealth of knowledge and understanding gained in thirty-two years of labor in the Hudson Bay territory known as Ungava, giving to his hearers a comprehensive description of the Eskimo such as they have probably never been given before.

The meeting to-day was a happy one with a large attendance of members despite the unpleasant weather conditions. President Joe John vacated his place at the head table in favor of Harry Boyle, filled the office most acceptably. He was particularly relentless in his treatment of the tardy ones.

Delegate To Convention.

A number of announcements of interest to the club were made previous to the address of the day. Chief among them was the announcement of the secretary that Isaac P. MacNabb had been appointed delegate to the Kiwanis International Convention which takes place at Seattle in June.

Carl Brown read the invitation from the Lindsay club which requested the presence of some twenty-five Peterborough Club members at their charter night meeting next Wednesday evening, March 14. A special coach will be furnished if that number volunteer to make the trip.

A third announcement was made by Charles Elliott to the effect that next week's meeting will take the form of a father and son banquet with a special out-of-town speaker.

Calling out the corresponding numbers, Booster Percy Bond presented his prizes to Harry Huffman, Colonel Miller, and Ivan Lillico. This was followed by a nicely rendered vocal number by Miss Evelyn Scott, of George Street United Church whose accompanist was G. F. Liddle.

Speaker Introduced.

To the Rev. Doug. Paterson fell the honor of introducing the chief speaker of the day. In so doing he mentioned that Mr. Walton had gone into the Hudson Bay territory through the Hudson straits and had come out by airplane. In all he had spent thirty-two years among the Eskimo and therefore should know whereof he spoke.

Rev. William G. Walton

The Rev. Mr. Walton immediately delved into the main subject of his address. Stating that the Eskimo is of northern Mongolian origin, he told of how the Indian had prevented him from settling in the more fertile country and so he had become a native of the barren icelands his chief food being raw seal, and his home of ice blocks. Only for a brief period during the summer does he live with groups of his fellows, for they must hunt the seal.

Incidentally, as a precaution against famine, the speaker has many times recommended that domesticated reindeer be supplied by the government. Admitting that sometimes, under extreme cases of famine, the old have been left behind and girl babies killed because they were not food producers, the speaker denied that the Eskimos are naturally savage. "They may be unmoral but not immoral," he said.

In the matter of religion, the Eskimo had been found to have no such idea of a diety as we have, but through teaching, the word "good" had come to mean "God" to them. Their ideas of what happened after death were that the better living man or woman went to the bottom of the sea where there was no suffering, while the others went into the barren sky to suffer constant hunger and unrest. The northern lights were thought to be their restless spirits.

The Eskimo is very independent when he has a lot of food on hand, the lot of food being represented by three or four seals, captured after lengthy vigils beside large cracks in the ice, which have been snowed over but beneath which snow the seal comes to rest. He has previously been detected by the dogs, an ice house has been built within a couple of miles of the spot and the hunter has taken up his position to wait, sometimes for a day or two, for the coming of the seal. The speaker described the killing of a seal, and the manner in which it is cut up for consumption.

The ice house of these northern dwellers is from six to ten feet in diameter and is divided into two rooms. In it, ice is melted over an oil and moss flame for drinking purposes, while an occasional polar bear or walrus is the only variety in the diet.

Mr. Walton felt that the dream of shipping grain or of abundant fishing in Hudson Bay and Strait would not be so easily made come true, due

Many Pay Tribute To Boys Who Lost Lives "Because They Were In the Way"

INDIANA HARBOR, Ind., March 9 (A.P.).—Side by side, the two little sons of George Chisholm were laid to rest yesterday. The boys, whose father confessed throwing them into a canal, "because they were in the way," were given one of the largest funerals in the city's history.

The funeral chapel was banked with flowers. Above the caskets were three large wreaths bearing the cards of the city administration, the police department and the children of McKinley School, where the boys were students. Two pastors read the services, two hearses carried the bodies away.

There was a touch of pathos when Robert, Edgar's twin brother who escaped a similar death, was brought from Crown Point, the county seat, yesterday morning to attend the services. He had been visiting his father, who is in jail under two charges of murder, and walked slowly into police headquarters here with bowed head, still dressed in the overalls he'd worn for nearly a week.

Gruff policemen wiped away their tears and in a minute's time a fund was raised and Bobby had the finest suit and outfit in Indiana Harbor. He accompanied his uncle, Edgar Chisholm, of Montreal, to the services.

As the services were being read, the slayer of his sons listened to the reading of the two indictments charging him with murdering the boys. Oliver Starr, state's attorney, said he would go to trial within two weeks. Chisholm has planned to plead not guilty by reason of insanity unless the Canadian Consul in Chicago goes to his aid and provides him with funds for alienists, in which event he will plead guilty and offer insanity with a plea for mercy.

Besides Patten, the committee examined five other witnesses, including William V. Hodges, of Denver, now treasurer of the Republican National Committee.

Hodges took over the treasurership in 1924 from Upham and testified that his predecessor had delivered to him some memoranda concerning contributions in 1925, when the national committee came into possession of Continental bonds.

The other witnesses also were unable to assist the committee in its quest for those securities.

BRAZIL AND SPAIN MAY REJOIN LEAGUE OF NATIONS COUNCIL

BRAZIL DOUBTFUL.

Believed That Spain Will Respond Favorably to the Appeal.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Mar. 9.—(Associated Press.)— The return of Spain and Brazil to active participation in the work of the League of Nations will shortly be sought by the League Council.

The council, upon the initiative of Francesco Joe Urrutia, of Colombia, who presided at yesterday's session, approved a suggestion that a resolution and letter inviting these countries to stay their withdrwals to be sent to them.

That Spain will respond favorably to the appeal and not insist upon her resignation was the opinion generally heard in Geneva last night, but no one would hazard a guess as to what answer Brazil would make.

Under the rules of the League, two years' notice of withdrawal must be given. That of Brazil's expires in June, while Spains expires in September.

In addition to fervent appeals by the Latin-American members of the League Council in favor of asking Spain and Brazil to return, Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany said that it was with sincere satisfaction that he heard the suggestion of Senor Urrutia.

The German representative said that he had always felt it was a particularly regrettable coincidence that at the time of Germany's entry into the League two great nations had withdrawn their collaboration in the League's work thus creating a considerable gap.

Chamberlain Approves.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British secretary of the foreign office, said that he welcomed most heartily the invitation taken by Senor Urrutia, but added that he would reserve further observation until the text of the proposed resolution and letter was presented to the council.

Foreign Minister Briand, in the name of France, associated himself fully with the sentiment expressed by the chairman.

The remainder of the day was devoted to long speeches by Count Apponyi, of Hungary, and Foreign Minister Titulescu of Rumania, in the dispute over the dispossession of Transylvanian farmers under Rumanian Agrarian laws. This matter was then adjourned until to-day.

It is understood that Poland has expressed a desire to propose to the council that Turkey be invited to participate in the work of the League disarmament commission as suggested by Soviet Russia. There is little doubt that an invitation will be sent.

SHOP BREAKER VISITED CITY

Peter Charbot, Now Under Arrest, Was Here Last Week.

ORDERED TO LEAVE.

The advantage of a very efficient police force was exhibited last week when Peter Charbot was arrested on a charge of vagrancy.

An officer, while on his beat, noticed this man loitering around. When he questioned the man as to what he was doing, the officer became suspicious and arrested the man.

The next morning he appeared before Magistrate Langley and pleaded not guilty to being a vagrant. Chief Constable Newhall asked for a remand so that he could look up the prisoner's record. He proved to be an ex-convict and when brought before the magistrate a second time he was told to get out of the city.

He left on the noon train for points east where he met another ex-convict, and the following night the two were arrested in Toronto attempting to blow a safe. They are now waiting sentence in the Toronto courts.

THREE BURNED; EIGHT ESCAPED

One of Those Rescued From Burning House Severely Injured.

AT ST. JEROME, QUE.

ST. JEROME, Que., March 9 (Canadian Press).—A mother and two of her daughters were burned to death when fire destroyed the home of Leon Duquette here early to-day. Therese, another girl member of the family, was severely burned. The father and six other children escaped.

Rioters Arrested Warsaw Uprising

WARSAW, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Anti-Jewish riots which started in Lemberg on Tuesday when the results of Sunday's general election showed that two Jewish deputies were among the four deputies sent to Parliament by the city, continued until late on Wednesday.

Notwithstanding the measures taken by the police, the demonstrators attacked Jewish passers-by and smashed windows in Jewish homes and shops. The attack on the Jewish students' home was particularly severe. The police then took drastic measures, arresting 250 of the rioters.

RUTS TROUBLE AUTO DRIVERS

CARS CAN'T TURN OUT.

Many complaints are being received about the deep ruts on George and Charlotte Streets, and the failure of the Board of Works to have the intersections cut out so that a motorist may turn off the main streets. The police department has had reports of many accidents on account of these ruts in the past few days.

Service station managers and many others complain that their business is being hindered because cars and trucks cannot get into their places of business.

This morning a New Centre Meat Market truck driven by M. Legatt attempted to get into a service station on Charlotte Street. The truck became stalled in the ruts, and while there it was struck by one of W. J. Oke's trucks driven by D. Rex. Mr. Oke's truck was badly damaged around the radiator.

Last night at midnight a car jumped the ruts on the Hunter Street hill and crashed into a tree, damaging the radiator.

The ruts in front of the Canadian Packing Company are so deep that the drivers are unable to get their trucks turned, and only yesterday there was a collision there in which one car was damaged.

PROMISES EQUALITY WITHIN FEW WEEKS

LONDON, March 9. — Stanley Baldwin the first British prime minister to appear before an equal suffrage meeting, promised a vast assembly of women, representing 140 organizations last night that "in a few weeks" Parliament would grant them complete equality with men in voting privileges.

This declaration was received with frenzied cheering by the women who had met to celebrate the success of their bitter fight extending nearly 100 years.

"I have selected the home secretary to be the Joshua who shall lead you into the promised land," said Premier Baldwin, indicating that Sir William Joynson-Hicks would have charge of the franchise bill which will make the now famous slogan "votes for flappers."

Agreeing with Disraeli, who was one of the early statesmen to favor full rights of citizenship for women, the prime minister asserted that there were no grounds in logic, justice or expediency to withhold the franchise from one sex more than another.

Mr. Baldwin announced that the franchise bill will be introduced in the House of Commons on Monday. It will pass its second reading before Easter and will be completed at the earliest possible date.

Planes Test Flight Before Atlantic Hop

LONDON, March 9 (Associated Press).—A 4,000-mile flight to India as a preliminary test for an attempt to make the first flight from Europe to America in May or June is being planned by Captain Walter Hinchcliffe, noted British aviator.

Reports that the captain was about to start immediately on a flight from England to the United States with the Hon. Elsie MacKay, titled British heiress, as a passenger, brought denials both from Captain Hinchcliffe and Miss MacKay.

The captain said that he probably would start for India in about three weeks as a long preliminary test for a trans-Atlantic hop, but denied that Miss MacKay would accompany him on either attempt.

Miss MacKay, he said, has given financial support to his undertaking, and has taken part in trial flights, but that is the extent of her participation.

GIVES TALK ON LENGTHENING OF NIAGARA FALLS

W. K. Bradbury Addresses Peterborough Branch of Engineering Institute of Canada.

PRESENTATIONS MADE.

A large turnout of members of the Engineering Institute of Canada, Peterborough Branch, greeted W. K. Bradbury, of the Department of Niagara Falls Power Company, the main speaker at the regular meeting, held last evening in the Chamber of Commerce Council room. His subject, "The Lengthening of Niagara Falls," covering the proposed remedial works for the preservation of the natural beauty of the Falls, was one of the finest delivered before the local branch this year.

Presentations Made.

A. E. Caddy, M.E.I.C., presiding, introduced Mr. Bradbury after calling the meeting to order at 8.25. The chairman mentioned several communications received by the secretary and also presented to Messrs. Lowe, Hayes, and Fouckes, badges for having prepared and delivered papers before the local branch.

B. L. Barnes, in a brief address, called attention to the honor reflected upon Peterborough Branch through the paper of W. T. Fanjoy winning first prize in the competition in the student members' paper competition open to student members throughout the Dominion. In conclusion, he presented to Mr. Fanjoy a cheque for his work in the contest.

The recipient, in reply, expressed the hope that the prize might come to Peterborough again in the future. He had derived real benefit from the work of preparing the prize-winning paper.

Mr. Bradbury.

The main address of the evening proved a comprehensive survey of Niagara Falls power development, illustrated in interesting manner by slides thrown on a screen, and an outline of the various means whereby the natural beauty of the district might be preserved and even increased.

Following a number of humorous stories, Mr. Bradbury opened his address with a slide showing the Niagara Falls, and spoke of the growth of the power plants on the American side. The main part, built since the war, he explained in detail, showing the magnitude of the power wheels and general construction of the plant. These wheels, each developing 70,000 h.p., were shown, and a diagram illustrated the courses by which the water reached them—either by canal or tunnel, pictures of the latter during and at the completion of its construction, being thrown on the screen.

Pictures of other power plants, both on the Canadian and American sides, were in turn explained, and the speaker passed on to discuss the problem of preserving the natural beauty of the American and Canadian Falls. By diagrams, pictures, and finally by showing a model of the entire district, built to scale, Mr. Bradbury told of steps necessary and feasible whereby the constant wearing away of the Horseshoe Falls might be checked, and concluded by answering a number of questions from his auditors, ranging from inquiries for technical details to his opinion of the Chicago water diversion.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the speaker at the close of the meeting.

TOBACCO MAY GIVE SPLENDID RETURNS

TORONTO, March 9. — Canadian Press. — The Agricultural committee of the Ontario Legislature today heard a discourse by Prof. Leitch of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph on co-operative marketing, and in particular the growing and marketing of Ontario's newest farm product, tobacco. Properly handled, the growing and sale of tobacco in Ontario would result in a vast return to the farmers, but improperly handled the venture might result in vast losses, he said.

MEXICO RECEIVES 12 BRITISH PLANES

Will Buy More if Present Consignment Proves Satisfactory.

MEXICO CITY, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Twelve Bristol airplanes bought in Great Britain for use in the Mexican Air Force have arrived at Vera Cruz. Two other planes were sent on approval and, if satisfactory, more will be ordered.

BRITISH PREPARE AGAINST ATTACK

Aeroplanes and Armored Cars Ready To Lend Assistance To Any Threatened Point.

OUTBREAK REPORTS DENIED.

LONDON, March 9 (A.P.)—British officialdom, with characteristic English calm, last night view the "holy war" in Arabia with less concern. But dispatches from the district near the head of the Persian Gulf painted a different picture.

Official observers gave out a report that Ibn Saud, King of Hedjaz, and Sultan of the Nejd, was planning a visit to Mecca. They pointed out that the Wahabis are not friendly toward the holy city of Mohammedanism and deduce that Ibn Saud was not likely to leave Reyadh, his capital, in the centre of Arabia, if there was any immediate prospect of putting his own forces into the field.

This estimate was easily coupled with previous analyses of Ibn Saud's character, which made him out as more anxious for restoration of his yearly subsidy from the British government than for extension of his domain.

Prepare Against Attack

Dispatches from Basra, Irak, showed the British there and at Koweit preparing for possible early raids on the frontiers.

Airplanes, armored cars and transport cars have been stationed outside the walls of Koweit, ready for a dash to any threatened point and Marines and Bluejackets from a British man-o'-war are patrolling the streets daily.

Unconfirmed reports have reached Basra that the Western edge of the desert is already blazing with desert warfare, with several villages in Transjordania captured and looted by Wahabis. But nothing of that sort came from points nearer the scene.

But all officers and men of the Transjordanian garrisons who have been on leave have been recalled. Frontier patrols have been strengthened and armored cars and air reinforcements moved into the territory.

Another report said that the motor route across the Syrian desert from Bagdad to Damascus had been closed. This is the first indication that disorders were threatened that far north, although part of the route is within reach of raiders who might dash across the Arabian frontier.

Rumors Denied

JERUSALEM, March 9 (A.P.).—The Palestine government announced last night that rumors that Ibn Saud has formally declared a "holy war" against the Mohammedans of Koweit, Irak and Tansjordania lack confirmation.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY MEETS

Committees Named and Report Received From Delegate.

STIRLING, March 9.—At a meeting of the directors of the Horticultural Society held recently, the following committees were appointed: Library window boxes, Mesdames Potts, McGee, Eggleton; cemetery bed, Mesdames Walt, Ward, Bailey, Bissonnette, and Hammond; park, Mesdames Belshaw, Meiklejohn, Montgomery and Morton.

Mr. Belshaw, delegate to the convention held in Toronto, gave a report of the meetings. Reports were received from some of the canvassers showing a membership of ninety-two which will be augumented when all the reports are in. Mrs. E. T. Ward offered her flower garden for a demonstration next summer. Garden and flower seeds have been ordered and are expected in a few days. A new pole has been purchased for the swings at the public park. Lantern slides from the Experimental Farm at Ottawa, will be shown as soon as arrangements are completed.

A special meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Wednesday to make plans for the catering for the complimentary banquet which is to be given the senior hockey team.

FREED FROM THE MEDICINE HABIT

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brought welcome relief

Sufferers from constipation will be interested in Mrs. Van Horn's letter below. She wrote us, voluntarily, to express her appreciation for the wonderful results ALL-BRAN brought.

June 17, 1927

"I feel as if I must write you a few lines to let you know what a wonder food your ALL-BRAN is and what it has done for me and many others I have told about it. I have been using it for one year and have a movement every morning. Before, I was taking medicine every three or four days. Now, I never take any. Many thanks to ALL-BRAN. I can't praise it too much."

Sincerely,
Mrs. G. W. Van Horn
(Address sent on request)

Don't let constipation sap your health and strength. Headaches, dizziness, blotched complexions are only a few of the evils it causes. It is responsible for more than forty serious diseases.

Guard against it—now. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring relief. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. ALL-BRAN is a ready-to-eat cereal—100% bran. Delicious and healthful with milk or cream, or with fruit or honey added. Recipes on package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

COUNCIL MAKES GRANT TO TEAM

Stirling Hockey Club Given $75 —Institute Pays $200 for Hall.

YOUNG PEOPLE MEET

STIRLING, March 9.—At the Council meeting held recently, $75.00 was donated towards a presentation to the hockey team which had been successful in the games this season.

It was decided not to charge anything for the lights in the Presbyterian and United Church sheds. Ten dollars is offered as a reward to any one furnishing sufficient evidence to convict anyone of doing damage to public or private property within the corporation. Accounts to the amount of $300.23, were ordered to be paid.

The resignation of Mrs. R. W. Meiklejohn, president of the Women's Institute, was accepted with regret at the last meeting, Mrs. M. W. Sine, vice-president, presiding. The West Hastings institute, of which Stirling is a branch, is furnishing bedding for several cots in the Children's Shelter at Belleville. A communication was received on this matter and $5.00 was voted towards it. A communication was also received from the managers of the Coe Hill Hospital requesting aid. This will be considered at a future meeting. Councillor D. Meiklejohn was present regarding the new town building, and the first installment of the $1,000 promised which is $200, was voted for this purpose.

The program consisted of readings by Mrs. James Lagrow, and Miss Geva Spry, and a contest arranged by Mrs. Bissonnette. The program for the April meeting will be given by the grandmothers of the Institute.

Mrs. Andrew McGee entertained the members of the St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid at her home on the 3rd concession of Rawdon recently. About forty were present and the afternoon was spent in quilting, rug making and other work. The treasurer reported $11.00 added to the treasury. Lunch was served by the hostess at the close of the afternoon.

James Vanderwater had charge of the program at the last meeting of the League of St. Paul's United Church, while John Thompson gave the talk on "The Man of the Plough" and Mr. Halpenny spoke on "Thrift." Others taking part were: Mrs. J. G. Butler, a solo; prayer by Rev. C. W. Barrett, while Harry Hulin presided. A spelling contest closed the meeting.

Miss Frieda Matthews presided at the weekly meeting of the Guild of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and the topic "What is attractive in the life of Christ for young people?" was taken by Mrs. Molan. Rev. A. N. Reid continued his talk on teacher training. Solos were given by Mrs. Mosher and Miss Ruth Gibson. An advertising contest closed the program.

The services were resumed in St. John's Anglican Church on Sunday. They had been withheld for some time owing to the illness of the rector, Rev. B. F. Byers.

The roads were almost filled by the drifting snow the first of the week, but Hiram Dafoe was on his job early and ploughed the drifts on the Marmora road making it passable for automobiles again.

Personals.

A very successful tea was held at the home of Mrs. Claude Tucker on Tuesday, under the auspices of the Ladies' Union of St. Paul's United Church.

Mr. Charles VanAllen of Warkworth was a recent visitor to town.

Messrs. K. I. and R. C. Sine of Sine were visitors to Peterborough last week.

DEBATERS UPHOLD FOREIGN MISSIONS

NORWOOD, March 9.—"Resolved that Home Missions are more beneficial than Foreign Missions", was the subject of an interesting debate given in the Presbyterian Sunday School room on Monday evening by the young people of the Baptist and Presbyterian Churches. Leita Baker and Clifford Fife of the B.Y.P.U. upheld the affirmative side, while Perrin Rork and Annie Ferguson, on the negative representing the Presbyterian. The judges, the Rev. Mr. Fenton, the Rev. Mr. MacLennan, and the Rev. Mr. Aitkens, gave their decision in favour of the negative side.

The Dartford Dramatic Club gave the play entitled "Wanted—A Wife" in the Town Hall recently, under the auspices of the Y.W.A. of the United Church. The proceeds which included the sale of home-made cooking amounted to a very good sum.

Personals.

Mrs. A. Nixon and Mrs. J. Rothwell spent Friday in Peterborough.

Miss Jean Puffer, R.N., is in the village nursing her father, Mrs. H. Puffer, who has been ill.

Mrs. J. Riseborough has returned from Toronto, where she attended the provincial Prohibition Convention.

APSLEY ISOLATED FOR SEVERAL DAYS

Sunday's Storm Blocks Roads Until Wednesday—Stage Gets Through.

APSLEY, March 9.—The worst blizzard in many years struck Apsley on Sunday, and as a result the village has been for a few days completely isolated, the roads being absolutely impassable. The drifts were packed so hard that snow ploughs were of no use. The stage did not go out until Wednesday, and as it is very probable it cannot make the trip to Lakefield in one day and back the next under present conditions, Apsley will likely be without mail for nearly a week altogether. The high wind continued from Saturday until Monday, with a blinding snow storm for four hours on Sunday, followed by the low temperature of 27 below zero on Monday night.

Logger Hurt.

Herbert Tucker met with a painful accident last week while logging, he stumbled and fell across a log striking his knee against a sharp knot which penetrated his knee cap. The injury is very painful and it is feared that some splinters still remain imbeded in the bone.

Seek Fair Ground.

A meeting of the directors of the Agricultural Society was held on Saturday evening when the matter of securing a fair ground was discussed. Several propositions were considered and it is likely that arrangements will be made to lease a desirable site. It was decided to ask for tenders of 300 cedar posts and 150 poles for the purpose of erecting a fence on the proposed ground. The following directors were chosen as the executive committee. The president, secretary, and Messrs. J. Tucker, Vernal Windsor, and Archie Downing.

TALK ON READING GIVEN AT MARMORA

Literary and Social Society Holds Interesting Meeting.

MARMORA, March 9.—What for the present, will be known as the Marmora Literary and Social Society, held its third meeting on Wednesday evening. A talk on "Reading", was given by H. W. Sabine, under seven headings, educational, vocational, reading for information, reading for information, reading which promotes culture, and reading for spiritual development. Rev. C. J. Beckly and F. S. Pearce took part in the discussion which ensued. Rev. C. J. Beckly won in the intelligence test given by F. S. Pearce, which required the answering of thirty questions. Games were played after which lunch was served.

This society meets twice a month and has a growing membership. The officers are: President, Rev. C. J. Beckley; secretary, W. Senton; treasurer, Miss Elsie Williams; executive, F. S. Pearce, A. R. Miller, Mrs. D. Thomson and Miss M. Tapper. A debate bearing upon the equality of the sex, is an attraction for March 21.

Continuing his Lenten course of sermons, the Rector took "The Christian's Creed" as his subject at St. Paul's on Wednesday evening.

Deloro Troop of Boy Scouts held a pleasant sleighing party to Malone on Tuesday evening, one of the company's teams being loaned for the occasion.

Captain J. MacDonald of the Navy League made his annual visit to Marmora on Tuesday and to Deloro the following day.

Mr. J. J. Dale is still showing slight improvement in his condition.

BRIDGE BILL PASSES.

OTTAWA, Mar. 8. — (Canadian Press.)— The bill of the St. Clair Transit Company for the right to construct a bridge over the St. Clair River was passed by the Private Bills Committee of the Commons yesterday. Two other companies seeking similar rights are also before the House and opposed the application.

MANY END COLDS BY NOVEL METHOD

Relieved Overnight By Using Quick Remedy Endorsed For Home Use By Hospital.

Head colds and chest colds can now be ended quickly—often overnight—by the unique double action of a home remedy now recommended by doctors at the hospital. And druggists here say that vast numbers of Peterborough people, like Mrs. Edna Muse, have found that it quickly drives out a stubborn cold, even in severe cases where every well known remedy used had failed.

Doctors at the hospital were called for advice when Mrs. Muse's cold grew worse, causing fear of pneumonia. They immediately advised Cherry Pectoral—a concentrated mixture of ingredients which hospitals have found to be the quickest, safest and most dependable to end a cold. Almost instantly she felt the comforting, healing warmth —from her nose passages deep down into her chest. In a few hours she was greatly relieved and in another day or so was entirely rid of her cold.

Note: Other cases reported daily —all certified by the physicians who treated each case.

Doctors find that this hospital medicine does far more than stop coughing instantly. It is absorbed by the whole system. This quickly checks phlegm, heals irritation and drives out the cold from the nose passages, throat and chest.

A VETERAN RETIRING.

The intimation from Belleville of the impending retirement of J. D. O'Dan'l MacMillan, veteran superintendent of the Belleville division of the Canadian National Railways, will be read with interest by the very many Peterborough people to whom "Dan" MacMillan has long been a familiar figure.

Nearly fifty-three years of faithful service is his railway record during the course of a picturesque career in which he climbed from water boy to divisional superintendent.

Should Mr. MacMillan choose to write his memoirs of his railway experience the book would be a first-hand history of railroading in this section of Ontario, extending back over half a century, and what a wealth of color the veteran could put into such a history!

He is known all over the division and liked wherever he is known.

Peterborough people who remember him as conductor of the Peterborough-Toronto train years ago and have watched his work as divisional superintendent will join with his friends everywhere in extending best wishes to Mr. MacMillan.

He will retire holding the esteem of his superior officers, the liking of all those who served under him, and the affection of a host of friends and acquaintances.

CANADA'S DEATH TOLL FROM FIRE

Yesterday's poignant tragety at Beauce, Quebec, when a woman, her eight children and her father-in-law were burned to death in their home, following one a couple of days earlier in which four little ones succumbed, are further reminders that though fire is perhaps man's greatest friend, it can also be a terrible foe. Every winter in Canada, during periods of intense cold, scores of lives are wiped out by fire; sometimes in schools; sometimes hospitals; more often homes. Always it is the same story. In their efforts to protect themselves from cold, people build fires which, inadequately controlled, result in destroyed shelters and the most horrible of deaths. There is a record almost daily in The Journal's news columns of such dreadful tragedies.

The lamentable thing is that there does not seem to be any effective means to entirely eliminate such tragedies. Public buildings, schools, churches and hospitals, may become subject to precautionary measures by the authorities, but it is difficult, if not impossible, to extend such protection to the homes of individuals in the rural districts. And carelessness is of the very essence of human nature.

Still, it might be advisable for authorities, during periods of extreme cold, to issue warnings to people to exercise the maximum of caution in heating their homes. It might not influence everybody, but if it reduced by even a fraction the number of tragedies that occur each winter, it would be more than worthwhile.—Ottawa Journal.

MORE INSPECTORS NEEDED.

The Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Associatiin in urging the appointment of three permanent overseers to serve under Captain Carson, the present inspector in this district, are suggesting the only logical way to protect the fish and game of this section of Ontario.

Under the system at present in force it was manifestly impossible for one official to adequately cope with the poachers and to prevent widespread violations of the regulations.

To patrol the area under Inspector Carson's supervision with any degree of thoroughness more men are needed, and they will save their salaries many times over every spawning season when illegal fishing does infinite harm.

Appeals to the common sense of the offenders have failed; and the only course that remains is to make illegal fishing such a costly practice that those who have been guilty of it in the past will decide that it will pay to observe the law.

This lesson cannot be taught unless the enforcement of the regulations is assigned to a staff large enough to get results; certainly nothing like adequate protection can be expected until the force of overseers is able to cover the territory more frequently and more thoroughly.

The Association should put all possible weight behind its resolution.

A NECESSARY ACT.

Hon. W. H. Price's long-awaited Blue Sky Bill has at last been brought down in the Legislature.

The Attorney-General has evidently given this most important question much study in an effort to produce a measure that would protect the people of Ontario from the activities of unscrupulous salesmen of doubtful stocks, and the bill he has introduced in the Legislature not only includes the best features of the much-praised Martin Act of New York State and of other blue sky acts from many other States of the Union, but also contains "certain ideas of our own gained through experience in Ontario."

A study of the measure shows that it requires all brokers and salesmen to register, and gives the Attorney-General's Department sweeping powers of investigation when fraud or deception is suspected.

A really effective blue sky law is a piece of legislation that presents obvious difficulties in its framing and in its operation.

The new Ontario Act may not be perfect, but at least it represents a much greater restriction than has hitherto been provided, and will supply the public with considerable protection against the fraudulent stocks and bonds that have flooded this Province.

The danger is that people may be led to think that every security allowed to go on sale in Ontario under the new Act can be counted upon as a profitable investment.

No opportunity of enlightening the public on this point should be missed.

LET THE BUYER BEWARE—OF HIMSELF.

Before the days of Rotarian virtue, the expression, "Let the buyer beware," is said to have been a salutary maxim. Its implication was directed at the other party to a business transaction, and doubtless the party of the second part was likewise mindful of its warning. Hence, it had a reciprocal cautionary effect.

Today, it may be said to have the old force, but with a reversed application. And slightly revised, it is offered to the susceptible public as "Let the buyer beware of himself." In this day of prolific invention and prodigious production it seems that never before was the pay cheque and salary envelope so desperately assailed. The woods are full of persuasive salesmen. Among them are the high-pressure, one-call, and some times none too scrupulous gentry, but the salesman who is in business to stay, and the business house that appoints him, desire above all to win a favorable impression that will be permanent, and to sell their goods on the basis of the buyer's needs.

Of course, it is the individual salesman's job to demonstrate that his goods fall within the category of the buyer's needs. The automobile salesman urges the purchase of a new car for your family's larger share of fresh air, for the pleasures of motoring in May and in October when the woods are all aflame, and the mid-summer when the city is sultry and the lakes beckon. The electric washer man says his machine will make life easier for your wife and will preserve her good looks. The piano salesman advises you that your children need the means for developing their talents and expressing their individualities. The radio salesman offers you a wealth of diversion, and the insurance man reminds you that you should save for your old age and provide protection for your loved ones.

Salesmen today were never so numerous, and when were they so fluent and their wares so tempting? Many of their articles belong to the new and higher standard of living, and on that standard these goods are becoming commonplace. Seemingly everybody, or nearly everybody, has them, and, if you haven't, you may feel or appear out of step with the progress of this age.

TELLS AMERICA WHAT IT NEEDS.

"What America needs more than railway extension and western irrigation and a low tariff and a bigger wheat crop, and a merchant marine, and a new navy, is a revival of piety, the kind father and mother used to have, a piety that counted it good business to stop for family prayer before breakfast, that quit work half an hour earlier Thursday night, so as to get the chores done, and go to prayer meeting, that prayed fervently for the salvation of the rich man, who looked with scorn on such unbusinesslike behaviour. That's what we need to clean this country of graft and greed, petty and big; of worship of fine houses and big lands and high office and grand social functions."

Thus the old question is revived: Is the world getting better at all? There are a great many people who think that it is. The viewpoint of the Wall Street Journal is probably taken too close to Wall Street where but an infinitesimal few people of the American Continent operate. The home in this country or in the United States is not disrupted. We believe there is still piety to be found in Canada. There are tendencies in the modern age which require some checking up, but there have been such tendencies in all ages. We have only to read of the profligacy which was rampant in England by the well-to-do, in certain times, and not very remote times either. The Old Country today is taking to outdoor sport as never before and all classes participate. Our young people have all the advantages of the new age, and while there may be sinners among them, they too are in the infinitesimal minority. Our young men, as shown in the war, are just as capable of great deeds of sacrifice and heroism as those in any past age, and our women folk proved their worth to the race in that greatest of all conflicts. The truth of the matter is that big city life in America is not indicative of how other millions are living. If it were a reflex, then there might be some reason for abandoning hope.—St. Catharines Standard.

LUXURIES AND LABOR.

The standard of living in North America has much to do with employment, although, strange to say, the beneficiaries often seem to be among the last to recognize that economic truth. The other day one of the executive officers of an important organized labor group made public his objections to the pomp which marks the opening of Parliament at Ottawa. The point of his complaint was that, while men were waiting for a snowfall to earn their daily bread, soldiers had turned out in their fur bushies, ladies had passed in wearing "pounds of jewelry," and dignitaries had appeared in silk stockings. "Any man who wears silk stockings," he observed with indignation, "should get a swift kick."

This critic seems to have quite overlooked the fact that the making of silk stockings gives employment to many thousands of working people. And so it is with all luxuries, even the "pounds of jewelry." The social and economic fabric would be wrecked tomorrow, if it were decreed today that all human standards of living were to be reduced to the stern basis of utility, and the chief sufferers from such a cataclysm would be the men and women who earn their bread by making things that could not be classified as necessities.

This high scale of living in rich America also has much to do with the consumption of what the farmer produces. For example, the meat used per capita in Canada and the United States is the highest in the world. It represents an average of 183 pounds, as compared with 127 in Great Britain, 95 in Germany, 115 in France, 48 in Italy and 5 in Japan. America also leads in the number of telephones, radio sets and automobiles per 1,000 inhabitants, all of which are in the nature of luxuries. Yet if life here were reduced to a plane in which all unnecessary things were discarded, two-thirds of all workers would be without jobs. It is in the buying of special comforts that wealth is diffused through scores of channels, so that the grumbling of this labor leader was really the unthinking utterance of a man who had not studied economics.—Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Pedlars seem to be causing as much trouble in the Legislature as they do at the front door.

The only people who should be blue over the Blue Sky Bill are the salesmen of dubious stocks.

Nova Scotia has adopted a five-cent gasoline tax, following the example of Quebec. Mr. Ferguson is being furnished with plenty of precedents to justify a higher tax in Ontario.

One of the burning questions of the day in the Legislature seems to be whether the people of North Bay take it or leave it alone.

National advertisers in the United States spent $225,000,000 for newspaper advertising last year. Big business knows the most effective way of reaching the people.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., March 9 (Canadian Press). — Little business was transacted with foreign buyers in grain here yesterday, but there was a steady demand from local sources for car lots of oats and a moderate trade was done. The undertone was firm.

Prices for all grades of spring and winter wheat flour were well maintained under a quiet demand.

An active business was again done in all lines of millfeed and prices were unchanged. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was quiet, but prices ruled firm.

A feature of the potato trade was the stronger feeling that development and prices for Quebec varieties were advanced five cents per bag. This was attributed to the steady increase in the demand.

The market for imported beans was again active and firm. Sales of car lots of choice white hand-picked were made at $3.50 per bushel, ex-track, and broken lots at $3.60 per bushel, ex-store. Demand for boiling peas was fair at $3.15 to $3.25 per bushel ex-store.

The demand for all grades of fresh eggs continued active and prices were firmly maintained. Storage eggs were firm with little demand. The receipts were 1,945 cases.

Further strength developed in the butter market and values were marked up ¾c to 1c per pound which was attributed to the continued good demand. The receipts were 1,039 packages.

Owing to the limited quantity of cheese now available on spot, a stronger feeling prevailed in the local market and prices advanced ½c per lb. The receipts were 61 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Widespread rain falling over domestic winter wheat territory and dispelling dry weather complaints led to lower prices yesterday for wheat. Farm reserve figures from Washington which came after the close were construed as bullish on corn, but about as expected relative to wheat.

The finish for wheat yesterday was unsettled, ¾ cent to 1⅝ cents net lower, with corn unchanged to ⅝ cent up, oats ⅛ to ¼ cent to ½ cent off, and provisions to 17 to 20 cents down.

In addition to general rains helpful to winter wheat in many states, reports that spring wheat shipments by rail from Minneapolis to Chicago were being arranged did a good deal to pull down the wheat market here. Besides, Kansas City was said to be offering No. 2 hard wheat to come here, and the Liverpool market was quite unresponsive to Wednesday's price advances on this side of the Atlantic. Spreaders also were selling wheat against purchases of corn.

Under such circumstances, late dealings in wheat failed to give any indication of immediate rallying power in the market, although trade was of good volume, with commission house interest broad.

Export business yesterday in wheat from North America was estimated at 800,000 bushels, about 200,000 bushels of rye was also taken yesterday for Europe.

Corn traders pointed out after the close that the government reported on farm reserves of corn were 11,000,000 bushels under the average of private estimates and were likewise 74,000,000 bushels under the average of the last five years. Meanwhile less favorable weather for corn movement was a bullish factor in yesterday's market.

Oats reserve stocks on farms, as shown by the government report, are 8,000,000 bushels above private returns. Word that some seeding of oats has been done in Illinois attracted notice yesterday, but prices were governed a good deal by the action of corn.

Provisions inclined downward. Houses with foreign connections were sellers to a moderate extent.

Wise and Otherwise

Church services over the radio never will be a success until the announcer tells what kind of hats and gowns the ladies are wearing.

They've dug up Queen Shub-ad, buried in Ur of the Chaldees 5000 years ago, and she was wearing a wig. Probably the queen had been reading about the passing of the flapper and decided to "let it grow."

It's an ill wind that leaves a tire flat.

Today's Market.

GOD'S MINUTE

Ask of God, and He will give it Thee.—John 11:22.

Our Father, we thank Thee for the home with its protection and loving fellowship. Whatever else it may or may not be rich in, make it rich in the presence of Thy Holy Spirit in fulness and power.

Forgive and forget, we beseech Thee, for the sake of our Saviour and Thy dear Son, the sins of our lives, and cleanse us in His precious Blood.

Send each one of us forth filled with the spirit of our Master, which is the spirit of unselfish service. Strengthen us to do every proper task, teach us to be kind and helpful to others in Christ's name, make of us blessed channels of Thy mercies, and lead us into that pathway of life in which we can best glorify Thee and serve our fellowmen.

Make our home life continually more Christ-like, and may our life as well as our individual lives react for good on all with whom we come in contact. Hasten, through the service of our lives, the coming of Thy world-wide Kingdom, and the crowning of King Jesus, in Whose Name we pray. Amen.

A Thought

HEIGHTS.

There is room for the best to be better and they become so only through struggle and failure. The ideal seems to recede as we advance, and height to rise over height till we would fain rest rather than climb. Two natures wrestle in our breasts, and at no age more fiercely than in our youth. As it is decided then, as a rule, continues, both light and darkness. Love seeks victory to report to heaven; sin seeks a slave, to be at her will forever. Truth and falsehood, love and hate, heaven and hell, the devil and God, meet in the dawning man as they do nowhere else.

SPEAKER DESCRIBES NATIONAL GALLERY

Miss S. A. Tomkins Addresses Members of Art Study Club.

Speaking about the National Gallery of London, England, Miss S. A. Tomkins gave a very interesting and detailed description of this famous place at the meeting this week of the Art Study Club of the Women's Art Association, held at the residence of Mrs. J. Z. R. Munro.

"There were many private art collections in England before any move was made toward establishing a National Gallery. Charles First had a magnificent collection of paintings, but when the Roundheads came into power they burned and destroyed nearly all artistic work, claiming it encouraged superstition.

"The first proposal for a National Gallery was made by a Commoner in Parliament, who moved that the Houghton collection be purchased and a building erected. No action resulted, and the collection went to Russia. A quarter of a century later another collection that had been gathered for a Polish National Gallery was thrown back on the agent's hands and was offered to England. Again, no action was taken. However, these paintings were not lost to England, as they are now in the Dulwich Gallery. Nearly fifty years after the first proposal was made another collection of painting was on the market, owing to the death of the owner. John Augerstein, a Russian, who became a London merchant. His collection was purchased by Parliament in 182. for the sum of £57,000, and so the National gallery was born and in the century of its life has grown to noble stature.

"This collection is said to be the largest and most comprehensive of its kind in the world and growth does not cease. As the British Museum is an emporium of all the knowledge of all the ages the world, so the National Gallery has its share of all the art of all the ages of all the world, and both are there for the use of the world, exemplifying the spirit of Britain—Service for Others.

"The first gift was made by Sir George Beaumont, who contributed sixteen paintings from his collection, just two years after the Gallery was begun. The Gallery was only twenty-seven years old when Turner bequeathed his work to it, consisting of over one hundred finished and one hundred and eighty-two unfinished paintings, also over nineteen thousand drawings and sketches.

"Colonel West left half a million pounds to the Gallery; Layard gave his collection of Italian work, while the Alfred Mond and Lord Iveagh bequests were valuable additions. There is also a fund which provides $150,000 to be spent each year for five painting by British artists painted in Britain, thus providing stimulus for the cultivation of art at home.

"The European galleries are mainly established and built up by royalty, but this one is really the child of the whole nation. In 1838 the building was erected, and one hundred and fifty paintings were hung in it. Now there are over four thousand. Many rooms have been added and it is now a large pile. In 1890 Sir Henry Tate offered to erect a building to house his own paintings, and large enough to take in the British paintings from the gallery in Trafalgar Square. This offer was accepted and the two now form the National Gallery of Britain."

Miss Tomkins went on to outline various rules in connection with the gallery and to describe in interesting detail, the works of the great masters of paintings which are housed in London's National Gallery of Art.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JESUS FEEDS THE MULTITUDES

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for March 11. Jesus Feeds the Multitudes. Mark 6:31-44.

Text: Mark 6:31-44.

And he said unto them, Come ye yourselves apart into a desert place, and rest a while for there were many coming and going, and they had no leisure so much as to eat.

And they departed into a desert place by ship privately.

And the people saw them departing, and many knew him, and ran afoot thither out of all cities, and outwent them, and came together unto him.

And Jesus, when he came out, saw much people, and was moved with compassion toward them, because they were as sheep not having a shepherd; and he began to teach them many things.

And when the day was now far spent, his disciples came unto him, and said, This is a desert place, and now the time is far passed

Send them away, that they may go into the villages, and buy themselves bread for they have nothing to eat.

He answered and said unto them, Give ye them to eat. And they say unto him, Shall we go and buy two hundred pennyworth of bread, and give them to eat?

He saith unto them. How many loaves have ye? go and see. And when they knew, they say, Five, and two fishes.

And he commanded them to make all sit down by companies upon the green grass.

And they sat down in ranks, by hundreds, and by fifties.

And when he had taken the five loaves and the two fishes, he looked up to heaven, and blessed, and brake the loaves, and gave them to his disciples to set before them; and the two fishes divided he among them all.

And they did all eat, and were filled.

And they took up twelve baskets full of the fragments, and of the fishes.

And they that did eat of the loaves were about five thousand men.

The chief danger in studying a lesson like this is that our attention shall be too greatly fixed upon the marvel of feeding five thousand people with five loaves and two fishes.

This, incidentally, was exactly the complaint that Jesus made, according to the record of Scripture, against the people of old. They were so obsessed with the material aspect of the miracle that they missed the lesson of Christ's compassion and his wonder-working power.

"Ye seek me," he said, "not because ye saw the miracle, but because ye did eat of the loaves and were filled." What a reproach that men in the presence of some real wonder should miss the greatness and beauty of the Master himself! Yet it is precisely the danger that confronts us as we read this narrative today.

Its Significance.

So we must come from consideration of the miracle in its outward and material form to its symbolic significance in the world of spiritual truth and to what it emphasizes in relation to our Master and his mission upon earth. Here the facts are all clear and decisive.

Back of such a miracle as this is the profound fact of the compassion of our Lord and of interest in the masses of the people as the deepest thing in his earthly life and in his revelation of grace.

To Abraham Lincoln is ascribed the well-known saying, "The Lord must have loved the common people; he made so many of them."

And beside that fine saying of a great democratic saint we must put the simple record of Scripture concerning Jesus, "The common people heard him gladly."

Why did the common people hear him gladly? Because they sensed his profound interest in them and his compassionate love. There is no more significant passage in the New Testament, or in all literature, than the record concerning Jesus, "But when he saw the multitude he was moved with compassion on them because they fainted and were scattered abroad as sheep having no shepherd." (Matthew 9 26.)

One of Life's Crosses.

I recently talked with a man who had suffered the cruelest blow that it seems can come to one, the loss of his only son just as the boy was facing the larger experiences of college and opportunities and responsibilities of life. Only one who has passed through the agony of such an experience can sense its meaning, and it is futile for one who has never thus suffered to hope to bring into such an experience the note of a clear hope and triumphant faith.

In the presence of Christ who suffered, who gave his life in obedience to the Father's love that we may live is there not some message for the sorely stricken human soul?

The mysteries of life and death are not made plain to us; the veil is never entirely rent in twain; and yet in this larger mystery of the cross, of that strange law of life and blessing through suffering that runs through the whole tragic and glorious history of humanity, we do find the strength to see the lesser mysteries of our own experience in a new perspective and with a larger hope.

MINES.

F. G. Oke and Company wire as follows:

Toronto, March 9.—The stock to make a strong advance on the mining market this morning was that of Malartic. The rise is most likely a result of exploration of the 130-foot level when the downward extension of an important vein showing on surface is believed to have been encountered showing good gold values. According to reliable information work so far on this level has encountered an important ore zone showing a width of at least 20 feet in which mineable widths of ore have been disclosed with gold values as high as $25 per ton. The rest of the market remained firm, while the market leaders seems in consistent demand.

Little news of importance seems to be on the street, yet a feeling of optimism regarding the future trend of the market still prevails.

Higher prices are predicted by those experienced minor traders and others who ought to be in a position to know, and we are of the opinion that those buying at prevailing prices, active and meritorious issues will certainly have very appreciable profits in their stock commitments during the next few months.

Toronto Market Firm But Trading Is Light

TORONTO, March 9 (Canadian Press).—General firmness in very light trading characterized this morning's session of the Toronto Stock Exchange, with International Nickel the market leader. Nickel improved more than a point at 83¾. The strongest spot, however, was Dominion Stores, which recorded another gain of 3¾ at 121¾. Goodyear regained a good half of its twelve point loss yesterday, coming back to 144. Most other issues were unchanged. British American Oil firmed an eighth at 35½, with Imperial and International Petroleum steady.

Corn Prices Move Up While Wheat Holds Firm

CHICAGO, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Active trading in corn and sharply higher prices developed early to-day on account of the unexpected bullish aspect of the Government report regarding farm reserves. Besides, weather conditions were unfavorable for corn movement. Starting at ½ cent to 1 cent gain, corn subsequently showed decided further upturns. Wheat also developed strength opening at 1-8 to ½ cent higher, and afterwards hardening a little more. Oats were firm. Provisions held about steady.

Opening prices were: Wheat, March 138½, May 137 7-8; corn, March 96, May 98 7-8; oats, March 56 7-8, May 57½.

Mine Market Irregular With Losses in Majority

TORONTO, Mar. 9. — (Canadian Press.)— The market was irregular on the standard mining exchange to-day with losses slightly outnumbering the gains. Teck Hughes lost about half a dollar around 8.60, but otherwise the recessions were small. Sudbury Basin began strong around 975, but eased back to 930. Dome weakened to 10.25 at one point but largely recovered. Bidgood was the strong spot in the Kirklands, closing steady at noon around 90. Barry Hollinger firmed to 102, with Wright Hargreaves 526 and Lake Shore 24.15, a little easier. Malartic was the Quebec leader with an advance past the dollar mark. Noranda firmed at 19.50 but Amulet weakened to 4.15. Nipissing lost some of yesterday's gain at 505 to-day, with Mining Corporation, Hudson Bay and Sherritt consequently lower. Pend O'Reille, however, firmed to 17.75.

General Motors Leads In Sensational Advance

NEW YORK, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Establishing a new high record for the sixth consecutive session, General Motors Common with another sensational gain of more than six points at 157, led another spirited advance in to-day's stock market. Early gains in some of the high-priced specialties ran from three to ten points, with at least thirty issues at new high levels for year or longer. Trading was conducted at a terrific pace, with indications that the day's sales would run around 3,000,000 shares.

The buying movement was based on two important developments, the unexpected decrease of more than $26,000,000 in brokers' loans and the announcement that General Motors executives, through their securities corporation, had purchased a block of 200,000 shares of General Motors Common for approximately $30,000,000 in cash, or about $150 a share. "Bears" who sold stocks short on the theory that the loans would show a sizeable increase, beat an urgent retreat while small speculators followed the lead of General Motors executives in purchasing more of the corporation's stock.

"I wish I'd known"

There's always a new experience ahead—something you haven't done before and which calls for a decision.

You become engaged—and immediately you are called upon to decide on the purchase of many, many things you never bought before.

You marry—and furniture, draperies, silverware, china, talking machines, oil-burners, gas-stoves, automobiles claim your dollars and call for your choice.

A baby comes—and again you face a new experience in purchasing clothes and powders and blankets; in buying a crib, baby-carriage, foods, toys.

Next—what school? For the years pass incredibly fast. Once more, a new decision.

Every room in your house requires a choice. Every meal served in your dining-room results from your having decided on what to serve. Every day confronts you with a multitude of possibilities from which you must select those which make life happier and better, and make the dollars go farther.

How on earth are you going to make those decisions? How can you know what you want and what you don't want? How can you buy to such advantage that you'll seldom, if ever, have occasion to use that futile phrase, "I wish I'd bought something else?"

Read the advertisements—read them carefully. The advertisements are an encyclopaedia of news and information on the things you want and need.

STERILIZATION NOT CONSIDERED

Federal Health Officials Not Thinking of National Enforcement.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 9. Canadian Press. — Sexual sterilization of the feeble-minded as a federal measure has not been considered by the Dominion Department of Health, it was stated to-day. Such a measure would doubtless arouse a great deal of opposition in many parts of Canada in the opinion of one of the officials of the department expressed when the action of the Alberta legislature in passing sterilization bills, and the proposed action of the Manitoba Legislature was referred to him.

LINERS COLLIDE; ONE GOES DOWN

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 9 (Canadian Press). — The Munson liner Hermis sank in the Mississippi River below here to-day after a collision with the Norwegian steamer Modemi, according to reports reaching here. The Munson officer reported that all the members of the crew of their ship were taken aboard the Modemi, which, badly damaged, is being towed to New Orleans. The collision occurred during a dense fog.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1927-28 by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1927, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 18

A question that is always difficult to decide arises when the opponents have made a bid that you feel sure you can defeat and yet you have such great help for your partner's bid that you feel sure you can go game at his bid. Shall you double and play for the penalty or shall you help your partner's bid and try for game?

The correct solution of this question is very difficult at times, but as a rule is governed by definite facts. When you are sure of game, don't double unless sure of at least 200 points. When you are sure of a rubber game, don't double unless sure of at least 300 points. These values may vary at times but as a rule they are the proper rules to consider when you have a chance to double your opponents or go game. The following hand is a good example:

Hearts — 8, 6, 5, 3, 2
Clubs — J
Diamonds — K, Q, 7
Spades — J, 8, 7, 3

A B
Z

Answer to Problem No. 19

Hearts — none
Clubs — A
Diamonds — 7, 5, 4, 3
Spades — K, J, 8, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2

A B
Z

Hearts — 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 4
Clubs — none
Diamonds — A, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 6
Spades — none

No score, rubber game. Z dealt, bid one heart, A bid three spades, Y four clubs and B four diamonds. Z now bid five clubs, A five diamonds, Y six clubs and B six diamonds. Z doubled and all passed. Z opened the king of hearts which B trumped in A's hand with the trey of diamonds, Y playing the five of hearts. B now led the deuce of spades from A's hand, trumping in his own hand with the six of diamonds. On this trick, Y played the seven and Z the ace of spades. What deductions should B make from the bidding and the cards played on the first two tricks and then how should he plan the play so as to make six odd?

This is a very interesting problem, because it can be solved if the deductions made by B after trick 2 are those which are the most likely to be correct. Let us take them one by one.

1. A and B hold eleven diamonds. Y and Z hold two between them. As Z doubled "Six Diamonds," it is likely that he holds both, viz.: the king and deuce, and that Y is void in the suit.

2. Z played the ace of spades on the first round of the suit, although a trump had already been played by B. It is therefore a singleton, and Y holds four spades.

3. Z bid "One Heart." He, therefore, is likely to hold five. He would have pre-empted if he had held six. B has six hearts and A none. Y therefore has two.

4. Z's hand must therefore contain one spade, five hearts, two diamonds and five clubs. Y's hand holds four spades, two hearts, no diamonds, and seven clubs.

5. B hopes that Z holds A, K, Q, J, x of hearts. If so, he can make his contract. The following is the play:

At trick 3, B leads the ten of hearts; Z covers, and A trumps. A leads the ace of clubs and B trumps. At trick 5, B leads the nine of hearts; Z covers, and A trumps. A then leads a spade and B trumps with the ace of diamonds. At trick 7, B leads the eight of hearts and A makes his remaining trump. Z can now make the king of diamonds, but no other trick. It may be that one of Y's two hearts is an honor — perhaps the jack — and if so, B solves the problem by trumping trick 3, whether Z covers or not.

This problem is of value in showing how a little clear thinking at the right moment (in this case when Z's ace of spades was played at trick 2) is all that is required to make a good player.

Z's Hand
Hearts — A, K, Q, J, 2
Clubs — 8, 7, 6, 4, 3
Diamonds — K, 2
Spades — A

Y's Hand
Hearts — 5, 3
Clubs — K, Q, J, 10, 9, 5, 2
Diamonds — none
Spades — Q, 10, 9, 7

BLIZZARD SWEEPS SOUTHERN ONTARIO

Blocks Traffic On Highways— No Delay To Rail

TORONTO, March 9 (Canadian Press). — Heavy snow, swept along by a forty-mile-an-hour gale, effectually blocked traffic on many southern Ontario highways to-day, and although the snow ceased to fall later in the day, there was no moderation in the wind. Up to the present no serious delays have been reported by steam or electric transportation companies, as all the snow plows have been in operation since early morning.

U.S. COASTGUARDS SEIZE ALE AND CARS

Wound One of Three Rum Runners Arrested Near Buffalo.

BUFFALO, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Coast guardsmen wounded one alleged rum runner, captured him and two others, and seized three automobiles and ninety cases of alleged ale in the town of Somerset on Lake Ontario today. The men are Eddy Lang, Lasalle, shot in the arm when he tried to escape; John Burke, Lockport, and a man described as Luther.

Dynamite In Pipe Being Cut By Torch

LONDON, March 9 (Canadian Press).—Employees of a local boiler factory had a narrow escape here yesterday when they started to cut a piece of pipe, in which two packages of dynamite had been placed for storage, with an acetylene torch. A telephone call from the owners of the pipe stopped them just as one package became blackened with the heat from the torch.

TELLERS THEFTS TOTAL $147,000

Trust Company Employee Charged With Taking $79,000.

REMANDED FOR WEEK.

TORONTO, March 9 (Canadian Press). — The thefts against two young tellers, Cecil Laughlin and Norman Bray, arrested three weeks ago, now total $147,000, according to the charges read when they appeared in court today. They were remanded until March 16. Laughlin, a trust company teller, is charged with the theft of $79,172, and Bray, a Standard Bank teller, with theft from the bank of $68,999.

to the fact that only small ships, with ten per cent. of their carrying power forfeited so that they might fight the inevitable ice, could be used. Absence of bird and animal life to any great extent is indicative of a poor supply of fish in the cold waters. However, he did feel that in his territory the mineral wealth—copper, iron, and gold—would be sought, while the raising of domesticated reindeer might reach the proportions of an industry. In conclusion, he wished his hearers to realize that the Eskimos are bright and intelligent, a worthy race of true men and true Canadians if given the opportunity.

The vote of thanks to Miss Scott and Mr. Walton was ably moved by Jack Comstock. Incidentally, announcement was made of Mr. Walton's address in All Saints' Church to-night. The meeting closed with a verse of "O Canada."

Among the guests at to-day's luncheon were William Gladstone Walton, of Hudson Bay East, Miss E. Scott, Mrs. G. F. Liddle, W. H. Fine, E. J. H. Vanstone, J. W. Fraser, John L. Dolphin, of Fulton, N.Y.

Kootenay Florence
Mining Company, Limited
(Non-Personal Liability)

CAPITALIZATION

$1,200,000 in shares of par value of 20 cents.

PROPERTIES

PROPERTY comprises Kootenay Florence and Lakeshore groups, adjoining Highland mine of Consolidated Smelters, on the west shore of Kootenay Lake, near Ainsworth, B. C., in all approximately 700 acres.

KOOTENAY FLORENCE has yielded over $1,000,000 worth of lead-silver ore from upper workings, and lake level adit is now being driven to open these ore bodies at further depth of 550 feet. Tunnel is now in between 2,600 and 2,700 feet, and will reach its objective at 3,200 feet within the next few months.

EQUIPMENT includes 200-ton concentrating plant, hydro-electric plant, locomotives and all other necessities to economical mining operations. Electric power is being brought in from Balfour, twelve miles south, where connection is made with the municipal lines of the City of Nelson.

CASH resources ample to carry out all development and re-equipment necessary to production, which should be reached this summer on a large scale.

In view of the interesting stage of development we believe Kootenay Florence offers a peculiarly attractive opportunity for profit at present levels, and so recommend it.

HIRED MAN BLAMES DECZUK FOR CRIME

Brother-in-law of Michael Jonash Accused of Slaying.

HAMILTON, March 9. — Police state they have received a written statement from Jacob Sczepanek, hired man, who blames Joseph Deczuk for the murder of Michael Jonash on the latter's farm, Flamboro' Centre, on the morning of February 28. Both Sczepanek and Deczuk are under arrest on a charge of murdering Jonash ,and were committed for trial on Wednesday. Deczuk was a brother-in-law of Jonash. Sczepanek in his statement, is alleged to have stated that after Jonash slapped Deczuk's face in the kitchen of the farmhouse the men went outside in the yard, where the quarrel was renewed. Deczuk, according to Sczepanek, struck Jonash over the head with a heavy piece of wood and felled him. As Jonash tried to rise Deczuk struck him again, Sczepanek said.

Sczepanek denied that he took any part in the quarrel, other than to try to drag Deczuk from the prone Jonash.

Mrs. Jonash in her evidence at the inquest named Sczepanek as having been seen by her hanging by his hands to the wheel of a wagon and jumping upon Jonash as the latter lay unconscious on the ground.

Police further allege that an effort was made to dispose of blood-stained clothes in a stove of the farmhouse. Buttons and others bits of metal, it is said, were found in the ashes from this stove.

EARL HAIG MEMORIAL PRACTICAL IN SCOPE.

Scheme for Free Houses for Ex-Service Men Explained by Treasurer of British Legion.

LONDON, England, March 9 (Canadian Press). — With reference to the proposed memorial to Field-Marshal Earl Haig in the form of groups of rent-free homes, scattered about all over the county, for ex-service men, Major J. B. B. Cohen, M.P., honorary treasurer of the British Legion, outlining the scheme, says:

"The idea is that groups of cottages, to be called the Douglas Haig Memorial Homes, should be studded all over the country, and that ex-service men, their wives and families, should live in them, either at a nominal rent, or, as I should imagine myself, rent free, preference being given probably to disabled men. And when the numbers of ex-service men from the Great War become exhausted, it is suggested that others who have been in either of His Majesty's forces should become eligible, so that in this way they remain cottages for ex-service men for all time. That there is an urgent need for such cottages is beyond all doubt, and it seems that their provision would be the most fitting memorial we could find. Lord Haig himself was very keenly alive to the importance of home life, and Lady Haig prefers this proposal for the cottages to any other; she likes the idea very much.

"As to the number of cottages to be built, that must depend very largely on the amount of money we get. You may say roughly that a cottage will cost about £600, and then there is, in addition, the annual cost of keeping it in repair. Suppose we got £500,000, a sum we might conceivably aim at getting. That would give us probably—but, of course, I can only speak quite roughly on the question — about five hundred cottages and provide a sufficient sum over and above the cost of building for their endowment. They should all be, I think, of the same design, and quite probably some eminent architect might like to give us a design.

"The fund, of course, will have to be administered by trustees, who will be appointed, I imagine, by various influential persons, some of whom will be speaking at the meeting at the Mansion House. The Prime Minister and the leaders of both opposition parties will be asked to speak, and the appeal will go to the country signed by a number of eminent persons.

"This is the course that it has been decided to adopt; and I should deprecate very much any other organizations making any attempt to get local memorials, as any effort of that kind would take away from the memorial the national character which is particularly desired."

The Prince of Wales, as patron of the British Legion, is associating himself with the national appeal for a memorial to Earl Haig.

QUINCE TREES HARBOR MOTHS

Entomologist Urges the Peach Growers To Do Away With Other Fruit.

PEACH THREATENED.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. March 9 (Canadian Press). — That every quince tree in the district be done away with was the sweeping recommendation of W. Ross, Dominion Entomologist, made before the convention of fruit growers here to-day in discussing the Oriental peach moth, a new pest which is making disastrous inroads in peach trees, and threatens to exterminate that fruit in Ontario. Mr. Ross declared the quince trees to be a favorite haunt of the moth.

TWO ROBBERS TAKE $715,000 IN LOOT

Securities and Jewelry Stolen From Safes of Cicero Firm.

CHICAGO, March 9.—(Canadian Press).—Two robbers bound a watchman of the Borin Manufacturing Co. of Cicero yesterday and looted the safes of $715,000 in negotiable securities and jewellery. They also took patent formulas, contracts, and a list of the customers of the company, manufacturers of picture frames and mirrors, which the president of the firm said were worth three hundred thousand dollars.

The loot included half a million dollars in negotiable stock of the company, a hundred thousand in stock of each of two subsidiary firms, eight thousand in stocks and bonds owned by Borin, and seven thousand worth of jewellery.

STORM BLOWS OFF PORTION OF ROOF

Roads Badly Drifted in Trent River District Now.

TRENT RIVER, March 9.—There has not been any reports of serious damage caused by the blizzard of Sunday. George Spencer had a small part of the roof of his barn blown off, and part of the garage formerly owned by T. J. Horkins was blown down. The roads are drifted high in many places, but the school children manage to go to and from school by walking on top of the snow banks as they are packed down so hard.

LEGION SMOKER GREAT SUCCESS

Attendance Large and Evening's Program Most Enjoyable.

MORE TO BE HELD.

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 9.— Judging from the attendance at the Legion smoker held in their club rooms and in the band room last night, the old-fashioned get-togethers are just as popular now as they were ten years ago. In those dim, far-off days, poker was the "national game," but last night the boys displayed their skill at bridge and euchre. Some members did not feel like cards and they found their amusement along lines such as singing and reminiscences.

At eleven o'clock lunch was forthcoming in the form of coffee and a generous supply of sandwiches. For these, the appreciation of the Legion was suitably expressed to the two ladies who made the sandwiches and coffee. After lunch community singing was the main item on the program and two of the members were persuaded to give some of the old favorites as solos. Everyone had to take a turn as entertainer, and before anyone realized it, the middle of the night was passed and time had to be called.

These informal evenings seem to be meeting with the approval of the branch and afford an excellent opportunity for informal discussions of the affairs of the organization. It is expected that other smokers will follow at regular intervals.

NORHAM SEEKS HYDRO POWER

Ratepayers Find, However, That Rate to Farmers is Higher.

POSTPONE DECISION.

WARKWORTH, March 9. — A committee of ratepayers from Norham and vicinity met a representative of the Ontario Hydro Commission in the community hall on Tuesday for the purpose of determining terms for having the power in Norham village, and also the rates charged the farmers. It is not thought this undertaking will go through as the farmers' rate is much higher than town users.

The committee had an idea that if they were users of the Hydro power it would be arranged as an extension from Warkworth and their rates would be the same, but the representative emphatically stated that this could not be arranged in that way. It was also decided before anything definite was done to get more information as regards the commission.

TRIAL OF OFFICIALS ENDED IN CHICAGO

Attorney For Mayor Asks That Decree Be Removed.

CHICAGO, March 9. — Attorney Weymouth Kirkland ended the longest case on record in a trial Court yesterday when he asked Judge Hugo M. Friend to end a decree against Mayor William Hale Thompson, George F. Harding, County Treasurer; Michael F. Faherty, President of the Board of Local Improvements, and their alleged co-conspirators to a real estate expert suit to return to the city treasury "slightly more than $1,500,000 that they took from the taxpayers for their personal gain and for the enhancement of Thompson's political machine," in the last administration.

Judge Friend, who has been listening to this case since the evidence began on March 2, 1926, said that he would go to work at once on his decision. The money was obtained through tremendous commissions for appraising and condemning real estate for public improvements.

About $500,000 has been turned back to the City Treasurer by Ernest H. Lyons and Arthur S. Mertgold and their names have been dropped from the suit.

POULTRY COURSE HELPS BREEDERS

Much Useful Information Given in Three Day Series of Lectures.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 9. — Poultry breeders and fanciers of Campbellford and district have been afforded a wonderful opportunity to gather first-class information on the hatching and feeding of hens both for laying and marketing purposes. Mr. Smith and Mr. Snider have just completed a three-day lecture course in the public library. At the outset, Mr. Snider outlined the proper feeding methods and detailed many of the disastrous results of improper feeding. His lectures applied mainly to commercial hens.

Later Mr. Francis spoke on the feeding of laying hens. His remarks covered the entire period from the time of hatching to the time when the bird commenced to lay. He also explained the proper method to be followed in hatching and his accounts of the proper seasons and dates for hatching the various breeds for laying purposes were greatly appreciated. Practically every poultryman who could possibly arrange it, availed himself of those lectures and the local breeders look forward to bigger and better broods for the coming season. By availing themselves of the information as regards hatching dates, they also hope to increase the egg supply during the high price season.

Zam-Buk Heals From Below

It is so highly refined that its rare herbal essences soak naturally through the tiny pores deep into the underlying tissues. Thus deep-seated disease is soon dislodged by this unique Zam-Buk treatment.

Fatty ointments clog the pores and never penetrate beyond the surface skin.

It's So Different with Zam-Buk. It kills pain, allays inflammation and swelling; removes germ infection and poisonous matter. Zam-Buk ends the burning irritation of salt rheum or eczema and heals ulcers, piles, poisoned wounds, etc., as surely as it does simple cuts, burns, chaps, chilblains, etc.

All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at 50c. the box. Zam-Buk Soap 25c. the cake.

THE GREAT HEALER

MANY APPLICANTS FOR SECRETARYSHIP

Ten Seek Position in Woodlands Cheese Factory Company.

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 9.— The shareholders and others interested in the Woodlands cheese factory met in the factory Wednesday afternoon to discuss the business possibilities for the coming season. Among other items was the appointments for milk routes and a secretary. For the latter position there were ten applications and at the time when the party from town left, the appointment had not been made.

The meeting was addressed by J. A. Murray, Dairy Inspector for the district. He spoke of the importance of proper equipment and methods as relative to the production of the highest grades of cheese. George Nicol, of the Bank of Montreal, outlined the most efficient method of handling the finances of the company and offered some very acceptable advice along this line. James Irwin, Government grader of dairy produce for the district, also spoke to the assembled members and patrons on the necessity of co-operation if success were to be achieved. Individual effort, he claimed, was not reliable, although it was sometimes crowned with the fruits of victory. Co-operation could only meet with one conclusion, success. Last year, Woodlands cheese factory had averaged 92.3 per cent. first class cheese. Burnbrae and the Prince of Wales factories had produced 100 per cent. first class cheese, and were the only two factories in the United Counties that had done so. He saw no real reason why Woodlands factory should not have its name added to the list of perfect cheese producers for 1928.

OBITUARY

MRS. THOMAS NOLAN.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Thos. Noland was held recently from her late residence, lot 12, concession 6, Douro, to St. Joseph's church and cemetery, Douro, where Rev. J. F. McGuire sang requiem mass.

Mrs Nolan's maiden name was Katherine Hammond. She was born in Otonabee but had spent most of her life in Douro. Her husband predeceased her some 8 years ago.

Deceased was in her 80th year, and had been in ill-health for the past three months. Those who knew her will remember her for her friendly disposition. Her kindness of heart won her a host of friends and she was always ready in sickness to lend a helping hand.

She leaves to mourn her loss five sons: Patrick Albert, of Peterboro; Francis James of Lakefield; Frederick Edward, William John, and Joseph Henry Laughlin, all at home; and three daughters, Mrs. Jeremiah Moher (Margaret Ann)) Douro; Mrs. John Buckley (Mary Louisa), Lakefield; and Mrs. John Spencer (Rose Jane,) of Otonabee; also 24 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

The pallbearers were Messrs. D. Moloney, Joseph Moloney, James Coughlin, Ambrose Coughlin of Lakefield, Michael Whibbs and Jeremiah Dwyer of Douro.

The funeral was largely attended by her many friends from the surrounding community.

Afternoon tea was served at the studio of the Conservatory of Music yesterday in connection with the exhibit of art work by the pupils of Miss Cameron Edwards. Several of the pupils assisted, giving a real studio-tea atmosphere by wearing their painting smocks. The table was very attractive with a central blue bowl filled with rose tulips and daffodils and orange candles in brass candlesticks. Tea was poured by Mrs. E. W. Borbridge and assistants were the Misses Ruth Sutton, Margaret Borbridge, Josephine Lynch and Lillian McClellan. Miss Edwards was assisted by Mrs. N. H. Sutton, during the afternoon.

Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park sang the soprano solos at a very beautiful performance of Mozart's "Requiem," given recently in Convocation Hall, Toronto, under direction of Dr. Ernest MacMillan. Dr. Healy Willan was at the organ. A chorus one hundred and twenty-five voices and an orchestra of sixty pieces combined to give a wonderful interpretation of Mozart's last work. Press notices of the singing of the chorus and the soloists are very flattering.

DRESS
By MARY MARSHALL

Arranged with a slight blouse above the belt—this wool jersey beige jumper with brown tie and brown belt worn with a brown skirt.

Blouses and jumpers and sweaters must be fitted and adjusted with great care this season. They must be just snug enough and not too snug around the hips, and just full enough and not too full above the hips and quite precisely fitted under the arms and over the shoulders.

The old fit-as-they-please, easy fashions have gone. We may no longer wear our frocks like pillow cases. It isn't half so convenient but the effect is really a lot better and I'm perfectly willing to say that most women look a great deal better in the clothes of the present sort than in clothes worn two or three seasons ago.

At any rate these clothes do give a more definite advantage to careful dressing and the woman who takes pains with details of dress reaps a plentiful harvest.

What a long preamble to what I had to say—which was simply this: Jumpers and blouses to look smart and up to date must be fitted so that they are fairly snug over the hips and they must not be drawn down too tight, because there must be a suggestion of a blouse above the hipline—just a suggestion of a blouse, mind you. This means that in most cases the blouse you buy ready made needs alteration and the alteration must be done with care. It also means that slips and other under garments must fit with precision so that there will be no unnecessary fullness beneath the nicely adjusted frock or blouse.

The sketch shows what I mean about the adjustment of blouses. And please note that the slight blousing is not produced by the drawing in of the belt. There must be no puckering of the material below the belt either at back or front. Sometimes, you know, a square crossed from corner to corner is drawn around the lower part of the blouse or jumper and knotted at one side. Then the blouse is drawn up a little to give this suggestions of blousing.

HONEYMOONING IN CANADA

The Hon. Mrs. Ian Douglas Campbell, who until her recent marriage, was the Hon. Janet Aitken, daughter of Lord Beaverbrook, and her husband are spending their honeymoon in Canada. They arrived in Montreal recently en route to Toronto. Ian Douglas Campbell is the nephew of the present (10th) Duke of Argyll and is the heir presumptive to the title and vast Scottish estates.

VOMITING and BELCHING

Vomiting.

If vomiting is due to a disorder of the stomach itself it is usually because of stomach ulcers, and in most cases particles of blood will be found in the vomitus. This may be either bright red or if there has been a slow trickling of blood into the stomach contents, the blood may look like coffee grounds. This may be due to stomach ulcer or to cancer of the stomach. At least an equal number of cases of vomiting are due to some trouble other than what may be strictly called stomach trouble.

When gall stones are trying to pass through the bile ducts it will often cause violent vomiting. The pains usually appear in the pit of the stomach and are often thought to be due to trouble in the stomach itself. Kidney stones may cause exactly the same desire to vomit when these stones try to pass down the ureter into the bladder.

Expectant mothers are often bothered by vomiting which is due to the reflex action from the enlargement of the womb pressing upon the ovaries. If the vomiting occurs directly after the meal it may be due to any of the causes I have cited. If the vomitus has a bitter taste it is more of an indication that it is due to a disorder of the liver. When an excess amount of bile is poured into the intestines it often floods back into the stomach and causes a nauseous feeling and when this is vomited up it is always bitter.

Vomiting all of the stomach contents will usually relieve any disorder which is in the stomach itself whereas if the trouble is a reflex one, coming from gall stones, kidney stones, or ovarian pressure, the vomiting will not completely relieve the nausea.

If a patient frequently vomits up a watery fluid shortly after his meals, it is an indication that he has used too much liquid at the meal or that he has overeaten. Of course, such vomiting is simply caused by an overloaded stomach, full of bad mixtures of food, with alcoholic drinks and sweet desserts. The stomach finds it is simply impossible to digest such a mass of inharmonious conglomerations, and saves the patient's life by going through enoug convulsions until the bad mixture is vomited up.

Belching.

Belching of gas from the stomach is usually due to the use of too large a quantity of food, although some people develop a habit of belching, and alternately swallow and bring up air in an effort to relieve a kind of full feeling which they experience after meals. They get into this habit because they actually do have excessive gas, so whenever they do overeat and have the "stuffed" feeling from a large meal they learn the practice of swallowing air to further fill the stomach so that the extra amount of air and gas will force open the stomach's opening at the esophagus and they then belch up a quantity of combined gas and air. This becomes a habit, and is hard to overcome.

The cure is to stop the "stuffing" habit, and to learn control over the acquited practice of swallowing air.

Questions and Answers.

Question A. D. asks "Will you kindly tell me what is chronic interstital nephritis? Is it dangerous, and should one diet for it? I always read your answers in your health column and they have helped me. I am 54 years old."

Answer Chronic interstital nephritis is a disease both of the kidneys and due to faulty metabolism. It must be considered a dangerous disorder, although many people live for a long time before the disease develops into a fatal form. In its early stages it is curable through diet, exercise and the use of other hygienic measures.

Question C. E. S. asks "Are raw eggs poisonous? Is it true that raw eggs always pass through the stomach without being digested? Do you advise raw eggs and sherry as a remedy for gastric trouble?"

Answer There is nothing poisonous about a fresh raw egg, but raw eggs are not as easily digested as those slightly cooked. The digestion of either a raw or cooked egg begins in the stomach and is completed in the small intestines. I never advise the use of raw eggs except in some cases of ulcer of the stomach, when only the whites of the egg should be used. There is no scientific reason for mixing raw eggs with sherry and taking the mixture for gastric trouble, and I have not found where patients received any particular benefits from using this.

Question Mrs. N. R. writes "Have a fatty tumor over the right shoulder about the size of a plum. What would you recommend to get rid of it?"

Answer Such fatty tumors can be easily removed by a surgeon. I would advise you to have this done before it enlarges so much as to make undue pressure upon some nerve center.

Does Ill Health Detract from Your Good Looks?

Hamilton, Ont.—"I was in a rundown state of health, my nerves were bad and I suffered from backaches and pains in my side, which would be so severe that I would get weak and have to lie down. I could not eat without being distressed. Upon the advice of a relative I started to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it relieved me of all my distress, and I do not suffer in any way from any of the above conditions. I have a good appetite and my nerves are in splendid condition. I am strong and healthy in every way."—Mrs. George Turansky, 373 Ferguson Ave. North.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 9.—Dr. H. T. Scott, who was injured in a level crossing accident at Stirling a few days ago, was able to return to his home here on Wednesday. Although he is discharged from hospital, Dr. Scott is still confined to his bed as the result of his injuries.

Miss Harriet Potts, nurse-in-training, Buffalo, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Potts, Grand Road.

A host of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Haig gathered at the home of Wm. Haig, English Line, last night. The event was a miscellaneous shower for the newly married couple, and a most enjoyable evening was spent at cards and dancing.

T. J. Craighead, local business man, won the United Cigar Company's prize for selling the largest number of pipes during the past month. There were some two hundred dealers in the contest.

HOROSCOPE
The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)
SATURDAY, MARCH 10, 1928.

Adverse aspects are strong today, according to astrology, which reads in the stars many thwarting possibilities.

It is an unfavorable sway for seeking employment or for soliciting business.

All who can arrange for week-end recreations will be wise, for the stars frown on business activities.

Accidents may be unusually numerous even for this time of many street perils and all who motor or fly should be cautious.

There is a fairly good sign for letter-writing but lovers should beware of the mighty pen.

Under this direction of the stars there may be a tendency toward too much talking. Beware of garrulity.

Saturn and the coming eclipses are to have a decided effect on Washington, increasing party in harmonies and disturbing the smooth working of government machinery, it is prognosticated.

Neptune, it will be remembered, affects whatever pertains to drinking and drugs. The sinister aspect of the planet indicates much agitation regarding prohibition.

Persons whose birthdate it is may meet with many brothers in the coming year. They have the promise of much joy as well as more or less worry.

Children born on this day probably will be keen and aggressive. The subjects of this sign are usually skillful in the use of their hands.

WHEN YOUR STOMACH GROANS WITH GAS
Make This Test At Once

If you really want quick and lasting freedom from the usual annoyance of after-eating distress—try this NEVER FAILING test today!

At trifling cost, get from your druggist a little Bisurated Magnesia—either powder or tablets—and take after your next meal. This simple pleasant test can be depended upon to prove its value in less than five minutes. In most cases relief comes instantly.

Bisurated Magnesia is a harmless non-laxative form of old fashioned Magnesia that, when taken after meals, sweetens and neutralizes the dangerous acids that cause most stomach ailments. Ask your druggist for Bisurated Magnesia—and start the test today!

Lyrics of Life - By Douglas Malloch

THE RIVER OF TRUTH

No one stops the river,
Flowing to the sea;
Men may hold it for awhile,
But soon must set it free.
Bound, it grows the stronger,
Angrier, denied,
And your little dams and dikes
It soon will sweep aside.

Truth is like the river,
Flowing to the deep:
Falsehood may prevail awhile,
And even justice sleep.
Truth may sit in prison,
On the scaffold stand,
But the river finds the sea
And grinds your rocks to sand.

No one stops the river.

RESUME LEAGUE SOCCER GAMES ON SATURDAY

Everton and Huddersfield Both Expected to Win Week-end Games.

INTER-LEAGUE MATCH

Chelsea Putting Up Hard Battle to Retain Lead in Second Division.

LONDON, Eng., Mar. 9.— English and Scottish soccer teams resume their league engagements next Saturday after the cup ties. In the English League, First Division, Everton, holding on to their advantage in the standing by a fractional lead in goal averages from Huddersfield Town, are hosts to Portsmouth. On form Everton should win easily, but just now the Southerners are putting up a great fight to escape relegation to the Second Division, from which section they were promoted last year. Everton, too, will be without their great centre forward, Dean, who has been selected to play for the English League against the Scottish League at Glasgow.

Huddersfield Town, who are loaning Goodall and Smith for the league match, entertain Sunderland. Leicester City, minus Bishop, also at Glasgow, will have a job keeping in third place, because their opponents are Cardiff City, who, now that they have been knocked out of the cup ties, will make a great bid for league honors.

In the Second Division Chelsea, like Everton, are being hounded in first place by the second and third teams. By the irony of the draw the pensioners must meet Preston North End, who have forced their way to point equality with them. Only a better goal average keeps Chelsea in front. Manchester City, third team, go to Reading in search of points.

In the Scottish First Division Rangers, though they have played less games than Celtics, second, and Motherwell, third, find their leadership again at stake. They have an easy assignment, however, Saturday in Dunfermline Athletic, the match being a battle between the top and bottom teams in the standing. Celtic go to Airdrie and should win, while Motherwell travel to Cowdenbeath and should get at least a draw.

WILL MEET SCOTLAND.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Mar. 9. — England and Scotland meet in an inter-league soccer match here on Saturday. Teams from the English and Scottish Leagues have been meeting each year with the exception of the war period since 1892, and of the thirty-two matches, England has won 18, Scotland 7, while seven have been drawn. The teams will likely be:

Scottish League—Harkness, Queen's Park; Gray, Rangers; W. Mostay, Celtic; Meiklejohn, Rangers; Lambie, Partick; MacFarlane, Celtic; Archibald, Rangers; Cunningham, Rangers; McGrory, Celtic; Stevenson, Motherwell; Ferrier, Motherwell.

England—Hacking, Oldham; Goodall, Huddersfield Town; Jones, Blackburn; Edwards, Leeds; Kean, The Wednesday; Bishop, Leicester; Hulme, Arsenal; Jack, Bolton; Dean, Everton; Bradford, Birmingham; Smith, Huddersfield Town.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

Vancouver Girl Sets Two World's Records

EDMONTON, Alta., March 9 (Canadian Press). — Two world's records were smashed here yesterday when Miss Margaret [illegible] Burney, brilliant defence player of the Edmonton Grads, world's girl's championship team, [illegible] 57 baskets out of 60 free throws in the McDougall High School Gymnasium before six witnesses. In addition, Miss McBurney smashed the world record which she herself set in 1927 by making 35 baskets in succession. Her previous mark was 33 [illegible] through the hoop without a miss.

Miss M. Koyano, of the Takahayacho High School, Tokio, Japan, previously held the world's record for successful free throws, having scored 55 out of 60 tries.

NEW A. S. U. WINS FAVOR

Fight Between Rival Skating Organizations for Recognition Definitely Settled.

BY HEAVY MAJORITY

NEW YORK, March 9 (Canadian Press). — The prolonged fight between two rival skating organizations for recognition by the Amateur Athletic Union was settled definitely yesterday in favor of the new Amateur Skating Union of the United States, the headquarters of which are in Boston.

The Board of Governors of the A. A.U. decided the issue by voting 71 to 19 to uphold the opinion of its Legislative Committee chairman, Judge Heremiah T. Mahoney, in favor of the Amateur Skating Union.

Judge Mahoney's opinion supported the motion of the A.S.U. in dissolving the International Skating Union of America, the former controlling body in the sport, at a meeting in Boston last November.

Opponents of this dissolution, however, united the remaining forces of the old International Skating Union, established headquarters in Chicago, and succeeded in sealing their debts at the A.A.U. convention in Cincinnati last November.

There was a spirited controversy between the leaders of the rival skating groups at the convention.

The victory of the International Skating Union, however, has turned out to be temporary. The new American Skating Union's application for an alliance with the A.A.U. is expected to be approved in the near future, as a result of the vote in its favor. This vote, taken by mail, was announced by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A.A.U.

BAILEY STARS IN CLOSE GAME

SCORE 4-2.

TORONTO, March 9. — The boys from Broad provided the Maple Leafs with a spirited game at the Arena Gardens last night before a slim but elated crowd, and the local N.H.L. representatives came home on the profitable end of a 4 to 2 count.

It was a pleasing performance by the Leafs, who showed considerable aggressiveness on the attack and a devastating aim on the net. New York Americans were no less aggressive, but they did not show their usual dexterity in the vicinity of the goal-mouth, although they kept the score close enough to keep the fans from losing interest.

Conacher Out of the Game.

There was a noticeable lack of bulk on the visiting forward line, no doubt due to the absence of Mr. Conacher, who usually is a large and conspicuous figure in games which the New Yorkers play here. Mr. Conacher is on an enforced vacation and his usual effective rushing and vigorous thrusts on the Toronto net were missed. Conny has always played good hockey here on previous visits, and to see the Americans without him is like viewing the Canadiens without the temperamental Mr. Joliat or the Ottawa team without the pugnacious features of the noted King Clancy.

Norman Himes, well-known Galt golf expert, started the Americans off on the right foot when he picked an opening through the Toronto defence early in the first period and handily defeated Mr. Roach for the first goal of the night's racket. It was a fine effort, but it only served to spur Mr. Smythe's athletes to further attempts to beat Mr. Forbes, and it required about three minutes for "Butch" Keeling to provide the equalizer with the able assistance of the persistent Lowrey.

The teams remained on even terms until eight minutes of the mid-way session had expired, and then Mr. Bailey forced the locals to the front when he dasned through to pick up the puck after Mr. Duncan had transferred from the New York goal. Mr. Bailey's shot was a complete mystery to Vernon Forbes. The Leafs were numerically superior at the time owing to Clarence Bowcher's penchant for serving penalties. Mr. Bowcher was doing penance for the fifth time at the moment, and it had become so customary to see him watching the game from the west side of the rink that the Arena officials were considering the matter of changing him usual tariff for rail-side seating accommodation.

English Champion Leads Marathoners

MOJAVE WELLS, Calif., Mar. 9.—(Associated Press.)—The blistering sun and chill winds of the Mojave desert were surmounted with ease yesterday by 44 year old Arthur Newton, 100 mile running champion of England, to win the fifth lap of 31 miles in the coast to coast marathon in four hours and 48 minutes. His successful battle with wind and sun also put the sinewy runner in first place for total elapsed time in covering the 165 miles reeled off in five days.

CHAMPION OF QUEBEC

If anybody in Canada thinks they can beat him on skis, Jacques Tache of Quebec wants a chance to meet them. He is champion of Quebec and is looking for more laurels.

IN TRAINING CAMP

TID-BITS FROM MAJOR CAMPS IN SOUTH

San Antonio, Tex.—After looking over the Detroit Tigers in training, President E. S. Barnard of the American League ventured the opinion that this year's race would not be a walkaway for the New York Yankees. Whether President Barnard had the Tigers in mind as the team to beat the Yankees or just happened to make his statement here is something for baseball fans to ponder.

"Other teams in the league have been materially strengthened with new players," Barnard said, "while the New York club has not. It will be a close race."

• • •

Paso Robles, Calif.—Well pleased with the showing of the Pittsburgh Pirate pitchers in practice, Manager Joe Bush said he was anxious to see them in actual games. The Pirates, however, do not have an exhibition game scheduled until March 17, when they meet the Missions at San Francisco.

• • •

Clearwater, Fla.—Manager Wilbert Robinson believes he has at last assembled a Brooklyn team with offensive strength. In a practice game the regulars made sixteen hits and beat the Yannigans 12 to 6. Jay Patridge, second baseman, made four hits, two doubles and two singles, and Del Bissonette hit a homer off Petty, who with Doak and Elliott, pitched for the Yannigans. Vance, McWeeny and Clark hurled for the regulars. Dan Taylor, recruit outfielder, hit one of Vance's fast balls for a homer.

• • •

St. Petersburg, Fla.—All doubt as to Babe Ruth's intention to give up home run hitting for place hitting has been dismissed by the slugger himself.

"I don't want to be a .400 hitter," Babe said. "Make no mistake about it, I'm out to hit 61 homers this season. I think I can and I'm in splendid shape to get away to a good start."

The following are the exhibition dates arranged for the Leafs on their way north to Newark, N.J., where they will open the International League season on April 18:

April 7—Spartanburg, S. Carolina.
April 8—Greenville, S. Carolina.
April 10—Charlotte, N. Carolina.
April 11—Winston Salem, N. Carolina.
April 12—High Point, N. Carolina.
April 13-14—Asheville, N. Carolina.
April 16—Greensboro, N. Carolina.
April 17-18—Opening of season at Newark.

SONGER SIGNS WITH TORONTO

Southpaw Comes Into Fold — Bayne Expected Back From Cleveland.

LEAF CLUB NEWS

TORONTO, March 9.—Don Songer, late of Pittsburgh and more recently of New York, who was shifted from the Giants to the Leafs when Faulkner was gobbled up by Manager McGraw last fall and who, if the truth must be told, didn't exactly make a favorable impression, has forwarded his signed contract to President Solman.

Some apprehension was felt at local headquarters when nothing was heard from the southpaw, but his covering letter carried an adequate explanation. It appears that Songer has had much illness in his family and that he hasn't had much time to think of baseball. The arm trouble which affected his work after he came here from the Giants he says has almost entirely disappeared and he confidently predicts that he will win at least 20 games for the Leafs next summer. If he does as well as that there will be a fat bonus coming his way at the end of the campaign.

Songer has had plenty of experience and may prove to be just the man that Manager O'Hara has been looking for to round out his present pitching staff, which at present is somewhat top heavy from a right-hand standpoint. He has over a dozen starboard slingers, regulars and recruits, but only two portsiders —Songer and Martin—and the latter is only a recruit. If Billy Bayne is returned by Cleveland there will be joy in the camp. This is the left-hander purchased by the Toronto club from Greenville of the Sally League and subsequently drafted by the Indians. Bayne led the Southern Atlantic Class B organization in victories and earned runs and on his record was the standout southpaw of the season. This is not his first time up, as he was with the St. Louis Browns several years ago and consequently knows the ropes.

Johnny Prudhomme, who was also a holdout of sorts, has also come to time. The document binding him to perform for the Leafs again in 1928 came to hand yesterday. He says that he will be among the first to report to Fred Burchell at the Leafs' training grounds. Nothing more has been heard from Rip Collins and Don Hankins, but there is a possibility that the Detroit acquisitions will bob up at the camp and thresh out their grievances in person with O'Hara.

Dale Alexander may have opposition at first base in the shape of Frederick George Bedore, a twenty-three-year-old giant from Chicago, where he played independent ball last season. Bedore batted .290 and fielded .985 at third and first bases. He was on the roster last spring and reported at the Birds' camp but was called home by a death in his family and was afterwards released outright. He is a six-footer and weighs 175 pounds. Another youngster who may receive more than passing attention from the Leafs' board of strategy is Arthur James Fraser, who led the pitchers in the New England League last summer with 15 wins as against 6 losses. This is the loop that produced Prudhomme.

GRADS DEFEAT ENGLISH TEAM

Conclude Triumphal Tour of Continent by Winning 11-4 Victory.

HOLD ICE CARNIVAL

LONDON, March 9. — Canadian Press Cable. — The Toronto Grads, Olympic hockey champions, concluded their triumphant tour at the London ice club last night by administering an 11 to 4 defeat upon the English hockey team which competed at the Olympic.

One of the most exclusive London audiences assembled to watch the game and saw the Englishmen decisively outplayed despite the fact that three of the Grads' substitutes assisted them against the brilliant Canadians.

Frank Sullivan, Bert Plaxton and F. Fisher were the players who aided the English team in their effort to make a good showing against the smooth-playing Canadian team.

To-day the Canadians will be presented to the Prince of Wales, and following a brief stay in London the party will then sail for Canada with a record of 8 victories (3 of them shutout triumphs against European teams in the Olympic series) and no defeats

It was an all-Canadian program last night for in addition to the hockey match skating exhibitions were given by the Canadian amateur lady champion Miss Constance Wilson, and by the Canadian amateur championship four, Misses Maude and Cecil Smith, I. Eastwood and Montgomery Wilson

The Canadians entered the rink wearing white jerseys embroidered with a red maple leaf, to the strains of "The Maple Leaf Forever," while the audience stood at attention. The National Anthem followed, and then Brigadier-General Alfred C. Critchley, a native of Calgary, Alberta, whistled the teams to a face-off.

The Grads front line were quick to get going, and as the result of goals by Hudson, Trottier and Hugh Plaxton, to which only response was a goal by the British Olympic Captain, Ross Cuthbert, the Canadians led at the end of the first period 3 to 1.

Thrilling play featured the opening of the second period. The British led by Sextor made strenuous efforts to score. They bombarded the Canadian goal but Dr. Joe Sullivan was not caught napping and he cleared the British shots successfully. The Grads added two goals in quick succession, Hudson and Trottier being the marksmen, and they should have scored many more but weak shooting combined with fine goalkeeping by Speechley in the British cage frustrated them.

Bert Plaxton reduced the Canadian lead, which at the end of the second period stood at 5 to 2 soon after the third period had started. As the result of scintillating stickwork and teamplay the Canadians increased their lead still further when Hugh Plaxton scored four goals in rapid succession. Fisher counted for Great Britain making the score 9 to 3. Campbell followed with another British goal but the Canadians staged a dashing finish and added two more counters to their credit on sparkling plays by Trottier.

The Canadians were given a great ovation at the finish and they responded by giving their picturesque war cry.

CANADIENS WIN.

Defeat Rangers 4-3 On Montreal Ice in Fast Game.

MONTREAL, March 9. — Showing fairly consistent flashes of the form which carried them to the top of the Canadian Division of the National Hockey League in the first half of the season, Canadiens last night flashed to a 4 to 3 victory over the New York Rangers.

It was the second defeat on Montreal ice within three days for the Rangers, and seriously impaired their chances of finishing at the top of the heap in the American Division of the League.

Gagne scored twice for Canadiens, while Morenz and Joliat got one apiece. "Bun" Cook counted twice for the Rangers and Boucher once.

PROHIBIT DEADLY GUN.

OTTAWA, March 9. — Canadian Press. — Under the head "The Deadly Gun," the Ottawa Journal in an editorial, urges the prohibition of the indiscriminate use of firearms. The Journal puts the matter thus:

"Friend Fires Shot and Boy Falls Dead."

"Boy Seriously Hurt when Gun Goes off."

"Didn't know it was Loaded."

"Gun Slips, Boy Ahead Killed."

"Another Shooting Accident; Woman Dead."

The foregoing are all headlines taken from the daily press within the last few days. What is the answer? The answer surely is that Parliament should take steps prohibiting the indiscriminate possession of firearms.

At the present time a bill passed by the Senate prohibiting the possession of weapons, is before the House of Commons. Last year after passing the Senate, it was fully considered by a committee of the Commons and reported to the House with some slight amendments. The bill, re-introduced this year (it is the work of Senator Belcourt, should be passed, thinks the Journal. "It would go a long way, we think, to lessen the toll of fatalities, accidental and criminal, which grow worse with the years."

WILSON'S BACHELOR

PORT COLBORNE WINS TITLE, KITCHENER HELD TO A DRAW

Lakesiders Win First Intermediate Championship For Town.

SCORE WAS CLOSE.

3,500 Fans Come By Special Train To Kitchener—Winners Outplayed.

KITCHENER, Mar. 9.— Port Colborne, after years of striving, inscribed its name in the champions' class of the O.H.A., winning the O.H.A. intermediate title here last night by holding the Twin City six to a 1-1 draw, thus taking the round 2 to 1 by their 1 to 0 victory in the Port on Tuesday night.

It was a glorious victory for the visitors, but one of the toughest losses imaginable for the home club. The latter completely outplayed the lakeside club for two periods, bottling them up for the most of the time, but they could only once push the puck past Goalkeeper Moore, his cageminding being the most finished seen here in many a moon. Port Colborne can unquestionably thank their cool little net-minder that they won the John Ross Trophy. With an average goaltender here last night the visitors would have been beaten by five goals at least, so completely did the homesters dominate the play for the final two periods.

One for the hockey book occurred in the third period during one of the furious assaults on the Port goal when, with Moore out of the cage, C. Ross took a tumble in the goalmouth just in time to get his head in the way of a fast shot from Hamel's stick that would have tied the round up. Tis came as a climax to several sensationally cool saves on close-in shots on the part of Moore.

Rink Is Jammed.

It was a great final game. The rink was jammed with 3,500 fans, though the 4 o'clock train from Port Colborne did not get here until the second period, despite the fact that the game was delayed for their arrival, owing to a breakdown on the way. Prior to the contest Aldermen Beseau and Sturm, on behalf of the city, called the Twin City O.H.A. senior champions to the centre of the ice and congratulated them, presenting Manager Harry Wismer wtih a basket of flowers.

The crowd saw a wonderful game of hockey. It was fast, furious, clean and clever, and there was not a dull moment in it, the roars from each side coming in salvos all evening. The Ports, on a pretty combination play in the initial period, scored their only goal, with Mountain giving Kilpatrick a great pass, and the latter cleverly went right in to tally.

The homesters tied it up in the second on a combination play, and the third was scoreless. The locals carried play to their opponents in the last two periods, because they threw four men on the attack all the time, but the Ports had just enough to stave them off. The Ports' defence cracked and wobbled, but Moore did not, and that tells the story.

Will Third Period.

The third period was a repetition of the second, the homesters completelly outplaying the visitors, bottling them up for minutes on end, in their end of the rink, and blazing shots at the cage, but Moore saved them all. He was good and he was lucky, and once when Moore was out of his cage and Hamel drove one at the cage, R. Cross fell in the goalmouth and shot hit him on the head. It was one for the hockey book, as it saved the round being tied up. The Ports fought doggedly and killed time by shooting the puck up the ice, but always it came back and the homesters did everything but score. It was a gruelling, wildly exciting period and the game and round hinged on whether More would crack. He did not.

Port Colborne— Goal, Moore; defence, Kilpatrick and R. Cross; centre, Cuthbert; wings, Mountain and Nixon; subs, Morrill and C. Cross.

Twin City— Goal, Rupel; defence, Nertlet and Trushinski; centre, Hamel; wings, Baetz and Shirk; subs, Schmidt and Heller.

Referee—Harry Watson.

LONDON, March 9.—The National Association of Boys' Clubs, of which Prince Henry is president, recently conducted a party of boys' club leaders and workers from the mines and pit-heads in South Wales round a number of boys' clubs and institutes in London. In London the boys were the guests of Frank Geoghegan, chairman of the London Federation of Boys' Clubs, and were present at a recitation competition between boys from London clubs held at the City Corporation Schools. They spent three days visiting various boys' clubs and other institutions.

ART STUDENTS MAKE EXHIBIT

Pupils of Miss Cameron Edwards Show Clever Work.

ALL YOUNG PEOPLE.

A very interesting exhibition of the work of junior art students of the city was given by pupils of Miss Cameron Edwards in the studio of the Conservatory of Music, under the auspices of the Women's Art Association, yesterday afternoon. The little paintings and sketches were all done by youthul artists, but were cleverly executed, showing excellent tuition and a good deal of individual effort on the part of the students.

Perhaps the studies in still life were the most notable of these pictures. Done in oil colors and chalks, they had clear-cut outlines, bright "live" coloring and each study had its focal point of interest emphasized in the proper manner. There was an attractive quality to the landscape sketches in oils, with an excellent sense of perspective and composition. Some of the ten minute sketches done by the Life Class were very interesting, the youthful quality always paramount, but with plenty of individuality in the outlined figures.

The head of a collie dog done by a small student was very good and a trio of reproductions of Mother Goose were entertaining in their quaint effect, done in illustration or poster fashion. Lavish use of color made some bits of still life especially pleasing, while reproductions of heads, in charcoal, were worthy of more than a passing glance. One section showed efforts in conventional designs in book covers, wall paper and lamp shades. A small pupil with ambitious ideas drew a chalk drawing of a lonely tree which sheltered no less than eighteen sheep.

CONTESTANTS OF BADMINTON FINALS

The finals were played recently in Toronto in the seventh annual Canadian badminton championship tournament. These pictures show Jack Purcell and Miss Betty Macrae, Toronto, runners-up in the mixed doubles. Purcell was also runner-up in the men's singles. He was defeated by Jack Underhill of Vancouver The inset shows Mrs. E. F. HASTINGS COUNCIL SEEKS EXTRA GRANT

Names Committee To Wait on Counties Council and Highways Department.

HASTINGS, Mar. 9. — Councillor Fowlds and Dr. J. E. Hess were appointed at a recent council meeting as a committee to wait on the counties council in June session, and on the Provincial Highway Department, to take the necessary steps to secure the additional grant of $2,000.

Mr. Marryat and Mr. Jeffries asked the council for a grant to the Horticultural Society, and $50.00 was voted for that purpose.

By-law No. 687 appointing a constable under the Government Control Act was passed, also By-law No. 688 extending the term of payment of $57,000 borrowed from the Royal Bank.

On motion of Councillors Fowlds and Doxsee, the following accounts were ordered to be paid: Bell Telephone Co., $8.25; C.N.R., $16.67; W. P. Plant, $14.48; Fowlds Co., Ltd., $164.11; John Collins, $15.50; R. N. Simpson & Sons, $3.50; William Boyle, $9.983; W. West, $2.25; T. Walsh, $2.25; H. M. Fowlds & Sons, $25.55; S. Stickles, $8.00; W. Killinbeck, $25.00; George Lynch, $7.00; James Lomey, Sr., $20.00; Dr. Wilson, $3.00.

TEACHER AT LONDON REFUSES TO RESIGN

Pupils Sign Petitions Asking Retention of Collegiate Master.

LONDON, Ont., March 9.—Friends of C. K. Bluett, Mathematical Master in the Central Collegiate, announced last evening that Mr. Bluett is not to be relieved of his duties by the Board of Education without a stiff battle. Mr. Bluett has given assurance that he will not resign his position before the end of June, when, according to the ruling of the trustees, he must leave the local Collegiate.

Large numbers of pupils of the school are understood to have signed petitions asking that he be retained. Answering charges, alleged to have been made, to the effect that he is slovenly in his dress, that he smokes and that he is too harsh with the scholars, Mr. Bluett admits that he smokes, and declares that he is a strict disciplinarian in the interest of all the students he has to teach. He brands as a lie the statement that he has been seen in the collegiate with egg on his vest, and points out that he has not eaten an egg for ten years.

It is alleged that at the same secret meeting at which the dismissal of Mr. Bluett was decided upon the board gave notice to two other collegiate teachers to find positions elsewhere.

COGNAWAGAS WIN FROM MILLBROOK

Beat Home Team 4-3 in Closely Contested Hockey Game.

MILLBROOK, March 9. — The Cognawagas of Peterborough came out on Thursday evening and played a game of hockey with the local team, winning out with a score of 4-3.

The game was a fast one, the Cogs scoring three goals in the first period. F. Cripps was apparently the "strong man" on the visiting team, while E. Richards and H. Handley handled the stick well for the local boys. Three players were hurt during the game and had to be carried off the ice—two of the Peterborough men and Edwin Hutchison of the town team. E. C. Richards acted as sub. for the visitors when one of their men could not resume play. The line-up was:

Cognawagas.	Town Team.
Goal.
R. Graham	Frank Gray
Right Defence.
C. Moffatt	E. Hutchinson
Left Defence.
D. Sproats	A. Jeffrey
Centre.
H. Heal	F. Russell
Right Wing.
A. Wilson	H. Handley
Left Wing.
F. Cripps	S. Sloan
Sub.
	E. C. Richards

H. Lancashire was referee, and T. H. Ingram, official timekeeper; goal referees—for Peterborough D. Sheppard, for Millbrook F. Turner.

A fair crowd of onlookers lined the fence for the game. Spectators would be increased in numbers if there were better accommodation for them at the Cosmos Rink.

CURLING

AT CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 9—Three rinks of Peterborough curlers made a friendly invasion of the town yesterday afternoon and took home two wins out of three. The games were of sixteen ends each and Fred Smith was the only local skip to keep the local men in the winning list. Herald, Peterborough, won from Riendeau, Campbellford, 21-9. Martin, Peterborough, won from Moore, Campbellford, 18-13. Smith, Campbellford, won from Oke of Peterborough, 15-14. After the game the visiting curlers were entertained at dinner at the Clifton Tea Room and returned to Peterborough on the 6.46 train.

MOTOR WITHSTANDS SEVERE TREATMENT

Here is shown the Fairchild monoplane, piloted by Capt. K. F. Saunders, stuck in the ice on Lake Ashouapmouchouan, in northern Quebec, 100 miles from the edge of civilization. The plane settled through the ice after a perfect landing and the motor was encased in ice for eight days, before it was thawed out and the plane dismantled and rebuilt while the mercury was 30 degrees below. Gasoline torches were used to thaw out the ice which encased the motor to a depth of 14 inches and on the first test the motor (similar to that used by Lindberg) started, and Saunders returned to Grande Mere.

Western Census Result Shocks M.P.

OTTAWA, March 9 (Canadian Press). — W. T. Lucas, U.F.A., Camrose, during the Budget debate last night, said the results of the 1926 census of Western Canada were startling, in that the Prairie Provinces had lost the whole of their natural increase in population, amounting to 179,000, as well as 38 per cent. of the new immigration since 1921. This was despite the estimated ten million dollars annually spent on immigration by Federal and Provincial authorities and the railways.

PECULIAR CHINESE CASE.

Hong Kong Court's Decision Against Banking Company Upheld By Privy Council.

LONDON, Mar. 9.— (Canadian Press.)—The judicial committee of the Privy Council dismissed an appeal of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation against the decision of the Supreme Court of Hong Kong.

Lo Shee-shi, a married woman, was given by her husband two $500 notes issued by the corporation. She put them in the pocket of one of her garments, which she later washed without having taken out the notes. When she was about to iron the clothing she noticed a lump in the pocket. This was taken by her husband to the bank, who identified one of the notes and casher it. The other note the bank refused to cash.

At the local court the bank said they could not accept the second note because the number could not be identified. The judge, however, decided in favor of Lo Lee-ship and the Supreme court, by a majority, upheld this decision. The Judicial committee confirmed the ruling.

THEATRES

KEN MAYNARD IN "THE CANYON OF ADVENTURE."

A white horse is one of the outstanding actors in this feature, showing at the Capitol Theatre for the last three days of the week. Tarzan was the name given to the great ape in stories of the same name. Now they have wished it on a horse. But he is a beautiful animal and one of the most intelligent of the screen horses, up to date. An extremely funny trick horse was shown in Lupino Lane's comedy at the Capitol during the first part of the week, and Tom Mix's famous Tony is well known to his admirers. Now comes Tarzan, a blinkerless, pure white beast who takes part in all his master's doings and has some wild riding in various scenes. He is the sort of animal, something like the big gentle Anna who goes about our streets daily, delivering parcels from a railway express wagon, that the onlooker would like to pat on his nice long nose.

Ken Maynard is the hard-riding, fast-moving central figure in "The Canyon of Adventure." He is somewhat like Tom Mix in his appearance, but a trifle more classy, and he falls in love with a lovely, mild Spanish senorita, Dolores, daughter of Don Miguel, whose rancho is coveted by a pair of slant-eyed villains of noble birth, Don Alfredo and his spineless son, Don Luis.

The story moves according to formula. It has a fascinating background in a Spanish hacienda, a setting that includes some wonderful, hazardous chases over plain and mountain, a dashing hero, a melting heroine and a conglomeration of incidents that wind the two within a net of villainous intrigue. What more could one have in a romantic movie? Action a-plenty thrills through the various scenes and a marvellous two-handed sword duel sends the hero through the finale in a blaze of glory, while his white horse thunders madly, at the head of a pounding cavalcade, to his master's rescue. It is true—"Tarzan alone is worth the price of admission."

—Jeanette.

AT THE REGENT.

KELLAND STORY STARTS AT REGENT THEATRE TO-DAY

"The Masked Menace," the new ten chapter Pathe serial adapted from Clarence Budington Kelland's Saturday Evening Post Story, "Still Face," now playing at the Regent Theatre with the showing of "Against Odds," the first chapter, Larry Kent and Jean Arthur, are starred.

Westminster, a New England lumber mill town, is the scene of the amazing, startling and enthralling story written in Mr. Kelland's most entertaining manner. There most interesting things happen almost simultaneously—a stranger comes to town to live and sets tongues wagging because his beautiful face never moves; and Grandma Newton decides to attempt to recoup the afmily fortunes by running the old lumber mill again. The stranger is known as "Still Face," and Grandma's petulant and spoiled granddaughter Faith, objects to throwing what little money they have into the hopeless task of operating the mill. This attitude makes her naturally hateful to Keats Dodd, Grandma's chief support and a very nice young man whom Faith normally should have fallen in love with at sight. But, the insidious and mysterious "Still Face" interests her far more, which is dangerous!

FLAPPER CRITIC "ADORES" CONRAD

Girls—you're going to adore Conrad Nagel as usual, even though you're goink to laugh at him, when you see him in "There You Are," now playing at the Regent theatre. In fact, you'll probably adore him all the more because you laugh at him — because you can't help feeling sorry for him in all his troubles trying to elope with Edith Roberts.

He's terribly funny, with his chase with the angry father, his jump from the apartment window, and the lost baby that almost blights his young life. He is so nice though that even while you howl with laughter you long to stand up and tell his bride that he's really innercent and all that sort of thing. Any girl would go to the rescue of Conrad Nagel in distress.

Conrad starts out as the office boob—he combs his hair in the middle, wears a derby and doesn't know what to do with his hands. All he knows is work—and everybody in the office imposes on him, even Edith Roberts, the boss's daughter. George Fawcett, the boss, likes him because he's willing to work.

Edith does, too, it turns out—because she teaches him to wear tailor made clothes, comb his hair like John Gilbert — and then rushes off and marries him while father races after them in a wild ride through the streets.

It's a scream and a howl — and you'd never recognize Conrad as the Elinor Glyn hero of "The Only Thing." In fact—you'll like him better —he's so much more human in this picture.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally by Drinking Quarts of Good Water.

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and you kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications.

WOMEN MUCH WANTED FOR AUSTRALIAN HOMES

Already More Than 100,000 Surplus Men Waiting For Opportunities To Marry, Says High Commissioner.

LONDON, Mar. 9. — (Canadian Press.)— "Ideal migration would be that the people who went out each year should be the potential makers of a self-supporting community, declares Sir Granville Ryrie, High Commissioner for Australia, in a statement he has just made to the English newspapers. He says at least as many women should go, as Australia already has over 100,000 surplus men.

"Little can be done by Government activity," continues Sir Granville, "The very people who are needed are those who will act upon their own initiative. Australia badly wants men of education ,especially if they have capital, which, after a little local experience, they can invest under their personal supervison. A thousand pounds so invested may prove far more valuable to the investor (and to Australia and Britain) than twice that sum invested impersonally."

Sir Granville says it is natural that the average Briton has found it difficult to understand why Australia seems disposed to assist only farm workers as new settlers, and does not generally extend the assisted passage schemes to artisans and unskilled laborers in secondary industry. Australia's capacity to absorb more wage-earners was however, in direct proportion to the need of capitalists and executive men who will create increased opportunities for wage-earners.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR of THE BENSON MURDER CASE

© Charles Scribner's Sons

THE STORY THUS FAR

Margaret Odell is found strangled. Skeel's finger prints are found in the apartment, but Vance believes Skeel had been hiding in a closet while the strangler did his work. The thing that baffles police is the side door to the alley. It had been bolted on the inside the night before and found that way in the morning. Mannix, Dr. Lindquist and Cleaver all lie about their whereabouts the night of the murder. Spotswoode, who had called on the girl, had rushed to her door at the sound of a scream, but had been reassured through the door that nothing was wrong. Then Skeel is found strangled, after promising to reveal the murderer. Vance then demonstrates how Skeel could have left through the side door and relocked the bolt. He suggests to Markham that Cleaver, Mannix and Spotswoode be invited to play poker with them and he will tell Markham who committed the murder.

CHAPTER XLVII

(Monday, September 17; 9 p. m.)

Vance and I went home after lunch, and at about four o'clock Markham telephoned to say that he had made the necessary arrangements for the evening with Spotswoode, Mannix and Cleaver.

Immediately following this confirmation Vance left the house, and did not return until nearly eight o'clock. Though I was filled with curiosity at so unusual a proceeding, he refused to enlighten me. But when, at a quarter to nine, we went down-stairs to the waiting car, there was a man I did not know in the tonneau; and I at once connected him with Vance's mysterious absence.

"I've asked Mr. Allen to join us to-night," Vance vouchsafed, when he had introduced us. "You don't play poker, and we really need another hand to make the game interestin,' y' know. Mr. Allen, by the bye, is an old antagonist of mine."

The fact that Vance would, apparently without permission, bring an uninvited guest to Markham's apartment amazed me but little more than the appearance of the man himself. He was rather short, with sharp, shrewd features; and what I saw of his hair beneath his jauntily tipped hat was black and sleek, like the painted hair on Japanese dolls. I noted, too, that his evening tie was enlivened by a design of tiny white forget-me-nots, and that his shirt front was adorned with diamond studs.

The contrast between him and the immaculately stylish and meticulously correct Vance was aggressively evident. I wondered what could be the relationship between them. Obviously it was neither social nor intellectual.

Cleaver and Mannix were already on hand when we were ushered into Markham's drawing-room, and a few minutes later Spotswoode arrived. The amenities of introduction over, we were soon seated comfortably about the open log fire, smoking, and sipping very excellent Scotch high-balls.

Markham had, of course, accepted the unexpected Mr. Allen cordially, but his occasional glances in the latter's direction told me he was having some difficulty in reconciling the man's appearance with Vance's sponsorship.

A tense atmosphere lay beneath the spurious and affected affability of the little gathering. Indeed, the situation was scarcely conducive to spontaneity. Here were three men each of whom was known to the others to have been interested in the same woman; and the reason for their having been brought together was the fact that this woman had been murdered.

Markham, however, handled the situation with such tact that he largely succeeded in giving each one the feeling of being a disinterested spectator summoned to discuss an abstract problem.

He explained at the outset that the "conference" had been actuated by his failure to find any approach to the problem of the murder. He hoped, he said, by a purely informal discussion, divested of all officialism and coercion, to turn up some suggestion that might lead to a fruitful line of inquiry. His manner was one of friendly appeal, and when he finished speaking the general tension had been noticeably relaxed.

During the discussion that followed I was interested in the various attitudes of the men concerned. Cleaver spoke bitterly of his part in the affair, and was more self-condemnatory than suggestive.

Mannix was voluble and pretentiously candid, but beneath his comments ran a strain of apologetic wariness.

Spotswoode, unlike Mannix, seemed loth to discuss the matter, and maintained a consistently reticent attitude. He responded politely to Markham's questions, but he did not succeed entirely in hiding his resentment at thus being dragged into a general discussion.

Vance had little to say, limiting himself to occasional remarks directed always to Markham. Allen did not once speak, but sat contemplating the others with a sort of canny amusement.

The entire conversation struck me as utterly futile. Had Markham really hoped to garner information from it, he would have been woefully disappointed. I realized, though, that he was merely endeavoring to justify himself for having taken so unusual a step, and to pave the way for the game of poker which Vance had requested. When the time came to broach the subject, however, there was no difficulty about it.

It was exactly eleven o'clock when he made the suggestion. His tone was gracious and unassuming; but by couching his invitation in terms of a personal request, he practically precluded declination.

But his verbal strategy, I felt, was unnecessary. Both Cleaver and Spotswoode seemed genuinely to welcome the opportunity of dropping a distasteful discussion in favor of playing cards; and Vance and Allen, of course, concurred instantly.

Mannix alone declined. He explained that he knew the game only slightly, and disliked it; though he expressed an enthusiastic desire to watch the others. Vance urged him to reconsider, but without success; and Markham finally ordered his man to arrange the table for five.

I noticed that Vance waited until Allen had taken his place, and then dropped into the chair at his right. Cleaver took the seat at Allen's left. Spotswoode sat at Vance's right; and then came Markham. Mannix drew up his chair midway behind Markham and Cleaver.

Cleaver first named a rather moderate limit, but Spotswoode at once suggested much larger stakes. Then Vance went still higher, and as both Markham and Allen signified their agreement, his figure was accepted. The prices placed on the chips somewhat took my breath away, and even Mannix whistled softly.

That all five men at the table were excellent players became obvious before the game had progressed ten minutes. For the first time that night Vance's friend Allen seemed to have found his milieu and to be wholly at ease.

Allen won the first two hands, and Vance the third and fourth. Spotswoode then had a short run of good luck, and a little later Markham took a large jack-pot which put him slightly in the lead.

Cleaver was the only loser thus far; but in another half-hour he had succeeded in recovering a large portion of his losses. After that Vance forged steadily ahead, only to relinquish his winning streak to Allen. Then for a while the fortunes of the game were rather evenly distributed. But later on both Cleaver and Spotswoode began to lose heavily.

By half-past twelve a grim atmosphere had settled over the party; for so high were the stakes and so rapidly did the betting pyramid, that even for men of means—such as all these players undoubtedly were—the amounts which continually changed hands represented very considerable items.

Just before one o'clock, when the fever of the game had reached a high point, I saw Vance glance quickly at Allen and pass his handkerchief across his forehead.

To a stranger the gesture would have appeared perfectly natural; but, so familiar was I with Vance's mannerisms, I immediately recognized its artificiality. And simultaneously I noticed that it was Allen who was shuffling the cards preparatory to dealing. Some smoke from his cigar evidently went into his eye at this moment, for he blinked, and one of the cards fell to the floor. Quickly retrieving it, he reshuffled the deck and placed it before Vance to cut.

The hand was a jack-pot, and there was a small fortune in chips already on the table. Cleaver, Markham and Spotswoode passed. The decision thus reached Vance, and he opened for an unusually large amount. Allen at once laid down his hand, but Cleaver stayed.

Then Markham and Spotswoode both dropped out, leaving the entire play between Vance and Cleaver. Cleaver drew one card, and Vance, who had opened, drew two. Vance made a nominal wager, and Cleaver raised it substantially. Vance in turn raised Cleaver, but only for a small amount; and Cleaver again raised Vance—this time for an even larger sum than before. Vance hesitated and called him. Cleaver exposed his hand triumphantly.

"Straight flush—jack high," he announced. "Can you beat that?"

"Not on a two-card draw," said Vance ruefully. He put his cards down to show his openers. He had four kings.

FAMOUS LOVE ROMANCES — Dante Gabriel Rossetti and Elizabeth Siddal (V) — By Nicholas Afonsky

Rossetti's married life was short. His wife's health declined as the consumption with which she had so long suffered, gained. She suffered from neuralgia, and took laudunum to deaded the pain. One night when Rossetti returned from a lecture he found her unconscious.

The empty laudunum bottle at her side told of an overdose of her pain reliever. Rossetti rushed off wildly for help to the house of a friend, Maddox Brown. Brown came, with a doctor, but Elizabeth was beyond saving. She lived through the night, but did not regain consciousness, and died at dawn.

Rossetti was wild with grief. He wanted to die, to be buried with her. And before she was buried he stole to her coffin and placed under her gorgeous hair a little book in which, at her request, he had written all his poems—his only copy. It was tied together with a ribbon she had worn.

At first Rossetti hated his painting. He felt that if he had devoted less time to it and more to his wife she might have lived. But later, in his pictures, he brought back the face he had loved so well. His "Beata Beatrix," showing Elizabeth as she passed into death, is one of his greatest.

PICTURES USED TO TRAIN ARMY

Swedish Forces Find Films a Great Aid to Recruits.

ENCOURAGE MEN.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 9.—(Canadian Press).—The film plays an important part in the military education of to-day in Sweden and is destined to do so still more in the future, according to Lieut.-General Baron Louis Sparre, inspector-in-chief of the Swedish artillery. The General pointed out that the film has proved to be of great value in the first instance as a preparation for the practical training of the recruits by demonstrating the general methods of gun drill, driving, etc. In view of the shortened time of military training in Sweden the film also forms an excellent complement in giving the soldiers a more comprehensive and definite idea of the functioning and the effect of military operations and units. Thus, the artillery target-shooting practice has been filmed and serves to convey an adequate idea of the technique, different methods of long-range shooting and of the handling of batteries in action.

Maj.-Gen. Count Reinhold von Rosen, inspector in chief of the Cavalry forces, says that the film serves to inspire new life to military instruction by illustrating to the young recruit both the ultimate object of his military instruction and the way to reach that object. Count von Rosen also points out that the highest stage of instruction lectures on military tactics can be made astonishingly live and illustrative to the hearers by means of the film.

A society called "Army and Marine Films" has been formed in Sweden, and is now working to exploit the possibilities of the film as a valuable aid in military training.

TO HOUSE GOVERNMENT OFFICES

Work on the new Confederation building at Ottawa, of which the foundation stone was laid by Lord Willingdon on Confederation day last year, will be started this year. The building, which is to house government departments, will be of French chateau architecture, which will harmonize with the Chateau Laurier at the other foot of Parliament Hill. The plan resembles a broad arrow, with a main wing of 260 feet on Wellington street and a side wing of 200 feet along Bank street, a third wing bisecting the angle. The Dominion has hitherto been paying out $600,000 annually in rents for government departments, many of which are now accommodated in old houses or store buildings.

EXHIBIT'S VALUE FURTHER SHOWN

C.P.R. Tourist Agent Writes in Praise of Trent Waterways Display.

That the value of the Trent Waterway Development Association exhibit at the National Motor Boat Show in New York City, last January, is recognized, is evidenced by a letter received by the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce here. It is from A. O. Seymour, general tourist agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, of Montreal, who says in part:

"With reference to your Trent Waterway exhibit at the National Motor Boat Show, allow me to thank you for newspaper clippings descriptive of interest in the Kawartha Lakes and Trent Waterway, created by your exhibit. The publicity which you are securing will undoubtedly have a far-reaching effect in making the outstanding attractions of the districts along the Trent Waterway widely and favorably known."

Said Secretary F. G. Stinson, in discussing the letter, "We have always been fortunate in being permitted to co-operate with the publicity departments of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways. They have supplied us with Central Ontario literature and mounted fish and game specimens to augment what we have ourselves for our exhibits. Our contracts with the officials of the railway companies have been mutually satisfactory, and it is evident that the Canadian railways are giving the Kawartha Lakes more publicity year by years, a fact which augurs well for the future development of our tourist traffic."

OLD ATLAS WANTED.

The Editor, The Examiner,
Peterborough, Ontario.
Dear Sir:

I am one of those Canadians—few in numbers alas!—who are interested in the history of their country, and especially of their province. I am Librarian of the largest Library in the province and we are told that it is distinguished especially by its collection of Canadian books. We are adding to these wherever and whenever we can and at present I am looking for copies of the old county atlases which used to be so numerous in my boyhood days. We want to preserve these in our great Reference Library where they will always be available to those who are interested in local history. I shall be glad to hear from any of your readers who has a copy and is willing to either give it to the Library, where it will bear the donor's name, or is willing to dispose of it for a reasonable amount.

GEORGE N. LOCKE.

EXHIBITION OUTLINING CANADIAN EXPLORATION

MONTREAL, Mar. 9. — (Canadian Press.)—A special exhibition of original sources concerning the exploration of Canada is now being held in the museum of the Redpath Library of McGill University and will continue for some time. It furnishes opportunity for the students of Canadian history to review the most important features of exploration in this country. The exhibition is arranged in four different divisions, dealing with the first discoveries of America; the exploration of the St. Lawrence; the explorations of the Pacific coast; and the Hudson Bay and Arctic discoveries.

Probably the most valuable volume in the exhibition is the 1613 edition of "Champlain's Voyages," which was given to the McGill library by F. Griffin in 1877. This volume has since been reprinted by the Champlain Society. The edition in possession of McGill University contains all the plates. One extremely interesting map shows the different fruits and animals found in Canada.

MOZART'S "REQUIEM"

Dorothy Allan Park sang the soprano solos at a very beautiful performance of Mozart's great "Requiem," given recently in Convocation Hall, under the direction of Dr. Ernest MacMillan. Dr. Healy Willan was at the organ, and a chorus of one hundred and twenty-five, and orchestra of sixty all combined to give a wonderful interpretation of Mozart's last work.

Hector Charlesworth, music critic and editor of "Saturday Night," says:
"Dorothy Allan Park, a most attractive young soprano, with a voice of rare tenderness and sweetness, won especial admiration by the artistic finish of her singing."

Fred Jacob, music critic of "Mail and Empire," says:
"They were fortunate also in their quartet, which consisted of Dorothy Allan Park, soprano; Myrtle Hare, contralto; Reginald Heal, tenor, and George Aldcroft, bass, all of them pleasing voices, and their singing of the hauntingly lovely 'Recordare' left little to be desired."

Yenmita in "Toronto Telegram" says:
"The soloists in the "Requiem" did some beautiful singing."

Lawrence Mason, of "The Globe" says:
"The quartet, while light in calibre, was delicious in fresh, pure quality and homogeneous consonance."

Augustus Bridle, music critic of "The Toronto Daily Star," says:
"Dorothy Allan Park, though suffering from a severe cold, was especially brilliant. The four soloists sang so well that it will soon be time to stop importing choral quartetes." 1d, 59, 585

Obituary

MRS. JOHN WALSH.

Word has reached the city of the death of Mrs. John Walsh, which took place to-day in Hastings. Further details will be given in Saturday's paper.

MRS. W. A. HUNTER

HAMILTON, Ont., Mar. 9 (Special to The Examiner).—Ada Johnson, wife of W. A. Hunter, Peterborough, died here this morning, after a brief illness. She had been visiting her son, Bert Hunter, 392 Ottawa Street North, Hamilton. She is survived by two sons: Bert of this city, and W. R. of Oshawa; one daughter, Mrs. Percy Gilbert, Fairmount, Sask.; three sisters, Mrs. H. Fife and Mrs. Boyce, both of Peterborough, and Mrs. James Sanderson of Davidson, Sask.; and four brothers. Roland Johnston of Toronto, George Johnson of Peterborough, Robert and Andrew in western Canada. The remains will be conveyed to Peterborough via C.N.R. from here 11.30 tomorrow morning to Comstock's Funeral Parlors.

The funeral will take place on Monday, March 12, at 2.00 p.m., the Rev. W. Allan conducting the services. Interment will be in Lakefield Cemetery.

W. I. LADIES HOLD DARNING CONTEST

Mrs. Jennie Parks and Mrs. George Walker Win at Warkworth.

WARKWORTH, Mar. 9. — A sock darning contest caused much interest, at the regular meeting of the Warkworth Women's Institute, prizes being awarded to Mrs. Jennie Parks and Mrs. George Walker. The judges were Mrs. James McCracken and Miss Lillian Wilson.

Mrs. William Duncan was the hostess at the meeting, which was held on Wednesday afternoon, while the program was in charge of Mrs. Jennie Parks and Mrs. Corey Zuefelt. The business part of the meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. H. C. Kelly. Twenty-five dollars was unanimously voted to be donated to Miss Roland, Red Cross nurse in Coe Hill, who is putting forth great effort to equip a hospital as it is greatly needed there.

The Dramatic Club of Dartford presented a popular play, "Wanted a Wife," in Norwood recently, and $75 was realized from the evening.

Rev. W. W. Jones, pastor of St. Paul's church, is preaching a series of sermons during Lent based on the experiences of our Lord during passion week. On February 26, the subject was, 'When the King Cometh In,' March 4, 'The King Teacher and Lord,' March 11, 'The King and His Lent,' March 18, 'The King and Holy Communion,' March 25, 'The King and His Sin Offering,' April 1, 'The King in No Man's Land, or Where Does the Soul Go at Death.' At the evening service throughout Lent, the pastor is preaching a series of special sermons on the subject of the Church. The choir is also providing splendid musical leadership.

MUSICAL EVENING IS GREAT SUCCESS

Get Together Group of St. James' Ladies' Aid Holds Social.

A splendid attendance featured the musical evening given by the Get-Together Group of St. James' Ladies' Aid last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Spurway, George Street. The group leader, Mrs. F. Armstrong, welcomed the guests to the number of more than fifty, and Mrs. F. B. Elliott presided. The programme was opened with prayer by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Dudgeon. Piano solos were given by Olive Prest and Ashton Fife, and a pleasing vocal solo by Dorothy Dudgeon. Mr. J. John, as usual, delighted everyone with his highly humorous readings. A. Robertson contributed a violin solo, accompanied by Mrs. Goodfellow at the piano. Miss Jean Patterson's reading was of a humorous type and greatly appreciated. Recalled again and again, S. Robertson sang in splendid voice, as did George Cuffe in a vocal solo. A duet sung by Mr. and Rev. Mr. Dudgeon was also much applauded. The accompanists for the musical numbers were Mrs. Goodfellow, Olive Prest, Marjorie Dudgeon, and Eva Spurway. All responded generously to the persistent encores. A guessing contest created considerable amusement, the prize being won by Mrs. A. Cripps, while F. Armstrong carried away the consolation prize. The refreshments were also in charge of Mesdames Armstrong, Fell, Fife, Elliott, and Spurway, who were assisted in serving by Mrs. Hogan, Mrs. Swanger, Olive Prest, Jean Patterson, Eva Spurway, Ashton Fife, and Will Patterson.

A vote of thanks on behalf of the group was extended to all those contributing to the enjoyment of the evening, and to Mr. and Mrs. Spurway for opening their home for the occasion, was accompanied by a hearty clap of hands, bringing to a conclusion a most successful affair.

OSHAWA HAS BEEN CITY FOR YEARS

Mayor Stresses Rapid Growth in His Anniversary Remarks.

OSHAWA, Ont., March 9.—Yesterday Oshawa celebrated her fourth birthday, since attaining the status of a city. Four years ago, the conversion of Oshawa from townhood to the full rights as a city, was ushered in to the accompaniment of a 25-gun salute, with whistles and horns blowing, and a great cheering crowd at the "Four Corners."

Mayor Robert D. Preston yesterday said: "Never has there been a city in Canada that has attracted so much attention by its rapid growth, by commercial enterprise, and progress. Great advancement has been made since the first day Oshawa became a city.

Oshawa's population has jumped from 14,200 in 1923, to well over 20,000 last year.

The assessment figures are also interesting, showing an increase from $1,922,345 in 1924 to $14,477,330 in 1927.

FARMER SHOT AS GRAIN THIEF

Wounds Believed Fatal, Inflicted By Neighbor's Hired Man.

HAD SACK OF GRAIN.

HAMILTON, March 9. — Cecil Silverthorne, a farmer of Caistor Centre, was reported last night to be dying in St. Joseph's Hospital as a result of gunshot wounds he received in the head when he was shot, it is alleged, by a hired man in the barn of Lloyd Tice, a neighbor. Tice, it is stated, has been missing grain from his barn for some weeks, and placed the hired man on watch with a shotgun. The hired man is said to have been Stephen Bygrave.

The provincial police are investigating the case, and from what can be learned the shooting occurred last Monday night. Tice is said to have gone to a party on Monday night, and left Bygrave, the hired man, to watch for the marauder, who had been consistently, it is said, stealing sacks of grain from Tice's barn.

Says Sack was Taken.

Bygrave is said to have taken a position of concealment in the haymow of the barn. About 9.45 p.m., he is said to have seen some one enter the barnyard of the farm, then pause nervously and withdraw. About 45 minutes later a man was again seen to enter the barnyard and proceed to the granary, where he took a sack of grain. Bygrave is said to have ordered the man to drop the sack, and the man did so.

Bygrave is then alleged to have raised his shotgun with the intention of firing it over the man's head. The gun, it is said, discharged prematurely, and the man received the charge in his head. Bygrave went to the man's aid, and then discovered for the first time, it is said, that the alleged thief was Cecil Silverthorne, a well known neighbor.

Silverthorne was first removed to a hospital at Dunnville, but was later brought to St. Joseph's Hospital this city. The back of his head is said to have been riddled with shot and something like 50 pellets were removed. Doctors believe that the man will not recover

OUTLINES PLAN FOR SETTLING LANDS OF WEST

Vancouver Member Would Add Two Million Settlers Within Ten Years.

OVER PRAIRIE PROVINCES.

Urges Free Homsteads, Tax Exemptions and Government Subsidy.

OTTAWA, March 10 (Canadian Press).—Immigration proposals to settle 2,000,000 immigrants in the three Prairie Provinces during the next ten years were advocated in the House yesterday by Gen. A. D. McRae (Conservative, Vancouver N). Under the policy proposed by Gen. McRae, the federal government would be called upon to finance $300,000,000 for the entire period, to be covered by the issue of special land bonds or debentures.

In his proposals, Gen. McRae advocated:

1.—The development of Peace River district as a great imperial settlement on co-operative basis between the Dominion Government, Alberta, British Columbia and the Imperial Government.

2.—Construction of a trunk line to the Pacific Coast as an outlet for the Peace River district.

3.—Granting of free homsteads of scrub and light timbered lands in the Prairie Provinces and in lands easily drained, free from taxes for five years, and subject only to cost of clearing and construction of modest farm buildings.

4.—Clearing of fifty per cent. of homestead by the government at a cost of $1,500, including log house and barn; this amount to be a charge on the land.

5.—Repayment of $1,500 charge by settler only to start in sixth year of occupation, with indebtedness to spread over thirty year period at four and a half per cent interest.

Crop Payment Plan

6.—Provincial co-operation for the sale of unoccupied lands near railways to new settlers on crop payment plan and with view to relief from taxation for first five years.

7. — Establishment of community clubs to guide and assist settlers in their new homes.

8.—Use of successful western farmers as colonization agents in Europe and United States.

9.—Co-ordination of federal and provincial government immigration activities in London and more active participation in immigration by the High Commissioner.

10—Efforts to increase women immigration to even "unbalanced population" in prairie provinces.

11.—Immigration efforts to be confined to prospective farmers and domestic servants.

12.—Exclusion of undesirable races.

ATTEMPT MADE TO KIDNAP GIRL

Jean Whaley, Eight, Badly Frightened By Strange Man.

RUNS INTO STORE.

Jean Whaley, little eight year old daughter of Murt Whaley, 504 Murray street, rushed in to the grocery store of Gordon Hudson, at the corner of Elm and Park streets, about 7.30 on Thursday night, in a hysterical condition. The little girl had been stopped on the street by a man who tried to coax her to get into his car. She became scared and rushed to the grocery store. The man is described as tall and dark, with a moustache, and wearing glasses. He is similar to the man who attempted to enter the home of C. H. Ackerman on Monday night. Mr. Hudson took the girl to her home.

Wife Of Mine Owner Off On Long Flight

LONDON, Mar. 10.—(Canadian Press.)— Lady Mary Bailey, wife of Sir Abe Bailey, Transvaal mine owner, yesterday started on a solo flight of 6,000 miles from Croydon field to Cape Town, South Africa. She plans to make her journey in short hops, stopping at Paris last night and then visiting in succession Rome, Malta, Bengazi and Cairo.

She is flying a de Haviland Moth plane capable of remaining in the air ten hours at a stretch.

Lady Bailey should meet Lady Heath, former Mrs. Elliot-Lynn, who is flying alone from the Cape to London and is somewhere in Central Africa. Lady Heath recently was forced down when flying to Buluwayo from Pretoria. She had suffered a sunstroke.

Lady Bailey, before starting, said her trip was purely for private amusement—to see how far she could get. Her destiantion was Cape Town. "But," she remarked, "I think I am too much of a novice to say anything about it, and I can't tell that until I get going."

334 MEMBERS JOIN CHAMBER

Executive Decides To Have Open Nominations For Election.

ARRANGING BANQUET.

A well attended meeting, despite the storm, of the executive council of the Chamber of Commerce was held last evening in the offices of the Chamber, over the Dominion Bank, George Street. The Council had the satisfaction of voting in a lengthy list of new members, the result of the Forward Movement. The list was representative of every line of business and professional activity, and totalled 334 men and women of the city, and some from surrounding territory. These new members augment the paid-up membership 160 in number of the fiscal year just closed.

Financial report presented by the secretary contained the gratifying information that the Chamber's revenue had been doubled and that there would be a nice surplus available for community and publicity work during the current year.

In keeping with the promise during the Forward campaign, that the new membership would have an opportunity to express themselves at the annual election and during the year, it was decided to publish, as soon as possible, a list of the full membership of the Chamber from which each member would be asked to select thirty-two names—the thirty-two receiving the highest mention to constitute the Official Ticket. The membership during the general election this month would then vote for sixteen out of the thirty-two, according to the constitution and by-laws of the Chamber.

President Gillespie, in commenting on the plans for the annual election, said the arrangements passed upon should renew the interest in the election and clearly indicate to members that it is their Chamber and that they are expected to to have a voice and take a hand in the conducting of its affairs.

The president and secretary were appointed a committee to further plans for the annual meeting, in banquet form at the Empress Hotel, to be held possibly during the last week in March, depending upon the convenience of a speaker.

The secretary reported negotiations with the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Montreal, in an endeavor to have the Dominion President, A. M. Dollar, who is returning from Europe shortly, address the annual general meeting. Assurance had been made by the Dominion secretary that Peterborough would be on Mr. Dollar's itinerary. In the event of Mr. Dollar coming, it was decided to invite the officers of the Chambers and Boards of Trade in the nearby communities.

That the Chamber acting on the advice of J. J. Duffus had on March 1st extended an invitation to visit Peterboroubh this summer, to the Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, was reported by the secretary.

Empire Shopping Week, April 21st to 28th, under the patronage of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, was favorably passed on and endorsed, the executive expressing a desire to do everything possible to help the movement along.

THE WEATHER

Usually the heaviest snowfalls of the winter occur during the first half of March, and this year has been no exception. There is much more snow on the ground at present than at any time during the present season, and every new days appear to add some more. From reports I have heard this particular section has escaped lightly compared with more northern localities. Temperature this morning, two degrees above zero—clear, crisp and calm.—W. P.

PASSENGERS RESCUED FROM WRECKED SHIP

All Taken Off Robert E. Lee and Brought Safetly To Shore.

TWO MEN DROWNED.

Coastguardsmen Lose Lives When Boat Capsizes in Heavy Seas.

BOSTON, Mass., March 10 (Canadian Press). — The Eastern Steamship Company reported that all of the 150 passengers on the stranded liner Robert E. Lee had been safely removed and landed on the State Pier at Plymouth shortly after noon to-day. Passengers were to be taken back to Boston in motor busses and dropped off at the most convenient places for them to continue their journey to New York.

Two members of the Manomet Coastguard Station were believed to have been drowned this forenoon when their surf boat capsized in the heavy sea while returning to the shore from the stranded liner Robert E. Lee. Seven others who clung to the overturned boat were rescued.

The steamer was high and dry on the Mary Ann Rocks two miles off Manomet Point, at low tide this morning. A message to the Point coastguard station at nine a.m. said that at that hour there was no water in the engine room, which a few hours earlier had been flooded. The weather was improving, and those on board were considered in no danger.

Radio messages from the Robert E. Lee during the night had indicated that she was in great danger, but later word was that the first fears of Captain Robinson had abated, that all the passengers were comfortable, and that there was no confusion aboard.

At 9.45, after several attempts, the crew from the Manomet Point Coastguard Station succeeded in launching a surf boat, and after a furious struggle with the rough sea, pulled alongside the stranded steamer.

SNOW STORM BLOCKS TRAFFIC

WIRES DAMAGED.

BELLEVILLE, arch 10. Canadian Press. — Swirling snow, heavy gales and lower temperature visited this district yesterday, the result has been the complete tie up of all traffic as well as causing much inconvenience to the citizens. The blizzard starting early yesterday with a heavy snow storm, the wind increasing in intensity until it was a gale and the snow was piled high on the walks and against the buildings. The main arteries of traffic to and from the city are completely blocked and the provincial snow plows have been working all day to clear them. The country roads are impossible to travel. Towards night a decided dip in temperature took place, sending the citizens shivering to their homes. At eight o'clock the thermometer stayed close to zero with a biting heavy wind holding in the northwest. The high wind caused local trouble at both the hydro and Bell Telephone plants and a large gang of men were sent out to repair the damage. Most of the trouble was caused by crossing of wires, making short circuits. The morning trains in and out of the city were held close to schedule but the night trains were from one to two hours late. Snow plows of the railways were out for the first time this winter, it being the worst storm of the season.

GIVES TALK ON VALUE OF INDIAN

Rev. W. G. Watlon Addresses Junior Auxiliary of All Saints' Church.

SLIDES SHOWN.

Under the auspices of the Junior Auxiliary of All Saints' church, the Rev. William Gladstone Walton, recently returned from missionary and medical work among the Eskimos and Indians of the territory east of Hudson Bay, delivered a most informative address last evening, at the above named church. Illustrated as it was by some sixty lantern slides, his message held the attention of his audience throughout. It varied from his address before the Kiwanis Club on Friday at noon, in that the Indian rather than the Eskimo, was the chief subject.

The speaker was introduced by the Rev. Douglas Paterson, whose guest he was during his stay in the city, and at the conclusion of his address a hearty vote of appreciation was accorded the man, who is sometimes called "The Little Northpolean," because of his work in the north and because he is of stature not unlike the famous Napoleon.

Two Children of Former British Premier Follow Father's Footsteps Into Politics

LONDON, March 10 (A.P.).—Two children of former Premier Ramsay MacDonald, Labor leader, have followed their father into active politics, Ishbel and Malcolm having been elected to the London County Council in Thursday's balloting.

The MacDonald clan may thus continue to be represented to the House of Commons for years if Ishbel and Malcolm follow up their victories, as the council, particularly for Laborites, is a stepping-stone to Parliament.

Both of the young MacDonalds already have considerable political experience; Ishbel at Number 10 Downing Street, where she was hostess for her father when he was Premier, and Malcolm at Oxford, where he was a member of the debating team. Both have done electioneering for the Laborites.

Unlike young Oliver Baldwin, who wants to get into Parliament as a Socialist, so that he can oppose his father's government, Malcolm MacDonald is ambitious to carry on his father's work as an "intellectual Socialist." He recently declined a good position as secretary to the Simon statutory commission to India, so as to be free for the parliamentary campaign of 1929.

Ishbel has a dual interest, politics and social welfare work for which she has plenty of work in the Poplar division, which she represents on the council. Malcolm was elected from Limehouse division, Stepney.

RUMANIAN-HUNGARIAN DISPUTE LAID OVER UNTIL NEXT JUNE

Argument Between Two Countries Causes Flare-up in Assembly.

TITULESCU REBUKED.

Tried To Bind To Certain Conditions Proposed New Members of Arbitration Board.

GENEVA, March 10 (Associated Press).—Sighs of relief arose when the Council of the League of Nations last night let it be known that a satisfactory reference had been found for postponing the Rumanian-Hungarian dispute until June The argument between the two countries, which arises from claims by Hungarian landowners in the Transylvania provinces of Rumania, caused an open flareup in the meeting of the Council and finally forced a two-hour executive session.

Nicholas Titulescu, Rumanian Foreign Minister, was the storm centre. In the opening session he drew rebukes from the representatives of Great Britain, France and Germany when he tried to bind to certain conditions two proposed new members of the mixed arbitration board to which the dispute would go. But M. Titulescu held to his course, explaining that he was representing the ideas of his home government.

Question Laid Over.

A suggestion that the entire question be postponed until the June meeting of the Council was adopted. Then M. Titulescu objected to the form of the Council's resolution, and the doors were closed while members of the Council consumed two hours in finding words that would satisfy both parties.

Aside from this knotty problem, the proceedings were peaceful. Turkey, at the suggestion of Soviet Russia, was invited to participate in the proceedings of the preparatory commission on disarmament.

The Council sent cordial invitations to Brazil and Spain, asking those countries to reconsider their decision to drop out of the League, and it also held out an olive branch to Costa Rica, whose membership had already been cancelled.

F. P. O'CONNOR BUYS ESTATE

Former Peterborough Man Purchases Three Farms Outside Toronto.

PLANS NEW RESIDENCE

TORONTO, March 10.—Another big millionaire's estate is to be established out beyond Leaside is the latest announcement in realty circles. It constitutes the purchase of 500 acres by Frank P. O'Connor, president of the Laura Secord Candy Co., which he has acquired from different farm owners for about $225,000. The property constitutes the Holden, White and Barber farms. The whole property is located on Dawes Road, just south of the Donalda estate owned by Mrs. Dunlap and about four miles north of Danforth Avenue.

It is the intention of Mr. O'Connor to eventually establish an estate out of the property and to have a large racing stable. Already the John Russell Construction Co. is preparing plans for making extensive alterations to the present stables on the property at a cost of about $25,000.

In the not distant future Mr. O'Connor will build a fine new residence on the property and when the whole proposition is completed it will add another estate to the many millionaires' homes which have been established in the north-east suburbs of the city.

British Aviator Will Fly To Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Mar. 10. —(Canadian Press.) — Captain Walter Hinchcliffe, noted British flier, will come to Philadelphia on his Westbound trans-Atlantic flight, which may start at any time, according to an announcement yesterday by Hollinshead N. Taylor, chairman of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce aviation committee.

The captain will compete for the Evening Bulletin's prize of $25,000, for the first non-stop flight fom an European city to Philadelphia. The aviation committee is the custodian of the award.

Mr. Taylor, who has been in constant contact with Captain Hinchcliffe and John Gillespie, his American representative, announced that he had advised the flier and his associates not to make the effort at this time, but to wait until May when weather conditions were more propitious.

SUPPLIES SELL QUICKLY TO-DAY

Few Vendors Brave Bad Roads To Visit Farmers' Market.

PRODUCTS SCARCE.

The bad condition of the roads brought fewer vendors than usual to the farmers' market this morning, and the few that were present, especially in the basket section, reported that they could have sold twice the quantity of dairy produce that had been brought in. Supplies were sold out at an early hour. Butter was priced at 42 and 43 cents a pound, eggs at 40 cents a dozen, cream at 30 cents a pint and chickens at 35 cents a pound.

On the open market, staples were on sale, pork in front and hind quarters, root vegetables, with potatoes priced a nickel above last week's quotation, and selling at $1.65 a bag, and a few fowl, all at the regular prices obtaining throughout the cold season.

THIRTY MINERS BELIEVED LOST

Men Are Entombed In Burning Mexican Mine Tunnel.

RESCUERS SUFFOCATED.

MEXICO CITY, March 10 (Canadian Press).—A despatch to the Excelsior to-day said that thirty miners were entombed in one of the tunnels of the Aurora Mine, near Texiutlan. Fire broke out inside the mine and part of the walls caved in when the burning timbers gave way. Sixty miners were rescued and thirty others were believed to be inside, with little hope held for their safety. Two members of the rescuing crew were choked to death by the fumes when they attempted to enter the shaft.

MONS CLEARED BEFORE SIGNING OF ARMISTICE

Currie Declares Canadians Entered Town Before Midnight on Tenth.

TO STRAIGHTEN LINE.

Hard To Hold Men Back in Last Few Days As Germans Retreated, He Says.

COBOURG, March 10 (Canadian Press)—"The Canadian troops entered Mons at midnight. The town was cleared at four-thirty in the morning. The armistic was signed at five o'clock, and I did not receive notice of it until a quarter to seven," said General Sir Arthur Currie, in a brief interview here today. "We were through Mons and on the other side before the armistice was signed and yet I am accused of sacrificing the lives of Canadians to take the city. Nothing could be more false," continued Sir Arthur.

The former Canadian Corps Commander came here today to attend examination for discovery in a suit for alleged libel which he has brought against F. W. Wilson, publisher of The Port Hope Guide, and W. T. R. Preston, author of an article which appeared in The Guide on June 13, 1927.

The article complained of declared there had been useless sacrifice of human life in order that the Canadian Headquarters Staff might have the honor of saying that the Canadians had fired the last shot in the war and captured the last German entrenchments."

Not only had there not been useless waste of life, Sir Arthur said, but all that the Canadians had done was to straighten out their line and get a 'good place to kick off from" before the armistice went into effect at eleven o'clock. There had been no effort to drive Canadian troops into the fray on those last days when the German line was crumpling before the hammer blows of the Allied troops. The difficulty was rather to hold them back. One unit, the Princess Pats, said Sir Arthur, had strenuously objected to leaving the line when their time came to be relieved by other Canadian troops.

Brings Documents.

COBOURG, March 10. (Special.)—General Sir Arthur Currie arrived here yesterday for the purpose of appearing at the preliminary proceedings of the $50,000 suit which he is bringing against the Port Hope Guide. He brought with him a series of maps, documents, and other papers which were required for the proceedings. While in Cobourg General Currie is the guest of the Dunham Hotel. From there he will direct his operations as he did from corps headquarters in France. Interviewed by The Examiner General Currie spoke freely on the case and said there was no doubt that he would continue to the bitter end or till victory rested in his camp.

"My instructions to the company commanders were not to go ahead if the machine gunfire proved too strong," he said. "At 6.45 a.m. I received instructions that hostilities should cease at 11.00 a.m., but these instructions did not say to cease fighting at seven, eight or nine o'clock. No one knew that the armistice would be approved, and in any event it would have been traitorous to the British on the right and the Belgians on the left to have stopped fighting. Not one Canadian was killed in that sector on Armistice Day."

Asked as to the sentiment attached to the re-capture of Mons, Currie admitted there was from a British point of view, and expressed a wish for liberty to snow letters he had received from British officers expressive of their appreciation. One of these was from General Horne. General Currie also recalled the fact that in this area the major portion of the German atrocities had been committed. It was there that the Princess Pats had refused to leave their trenches when the 42nd Battalion came to relieve them.

Mons was also important from a military point of view. It was a railway centre, and of major importance if the armistice were not approved.

Regarding the article published in the Port Hope Guide, and which is responsible for the present court action, General Currie absolutely denies the truth of it. "There is not one statement in that article," he declared, "that has a vestige of truth except the one, that I did not receive anything from Parliament." Later he divulged that extracts from the speeches of Sir Sam Hughes in 1919 and 1920 and letters from Sir Sam to Sir Robert Borden would figure in the action.

First On Scene.

General Currie was the first principal figure to arrive at the office of J. T. Field this morning where proceedings began in the suit. R. H. Parmenter, Toronto, D. H. Chisholm, K.C., Port Hope, and A. R. Willmott, Cobourg, are the legal authorities who will uphold the Currie interests. Frank Regan, K.C., Ottawa, and T. P. Hall, K.C., Cobourg, will appear for the defence.

Immediately the Court opened the room was filled with press men and others interested in the case. General Currie sat in a chair just at the end of the long table. A minute before proceedings began he left his chair

Historic House On Real Estate Market

LONDON, March 10.—(Canadian Press).— Shotton Hall, Shrewsbury, is for sale. The house is in the market by order of the Dowager Lady Cambridge. It is of moderate size and stands in about 230 acres, on a site commanding beautiful views. A large outlay has been made in improvements, and it is only about a year ago that a new electricity plant was installed. The Queen has stayed at Shotton Hall on more than one occasion, and from there the Prince of Wales was recently to have gone to open the new bridge at Shrewsbury, but the ceremony was cancelled owing to the illness of the Marquess of Cambridge.

LAYMEN'S TASK TO INTERPRET

A. H. Cuttle, of Toronto, Addresses Anglican Laymen's Association.

CAN DO GREAT DEAL.

"I see a new life being born in our church through the formation of these groups of men up and down the diocese determined to bring to the church something of the vitality of business and the professions," said A. H. Cuttle, financial commissioner of the Diocese of Toronto, addressing the Anglican Laymen's Association, at a supper meeting last night.

He spoke of a request from a small church for visitation from city rectors and choirs and commended the Peterborough men for introducing this effort in the diocese by its efforts in this deanery.

To line up the whole lay membership of the church behind the whole program of the church was the slogan advanced by Mr. Cuttle for the association. The weakness of the church has been that the laymen have not been behind the whole program and have not been interested or working in every movement..

"Like a mighty army Moves the Church of God"

he quoted, and expressed the opinion that too many place a low standard in the church and consequently it has not advanced as it should.

Some say the church is dead. That is not right because nothing from God ever died, but there is sometimes a type of sleeping sickness because the men have not put their energy into it. They have lost the vision. It rests upon the laymen to revive the church and listen to the appeal from all parts of the world for help.

He quoted the Hon. W. H. Price as saying that the church has never faced such a responsibility as it does now, because of the change in home life. Mr. Price is a man whose position helps him to know what is going on. It is the responsibility of the laymen of the church to take the place of the parents who are often delinquent.

He told of a curate who went to a well-to-do home in Toronto. The lady of the house did not recognize him and when he told her two of her children were members of his Sunday School, she replied: "Oh, is that where they go? I knew they went some place every Sunday afternoon"

The responsibility is facing the men, not only to act as rectors or teachers but often as foster parents.

"I am wondering about the boyhood and girlhood of to-morrow," he said, "and I am determined that we shall have something to say about these thing."

Mr. Cuttle spoke of the book, "The World Call," sent out by the Archbishop of Canterbury telling of the needs for men and money for the countries. This call, he declared, is greater than the call of business and he urged the men to answer the call of the church.

He commended the suggestion that the association should form a visiting committee, not to ask for money but to bring the men to the church. The order given him for his work was information, inspiration and then finance. Telling the people first, the association can get them into the church, where its inspiration can take effect and then the finances of the church will take care of themselves.

He told of one church which has not had a canvass in three years, making an appeal rather of brotherhood, which raised $9,000 last year for purposes outside the parish.

Mr. Tuttle spoke of the vast number of non-British immigrants coming to this country and of the appeal of the church for men to make them good Christian Canadian citizens.

He told of the little Chinese girl who heard the story of Christ going up and down doing good and said, "That is the missionary in my village." Could not, he asked, the men live in such a way that these people coming into the country would say that they saw Christ in a man in Peterborough or Toronto or elsewhere. This is the world call.

He turned to the troubles in Arabia and asked if they would have existed if Christians of former days had established a native church in that country. Great Britain has great political responsibility to these people and the church has the great responsibility of taking the gospel to these people. This is the world call.

The task of the church is to carry Christ to all parts of the world and interpret Him to the people of these countries, he declared in conclusion.

Charles Lacheur, president, was chairman and a fair number of men braved the stormy evening to gather in Hooper's parlors for the meeting of inspiration and fellowship. Ways of advancing the cause of the church in this city and deanery were discussed.

BIGGER FAIR IS PROMISED FOR THIS YEAR

Increased Appropriations Being Made For All Parts of Show.

ADMISSION UNCHANGED.

Abuse of Membership Tickets Brings Withdrawal From Public Sale.

Twenty-one members of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Board braved the elements last night to attend a metting of the directors in the board room of the Chamber of Commerce. Portions of the 1928 prize list were accepted and the remainder will wait until the chairmen in charge submit their complete lists. The rules and regulations were entirely revised by William Knox and accepted by the board.

The big show this year will be from September 10 to 15 inclusive and bigger and better attractions than ever are booked. The gate admission will remain the same as last year, 35 and 15 cents. Some members of the board would have liked to see the admission reduced, but when it was pointed out that every committee chairman was asking for more money this year, the motion by W. F. Turner and S. Oke that the admission be 35 cents for adults and 15 cents for children and on Children's Day 5 cents, carried unanimously. There will be an advance sale of tickets during the last week of August when four will be sold for a dollar. These advance sale tickets will be good only at the admission gate.

No reserved seats will be placed in the grandstand this year. For the last three days of the Exhibition the grandstand admittance fee will be 50 and 25 cents, and on the first three days 35 and 15 cents. Formerly there was no performance in front of the grandstand on Monday but the admission at the gate to the grounds will be free. The grandstand has never paid the cost of the performance and in raising the price this year the directors felt that the show which will be better than than last, would be well worth the money. There will be no horse racing or jumping on the first three days, hence the reduction in the price.

No membership tickets will be sold this year, as it was found the privilege was being abused these last few years.

S. Lowe, chairman of the horse race committee, asked for an increase of $750, but the matter was left over for a future meeting. In the Percheron horse class it was decided that nothing but registered stock could be shown.

ROAD KEPT OPEN DESPITE STORM

Two Plows Used All Day Between Here and Port Hope.

ONE OUT ALL NIGHT.

Notwithstanding the blizzard-like weather of yesterday and the night previous, the roads between Port Hope and Peterborough were kept open owing to special efforts made by the Department of Highways, operating from the Port Hope office.

Two snow ploughs were on the roads yesterday and last night one plough continued the good work, making the road fit for motor travelling. This is quite an achievement, when the nature of the weather of the past few days is considered.

Bad in North

TORONTO, March 10 (Canadian Press).—Ontario was today digging herself out of one of the worst falls of snow this winter, after 24 hours of severe weather. The Meteoriogical Bureau here belived that the cessation of the storm was general so far as this portion of Canada was concerned and fair weather rules, with bright sunshine in this and many other districts of the province today.

Parts of Western Ontario and the north country suffered most from the storm's onslaught. Roads are still generally blocked to the north while many east and west highways were obstructed by heavy drifts. Train services generally were badly interrupted, especially in North Ontario and the Sault, Michigan area. Motor bus highway services will not be back to normal until the task of clearing the heavy drifts has been completed. Municipal transportation services were kept operating throughout the province by continuous employment of full snow plough and sweeper equipment.

ANY ATTEND TENTH PARTY AT HAVELOCK

Robert Anderson's Birthday Falls on January 29— Presents Given.

CARDS AND DANCING.

Address Read By C. Jamieson and Presents Given By J. Craighead.

HAVELOCK, Mar. 10.—A very enjoyable birthday party was given by Robert Anderson when he celebrated his tenth birthday on Wednesday evening. Mr. Anderson's birthday is on Feb. 29th, but owing to illness in the family the party was postponed.

The rooms were attractively decorated for the occasion in violet and white, and the program for the evening consisted of cards and dancing, and included a recitation by Joseph Faulkner. After the service of refreshments, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were presented with a beautiful floor lamp and large box of chocolates as a token of high esteem and good wishes for a long and happy life. The presentation was accompanied by an appropriate address read by C. Jamieson, while the gifts were presented by J. Craighead.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John Hart, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sexsmith, of Smith's Falls; Mr. Gardner, Miss Viola Menzies, Mr. John McConnell, Miss Ina McConnell, Miss Edith Gardner, Miss Ruby Gardner and Mrs. Charles Menzies, of Norwood; Messrs. Personals.

ROADS ARE BAD AROUND WARSAW

Only Motor Sleigh Can Make Travelling Possible Over Snow.

WARSAW, March 10.—Warsaw stage has made the trip but one way a day so far this week. While not impassable, the roads are quite bad. During the storm on Wednesday, Hilliard Clements made the trip from Peterborough to beyond Warsaw in one and a quarter hours. No other conveyance could have done it in double the time. Mr. Clements has newly equipped his machine, and he has never had an upset. He can actually go where a team could not, if the road is too bad, he travels on the snow banks.

As a result of the storm, the stores got a little short of such commodities as have to be delivered daily, the stage not making its regular trips, and farmers not caring to do teaming from Peterborough.

Personals.

Mrs. Gannon (formerly Bessie Crowe) is visiting relatives near Warsaw.

Rev. Ira D. Pierce is visiting in Warsaw, and taking the opportunity to see the Armenian boys in the district.

Mr. John Clark, who has been living alone, and not able to care for himself, has gone to the House of Refuge for the remainder of the cold weather.

MILLBROOK ROLL OPEN FOR MONTH

Only $189 Outstanding—Many Meetings and Social Activities.

MILLBROOK, March 10.—The March meeting of the Council was a brief session, the time for the return of the collector's roll was extended until April 2, to permit getting in the $189.25 still outstanding. The municipal printing contract with the local office is to be renewed for 1928 on the same terms as last year.

The following accounts were ordered paid: B. Freelove, $1.25; A. Wilson, 65c; W. West, $1.25; G. Howson, $3; S. Bonner, $3; Aubrey Todd, 50c; S. Donnelly, $2; Millbrook Telephone Company, $3.70; S. E. Eakins, $5.74; H. Natress, $20.90; Burnham Bros., $1; W. G. Russell & Sons, $15.75; Hydro-Electric, $3.77.

Real Estate Charges.

Councillor T. J. Lang has been putting through some real estate deals within the last week, the latest being the sale of the D. Robinson farm east of the village, to Fred White, of Frobisher, Sask., the new owner taking immediate possession; the Richard Parker property at Bailleboro, which includes two houses and seven acres of land, has been sold to Wesley Thompson of that village. William Finnimore, who sold his farm east of the village to J. Thompson, moved in this week to the house on Distillery Street, formerly occupied by R. Brown; the latter is now living in the George Hetherington homestead on Bank Street; Mr. and Mrs. Hetherington occupying the new home which her sister, the late Mrs. Mulligan, was building for her own residence, and which was not quite completed at the time of her decease.

Organist Honored.

The congregation of Trinity Church, recently remembered their organist, Miss Mildred Wood, for her faithful services, by the gift of a silver fountain pen, repeating the expression of appreciation made to Miss Lillian Crocker, who had supplied at the church services during Miss Wood's illness.

Rev. P. C. Howard read a brief address, and E. Blakely offered the gift, and also signed the address with W. Wood.

G. Fowler Resigns

The resignation of G. Fowler as superintendent of the Saint Thomas' Church Sunday School was regretfully accepted at the last meeting of the executive, which was held at the rectory. Mr. Fowler felt that, after several years' service, he should now be relieved of the responsibility. Many expressions of appreciation of Mr. Fowler's faithful and efficient services were made by members of the Sunday School board.

E. H. Barnes was elected as Mr.

SHOWER HELD.

BALIEBORO, Mar. 10.—On Tuesday evening, March the sixth, a number of the people of this community gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Finney and presented Mr. and Mrs. Judson Pue, the latter Mrs. Finney's sister, with a miscellaneous shower.

After the people had gathered a program was given, Mrs. E. Russell acting as chairman. The program consisted of speeches, vocal duets, solos and piano solos. Messrs. H. Moncrief, C. and J. Wood provided music for dancing, and the evening was fully enjoyed by everyone.

Mr. Sidney Lang, of Oshawa, is visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lang.

Mr. Meredith Perrin, Mrs. B. Perrin, Mrs. W. Bateman, Mrs. F. Skitch and Mrs. M. Parker motored to Toronto on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. George Fletcher and Mr. Harold Dean visited Peterborough on business Tuesday afternoon.

GOOD PROGRAM AT Y.P. MEETING

Miss Myrtle Dodd Has Charge of Gathering at Hastings.

HASTINGS, March 10.—Miss Myrtle Dodd, convenor of the devotional committee, had charge of the Young People's meeting of St. Andrew's Church, and the topic was taken by Miss Mary Spooner. A vocal trio was given by Mrs. T. W. Chaplin, Alex Wilson, and Reg. Warner. The scriptural reading was given by Miss Evelyn Graham. Miss Elva Killinbeck gave a recitation which was followed by current events by Fred Richardson.

Personals.

Mr. Frank Lynch who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is spending a few weeks at his home in Marmora.

Mr. Robert Johnston spent a few days visiting relatives in Haliburton.

Mr. Ross Payne and Mrs. William Crofts and son, Herbert, of Peterborough, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edwards.

Mrs. Howard Fife received the sad news on Sunday of the death of her sister, Mrs. James Girvin, of Assiniboia, Saskatchewan.

Mrs. W. M. McGrayne and children have returned after visiting relatives in Rochester, New York.

Willis Preston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Preston, is ill with diptheria.

Mrs. F. J.. Ray of Winnipeg, Manitoba, has returned after visiting her mother, Mrs. Cunningham.

Rev. John A. Jewell, well known to the citizens here, died in Toronto on Tuesday. Rev. Mr. Jewell was preacher here for several years and in neighboring charges in the Bay of Quinte Conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brooks received the sad news on Thursday morning of the death of their son-in-law, Leonard Venters.Lindsay. Mr. Venters was taken ill on Sunday and an operation was performed from which he failed to recover.

MARMORA MAY HAVE MEMORIAL

Vote Will Be Taken On March 19 — Building Proposed.

MARMORA, March 10.—A memorial by-law was discussed at a public meeting held in the Town Hall on Monday evening. The vote on the matter is to be taken on Monday, March 19. Those working for the project, having met with opposition in some quarters, are enabled through Monday's meeting to urge the support of ratepayers as a whole. The grounds of support are, duty to those who represented the village in the Great War, adoption of an progressive policy and acceptance of a sound business proposition. In the latter respect, it is pointed out that with the passing of the by-law, the village would, at the end of twenty years, own outright an imposing building, providing a library room, G.W.V.A. room, and a fire hall, as well as a most convenient post office.

Personals.

Mr. H. R. Haacke has been spending a few days in Toronto.

Miss Voilet Deacon is attending the spring millinery openings in Toronto.

Mr. John Murphy, who has been spending the winter with relatives in town, left for his home in Edmonton on Thursday.

Mr. William Fowler of Colborne spent Monday in town.

Mr. James McGrath has recovered from his recent illness.

Mrs. A. Smith is ill.

Fowler's successor. During the social hour which followed the business session, the hostess, Mrs. Allen, served refreshments. The next monthly meeting will be at Miss Needler's home.

C.G.I.T. Meeting.

The weekly meeting of the Wide Awakes C.G.I.T. group was held at the leader's home, with a good attendance, and the president, Elsie Spence, in the chair.

The annual appeal for funds from the National Girls' Work Board, under which all C.G.I.T. work is listed, was received, and after discussion it was decided to take up a special offering at the meeting nearest March 31, the final date when the money must be sent. Fifty cents a member is the amount asked.

A "hike" was planned for Saturday afternoon, leaving at 3 p.m. and returning for tea to the lead's home; this will be a social gathering in honor of a charter member, Miss Marjorie Sayles, who leaves the following day for her new position with the Wood Gundy Company, Toronto.

During the devotional period Bible passages on the subject of prayer were read in unison, the talk being also on this topic, an open discussion at the beginning being a helpful feature.

The group prayer, adopted by the Wide Awakes, closed the meeting, and the usual sing-song and social hour followed.

Carnival Held.

The third carnival of the season was held on the open air rink under the auspices of the Cosmos Club on Wednesday night, a large number of skaters attending, though comparatively few were in costume.

Prize-winners were: Best skating couple, Margaret Russell and Eddie Nattress; best ladies' fancy dress, Gwen Hutchison, Ireland; best representative character, Henry Raper, Chinaman; best comic costume gentlemen, Fred Turner; best boys' comic costume, Dalton Brown; best lady speed skater, Elsie Spence; best gentleman speed skater, S. Sloan; boys' race, Dalton Brown.

The hot dog booth carried on a steady business all evening. The suggestion that there be a variation in the prize list should another carnival be held this season will probably be favorably considered by the Cosmos Club officials; a change seems necessary to avoid shutting out a number who wish to enter the competition, but for whom, at present, no provision is made.

Personal.

Mrs. V. C. Lambert's many friends will be glad to learn that she is now convalescing nicely after her recent serious operation at the Saint Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, and was able to return home this week.

M. Todd, Hydro Electric lineman in this district for the past few years, has been given a new section of country to cover, with headquarters at Napanee; Mr. Todd will live in the latter town and expects to move about the middle of April. The linemen from Peterborough and Port Hope will cover the territory which has been served by Mr. Todd.

LAND TRANSPORTAION IN YUKON

The condition governing land transportation in the Yukon, Canada, are in many respects different to those existing in other parts of the Dominion. The population is chiefly engaged in mining and frequently extend through uninhabited territory to serve some remote mining centre. Caterpillar tractors are gradually supplanting horses for heavy freighting and have entirely done so in the hauling of ore from Wernecke and Keno to Mayo. Dog teams are still used by the Indians and by prospectors, hunters, and trappers in sections of the territory remote from this large centres.

STORE MAGNATE PASSES AWAY

Rodman Wannamaker Dies At Atlantic City After Short Illness.

INTERESTED IN AVIATION.

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 10.—(Canadian Press.)— Rodman Wanamaker, last surviving son of the late John Wanamaker, and head of the stores in Philadelphia, New York and abroad that bear the family name, died in Atlantic City early yesterday. He was 65. Death came to Mr. Wanamaker at "Buckhill" in the Ventner section of the seashore resort, one of the five palatial residences maintained by the merchant.

His fine estate, "Lindenhurst," at Jenkintown, just north of this city, was "home" and to this place the body was brought late yesterday to be prepared for burial. Interment will be in the graveyard of the Protestant Episcopal church of St. James the Less, at the Falls of Schuylkill, this city, where rest the bodies of his father and mother.

Mr. Wanamaker was interested in many enterprises of a civic and philanthropic nature, not only here and in New York, but abroad as well. He was a generous patron of art and had many examples of the work of great painters and other artists in the New York and Philadelphia stores.

He was a firm believer in the future of aviation and gave lavishly of his wealth to further this modern method of transportation. He financed the airship America, wrecked in a storm in 1914, when it attempted a trans-Atlantic flight. Byrd's aerial flight to the North Pole and his later hop to France was made possible by Mr. Wanamaker's backing.

Mr. Wanamaker became head of the stores founded by his father when the pioneer department store owner died several years ago.

MADOC W.C.T.U. HEARS REPORT

Mrs. G. W. Rivers Tells About Prohibition Union Convention.

GOOD PROGRAM.

MADOC, March 10.—Mrs. G. W. Rivers, a delegate to the Prohibition Union Convention held in Toronto last week, gave an interesting report at the open meeting of the W.C.T.U. held in the Sunday School room of Trinity United Church on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Rivers made her hearers feel that they were being included in the inspiration, cheer, and actiivties of those great gatherings in Hygeiea Hall and Cooke's Church. She spoke of the splendid music given to the convention by "Ye Olde Tyme Village Quartette", and the excellent services of Mr. Chapman as song leader throughout the convention, and then went on to give some of the leading thoughts of the many eminent speakers. Something of the business part was also given and all joined in the hearty vote of thanks tendered to Mrs. Rivers on motion of Mrs. F. Jenkins and Mrs. Miles.

A Frances Willard Memorial program was planned and readings and papers on her life as organizer of Lover of Folks and Flowers, and as a great teacher, was given by Mesdames A. Miles G. Huffman, E. West and T. L. Nickle. A duet by Misses M. Ferguson and M. Rousehorn was much enjoyed. Miss M. Kerr of Tweed took part in a trio with Mesdames C. N. Whytoch and L. Ashley, with Miss A. Wood as accompanist. The meeting was closed by Rev. G. W. Rivers.

COLBORNE GIRL WINS DISTRICT ORATORY TITLE

Miss Beatrice Purdy Adjudged Champion—Nine Schools Represented.

BROOKLIN SECOND.

Cobourg Boy Is Placed Third—Winner To Enter Provincial Competition.

COBOURG, Mar. 10.— Representatives from nine Collegiates, High and Continuation schools spoke to a large audience in the Cobourg Theatre last night. The schools represented were Cobourg, Colborne, Campbellford, Millbrook, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Orono, Newcastle and Pickering. Mount Pleasant school had signified its intention of entering the contest, but for some reason the speaker did not appear. It was believed that the exceptionally stormy weather had made the roads impassable.

The three gentlemen who judged the speeches were: Dr. Best and Mr. Hoard, of Bowmanville, and the Rev. Mr. MacLaughlin, of Grafton. The three men sat in different parts of the auditorium and when the speakers were finshed, the reports were submitted to the chairman. After comparing the three reports, the honours were announced by him.

Miss Beatrice Purdy, Colborne, carried off the silver trophy and first honours. John Dryden, of Blooklin Continuation school, won second place, and Birney Hodgett, Cobourg, was third in line. Miss Purdy is not a trained speaker; she has not studied elocution or any form of public speaking. Her speech last night was the result of long hours of preparation and Colborne has just reason to be proud of its High school orator. By virtue of her success last night Miss Purdy becomes the district representative at the final contest to be held in Toronto in the near future. Should she again be successful, she will not only hold the provincial championship, but will be given a trip to Europe as the reward for her success.

The speakers appeared in the following order: Newcastle, Orono, Campbellford, Colborne, Pickering, Millbrook, Oshawa, Cobourg and Brooklin. In order of merit, as judged by three judges appointed, they were placed: Colborne, Brooklyn, Cobourg, Campbellford and Millbrook a tie for fourth place, Orono, Pickering, Oshawa and Newcastle. The first three named above were presented with gold, silver and bronze medals.

While the judges were making their returns, the Capitolians Orchestra played two numbers and Miss Edith Ellison, a piano solo. As official representative of Colobrne school, Mr.

ON THE OCCASION of my last visit to the workshop of John Plane, I had an interesting time. He told me that he had been getting some plain talk from Will Houghton. This talk had stirred him up a bit; but he admitted that he believed it to be good advice, and that he had decided to accept it as such in the spirit in which it was given. To the best of his ability, he said, he would henceforth act upon it. This information interested me greatly. It was my good fortune to know both Will Houghton and John Plane! I knew that Will held strong views on the place that the word of God should occupy in the life and labors of a Christian. He believes that reason should bow to revelation; that we are more dependent upon faith than upon sight; that if we only believe what we can understand most of us must be very ignorant. And I know that he is held by the truth he holds. So that you can believe I was all ears to hear what it was Will had been saying to John.

A Difference of Opinion.

It seems that John had written to Will about some spiritual matters regarding which he had had a difference of opinion with some members of the church to which he is attached. They think that John is narrow in his views and too Puritanical in his piety. He cannot see eye to eye with them. So, not because he thought they might be right in this contention, but because he wanted to have his own position confirmed if it were right, he decided to appeal to his friend, Will Houghton. And it was in response to this appeal that I am able to set down in part what he was turning over in his mind at the time of my last visit to his workshop.

John thinks that a difference of opinion about a small matter may be a small matter, but he does not think it is a small matter when it is about the deepest things in Christian experience. Life to him is too big to be treated in a small way. If he were born but for a day, even if that day were sixty years or more in length, at the end of which his life were to be snuffed out as the light of a candle is snuffed out, it might be a matter of small importance to have a difference of opinion about anything so remote as the Day of Judgment. But, feeling as he does, that this life is probationary, he attaches great importance to anything bearing upon his character, his conduct, and his destiny.

Your Business.

Will says to him: "If you are a child of God you are placed here as a witness to the saving grace of God in Jesus Christ. God didn't save you just because heaven needed you. He can get along without you whether it's today or for all time. I haven't any sympathy with the notion that there are certain things you must do or they will never be done. God will have His work done whether or not you do it. Someone else will do it and God will say thanks to the other person and you will miss the reward. I am sure it wouldn't disturb heaven if all the Theologs in the world got heady and high-minded and insisted on going their own way. He will raise up witnesses who will see that He is glorified.

"Your chief business on earth is to be a witness. In fact, it's your only excuse for living. If you are less than that you are nothing. He saved you by His grace and said, 'You are a witness.'

"If this is true we can be certain that Satan is interested in spoiling that testimony. I believe the great purpose of Satan toward individual Christians is to make them useless Christians.

Satanic Schemes.

"May I suggest some Satanic schemes for spoiling testimony. He robs us of our privilege and power by the following plans: I will not say anything about open sin, which, of course, would make any life useless. Neither will I say anything about inconsistency which manifests itself in so many different ways. But I will say a word about the success Satan has in getting us off on a tangent. Why is it some of the deeply spiritual seem to run to fanaticism? Is it because that was the only way Satan could spoil their testimony? He couldn't get them into open sin so he got them off on a hobby. They have lost their influence and the devil is happy. Most of us can think of some Christians who were much used of God until they began to over-emphasize some one fragment of truth.

Occupied With Ourselves.

"Another successful method of attack is to keep us occupied with ourselves. Perhaps it is concern over our own religious experience. If it takes all our time and attention the aim of the Evil One is fully met in us. You know of many good people whose only care is that their little group is well fed. We may study the written word without being brought into vital fellowship with the living word and without feeling anything of His compassion and concern for the lost.

Unacceptable Church Work.

"There are church members wearing themselves out in 'church work' for which they will never win a smile of approval from the Lord. The work must be under His direction. And much of it is not. I once read a placard that gave this astounding information: 'The Church of the Holy Innocents will hold a Euchre.'

"I was acquainted with a group of ladies who met once a month as a missionary society. They paid monthly dues. They always served refreshments, and it is safe to say the refreshments always cost more than was given for the work of the society. These women had reputations as church workers. Church work is successful getting money, it is not winning souls.

Competition is Keen.

"Competition is so keen in business we must strain every nerve and give every brain cell for success. We are succeeding in business, but we have forgotten the question of Jesus, 'What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his life?' Countless thousands are working for gain and will find at the end of the road they have lost their lives. They may be saved, but their lives are lost. They wasted them on themselves instead of giving them to God.

"John Plane, you are a witness for Christ! Keep in the middle of the road! Keep the light burning bright. Be true to your calling. And, when your work is done and you lay down your tools, you will hear the Master say, 'Well done, good and faithful servant . . . enter thou into the joy of thy Lord.'"

As I left the shop of my honest, hard-working friend, I went away with the feeling that Will Houghton's words were intended for me as well as for John Plane. I realized the truth of them and wished that the members of my church could be brought to realize it also. With such a realization I felt sure that we would begin to enjoy a season of great spiritual uplift and rejoice in an abundant ingathering of the lost. And I prayed that it might be so.

—Allan Fairbairn.

The Minister Remarks--

—Everybody wants recognition except escaped convicts.

—When you see an editor or a preacher who pleases everybody, there will be a glass plate over his face and he will not be standing up.

—Life for some men is like their wife's complexion, what they make it.

—I have noticed that when an automobile dies on a railroad track it hardly ever dies alone.

—I have noticed that the man who hunts for a gas leak with a lighted match generally finds it.

—Trying to get an automobile out of the ruts on some of our principal streets these days may be hard work—but did you ever write paragraphs?

Christian Science Revolt

SEVERAL months ago, Louis J. Lewis, a Christian Science practitioner of 33 West 42nd street, New York, revolted against the mother church and withdrew to practice independently. Presiding at the first meeting of the Christian Science Liberals, Mr. Lewis told his followers that he was making no "bid" for the attendance of members of the mother church.

"Those who are contented and satisfied with the way things are managed in the mother church should stay there until they feel the urge to leave. However, any intelligent and thinking member will eventually become dissatisfied with it. I know there is a longing for a religion with a little more of the human touch."

Following the service Mr. Lewis said he had no fear for the success of the new organization because "there are many others like myself who cannot endure the politics in the management of the Christian Science Church." —A. F.

Contrast And Comparison

ALL people in the religious world are either in the evangelical or the modernist camp. Here is the great division, and you can no more unite the two than you can mix oil and water or darkness and light. The positions are mutually exclusive. The frantic appeal for "silence and union" goes unheeded and unheard because it is utterly absurd.—"Jesus Christ at the Crossroads."

TELL US A STORY.

LORD BOLINGBROKE was one evening at a large party. Political subjects were talked of, and the conversation finally turned on the famous Duke of Marlborough. Every one had something to say against him, many blaming his avarice. Bolingbroke was silent. One of the company inquired, "How is it that you say nothing? You knew him better than all of us, and could tell us a good deal about him." Bolingbroke replied, "He was a great man, and I have forgotten all his faults."

Getting Above The Common Level

DO we feel that our life is being lived on too low a level? Does the position we occupy fail to satisfy us? Are we ambitious for something better than we have yet attained? Do we believe that there is a niche somewhere which will never be filled till we take possession of it? Are we chafing under our limitations and longing for that larger opportunity that will enable us to express ourselves in some more adequate way? Then, permit me to say that, whoever gave birth to the famous saying, "Hitch your wagon to a star," knew something of the psychology of life, and he was extending to such as you the best of advice. It is the man or woman who has some definite aim that will eventually rise above the common level.

When a man has an aptitude for business, coupled with a burning desire for great wealth, nine times out of ten such a man will amass a comfortable fortune, even though he may never reach the larger goal for which he strives.

The same is true of any man—statesman, author, doctor, lawyer, preacher—who desires to travel just a little beyond the average and who keeps his eye on the path he wishes to pursue. Unswerving loyalty to an aim in life will get any man farther toward success than will riches for the man who has inherited them. The man who is born to riches is strongly tempted through inactivity and ease to idle away the years that necessity is forcing the poorer man to use to build his brain and carve out his career.

Circumstances of birth, and sometimes misfortune, may check a man's progress, yet despite hindrances many men have mounted high on the ladder of what the world would call real success. Halted though you may be on your journey, keep your face toward the sun and march on to your goal, and even though at the end of the road you discover that the object of your aim in life still lies beyond your reach, you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have travelled farther on the way than you would have done, had it not been for that insatiate and impelling force that kept you toiling on to reach the top of the hill.

It is my belief that every worthy ambition which has not been realized in this life will be realized in that still more wonderful life which lies just beyond the present order of things. —A. F.

LOOK at all these fugitives flying from the field of battle, if they can escape to the mountains they may be safe, for it is their own land and they know the caves and secret places where they can hide. To those lofty, rocky hills westward they take their flight and the enemy, content with their victory, do not pursue them.

One of the number does not remain in concealment long. See, he hastens northwards, keeping to the hills for some twenty or thirty miles and then going down to the lower lands he finds the man of whom he is in quest. Sad are the tidings that he unfolds, but one statement acts like an electric shock upon the hearer. "To arms" seems to be the cry. Surely this is madness! this little band, not four hundred strong, going to attack an army flushed with success? But it is so—stern resolve is on every face, home and family is left and this little band of patriots hurries forth. Their leader was certainly meant for a soldier as his strategy is bold and clever, he keeps a river between himself and the enemy and marches rapidly in a northerly course parallel with them. It is a long march, at least 120 miles have to be traversed by gently flowing streams and full of rich fruit trees of every kind. What is the leader meditating?

* * *

Night has fallen, but in the starlight I can see armed men quietly separating into two parties; they approach a camp which seems at ease, and with wild shouts the attack is made on different sides, the enemy laden with spoil is taken unprepared and flies precipitately before the onslaught, the pursuit is continued all through the night for some twenty or thirty miles, and not till every captured person and thing has been recovered does the brave leader summon back his men.

In Remembrance Of a Good Woman

The Centenary of Josephine Butler to be Observed April 25th.

SERVICE IN WESTMINSTER

ARRANGEMENTS are being made to unite many English organizations and influential people, including the archbishops and leaders of all the churches, in celebrating throughout Britain the centenary of the birth of Josephine E. Butler—one of the gentlest, most sensitive and noblest women that ever lived. A commemoration service will be held in Westminster Abbey, April 25, when Rev. H. R. L. Sheppard will be the preacher. On the following day a great meeting will be held in Central Hall. Mrs. Butler was born April 13, 1828, at Millfield Hill, Northumberland. From an early period, moved by what she believed to be a divine call, she devoted her energies to the moral elevation of her sex. She established homes for "fallen women," and received many of them into her own home. At the end of 1869 she engaged in the agitation for the repeal of the Contagious Diseases Acts which gave legal sanction to vice. It was not, however, until 1883 that the Acts were partially repealed. They were totally repealed in 1886. She died in 1906, after a noble life of self-sacrifice.

THE BROKERS APPROVE.

It is not surprising to find that Col. Price's Security Frauds Prevention Act is meeting with the approval of the reputable brokers of the Province.

Reliable brokers and their salesmen realize that a measure that will drive out the unscrupulous purveyor of doubtful stocks and bonds and clean up the business cannot help but be beneficial to honest firms.

The fraudulent element must be eliminated or the legitimate brokers will suffer, and hence the Attorney-General is assured of the co-operation of all who are anxious to keep the security industry on an honest footing.

Since the passing of blue sky acts in many of the States of the Union this Province has been looked upon as a splendid hunting ground for the "strong arm" workers and high-pressure salesmen driven out of their usual haunts by preventive legislation, and many an Ontario investor has been ruined through listening to the glib persuasions of these gentry.

With registration of all stock brokers and salesmen, such as is provided for in Col. Price's act, the smooth workers from over the border, as well as the native sons who have been quick to adopt their technique, are likely to find the operation of fleecing the public a much more difficult task.

THE IMMIGRATION PROBLEM.

It is to be hoped that out of the sessions of the Agricultural and Colonization Committee of the House of Commons, which is inquiring into the whole question of immigration, will come some constructive ideas that will assist the Government in dealing with what is admittedly a difficult problem.

There is probably no one question of any more importance to the progress of this country than this matter of immigration, various features of which give cause for anxiety.

The fact that British immigrants are far out-numbered by those from other lands is one disquieting factor in the situation.

The suspicion that many of those people who have been coming to Canada are using this country merely as a convenience en route to the United States is another.

And the conditions referred to in the House by W. T. Lucas, U.F.A. member for Camrose, in commenting upon the results of the 1926 census of Western Canada justify much consideration.

According to the Camrose member, the Prairie Provinces since 1921 have lost the whole of their natural increase in population, amounting to 179,000, as well as 38 per cent. of the new immigration.

We are spending millions of dollars on immigration; yet the figures quoted by Mr. Lucas would seem to indicate that immigrants are leaking out of Canada faster than we are bringing them in.

THE TOWNSHIP BOARD PLAN.

Premier Ferguson's much-discussed bill providing for Townships Boards of Public School Trustees is once more before the Legislature, after having been withdrawn on several occasions.

This time the measure will be pushed through the House, but it will not be put into force until the Premier, as Minister of Education, feels that the time is opportune.

Rural opposition to the change is still strong, although here and there converts have been made, and the opinion seems to be growing that what Mr. Ferguson proposes will do much to improve conditions in rural schools.

Under this Act a Township Board is to consist of not less than three nor more than ten members.

In a township with only one school section that section shall constitute the school area, and the Board shall consist of three trustees elected by the electors in the area.

Where there are two school sections in the township, each section shall constitute a school area, and the Board shall consist of three trustees, one to be elected by the electors in each of the areas and the third by the combined electorate of the two areas.

In townships with not less than three nor more than ten sections each section shall be a school area, and the Township Board shall be composed of as many members as there are areas, each of the latter electing one member.

Townships containing a larger number of school sections are to be subdivided into areas, with two Boards in townships containing from 11 to 20 schools sections and three in those having from 21 to 30 schools.

These Township Boards are to be given full power to administer all the public schools in their jurisdiction.

They shall determine the schools which the pupils shall respectively attend within the township, and have power to arrange with another Board for the joint maintenance of a school, and to admit non-resident pupils.

It is provided that when a Township Board has been established all the assets and liabilities of the Board of the several sections of the township are to be vested in the Township Board, and an equitable adjustment of these assets and liabilities among the various sections is to be determined by a Board of Arbitration to consist of the county or district judge, the reeve of the township and the school inspector.

The trustee representing each school area is to be given such authority as may be determined by the Township Board over the schools of the area he represents, in regard to repairs, supplies, caretaking, the provision of substitute teachers and such other matters as the Township Board may deem expedient.

ONE BY ONE.

The second of the "Big Four" was laid to rest in Italy today with appropriate ceremonies. The whole nation mourned as the remains of Marshal Armando Diaz, the great Italian military leader, were consigned to the grave. Only a few days ago similar ceremonies were held in Great Britain for Earl Haig, who was to his country what Marshal Diaz was to Italy. Indeed, when Marshal Haig passed away suddenly, Marshal Diaz exclaimed: "Well, he is the first of us to go; who will be the next?" And the man who uttered these words was "the next."

One by one, the great figures of a decade ago are disappearing from the earthly scene. Of the "Big Four" of the military forces, Marshal Foch, of France, and General Pershing, of the United States, are left. In the field of war statesmanship, the inroads of Death have left their mark heavily. Woodrow Wilson, spectacular war-time President of the United States, has passed to the beyond. Mr. A. Bonar Law died in England several years ago, Lord Asquith, under whose premiership in Great Britain the tocsin of war was sounded, was buried the other day. Lord Curzon is dead. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, who fought President Wilson so bitterly on the League of Nations issue, has likewise departed this life. William Jennings Bryan, who opposed the entrance of the United States into the war, is sleeping the last long sleep. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, belligerent exponent of 100 per cent. Americanism, passed away some years ago. Admiral de Robeck, a prominent British naval man, was buried within the last fortnight. Many other brilliant political and military figures—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Major-General Leonard Wood, Lord French, the Earl of Warwick, General Alderson, the Emperor of Japan, Sir Sam Hughes, Sir Adam Beck, among them—have passed on. Time is taking its inexorable toll.—Border Cities Star.

ADVICE FOR FILM INDUSTRY.

(From The New York Herald-Tribune.)

The American film industry is being subjected to a growing number of restrictions by some of its best foreign customers. Germany for some time has imposed a quota on the showing of American pictures. The English film quota law went into effect recently, and now France has put the importation of foreign films under the supervision of a Government commission with almost unlimited powers of censorship, while insisting upon an inter-change to force more French films on the American market. Spain, too, through its domestic producers, has begun agitating for a similar club to be held over Hollywood. Indeed, some observers profess to see in all these measures a drawing together of these countries, or some of them, into a combination to halt the all-conquering advance of the Hollywood product.

The success of their efforts, whether singly or in combination, is problematical. Hollywood has already attained an enormous lead over its rivals. But even without this its secure possession of the mighty domestic market and its material resources and technical efficiency permit it to film pictures which, in quantity and character, would bankrupt its foreign competitors, and which for this reason are greatly preferred by foreign audiences to the general run of their home-grown product regardless of patriotic considerations or nationalist prejudices. Thus it is able to count on powerful opposition to any Government action that would deprive the foreign film fan of his favorite fare.

Nevertheless, since its foreign business has now grown to be about 40 per cent. of its total, according to the recent estimate of one of its largest producers, Hollywood is bound to take cognizance of the threat and to modify its methods to meet it.

The rest of us can look upon the struggle with some degree of complacency. The patriotic American will feel a natural impulse to root for the home industry simply because its exportations bear the stamp "made in America." But a little reflection should convince us that as "movie" spectators we have everything to gain and nothing to lose by the qualified success of this foreign dictation. Already as a result of the German effort American audiences have been privileged to see, in exchange for Hollywood films, some of the most startling artistic successes in cinematography. We could endure with equanimity a lot more of the same and of British and French films. The latter do not yet compare with the German, but in matters of taste and artistic integrity they often surpass our own. We can even rejoice that a commission of Frenchmen has been empowered to pass on American films offered for exhibition in France, since its canons of taste will undoubtedly be reflected to some extent in what Hollywood offers for domestic consumption.

If the American "movie" were of unmixed value in making friends for us abroad and spreading among foreigners an understanding of this country and its ideals, one might find it in his heart to regret or resent any arbitary restraint on its dissemination. But since, on the contrary, in its ridiculous exaggerations and gross sentimentality it is more often the vehicle of an injurious misconception of American life, it is possible on this score also to welcome the growing intervention, while one might argue that we over here need to know about other peoples through their pictures quite as much as they need to know about us.

Hence, all things considered, these crocodile tears.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

March seems to be resolved on spoiling a perfectly good winter.

The Budget debate will not terminate until next Tuesday, despite the fact that the members long ago exhausted all their ideas on the subject.

The Globe seems to be slipping from grace. It calls the Elizabeth basketball team the "Lizzie" quint.

Big Bill Thompson will get that new Toronto radio station if it doesn't look out. Chicago's Mayor may object to the air across the border being permeated with British music.

And now, points out The Border Cities Star, "another thing the United States has to offer young Canadians is unemployment."

It is going to distress many feminine movie fans if Great Britain has to make war on the sheiks.

A school for hotelmen is suggested in Quebec. No longer will waiters put their thumbs in the soup.

A contemporary mentions Mrs. Sarah Lee Farn, of Virginia, as a rival of Miss Agnes MacPhail, forgetting that Miss MacPhail is in a class by herself.

Mr. Heaps, Labor member for Winnipeg North, has just upholstered the chair that Premier King uses in his office. This, of course, was not the first occasion on which Labor members have helped to keep the Premier in his seat.

One advantage of annexing British Guiana to Canada would be that it would do away with the necessity of sending an Ambassador there.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, March 10. — Cattle trading for the past week has been in an unusually slow market. Receipts were by no means heavy, but there was a paucity in the demand that kept the market in a draggy condition with plenty of cattle on hand awaiting bidders.

Prices on Monday were clipped 25c lower than the previous week's closing. Cattle moved out freely in Tuesday's market, prices holding steady at the Monday's decline. For the balance of the week trade continued slow, and there was further shading downwards in prices in order to effect a fair clean-up in the closing market.

Springers and milkers — Choice Holstein springers, $90.00 to $115.00, fancy $125.00; choice Durham springers, $85.00 to $100.00; good springers, $60.00 to $75.00; medium quality springers are sold more or less over the scales. No demand for milkers.

Stockers and feeders—Very scarce this week. Three cars Western heifers sold at $7.50 delivered.

Calves — Choice sold at $14.50 to $15.00, with the odd fancy higher. Good calves around $14.00; medium, $10.00 to $13.00.

Sheep and lambs — Choice lambs sold at 15c, a few real fancy as high as 16c, good lambs 14½c, bucks and heavies at a discount. Yearling sheep, 7c to 8c; choice butchers' sheep, 6c to 7c; heavy sheep and aged bucks, 5c to 5½c; cull sheep, 2c to 3c.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., Mar. 10 (Canadian Press). — There was an improved demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba wheat here yesterday, and sales were made for both March-April and May-June shipment.

The feature of the domestic cash grain market was the weaker feeling in oats and prices were reduced one cent per bushel in sympathy with the decline in Winnipeg futures.

The inquiry from English importers for spring wheat flour was fair, and a moderate amount of business was done for March-April and May-June shipment. The local trade was quiet and prices were unchanged.

The movement of winter wheat flour was of a limited character, but prices were maintained.

A feature of the millfeed trade continues to be the good demand from United States buyers for bran, and sales of straight car lots were made for shipment to Boston at prices equivalent to $40.50 to $41.00 per ton here. The trade for domestic account was also good, and prices were firm.

A stronger feeling prevailed in the market for standard grades of rolled oats, and prices were advanced ten cents per bag.

The undertone to the potato market was firm under a good demand.

A fair amount of business was done in imported beans, and values were unchanged. Sales of odd cars of choice white hand-picked to arrive were made at $3.50 per bushel, ex-track, and smaller quantities at $3.60 per bushel, ex-store. A moderate trade was done in boiling peas and prices were firm at $3.15 to $3.25.

Prices for all grades of fresh eggs were firmly maintained under a good demand. The receipts were 1,173 cases.

An active business was accomplished in butter and the undertone to the market was firm. The receipts were 93 packages.

Sheep receipts, 6,000; fat lambs fairly active, 10c to 15c higher, quality and lighter weight considered; handyweights with finish absent; good to choice medium weights, $16.15; bulk wooled lambs, $15.75 to $16.00; 90 to 98 pound Colorados, $15.75 to $15.85; choice 90 pound clippers steady, $13.00; good 96 pound yearlings, $14.25; sheep and feeding and shearing lambs scarce, strong; good fat ewes, $9.00 to $9.25; medium to good feeding lambs, $14.25 to $14.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, March 10 (Canadian Press). — In a big profit-taking wave, all grain underwent a setback yesterday after a general advance in which May delivery corn touched $1.00 a bushel. Upturns scored by corn were ascribed to the fact that official estimates of farm reserve stocks of corn were much below what the trade as a rule had looked for, being 114,000,000 bushels smaller than a year ago.

Closing quotations on corn were nervous at ¼c to ½c net decline, with wheat 1⅝c to 2c down, oats ⅝c to ¾c to 1c off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

Corn led the advance in grain values yesterday, and wheat the reaction. Corn trading was on a heavy scale throughout, whereas the transactions in wheat were of greatly increased volume as the day neared an end. Late weakness of wheat was a distinct bearish factor as to corn, with rains in the eastern part of the winter wheat belt having considerable influence on wheat values. Much letting-go of future delivery wheat holdings resulted from reported improvement of crop conditions because of widespread moisture relief.

Downward swings both of corn prices and of wheat dislodged numerous standing orders to stop losses at various set limits. With fresh buying support lacking, especially in wheat, prices broke rapidly. In the corn market, however, relatively good demand was in evidence at times after quotations had dipped to below Thursday's finish. Meanwhile, country offerings of corn were meagre, and the weather was unafvorable for corn movement. On the other hand, Kansas City at the close was offering on a working basis No. 2 hard winter wheat to come to Chicago.

Considerable selling out of oats took place because the official report on farm reserves of oats was somewhat above the average estimate by private experts.

Dyspepsia Troubled Him for Many Years

Mr. J. Savoy, Loggieville, N.B., writes:—"I have suffered for many years from dyspepsia and could not seem to get any relief.

"One day I told my wife I thought I would try a bottle of and when I had half of it taken I felt a lot better, so I continued until I had taken two bottles, and now have no pains and no coated tongue, and feel that I am completely rid of my trouble."

A Thought

GENTLENESS.

When ye rescue any from another's violence, or from his own (which oftentimes is more dangerous, as the enemies are within, not only the penetrals of his house, but of his heart), bind up his wounds before ye send him on his way. Should ye at any time overtake the erring, and resolve to deliver him up, I will tell you whither to conduct him.

Conduct him to his Lord and Master, whose household he hath left. It is better to consign him to Christ his Saviour than to man his murderer; it is better to bid him live than to bid him die. The one word our Teacher and Preserver said, the other our enemy and destroyer.

Bring him back again, the stray, the lost one; bring him back, not with clubs and cudgels, not with halberts and halters, but generously and gently and with the linking of the arm. In this posture shall God above smile upon you; in this posture of yours he shall recognize again His beloved Son upon earth. Do ye likewise, and depart in peace.—Landor.

GOD'S MINUTE

The Lord is good to the soul that seeketh Him.—Lam. 3:25.

Infinite Father, Thou art our life and light, our hope and redemption. We have tried the world and found it a great emptiness; we come back to Thee Who are eager to fill our souls with everlasting truth and mercy.

We come with a song in our hearts, for the list of Thy benefits is beyond our counting. We thank Thee for the stirring, stimulating days of the present, with their opportunities for improvement and service, their concern for the poor and ignorant. We thank Thee for the mysterious, inviting days which are to come, laden with secret stores for our replenishing, hidden delights, and dark experiences for our training.

We thank Thee for the slight heroisms of the home; for the hallowed drudgeries of hospital and sick chamber. We thank Thee that, despite the cleverness of wicked men and the foolishness of good men, the Kingdom makes steady advance. The bounty unto us is without boundaries. And yet we baffle Thy plans, thwart Thy love, and wander wretchedly from the way of Jesus. We return unto Thee this morning to have our stains removed, our petty shams stripped away, and our hearts fortified. Have compassion upon us, and bring us all by and by to our Father's home through the riches of grace in Christ Jesus. Amen.

Rev. Hugh Elmer Brown, Seattle, Washington.

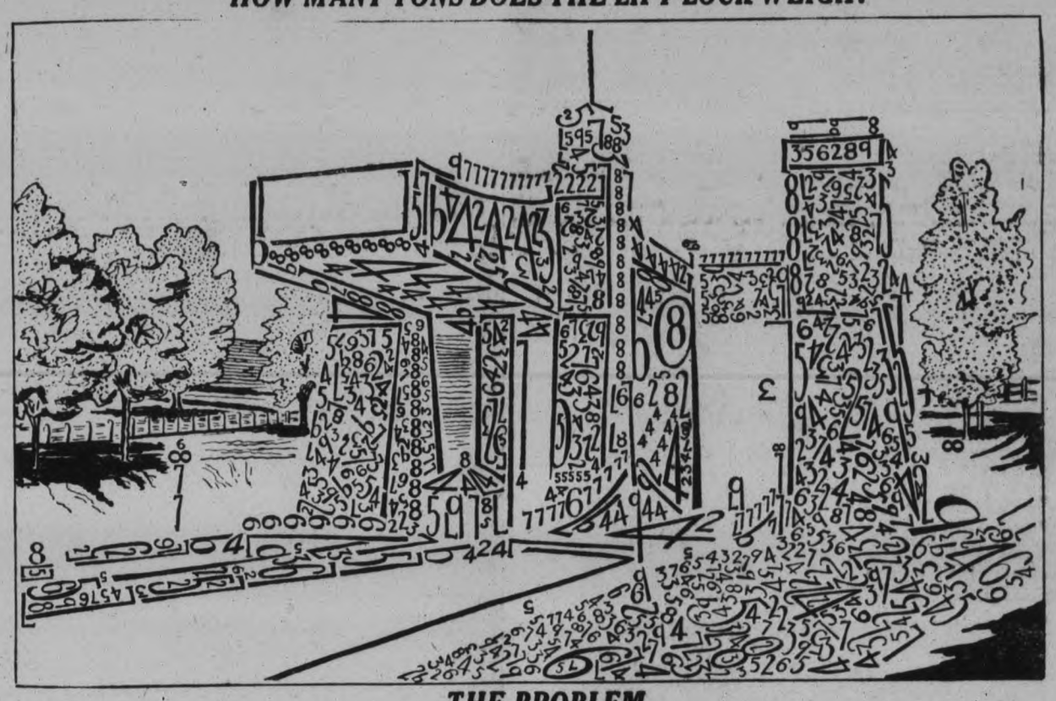
HOW MANY TONS DOES THE LIFT LOCK WEIGH?



THE PROBLEM

The problem is to add together all the figures shown above, which, when added together, represent the total number of tons that the Lift Lock weighs.

The puzzle is entirely free from tricks or illusions, every figure is co mplete and stands alone. The figures range from two to nine. There are no ones (1) or ciphers (0) in the puzzle. The sixes are curved, wh ile the stem of the nines are straight.

We wish it clearly understood that every figure can be plainly see n. There is nothing hidden in the trees or shadows, but the problem of adding these is a real test of accuracy.

Remember, each figure is added separately. For example, 9777 is co unted 9 plus 7 plus 7 plus 7, or, in other words, simply add them as if each figure stood one above the other in a single column.

REMEMBER, NO ONE KNOWS THE CORRE CT ANSWER UNTIL THE CONTEST CLOSES

To ensure this we had Mr. E. M. Elliott, County Treasurer, and Mr. Frank Adams, City Treasurer, each erase one or more figures from the original drawing, which they carefully noted and sealed in an env elope and gave to the manager of the Royal Bank for safe keep ing until the contest closes.

GENERAL CONTEST RULES

How to Enter

1. The contest is open to everyone except:
   (a) Employees of The Peterborough Examiner, Ltd., or their immediate family.
   (b) Prize-winners in any similar contest who have won any of the major prizes,
2. Additional puzzle-charts may be obtained free by writing to the Contest Department or by calling at The Examiner Office.
3. Every figure in the puzzle is complete and entirely free from tricks or illusions. If any contestant is in doubt about any of the figures, send in the chart with the figures marked and the Contest Department will gladly give a ruling on the figure.
4. When you have solved the puzzle, fill in completely the solution blank, which must be accompanied by a remittance for at least a six months' subscription at the regular rates to The Evening Examiner. (See subscription rates.) See also the prize-list and note how the value of your prize is increased by paying for a year's subscription and by getting subscriptions from your friends. Renewal subscriptions, or subscriptions in arrears, if paid during contest period, count the same as new subscriptions and wi" be extended from the present expiry date, but not more than $15.00 will be received on any one solution or subscription.
5. In order that subscribers who pay carrier boys weekly may participate in this contest, books of tickets containing 22 weekly tickets for $3.00, or 44 for $6.00, will be sold. These remittances must be made direct to the Contest Department with your solution. Otherwise it cannot be registered. Each ticket is valued at 15c and will be redeemed from the carrier boy at that price.
6. Readers who give their subscription to some other contestant and later want to send in an answer themselves, may do so providing they fill in the coupon, giving the name of the person they paid their subscription to and the amount paid. No further payment is necessary.
7. The contest will close on March 15, 1928, but send in your solution as soon as possible as we are offering special prizes for the first correct solutions. (See full details under "Special Prizes.") There is nothing gained by holding back your answer once you have solved the puzzle, as a contestant may make several remittances on any answer sent in while the contest lasts, up to a total amount of $15.00.
8. Contestants may send in a different answer to the puzzle with each remittance, but if one of your answers is correct the money sent in on your other answers will not increase the total value of your prize, and not more than one regular prize will be paid to one family.
9. Everyone has an equal chance. You can win the first prize and extra cash for only a six months' subscription, but note how the val ie of the first five prizes increases if you send in more money. Aim to win the maximum Grand Prize. The Evening Examiner is now recognized as the leading daily in Peterborough district and surrounding counties and no difficulty should be found in getting your friends or neighbors to subscribe for it.
10. Contestants who remit by mail or pay at the office should see that these remittances and answers are made on a proper contest coupon to ensure them reaching the Contest Department.
11. If the correct answer is not sent in by any contestant the prizes will be awarded for the nearest correct solutions. In the event of a tie a second puzzle will be presented which will be as practicable and solvable as the first. Only those tieing will be permitted to solve the second puzzle. Should two or more persons be tied in the second puzzle the prizes will be divided equally among those tieing. No cash will be accepted on the second puzzle.
12. In entering the co"t"t, contestants agree to abide by the rules of the contest and to accept the decision of t.e judges as final. The Contest Department reserve the right to alter and amend its rules " necessa"y for the protection of contestants or The Peterbo"..gh Examiner. It also reserves the right to re"..d any subscri"tions and to disqualify any contestants whom they consider should not be in the contest. Contestants are assured of the same impartial treatment which characterizes The Examiner in all its dealings.

TWENTY-SIXTH TO FIFTIETH PRIZES—$5.00 in cash each.

SPECIAL PRIZES—While the contest will not close until March 15, we are offering Five Special Prizes for the first five correct, or nearest correct, solutions secured by us. The prizes will be: First Prize, $8.00; Second Prize, $7.00; Third Prize, $5.00; Fourth Prize, $3.00; Fifth Prize, $2.00.

A TIP ON HOW TO WIN

Take a pencil and put down the numbers as you stroke them out, then add them up. Some suggest that you cut the chart into dozens of pieces, then check them from all sides; or if you wish, try blotting them out with colored ink or pencil. Others think the best way is to pick out all the twos, threes, fours, etc. Any they miss the first time they find later. Or suppose you try taking a combination of figures which, when added together, makes a total of ten. For example, 5 and 3 and 2 make 10. Tens are not only easily added together, but there is less danger of making a mistake.

1. Everyone has the same opportunity. A person sending in only $3.00 in subscriptions has the same chance of winning the first prize as a person sending in more money. The advantage of sending in more money is to increase the value of the first five prizes.
2. This is a contest for Central Ontario district, or to any subscriber of The Examiner, no matter where he resides.
3. Don't forget to answer all the necessary questions on the solution blank.
4. If you collect a subscription from a friend or neighbour, that person can also submit an answer to the puzzle without further payment.

THE JUDGES

In order that each Contestant shall have fair and impartial treatment, we have arranged with Mr. Roland Denne, Mayor of the City and Alderman Nagel Phelan to act as judges for the contest. Any complaints in this connection will be referred to these judges whose decision will be absolutely final.

PLANS NEW WIRES FOR THIS DISTRICT

C.P.R. Will Erect New Lines To City—Many Improvements This Year.

TORONTO, Ont, March 10 (Special to The Examiner)—Pneumatic tubes between the Union Station and the new Royal York Hotel and the uptown operating office of the Canadian Pacific Telegraphs have been allowed for in the 1928 appropriations of the superintendent here. Arrangements have been made with the city for the tubes to be laid below Yonge, Melinda, Bay and Front Streets and the installation of the system will be completed this summer and facilitate service from the station by eliminating relaying of messages. The same system will be in effect as soon as the Royal York is opened in May of next year Nearly a half mile of tubes will be laid and written messages between Front Street and the fifteenth storey of the Canadian Pacific Building on Yonge Street.

This will be the longest pneumatic tube system in Canada. The Canadian Pacific Telegraph Company is also installing a telephone circuit which will place the city offices of the railway company at Guelph, Galt Kitchener, Woodstock, London, Chatham and Windsor in direct connection with the Toronto office.

This, it is expected, will be completed in two weeks when the public will benefit to the extent of being able to secure without telegraphic delay information with respect to rates, berths and other accommodation. New and additional wires are to be erected between Toronto, Kingston, Peterborough, Cobourg and Montreal to take care of the rapidly increasing telegraph business between these points. These appropriations are in addition to that which covers regular maintenance.

BANK ROBBERS FOUND GUILTY

Two Men Will Be Sentenced Next Week—Appeal Notice Given.

NON-DIRECTION CLAIMED.

HAMILTON, Ont., March 10.—John "Rusty" Gordon, Hamilton, and Fred Watson, Toronto, were found guilty of robbing the King Street and Sanford Avenue branch of the Bank of Commerce by a jury in County Court yesterday afternoon. They will be sentenced at the first of the week. After a three days' trial the case was given to the jury at 3.20 o'clock and at 5 o'clock the verdict was received. Gordon's head dropped when the word guilty was heard, but Watson merely sneered. The jury added a plea for mercy.

C. W. Bell, K.C., acting for Gordon, announced that an appeal is likely on the ground that Judge Evans did not review the defence evidence in his charge to the jury. Mr. Bell quoted the authorities and argued that non-direction might be equal to misdirection, and he pressed for the judge to recall the jury, but the judge declined to comply, stating that he had not reviewed the case of the Crown nor the defence.

Mr. Bell, for Gordon; J. D. Sullivan, Watson's counsel, and Crown Attorney Ballard addressed the jury for an hour each, but Judge Evans was not more than ten minutes in summing up the case when he spoke to the jury. He made but passing reference to the evidence and told the jurors that the testimony of an accomplice should be corroborated before being accepted, being discredited to a certain extent.

Judge Evans said he doubted if the men would benefit if he repeated the evidence. He asked the jurors to decide if the Crown had been able to corroborate the story of Johnston, who admitted taking part in the robbery and who implicated both prisoners.

After the jury returned, Mr. Bell again addressed Judge Evans, stating that if Gordon did participate in the robbery it was not premeditated on his part, and he added that the hold-up was planned in Toronto and three armed men came here to carry out the crime and brought Gordon into it. On these grounds he thought his client should be leniently treated. Mr. Bell asked His Honor if he did not agree with this suggestion and the judge replied that he would not commit himself at present.

Just prior to adjournment Crown Attorney Ballard stated that he would lay over the other indictment against the two men until the next court—that of stealing or being in possession of a stolen car.

The evidence in the case was concluded yesterday morning. Several of those who testified were recalled to clear up doubtful points. Watson and Gordon were not called to the witness stand.

Legion Notes

At the regular executive meeting of the local Branch of the Canadian Legion held last night it was unanimously decided to attend St. James' United Church on the occasion of the 13th anniversary of the Second Battle of Ypres.

An invitation to attend Knox Church was also received but as the first service was held here in 1917 it was felt that St. James Church was the choice for this year.

An effort on the part of the local branch will be made to secure the Dominion Convention for Peterboro in 1929. If successful some 700 or 800 delegates may be expected. The publicity in connection with this matter, through the medum of the "Legionary" has been left in the capable hands of the chairman of the Publicity Committee.

Many matters dealing with interior economy were discussed and it was decided that the auditors bring in recommendations of any changes that they may deem necessary in the present system of financing together with a budget for the year. This will be presented in person by the auditors at the next meeting.

The branch has also decided to establish itself as an agency for the "Legionary." Members wishing to subscribe to this paper may secure a year's issue for $1; all others not members of the Legion will pay the usual subscription fee of $2.

A discussion took place regarding the membership campaign now in swing, and as a result of the publicity so kindly donated by the Examiner, several new members have been added to the roster, but there is still room for a few hundred more yet to reach the 1000 mark.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the chairman of the publicity committee and The Examiner for the space so kindly donated by it during the progress of the campaign.

Commencing on Wednesday next a series of bridge games will be run in conjunction with the euchre. Each of these games will be played on separate floors. All bridge fans are requested to watch The Examiner for further particulars.

Several matters dealing with pension claims and relief were discussed and considerable information gleaned from the discussion.

1ST PETERBOROUGH LIFE-SAVING SCOUTS.

The troop held its regular parade with the usual opening exercises. Inspection and the taking of fees and camp monies followed. The Scoutmaster outlined the program for the camp and told of the need for more tents. The troop numbers 44 Scouts and the Life-Saving Chums 38.

The Scout leader, after organizing the Chums, most of them in uniform, has given the leadership to Alan Austin, with Harry James as assistant. This organization is the largest of its kind in Canada. They recently assisted the Scouts in a demonstration with a number of the 4th Peterborough Troop as their guests. These did their good turn by giving a demonstration of knotcraft during the program.

Semaphore came next for a brief run through, being substituted for morse, which has been in use the past three years. A pass the ball game proved to be exciting. The Owls and Beavers won the game from the Wolves and Eagles.

Scoutmaster Barton read a humorous sketch of Mutter and Mumble, then conversed in Russian and French to the amusement of the Troop.

Patrol Leader Herb Brooks led in the Lord's Prayer, and gave the signal for dismissal.

The Sixth and Third Troops played the last game of their series on Thursday evening. The winner, the Third Troop, will play the Fifth for the Scout championship.

It was a fast game, featured by many spectacular plays, and it was not until the last five minutes that the Third Troop won out 3-2.

The first period opened up with many lone, individual rushes by both sides. Gerald Young, gaoile for the Sixth Troop, made the first save when the left winger for the Third Troop took a long shot. With ten minutes to go Third got the first goal of the evening by some fine combination play. The Sixth evened the count, however, a few minutes later, when Brooks stick-handled his way through the whole team to take a point blank shot at the goal.

In the second period the teams started to rough it up and a half dozen penalties were given out in the first few minutes of play. Brooks came out from the penalty box in time to secure the puck, and bringing it around the net again duplicated his feat of the first period to give the Sixth a one goal lead. The lead did not last long, as the Third got a fluky goal which bounced off Young's stick. With five minutes to go the Third got another goal, which gave them a three-two win over the Sixth. The Sixth then put their whole team forward and gave the Third many a scare in the last few minutes, but they failed to get the tally which would tie the score.

Fourth Peterborough Troop.

Thursday night's meeting began in the usual way with flag break. Leslie Cowling took the Scout promise, and was invested into the Kangaroo Patrol.

H. Dicken gave a short talk to the troop. He said he was very much impresed with the ceremony he had just witnessed in the investure of Scout Cowling, and wished the new recruit all kinds of success in his Scout work. "If you do not disgrace the scout uniform," he said, "it will not disgrace you. As he is very keen on first aid work, Mr. Dicken hopes that more scouts will be taking it up in the near future. The troop gave Mr. Dicken the fire cracker yell to show their appreciation. Mr. Dicken hopes that the scout course that is being talked about will be a success.

Two good games in the form of Poison Tag and Chain Log were played followed by the instruction in the corners.

F. L. Roy, chairman of the troop committee, came in while the instruction was going on and visited all the patrol corners. Morse and First Aid were the principal studies carried on in the corners.

A quiet game of deer and stalker was played and was much enjoyed by all.

Then came the best part of the evening, the stunts. The patrol boxes were placed around for the council fire. A fire was made of poles, and a red light. The council fire opened with the singing of O Canada.

As the Kangaroos are Number 1 patrol, they put on their stunt first. The stunt was a play called "Kidnapped." A hired man was working in a field with the farmer's son playing near. Two scouts entered and got permission to camp. While they were away a tramp chased away the hired man and kidnapped the boy. The farmer came on the scene and finding the scouts abused them. He finds his son is gone. The scouts hunted for him and surrounded the tramp's camp. He was eating a sandwich and was feeding the boy very little. The boy begged more, and was at last spanked and made to go to sleep. The tramp went to sleep, and then we captured.

The tramp's and the farmer's son's parts were the funniest and were played by Donald Asquith and Donald Penrose.

The Owls' play was based on the Seventh Scout Law. A scout obeys orders. Two boys were playing marbles One boy's mother called him, but he said to wait a minute, and kept on playing. Then the other boy, a scout, was called, and he immediately ran home. T. L. Taylor played the part of Harold Stuart's mother very well.

The Crow patrol had a play based on three boys going on a hike. One boy fell and broke his thigh. He was bandaged up and put on an improvised stretcher. As he was being carried away one of the poles broke but otherwise they got the patient safely to the doctors.

Besides these stunts the Owls sang a song and Carlos Routly of the Crows did some stunts. President John arrived on an official visit and was given a place by the fire.

Mr. Roy talked to the troop for a while, expressing his pleasure at seeing the troop perform. Mr. Roy hopes to get some moving pictures of the Chief Scout when he goes to England this summer. Mr. John thanked the troop for the help given at the convention.

J. Heffernan and Ronald Asquith received service stars. Jack Miller, Jack Penrose and Jack Heffernan of the Kangaroos, passed tests.

MINES.

F. G. Oke and Company wire as follows:

TORONTO, March 10. — Reviewing market conditions for the past week nothing but a feeling of satisfaction regarding the trend of prices is possible. Almost every day some active and well regulated issue has featured the mining market and higher prices have been more noticeable for Wright-Hargreaves, Teck-Hughes, Bidgood, Barry Hollinger, Malartic Lake Shore, Sudbury Basin, Sherritt-Gordon, Jackson - Manion, Hudson Bay and Gold Hill. It looks as though such general action can be regarded as a real upwardward movement in prices, and judging by to-day's market action this movement is far from finished. Orderly profit taking has been evident and most of those issues which have advanced appear in sound position for further rises in price.

Bidgood was in strong demand this morning but as yet no official information is available regarding the reasons for this advance. However, we are given to understand that the values obtained during recent exploration and development work at this property exceed expectations and as exploration proceeds further important discoveries are fully anticipated by those in close touch with the situation at the property.

Other properties which are developing importantly which should not be overlooked are those of Malartic, Amulet, Abana, the Kirkland Lake producers, McIntyre, Coniarium, Aconda, Laval and Porcupine-Doal.

We suggest that the more active and meritorious issues be bought at prevailing prices as we are of the opinion that there are splendid potential profits in the mining market to-day.

Wheat Promises Higher Following Liverpool

CHICAGO, Mar. 10. — (Canadian Press.)—Wheat prices here averaged higher early to-day, influenced by the fact that Liverpool quotations failed to reflect yesterday's weakness of wheat in Chicago. Unfavorable weather throughout the corn belt gave firmness to the corn market. Opening unchanged to ½c. higher, Chicago wheat afterward scored up turns all around. Corn started unchanged to ¾c. advance and subsequently continued to climb. Oats sympathized with corn.

Opening prices were: Wheat, March 136⅞, May 136¼. Corn, March 95⅜, May 93. Oats, March 55⅞, May 56⅝.

Nickel Again Leads Steady Toronto Market

TORONTO, Mar. 10. — (Canadian Press.)—A late rally in International Nickel which carried that stock to a close at eighty-six, was the feature of an otherwise dull session of the Toronto stock exchange to-day. The close was gain of 1½ from yesterday. Most other issues held steady in a firm market, with Canadian Industrial Alcohol moving smartly up to 41¾, over a point higher. Alberta Pacific Grain at 63, Page Hersey at 95½, and British American Oil at 35¾ were all slightly higher.

HUMANE WORK IS EXPLAINED

Miss Elizabeth Harrison Stresses Need For Further Education.

MANY CRUEL PRACTICES.

A special meeting of the Home and School Associations of the city was held in the Trinity Sunday school last evening. A fine program was rendered, consisting of recitations by Thelma Buller and vocal solos by Miss Ruby Quartermaine and Victor Boorman.

The special speaker for the evening was Miss Elizabeth Harrison, of Toronto, chairman of World Federation of Education Associations, also past president of the Women's Teachers' Association of Toronto.

Miss Harrison's address was illustrated with slides depicting the work of the Humane Societies and these slides brought home the urgent need of this work among the animals.

The speaker remarked that the widespread suffering of animals is not apparent to the casual observer of the street. It is only those who have made it their business to alleviate the misery of dumb creatures who realize the appalling conditions. She called attention to the fact that the disgraceful condition of a large percentage of the horses of the country is a blot on civilization. Lame, overworked horses seen on the roads betray the apathy of the community towards humane conditions.

The docked horse came in for particularly scathing comment, not only on account of the immediate agony of the operation but because of the resulting misery from the torment of the flies in the summer months. This barbaric practise in time will not be tolerated by horse lovers. It must be remembered that as the horse ages he is too often sold down the scale, the greater the burden of his years the heavier the load and the more wretched his conditions. One of the greatest problems of the Humane Society is the tragedy of the old horse. A strong plea was made for the dog prisoner who eats his heart out on the end of the short chain, and reference was made to the great numbers of dogs who die of chest troubles brought on by being housed in cold and damp quarters.

'Do not put your cat out with the milk bottle at night," she said. "The back fence cat is probably making the night hideous to express his own misery in the cold weather. Your cat and your dog need a warm bed at night as badly as you do."

In referring to the subject of Humane Education, Miss Harrison said that it is not the intention of those interested in humane education to at interested to attempt to add anything to the already full curriculum of the schools, but rather so to introduce the subject that it will be incorporated into the present class lessons.

The opportunity for growth in this respect lies in adding more humane education to nature study and this can be done by introducing occasional lessons on the subject into the regular lesson period. In Hamilton there are 14,000 members of the Junior Humane Society and in Toronto the grand total is continually rolling up. In Toronto, also, the work is interesting many church organizations, continued calls being made for the speaker to address Sunday School classes and other adult and young people's meetings. The greater part of the suffering among animals is due to ignorance and indifference rather than to direct brutality. "A new day shall dawn when through education we sympathetically and intelligently understand the life of the animal world," she said in closing.

MONS CLEARED ON TENTH, SAYS CURRIE

and Regan entering took possession of it. Counsel for the plaintiff protested vigorously, but Mr. Field ruled that Mr. Regan could retain the chair.

Court Cleared.

At the request of the counsel for both sides, the Court was cleared of all persons not directly connected with the case, and the examination for discovery proceeded behind closed doors. It is understood that the official communication or a certified copy of it will play an important part in the proceedings this afternoon. The case is to come to trial on or about April 16, and will be heard by a jury selected from the list of grand jurors. This is something that has not happened within the fifty years' experience of W. F. Kerr, K.C.

It was intimated that the examination would continue for at least another day. This will bring the hearing to Monday afternoon, and perhaps later.

GOOD PROGRAM BEING ARRANGED

Fourth of Series of Concerts Will Be Held To-morrow Night.

The fourth concert of the series being arranged by the Humane Society will be held to-morrow night in the Regent Theatre and will be of great variety and interest.

The program will be rendered by the Caledonian Choir. There will be solos by Mrs. Howes, Mrs. Hemphill, Mrs. Jackson, Mr. Grieves, Mr. Cooper, and several numbers by the choir. The accompanist will be iMss Mary Hemphill. Alex. D. Clark is the director.

Mr. Boorman's orchestra will take part, and Miss Elizabeth Harrison will give an address on the work of the Humane Society.

KNOX LADIES' AID.

Police Matron Amy Wood Gives Address on Her Work.

The regular March meeting of Knox Ladies' Aid Society was held in the church parlor Thursday afternoon, with an attendance of about forty.

The meeting opened with a hymn, after which Mrs. Davis read the Scripture lesson, and several members offered short prayers. After the usual routine of business the Police Matron, Miss Amy Wood, gave a very interesting address on her work in the city, speaking from the text, "Chasten thy son while there is hope, and let not thy soul spare for his crying."

She stressed the fact that parents should insist on obedience from their children, and urged the mother to be a confidant of her daughter and take an interest in her activities, so that she might intelligently direct her in right and virtuous ways of living.

The meeting was brought to a close by repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.

A Motor Trip—
A Strange Town—
They Needed Groceries—
So—

"Naturally we turned to Dominion which seemed truly an old friend," writes Mrs. S. J. Graham, 647 Bethune St., Peterboro, in describing how she won the Grand Prize in a recent ad. writing contest held in Toronto recently.

This actual experience formed the background for the ad. she wrote and which was selected by well-known advertising experts as the winner from among the twenty thousand ads. submitted and written about fifty different advertiser's products. The following is the prize winning ad.:

AN OLD FRIEND

You like to meet an old friend. Everybody does. That's why travellers and tourists, when in a strange town, like to see DOMINION STORES—they're old friends.

DOMINION PRICES ought to be low and are low, for several reasons:

1.—Our big turnover and economic buying facilities enable us to operate on a small margin of profit.

2.—Our cash system avoids the extra work and losses attending credit dealing.

3.—Our quick turnover ensures fresh groceries avoiding loss from spoilt goods.

ALL THIS MEANS A DIRECT SAVING TO YOU.

DOMINION STORES will save you money. Our groceries are standard, fresh and low priced. Nothing is too much trouble to accommodate tomers.

BUY "WHERE QUALITY COUNTS"

It is with pleasure we reproduce Mrs. Graham's ad., knowing that a million and more customers endorse her opinion by shopping at DOMINION STORES each week, and to publicly congratulate Mrs. Graham on winning the Grand Prize from such a large number of skilled contestants.

EMPIRE SHOPPING WEEK IS PLANNED

Will Be Observed in April — Preparing in Canada.

The vastness and unity of the British Empire are two things difficult for the average person to realize. In thinking of the British Empire, most people think first of Great Britain, Canada, Australia, India, South Africa and New Zealand. Unfamiliar places labelled with curious names, perhaps seen only once or twice over a period of years, escape general notice. Yet these also form stout links in the great Chain of Empire.

All of them are going to participate in Empire Shopping week in Canada, April 21st to 28th, or so it seems, for at the last meeting of the Executive Committee for Empire Shopping Week steps were taken to see that every part of the British Empire is invited to participate in the great effort.

St. Helena, the lonely island where Napoleon spent his last year after the crushing defeat at Waterloo, has been asked to join hands with us. So, too, has Samoa the beloved abode of Robert Louis Stevenson the symbol of everlasting boyhood, which will bring her decorative palms to Canada. That strong rocky fortress, Gibraltar, the guardian of the gateway to the Mediterranean is coming in. The Congo, Gold Coast, Nigeria, Sierra Leone are all interested. And on the other side of the world, the Malay States, Borneo, Straits Settlements, Fiji—all vital parts of the Great British Empire—more closely linked in trade with Canada than most of us suppose—these will all participate, also.

Among Canadian Manufacturers

A booklet of engrossingly interesting reading, descriptive of the general plan of operations, together with a letter from the Finance Committee and a letter from W. S. Fallis, President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, has been sent to all members, and to many other manufacturers. The subscription form calls for amounts running from $50.00 to $250.00, and it is anticipated that a generous response will be made.

All the divisional offices of the C.M.A. have been fully informed respecting the "week" and are co-operating to bring about a splendid measure of success.

In the United Kingdom

As has already been announced, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales is to act as patron of Empire Shopping Week in Canada. Telegram to this effect was received from the Secretary of State for External Affairs.

Archimedes is said to have set fire to an enemy fleet by the use of the sun's rays reflected from concave mirrors.

DANISH YOUTH TO BEAT VERNE

STARTED MARCH 1.

MONTREAL, Mar. 10.—(Special.)—Travelling light with little more than a tooth brush and a pair of pyjamas, Young Palle Nuld, fifteen year old Danish globe encircler, wil arrive at Windsor station on Monday, March 12, having crossed the Atlantic from Greenock, Scotland, on the Canadian Pacific liner S. S. Moncalm. On the centenary of Jules Verne's birth, a leading Danish newspaper, the "Politikin," conceived the original idea of sending a representative around the world on the regular travelling schedule of 46 days, so as to make apparent the differences of travel of 1873 and 1928. He left Copenhagen on Thursday, the first of March and he expects to be back, as he has promised, in 46 days.

Palle Huld sailed from Greenock, Scotland, on March 2, on the Canadian Pacific liner S. S. Montcalm. He will reach Montreal on Monday morning, March 12, and will leave that evening for Vancouver, where he will sail for Yokahama on board the C.P. R. flagship, "Empress of Canada." Arrangements for his further trip to Korea, China, Soviet Russia and back to Copenhagen again are in the hands of the Canadan Pacific Railway. Palle will pass through Winnipeg on Wednesday evening.

AN ACRE GARDEN ON EVERY FARM

Bank of Montreal Issues Booklet, Entitled "Make the Garden Pay."

We have just received for review a very useful and interesting booklet dealing with a small, but by no means unimportant, part of the farm-the garden. This book, which is entitled "Make the Garden Pay", is being distributed by the Bank of Montreal, which has already issued a number of handbooks on farming subjects, such as cows, poultry, hogs and sheep but this latest publication will have a wider appeal, as almost everybody is interested in gardening. Vegetables from the market are not so fresh and appetising as those grown in one's own garden, and no piece of land equal in size will give as much yield from the money standpoint as a properly tended garden.

The booklet gives directions and advice in connection with the preparation of soil, the buying of seed and the various varieties best suited to Canadian conditions; also in regard to hotbeds, irrigation, harvesting and storing.

It is written by experts, but in simple language, and is profusely illustrated.

The garden, the book states, should be reasonably convenient to the house, but not a "botched-up" patch in the corner. It should be planted in long straight rows far enough apart to cultivate with a team and field cultivator. Such a garden will give the largest returns with the smallest amount of hand labour. It will add to the health of the family, give pleasure, furnish fresher, better vegetables, and save a lot of money.

The booklet is available at every branch of the Bank of Montreal, and we would recommend all who are interested to call or write for a copy, which will be supplied free of charge.

PRESERVE ANCIENT ARTS OF HABITANT

Aged Women Instruct Montreal Nuns in Secrets of Weaving.

MONTREAL, March 10.—(Canadian Press).—Native arts and handicrafts are all too few in Canada for a single one to be allowed to pass out of existence without protest. The honor of preserving for posterity the century-old art of weaving the colorful "ceinture fleches", or arrow scarfs", belongs to E. Z. Massicotte, president of the Province of Quebec Folklore Society, who brought one of its last surviving votaries, an aged habitant woman, to Montreal that she might instruct nuns at the Mother House of the Sisters of Providence. Watching her skilful fingers, two of the nuns have learned the secrets of the "ceinture fleches", secrets of which they will in turn pass on to habitants wives in far-away backwoods settlements of Quebec, so that a craft born in Canada may flourish in future years.

The arrow scarf, originally popular among the Indians and of recent years highly prized by devotees of winter sports who could afford to pay its stiff price, is produced in a wide variety of designs, all based on the barbaric arrowhead. Its color scheme is rich, almost sombre, never approaching on the gaudy. In a typical scarf possessed by Mr. Massicotte zig-zag lines of dull red, old blue, rich yellow, dark green, light green and blue grey are artistically blended.

It is woven of wool, entirely by hand Its dimensions vary, according to the taste of the customer, but a usual size is seven inches in width, by 45 inches in length, to which must be added the yard of fringe which decorates either end.

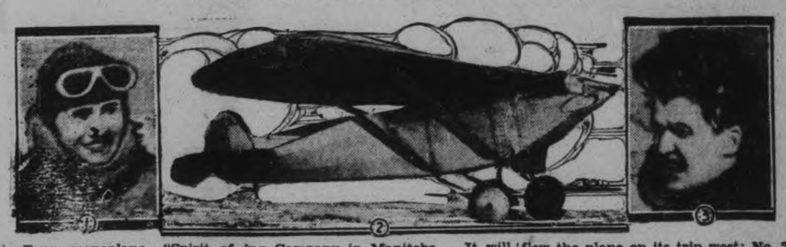
It has been believed by some students of Canadiana that the "ceinture fleches" was of Indian origin, but Mr. Massicotte points out that this theory is untenable as the Indians did not raise sheep for wool. Mr. Massicotte believes that the scarf originated in Acadia and was brought to the Province of Quebec by exiled Acadians, who drifted here after sojourning briefly in the New England States. The oldest scarf of which he has authentic record was woven 90 years ago, but there are some in existence whose age is fixed at 130 years. One arrow scarf has been found in the Maritime Provinces, the original home of the Acadians.

The first scarfs produced in the Province of Quebec were woven in the little village of St. Jacques l'Achigan l'Assumption, in Montcalm County, and from that time the district of has retained the secret, that is until Mr. Massicotte brought aged Dame Lord of Montreal to teach the nuns.

The weaving is an intricate and slow process and a surprising amount of wool is required for a single scarf. For these reasons a specimen of the craft cannot be produced today at a cost less than $65 or $75. Individuals who possess "ceinture fleches" regard them as heirlooms and prices running far into the hundreds of dollars have been paid by collectors for single scarfs.

Knotted about the waist or over the shoulder, the arrow scarf gives an impressive touch to any winter sports costume.

TO BE USED IN NORTHERN SERVICE



This Ryan monoplane, "Spirit of the Pas," similar in appearance to that used by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, is to be used to open up the territory of New North-Western Mining Company in Manitoba. It will carry passengers and freight. The plane has 180 horse-power and travels at a rate of about 105 miles an hour. Picture No. 1 is Howard Watt, who flew the plane on its trip west; No. 2 is the plane; No. 2 is W. H. Wolfe, Toronto mining broker, who was a passenger on the first leg to Toronto.

Rules of the Contest

1. Anyone excepting employees of Sterling Hosiery Mills, or friends and relatives of employees may enter.
2. All word lists must be mailed by June 30th, 1928, and postmark on envelope must show that date or earlier.
3. Contestants who have sent remittances, orders, or lists before June 30th, will be qualified for the prizes and promptness prize provided all requirements are completed by July 15th.
4. Only English words will be counted. Obsolete words will not be counted. Each object can be given only one name. Use either the singular or plural, but not both. Single words made up of two separate words such as teaspoon, teapot, etc., will count as one word. Webster's International Dictionary will be the final authority.
5. The largest list of words which correctly names the objects shown in the picture, beginning with the letter "B" will win first prize; next best list will win second prize, and so on. The winning list will be made up from among the words submitted by contestants and will not be controlled by any predetermined list of words selected by the judges as being the correct or master list.
6. For each wrong word, a percentage will be deducted from the total number of correct words.
7. Two or more people may co-operate in answering the puzzle. Only one prize, however, will be awarded to any one household or group.
8. More than one list of words may be submitted for a prize providing that an order for at least $2.00 worth accompanies each additional list. Lists submitted under assumed names will be disqualified, and will disqualify any previous lists submitted.
9. Use only one side of the paper. Your name and address must appear in the upper right hand corner of each page, and your words must be numbered in consecutive order. On the first page in addition to your name and address, put the name and date of this paper.
10. Final decisions will be made by a committee composed of three Toronto business men who are in no way connected with Sterling Hosiery Mills, Ltd. They are:—Mr. R. I. Finlay, president United Paper Mills, Ltd.; Mr. W. H. Williams, Monarch Knitting Co., Ltd.; Mr. F. M. Medland, of Medland and McCreary, Insurance Agents. Their decisions must be accepted by all contestants as final.
11. An additional prize of $500.00 cash for promptness will be awarded as specified elsewhere in this announcement.
12. In case of ties, the prizes will go to tying entries first received in response to this announcement.

METHOD EXPLAINED.

The persistent and destructive orchard pest, the "mouse", has been on the rampage again and has girdled many fruit trees in the apple sections east of Toronto. In most cases of injury by mice the damage is generally done to young trees, but this winter the little destroyers have developed a particularly voracious appetite and have also eaten the bark on large, old trees. The type of injury is moreover quite severe, in many cases the trees are entirely girdled at the base. Trees injured in this manner will surely die unless reparative measures are adopted. Fortunately for the orchardist methods of repairing most cases of mouse injury have been developed and are now successfully used. This operation is called Bridge Grafting and consists in making a bridge of living tissue across the injured area, thus permitting of the translocation of food supplies and a continuation of growth and fruitfulness.

Various methods of bridge grafting may be used with more or less success, but the method preferred by the writer of this article is known as the Channel Bridge. The details of this method are as follows:

Select for scions strong well developed healthy shoots of the past season's growth. These may be taken from any hardy variety of the species to be grafted.

Make scions from 4 to 6 inches longer than vertical section of girdled area.

Reduce diameter of both ends of scions to one half original thickness for a distance of 2 to 3 inches.

Very lightly pare edges of reduced sections to more thoroughly expose cambium area. Extreme care must be taken in doing this to avoid removing too much tissue from the edge of scion—just enough outer bark should be pared off to expose the green tissue beneath.

Place scion in upright position with lower pared end extending 2 to 3 inches below the girdle and upper end similar distance above the girdle.

Outline with pencil or knife the points where scion comes in contact with bark when placed as directed above.

Cut channels in bark the precise width and length of figure made by knife or pencil. In making these channels special care should be taken to dig out all bark from bottom and to make it so that a close precise fit of scion to trunk may be secured.

Set scion in position with basal part in the lower channel and the top in upper channel. The exposed wood of scion must come in contact with the bottom of channel. If the channel has inadvertently been made too wide for scion, crowd on one side of channel so as to get cambium contact.

Nail scions in position using two small three-quarter inch nails at each end.

Cover all points of contact and all exposed wood surface with good grafting wax applied in liquid condition.

Bridge grafting may be done just before growth starts or even later, provided scions are kept fresh and dormant.

Scions inserted by this method method may be set as closely as one inch apart and when placed as described will eventually form a living wall around the girdled part of the tree.

In many cases when the scions start to grow, small sprouts will develop on these scions. When this occurs leave these shoots as they help the scion to make a more rapid diameter growth through the food making activities of the leaves. After scions have grown for two years remove any shoots that have been left to facilitate growth.

The directions given above are intended for trees of 2 inches in diameter and upward. On trees less than 2 inches in diameter the best results are obtained by sawing off trunk of tree just below girdle and grafting on the stump by the cleft or channel method.

For more complete directions for bridge grafting by this and other methods, the reader is referred to Ontario Department of Agriculture Bulletin No. 324, "Grafting Fruit Trees."

WOULD JOIN CANADA.

There are rumors that British Guiana may seek annexation to Canada to escape its colonial status. J. A. Tinne (Conservative, Wavertree) told the British House of Commons recently that there was widespread desire to link up with the Dominion. The map shows the relation of the two countries.

MARCH WEATHER DANGEROUS TO BABY

Our Canadian March weather—one day bright, but sloppy, the next blustery and cold—is extremely hard on children. Conditions make it necessary for the mother to keep the little ones indoors. They are often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catch colds which rack their whole system. To guard against these colds and to keep the baby well till the better, brighter days come along, a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep his stomach and bowels working regularly. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which never fail to regulate the stomach and bowels and thus they relieve colds and simple fevers and keep the baby fit. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WOOLER UNITED CHURCH.

WOOLER, March 10.—Rev. H. B. Neal spoke to the young people on Sunday morning about the whispering gallery in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, England, as a comparison to this old world being a whispering gallery—little deeds echo all around the world—the air is charged with messages by radio—be careful when you whisper not to blight someone's life.

The text for the older people was Rev. 21-4 "And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain; for the former things are passed away."

"God himself realized anguish, pain, agony in this life. We look upon catastrophe, pentilence, sin and ignorance as possibilities of disaster, and yet we have possibilities or glorious life. So God has given to man a mind to understand, a will to do. We are governed by law, and if we break that law, we suffer. We also have physical laws and moral laws. Goodness is the foundation of all true law.

"Why should the innocent and the just suffer because the fundamentals laws of life have been broken? Men today are more sensitive to suffering, men have found out through the understanding of God. Science has relieved, let knowledge grow and grow to eliminate suffering. Jesus looked at the world's pain, His heart went out. I do not understand, but My Father knows."

SPENCE PLEASED WITH CONVENTION

Prohibition Leader Sees Determination To Continue Fight Despite Differences.

The following statement has been issued by Rev Ben H. Spence giving his impressions of the Provincial Prohibition Convention held in Toronto on March 1st and 2nd.

"The recent Annual Provincial Prohibition Convention of the Ontario Prohibition Union was a splendid gathering of earnest prohibition workers. Its spirit was purposeful. Beneath all apparent differences of opinion and even of feelings and allegiances, there was evident a deep-seated determination to fight on and fight harder against the common enemy.

"The deliberations of the convention brought out two schools of thought. One might be termed the 'aggressives', the other the 'reactionaries', or, as the president put it, the 'extremists', and 'moderates'. This difference was not in principle but only as to policy.

"Two vital decisions illustrate the spirit of the convention. There was a warm discussion in regard to a statement that had been made by President Gisborne in the Pioneer in which he intimated that 'the period of prohibition was an exceptional condition due to the war and not to be regarded as a natural step of the growth of temperance in Ontario.'

"The convention expressed its confidence in Dr. Gisborne personally by re-electing him as president without opposition and then it very courteously but most decidedly differed from him by passing, with an overwhelming vote, a resolution clearly stating that the view of the president and those associated with him, Rev. Dr. D. N. McLachlan and Rev. W. W. Peck, was not only badly out of step with the mind of the temperance people of Ontario, but, in the judgment of the convention, out of accord with the facts of history. This action was taken notwithstanding the adverse report of the Convention Resolutions Committee, the strenuous protests of prominent members of the Union Executive and a statement by the president that he would look upon such a vote as one of 'want of confidence.'

"Another matter of major importance was the action taken regarding National Prohibition. A resolution was passed, without being opposed, declaring that the time had come for the holding of a great national prohibition convention and recommending the appointment of a committee to confer with other organizations to secure co-operative action in making arrangements therefor. Then the convention took the bit in its teeth. It refused to refer the appointment of the committee called for to the executive or to anyone else, and, in spite of the outspoken opposition of the officers of the Union, appointed a special committee of its own for that purpose.

"These two matters showed that the delegates wanted progress and the sinking of personal feelings.

"As 'the tumult and shouting dies,' this clearly emerges, that the great body of temperance people of Ontario are absolutely united against the present liquor policy in this province. This, as one of the delegates said, was aptly, and properly, as well as officially, called 'liquor control.' The air has been cleared of some unfortunate and divisive misunderstandings. The delegates were practically unanimous for aggressive and immediate action for complete Provincial and National Prohibition.

"Defeated but not discouraged, resolute, and with renewed ardor, the organized prohibition forces are gathering their strength for another drive toward their objective, and, obviously, there is a disposition not to be too careful of the feelings of either mistaken friends or outspoken enemies who stand in the way. It was a fine convention."

DISEASE HARMING EUROPE'S BULB SALE

Third of Those Shipped in 1927 Rejected—Canada Grows Her Own.

Hitherto the world's bulb market has been controlled by a few European countries, but now, this European supremacy in the bulb market is being threatened by the appearance of diseases difficult to control. In fact, of 7,000,000 bulbs shipped from Europe to Canada last year, a third were rejected on account of disease. Research work at the Sidney station, B.C., has proved conclusively that Vancouver Island can produce healthier bulbs of better quality than any of the European products. Bulbs have been sent out from the station to every federal experimental farm in Canada and in almost every case they have proved superior in every way to the best that Europe can produce.

This opens up the prospect of a new industry on Vancouver Island. The demand for lily bulbs in England and the United States is very great

A. C. GRAY, District Representative
201 Barrie Bldg., George St.
Peterborough - - - Ontario

won fifth place, was the second speaker. Though she scarcely referred to them, she carried brief notes on the platform with her. She thought it glorious to be alive and a citizen of Canada, the country that had grown from a meagre French colony to a world power in sixty years. Canada's geographical location is ideal, she declared, with ports on two oceans. Her natural resources, agriculture, forest areas, minerals and waterways are second to none. Of these, agriculture, she considered the greatest, forest areas second, with the daily manufacture of newsprint set at 8800 tons, and shipped mostly to the United States. Her minerals, nickel, asbestos, gold, silver, copper and coal, are sources of great wealth. Fishing grounds, and water and railways are also drawing cards for settlers. The youth of to-day will be the statesmen of to-morrow, she considered. They had proved loyal in a crisis before and could be relied upon to do so again.

More progress had been made under British rule than would have been possible under French authority. Canada is represented at the League of Nations. In closing, Miss Cobbleclick quoted a patriotic verse which carried her slightly over the alloted ten minutes.

Campbellford

Miss Marjorie Ackerman, Campbellford, who with Miss Laing of Millbrook was tied for fourth place, was the third speaker. Canada she compared to a youth travelling the long trail from the past to the future city of success. His road would not be easy always, she said, but with courage, ability and determination, he would win. The future of a nation must be judged with an eye to the past. Canada's wheat belt was world famous, and not yet exhausted. Instead, it is being extended annually. Mining is only in its infancy, she claimed. New railroads will assist its development. The newly discovered process of transforming coal into oil will solve the problem of Western Canada's coal. A selective immigration system would also be a benefit and the enlarged Welland Canal and proposed St. Lawrence waterway would make ocean ports out of inland towns and cities.

But material gain must go hand in hand with national spirit. Upon the character of the citizens depends the character of the country. Canada must continue to be a land of peace and prosperity, above all petty strife. Then the visions of to-day will become the success of to-morrow. Canada, she said, would become a great nation and the pride of the British Empire.

Colborne.

Miss Beatrice Purdy, Colborne, winner of the district contest, was the fourth speaker. Canada, she stated, had just passed through sixty years of prosperity, from a dependent colony of Britain to a nation of the world. She had been on the road to prosperity for some time. Her future lay in the valley of opportunity, where lay prosperity, power and individual wealth. Canada would become the most favored of nations, she prophesied. Her geographical location, midway between the Eastern and Western markets, foretells prosperity. Her four basic industries give similar promise. It had been said that the top six inches of Canada's soil would pay off the national debt. Although agriculture is progressing, she declared that mining would be the greatest industry. Already the world feels the scarcity of gold. Canada's water power is the greatest in the world. The St. Lawrence Canal and Hudson Bay will bring seaports to the Middle West.

The Government is most nearly perfect. Canada had, she claimed, all the advantages of British traditions and the liberties of a self-governing nation. There was one grave danger, that the younger generation would fail to realize the greatness of their worthy ancestry in their search for pleasure. "Let us not forget our God!"

World power; destiny—both are in the hands of God. Though Miss Purdy overstepped the time limit slightly, she made a brilliant conclusion to her oration.

Pickering

The fifth speaker was Miss Margaret Wesley of Pickering. She was placed sixth in order of merit by the judges. Canada, she said, has witnessed the coming and going of the Indian, the passing of the buffalo and still has a wonderful future in store for her. And that future will be what Canadians made it. In 1927, Canada led the world in wheat production with the United States second with a production of 180,000,000 bushels. Coal and other minerals were a source of wealth. Fifty-five per cent of the world's cobalt come from Canada and ninety per cent of the nickel. One-sixth of the world's known coal supply was within Canada's boundaries. In 1925 the fisheries netted $48,000,000; fifty per cent of the British Empire's forests are in Canada, and this in spite of the annual loss by forest fire. Iron and steel, textiles, etc, all give showings of a great future Hydro electric power and inland navigation would be factors in future success. Tourist traffic had won Canada the name of the "Playground of America." Free education and compulsory public school education had raised the standard of citizenship. Lloyd George, as British Prime Minister, had prophesied a brilliant future for the Dominion.

Miss Wesley also closed with a patriotic quotation.

Millbrook.

Since the candidate from Mount Pleasant had not yet arrived, Miss Bertha Lang, of Millbrook, was the next speaker. She was tied for fourth place with Miss Ackerman, of Campbellford. Miss Lang declared that there is a century of great achievement for Canada and the prospects for the future must be based on the achievements of the past. Therefore, she said, she would base her remarks on the past and not the future. Among the assets of the Dominion, she named the geographical location, the climate, and the fresh water system of navigation Canada has, she said, 171,000,000 acres of farm lands in the West. Mineral wealth she put in second place of importance, and stated that Canada's last year's production had amounted to $250,000,000. Water power, game, and scenery are also factors of future success. In 1836 Canada possessed sixteen miles of railroad, as compared to the present system. In the last 20 years the national wealth has been doubled she claimed, till Canada ranks third in per capita wealth.

But her greatest asset is her people. Canada requires a wise immigration policy which will bring out professional and business men as well as laborers. The system of education had greatly lowered the percentage of illiterate persons, but Canada must have good citizens who heed the teachings of Jesus. Then she can look forward with confidence to a brilliant future.

Oshawa.

Miss Ruth Fishley, Oshawa, who won seventh place, was the eighth speaker. She did not think ten minutes sufficient time, so dealt with Canada's future in art only. She did not think all the country's future lay stored in her forests and mines. Of her past artists few were known outside the Dominion. Two had achieved fame in England and France. For landscape artists she believed there was a great future.

Government Warning to Truck Drivers and Owners

During early Spring, Highways must be especially protected

Excessive weight and speed damage road foundations and road surfaces during wet spring months. Important clauses in The Ontario Highway Traffic Act are designed to protect the roads, both paved and unpaved, from overloading and excessive speed at such periods.

Briefly, the law declares that during March and April, on roads outside cities and towns:

Solid tired trucks and trailers shall not carry more than half a load;

Pneumatic tired trucks and trailers, with a carrying capacity exceeding three tons, shall be limited to half a load;

The speed limit for solid tired vehicles is set at 15 miles an hour all the year round.

The speed limit for pneumatic tired vehicles of more than six tons gross is set at 20 miles an hour all the year round.

The penalty for overloading at this season is a fine, imprisonment, or both. Licenses may be suspended also. Highway traffic officers have been directed to be especially vigilant in apprehending all who disobey.

Due to the open winter, compliance with these provisions is all the more needful this year.

The Department of Highways desires to impress upon truck and team owners and drivers the provisions of the law and the penalties provided. It seeks their co-operation in a decent observation of provisions so greatly in the public interest. Ontario has an investment of over $170,000,000 in roads and an annual maintenance bill of $4,000,000. This investment must be protected.

He Feels A Different Man Altogether

British Columbia Man Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

"I cannot recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills highly enough for the wonders they performed with me," writes Mr. Andrew Kerr of Beavermouth, B.C. "I feel a different man since I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills. I keep a box on hand at all times in case of sickness. They are a wonderful medicine to take. My back is quite well now, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills." For almost three generations Dodd's Kidney Pills have been the standard remedy for Backache, Rheumatism and ailments arising from Faulty Kidneys. They strike at the seat of the trouble, the Kidneys. They are no cure-all. Simply an effective Kidney Remedy.

Obituary

MRS. GEORGE LITTLE.

MARMORA, March 10—The funeral of Mrs. George Little, held from St. Paul's Church on Thursday afternoon, was largely attended. Rev. A. B. Caldwell conducted the service and gave a very impressive address.

The pall bearers were: M. S. Doupe, W. Gray, T. E. Warren, A. H. Connor, J. Wilkes and W. Linn.

MRS. ANNIE GOODFELLOW.

HARTNEY Manitoba, March 10.—On Friday morning, Feb. 24, at 10.30 o'clock, the death took place of Mrs Annie Goodfellow, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. A. Somerville.

Mrs. Goodfellow has been a resident of this district for about twenty years and was highly respected by a large circle of friends and acquaintances, many of whom attended the funeral service held on Sunday afternoon from the family residence, conducted by Rev. Lavender.

The late Mrs. Goodfellow was born at Tyrone, Ireland, September 13, 1845, coming to this country with her parents at the age of nine years, and settling in the county of Cavan, near Peterboro, where she lived for many years. In 1908, Mrs. Goodfellow came to Manitoba, and has since made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Somerville.

After a very active life Mrs. Goodfellow has been in declining health for the past years and looked forward eagerly to receiving her passport to the "Better Land," where no sickness or sorrow, or pain or death, can ever come. "In my Father's house are many mansions; I go to prepare a place for you, that where I am there ye may be also."

Mrs. Goodfellow leaves to mourn her loss one son in Peterborough, Ont., James Armstrong, and two sons in Calgary, Alta, Archie and R. G. Goodfellow, and her only daughter, Mrs. T. A. Somerville of this district; also ten grandchildren, and ten great grandchildren.

MRS. M. E. SHAVER.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Shaver, prominent young society and business woman of St. Petersburgh, Fla., died on Friday, February 3, at the home of friends in New York apparently following a brief illness. She had recently arrived in New York, making the trip from Jacksonville by boat last Monday. The stormy ocean voyage and cold weather after prolonged residence in Florida is believed to have led to the fatal sickness.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Wright (formerly of Peterborough), of 2100 Second Ave. North, and her son Donald, two years old, who is at the home of his grandparents.

Mrs. Shaver left St. Petersburg for New York on Thursday, January 26, to visit at the home of Mrs. Alice Buhner and several friends, the Misses Pauline Buhner, Louise McBath, Helen Faber, and Addie Faber, at 129½ West Tenth Street. Mrs. Buhner is now in St. Petersburg visiting relatives.

No one was at home at the time of Mrs. Shaver's death, according to telegraphic information. She was found dead by investigators on Friday afternoon who entered the apartment after E. A. Lee, an electrician who had come to repair electric wiring, noticed through a window that Mrs. Shaver's body was lying on the floor.

Medical Examiner Fisher said death apparently resulted from natural causes and that the woman had complained of slight sickness before her friends left for their business offices on Friday morning. Mrs. Shaver was a graduate of St. Petersburg High School in 1923 and prominently identified with the "B' 'Club of the Alumni. She leaves a host of friends in St. Petersburg, having lived here six years since coming from Peterborough. She was born on March 30, 1904, in Jonesboro, Ind. She was married to E. E. Shaver, Jr., in 1925.

Mrs. Shaver attended school in Peterborough, and was very well known in this city.

MRS. MATTHEW WILSON.

OMEMEE, March 10.—The funeral of Mrs. Matthew Wilson will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the United Church, with interment in Emily Cemetery.

The deceased passed quietly away after a short illness on Thursday morning. Left to mourn the loss of a loving wife and mother are her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Harold Laidley, with whom they resided, and two sons, George, of Omemee, and Bert of Chicago.

Newcastle.

Roy James, Newcastle, was the first speaker. Canada's greatest heritage, he said, was her future. Her minerals are of untold wealth, gold, silver and nickel. Ninety-five per cent of the world's nickel comes from Canada. Forest wealth, fresh and salt water fish are also wealth producers. Already first in the production of wheat, only one-fifth of her tillable land is now under cultivation. Then there are modern inventions, such as radio, cable and telegraph, and forty thousand miles of railway stretching from coast to coast. He hoped that he would some day fill a position where he could be of some great assistance to the welfare of Canada. His conclusion came in the form of a patriotic verse.

WOMAN IN THE HOME.

Household Cares Make Great Demands on the Health.

The work of the average woman in the home makes greater demands on their vitality than men realize, and there is always something more to do. When the breadwinner has finished, the housewife begins anew. No wonder women's backs ache and their nerves are worn out. No wonder they get depressed and irritable, suffer from headaches and generally feel out of sorts. But, of course, all women are not like that—what is the difference?

A woman with plenty of healthy, red blood in her veins finds work in the home easy. She asks for no pity; her vitality is at par. This points the way to health for others. Make new blood. You can do it with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills have the marvellous property of renewing the blood and toning up the nerves. Your improved appetite and digestion will show the effect of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Your fatigue and your backache, your headaches and depression will vanish. You will find new joy in living.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)

SUNDAY, MARCH 11, 1928.

Benefic aspects dominate today, according to astrology, which reads in the stars kindly influences.

Women are subject to a sway that is beneficial to them, making for buoyancy and optimism.

The rule is stimulating to hope and is supposed to quicken the finer emotions, encouraging high ambitions.

Lovers are well directed, the vibrations of the planets being especially helpful to sympathy and understandings.

Engagements and even weddings today are subject to the best guidance of the stars which aid comradeship and true partnership.

The planetary government is beneficial to the churches, which should prosper in the coming year. Broader fields of work again are foretold.

Under this sway the clergy will be wise to appeal to the heart rather than to the head in delivering sermons.

There is a sign of extraordinary promise for those who seek the society of friends or relatives. This is an uncommonly propitious rule for visiting.

Persons who hold political offices and those who seek them are supposed to be most fortunate under this rule of the stars.

This should be a favorable day for older men and women, especially for those who adhere to old conventions and traditions.

Reactionary tendencies may be strong at this time when changes of many sorts are presaged.

Persons whose birthdate it is should avoid changes in the coming year, which may not be lucky for extensive travels. It is well to stick to the old places.

Children born on this day probably will be successful all through life. They will like form and enjoy exercising authority.

MONDAY, MARCH 12, 1928.

Until late today the planetary government is threatening, according to astrology which reads many of the aspects as adverse.

Women are subject to unfavorable influences under this rule which makes well as social relations.

The seers point out that this is a period of adjustment for women after the first excitement over their emancipation.

Early political aid from men to women is naturally superseded by normal competitions that may not bring much success in office-seeking this year, astrologers explain.

Through quiet and persistent preparation for big public responsibilities women are to achieve great things in the future. It is prophesied, but they must expect to be subordinates in the coming national campaign.

This is not a lucky day for starting on ocean voyages as heavy storms are presaged by the stars.

It is wise to beware of entrance to a quarrel while this rule prevails, for both men and women may be hypersensitive and easily provoked.

There is a good sign for the spring crop of plays in which will be found one that will attain international fame.

Newspapers and magazines will continue to prosper but many changes in ownership or editorial direction are forecast.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of extreme self-reliance. They should avoid romance and too many friends.

Children born on this day probably will be of restless and adventurous nature. Boys and girls will love travel.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Very new is this three-quarter coat suit of brown kasha worn with a rayon sweater blouse.

Four centimeters isn't much—only about an inch and a half—but when the four centimeters constitute the upward movement of the waistline of spring suits and the tailor who is responsible for those suits is M. O'Rossen of Paris, then the four centimeters is quite important and the news of it is quickly flashed over the cable from Paris to this country.

Mannish fashions are no more—femininity is in the ascendency—but O'Rossen and his conventionally tailored suits are still important in Paris. And the chances are that if you were in Paris, and you had all the money you wanted to spend, you'd invest in at lwast one of them, just for the sake of saying that you had gone to the tailor who serves the Shah of Persia, the king of England and other royalty too numerous to mention.

The upward three inches applies to the suits made with a slightly defined waistline, or to suits with belts. But many of the new suits of the spring are made quite straight, some of them in finger-tip length and some of them quite a bit longer.

There is a wide choice of colors in the new suits. Natural wool oclors such as grege and string are decidedly smart, beiges are very good indeed and so are grays. Pea soup green is still with us and some of the best of the new suits are in black. But perhaps the newest suit color is of a shade of blue that is described as just a little lighter than navy, a sort of marine or middy blue.

There is still the effort among some of the tailors to revive the tuck-in blouse and every once in a while you will see a suit accompanied by a blouse of this sort but the casequin type of blouse is really more satisfactory for most women, while for the more informal type of suit the jersey blouse of fine knit material is the usual choice.

Lyrics of Life - By Douglas Malloch

THE ONE DEAR LIGHT

Come, gentle night,
The day has been too bright,
The noisy crowd
Too near, and much too loud.
Now let day end,
And give me just one friend,
And one fire's light.
Come, gentle night.

For tenderness
Men need, and not success,
Contentment more
Than all their golden store,
Yes, men need peace,
To hear the shouting cease—
When shadows fall,
Love more than all.

Come, gentle eve,
With stars I can believe,
One steadfast one
Less fickle than the sun,
One constant heart
That shines when suns depart—
The one dear light;
Come, gentle night.

STOMACH PAIN

Pain or distress in the stomach organ itself may come from a general inflammation of the stomach which is called gastritis, or from stomach ulcers which are really simply caused from gastritis in its worst form. The pains may come from gastralgia, which is a kind of aching of the stomach organ, from a nervous disorder, or from over-distention with food. The fundamental causes of either gastritis or stomach ulcers are always from these causes Eating too much food, using too much of certain kinds of food, wrong combinations of food, eating when tired, worried or angry, general enervation, and continued use of strong remedies, such as laxatives.

Simple gastritis is often cured by reducing the food intake to half or even a third of the usual amount, by cutting down on the amount of heavy foods, such as the carbohydrates and proteins, or by using a sensible selection of proper food combinations at each meal. Some distress may continue for a short time due to the formation of an excessive amount of stomach gas. This often continues even under the best diet, and is apparently due to the excess of stomach digestive juices which the stomach has been habitually forming to take care of bad mixtures which were formerly used.

Digestion of all foods is mostly a chemical process, and when too much food or bad mixtures are used day after day, the stomach learns to secrete more digestive fluid to take care of the extra burden placed upon it. After the quantity of food is reduced to a normal amount the stomach still continues to secrete an excess of gastric juice. This seems to cause some distress through the irritation of the acid or the formation of extra gas.

If the proper foods are used and correct combinations taken, and distress due to gastritis still continues, the patient may relieve such distress by taking a teaspoon of baking soda an hour after the meal. The soda should not be used regularly but only upon occasion when too much pain persists.

Large quantities of water between meals will keep the stomach juices so diluted as to relieve any unpleasant symptoms which would otherwise develop. When the extra water treatment is being used, the stomach acidity will gradually reduce until it becomes the normal amount to meet the stomach's requirements for digesting a reasonable amount of food in well balanced combinations.

If stomach pains are very great just after eating a sensible meal, it is usually due to stomach ulcer, and a more careful dietetic treatment must be used. Sometimes a milk diet will instantly relieve the distress caused by a well developed stomach ulcer. Small amounts of milk should be taken at frequent intervals to keep the stomach constantly bathed in a steady flow of the milk which, because of its fat content, acts as a virtual salve. Four ounces of milk may be used every half hour or, in some cases, eight ounces every hour as long as the patient is awake. If even milk distresses, the ulcer may prove to be a serious one, and a good diagnostician should be consulted and his advice followed.

Most physicians of today are familiar with the proper dietetic treatment for stomach ulcers. If such treatment does not get good results within a few days a surgical operation may save the patient's life. These operations are rarely necessary, but the opinion of a competent diagnostician should be relied upon.

Questions and Answers.

Question M. E. S. writes "I have been reading your health and diet advice in the paper and am very much interested. My husband has leakage of the heart, which makes him very weak at times. Some doctors have advised him to keep quiet and not work but that isn't his disposition, so he is active and works every day. Is there any cure for leakage of the heart? Please advise what he should do."

Answer —The cure of leakage of the heart depends upon well regulated exercise and the use of a balanced diet, so arranged as not to produce excessive pressure against the heart. This pressure from food is either due to a large amount of food ingested or to the gas pressure from stomach or intestinal indigestion. Rest in bed for a week or two is sometimes helpful but should not be continued for long as the entire body becomes weakened with continued rest. Light calisthenic exercises should be taken. Send for special article on heart derangements.

Question A Constant Reader writes "Recently a doctor told me upon examination that I had acidity and that I should avoid all citrus fruit and any food containing lactic acid. May I ask your opinion regarding this and what foods I should eat?"

Answer If it is true that you show any over-acidity in any part of your body the correct diet treatment for you to take is to use plenty of acid fruits, particularly the citric acid fruits as they are practically a sure cure for acidosis. I have been preaching this truth for many years and within the last few years every recognized authority has written articles confirming my findings. Take a short fruit fast preferably on the citrus fruits and then adhere strictly to the weekly menus which are published each Saturday in this column.

Through these examinations—open to the pupils of all teachers—the standing of a student may be ascertained and progress tested. They are also preparatory to the diploma and degree courses in music, which, taken from McGill, the national university of Canada, are recognized everywhere as of the highest standing. Further information regarding the different grades, music to be prepared, fees, etc., and application forms may be obtained by applying direct to the Secretary of the Faculty of Music of McGill University or to the local Secretary, F. G. Mann, 199 Lonson Street.

Entries for the examinations should be sent in before April 1.

Marlboros Pile up Five Goal Lead Over Soo

O. H. A. CHAMPIONS SHUT OUT JUNIOR TEAM FROM NORTH

Dukes Show Strength On Attack and Defence in Victory.

BOTH TEAMS FAST.

MacPherson and C. Conacher Score All Five Goals For Winners.

TORONTO, March 10. — Marlboros' powerful junior team practically disposed of the Northern threat in the initial game of the Memorial Cup series first round last night at the Arena Gardens when they defeated Soo Greyhounds by 5 to 0. A capacity house received a sixty-minute impression of the defensive and attacking strength of the crown-chested Dukes that served to revise many former opinions which may or may not have been flattering.

Last night's game was a reaction from the tenseness and discretion of the Newmarket series. The lads from the North Countree opened at a whirlwind pace, and maintained their characteristic style of open play until they tired in the latter stages. And Marlboros opened up, too. They skated faster than in any previous appearance this season and passed the puck with reckless abandon, oft-times slashing the rubber the full width of the playing surface.

For a change the Dukes did not lapse into strictly defensive tactics after they had worked out a lead. On the contrary, they bored in at top speed, each attacker attempting to outdo the others. Despite this three of their five goals were scored on passing plays, and the other two after combination attacks went awry.

Chums in Limelight

Captain "Shrimp" MacPherson and Charlie Conacher, who saw their first hockey as joint mascots of Aura Lee teams more than a decade ago, were much in the limelight. The canny Scot, with the trick grin rattled the disc against the twine three times in a row in the first two periods, and his solemn-faced chum came out of a scoring slump of many games' duration to account for the remaining two markers in the final session.

The Soo speedsters made the tactical mistake of sending their plays down centre ice. With McPherson at the top of his form and Don Mercer's uncanny poke check working like clockwork, the middle path was taboo last night. It was in the pivot territory that most of the Greyhounds' trusts went astray, and when they did filter through the hard-hitting Duke defence hoisted heavy body checks into the puck carriers. It was MacPherson's first tally and a series of disconcerting bumps administered by "Red" Horner that slowed down the Northerners' attack in the first period after two thrusts had slipped around Irvine and forced Harris to his knees.

Al Taylor, husky defence man, led the invaders in their rather feeble stand against the steadily advancing Dukes. The big fellow uncovered a rare burst of speed and a display of clever stick work that provided the only anxious moments—if they could be termed that—experienced by the O.H.A. champions. Defensively he was the only Greyhound who could hand back the bumps with any effectiveness. His body checks jarred the Duke attackers, and he was a prime favorite with the crowd, which gave him an ovation every time he sallied down the ice. He was knocked out late in the second period by a shot from McPherson's stick, the puck striking him just over the eye. He refused to retire, and carried on to the gong without relief.

The teams:

Marlboros—Goal, Harris; defence, Irvine and Horner, centre, MacPherson; wings, A. Conacher and C. Conacher; subs, Jackson and Mercer.

Soo—Goal, Delabbio; defence, Taylor and Adam; centre, Mahoney; wings, Lewis and Ganton; subs., Sterns and Dorazzio.

Referee—Jack Hemphill, Kitchener.

FORTY TALESMEN CHOSEN FOR SUIT

Final Selection of Twelve To Act in Currie Case To Be at Trial.

COBOURG, March 10—Forty talesmen, whose names were not divulged were chosen for possible jury service Thursday by counsel for plaintiff and defendants in the libel action brought by General Sir Arthur Currie against Frederick W. Wilson, publisher of The Port Hope Guide and W. T. R. Preston. Sheriff Nesbitt has set March 29 as the date for selection of 16 of the 40, and elimination of the others. Then, upon the occasion of the case going to trial, 12 men will be finally selected, who will hear the case.

The session Thursday started at 11.30 in chambers in the Town Hall, with Sheriff D. J. Nesbitt presiding and the counsel interested in the case present. D. H. Chisholm, K.C., Port Hope, and A. R. Willmott, Cobourg, represented Sir Arthur Currie. W. A. F. Campbell, Port Hope, and T. F. Hall, K.C., Cobourg, represented the defendants in the action. Mr. Preston and Mr. Wilson were also present. The selection of the jurymen from the Grand Jury rolls of the Supreme Court and the inferior court occupied about two hours.

There is considerable speculation as to who the 12 men to be chosen after future elimination will be. These are the men who will comprise the special jury when the case goes to trial here about April 16 before Mr. Justice Rose.

Mack Enters Race For Mandell Bout

BOSTON, Mass., March 10.—Canadian Press. — The promoters' race for the services of Sammy Mendell, the lighweight boxing champion, became three-cornered yesterday when Eddie Mack, matchmaker of the Argonne A. A. of Boston, announced a new offer to the lightweight king for an outdoor title match here next spring against Bruce Flowers the New York negro.

Over the long distance telephone from New York, Mack said he had offered Mendell a flat guarantee of $50,000 and the privilege of a 40 per cent. "cut" in the gate receipts to box Flowers at Braves' Field here on May 29. The only string provides that both boxers train in or near Boston for two weeks preceding the match.

INTER-CITY TEAMS CLASH IN FINAL

Maroons and Canadiens Meet in Final Scheduled N.H.L. Fixture To-night.

MONTREAL, Quebec, March 10.—Canadian Press. — Stakes will be high when Canadiens and Maroons clash in their sixth and final scheduled N.H.L. fixture here on Saturday night. Three points behind Canadiens in standing of the clubs in the Canadian section, Maroons will be battling to prune the lead of their local rivals, and Canadiens will be spurting for a win, which would just about clinch the top rung for the Canadiens and give them the bye in the play-offs. In their last meeting the two teams will be seeking the advanced morale which such a win would give them to take into the post season eliminations.

But aside from all league connections the game will decide whether Maroons are to become first holders of the George Kennedy memorial cup and the city championship, through a victory or a tie or whether Canadiens are to knot the series and leave the question of possession of the trophy up to the showing of the two clubs in the N.H.L. play offs.

Maroons lead Canadiens in the five games played to date, having won two games, drawn two and lost one. A Maroon win or a tie game would give Maroons possession of the Kennedy Memorial Cup for the year. A Canadien win would tie the local series and would leave the issue up to the showing of the two teams in the play offs for which both have already qualified.

GARDEN HILL DEFEATED 5-1

Bailieboro Tuxis Square Wins a Close Game at Millbrook.

BAILIEBORO, March 10. — On Tuesday evening, March 6th, the Bailieboro Tuxis Square played a game of hockey against the Garden Hill Tuxis Square, on the Cosmos rink at Millbrook.

The game was fast, and at the end of the third period the score stood five to one in favor of Bailieboro. The teams lined up as follows:

Bailieboro. — Goal, H. Dian defence, L. Atchison and M. Wood; forwards, L. Dawson and R. Hutchison; centre, E. Earnshaw; subs, M. Sloan, A. Dawson and R. Atchison.

Garden Hill.—Goal, F. Bannister; defence, J. Cantrell and Griffith; forwards, Scott and H. Cantrell; centre, O. Woodley.

WINNER MUST FACE HEENEY

Manager Reveals Control Made at Time Delaney Deal Closed.

BOUT EXPECTED IN JUNE.

NEW YORK, March 10.—An agreement guaranteeing Tom Heeney a bout with the winner of the Jack Sharkey-Johnny Risko bout if the New Zealander eliminated Jack Delaney from the heavyweight tournament came to light yesterday to cast a menacing shadow over the quite obvious plan to ignore the sturdy man from down under in the selection of Gene Tunney's next opponent in a heavyweight title bout.

It was learned that when Charles J. Harvey signed the contract which closed negotiations for the recent Heeney-Delaney match Harvey also signed an agreement as representative of Heeney, in which the Madison Square Garden Corporation assumed the responsibility of arranging a meeting between the New Zealander and the Sharkey-Risko winner. The existence of this agreement did not become known until yesterday, following the action of the State Athletic Commission at its meeting last Tuesday subordinating the challenge of Heeney to one from Sharkey.

Manager Harvey is prepared to exercise the privileges involved in this agreement and to press his objections to Sharkey's selection as Tunney's next opponent if the Boston heavyweight beats Risko when they clash in a fifteen-round bout in the Garden on Monday night. This threat carries its promise of complications to an already confused heavy weight situation, but boxing fans generally support the stand of Harvey, who insists that Heeney's victory over Delaney, his draw with Sharkey, his knockout of Jim Maloney and his triumph over Johnny Risko establish the New Zealander as a man worthy of as much consideration as Sharkey, regardless of the outcome of Monday night's bout.

Only One Tunney Bout Likely.

The plans of Promoter Tex Rickard are gradually being adjusted to conditions, and it is expected that after Monday night's bout he will announce that he has decided upon only one title struggle for Tunney this Summer, and that in September. Right now a final heavyweight elimination is tentatively provided for in Rickard's outdoor schedule, and the indications point to Heeney facing the Sharkey-Risko winner on June 14 or June 7.

Meantime Sharkey and Risko go steadily about preparing themselves for their approaching encounter, and interest in the match shows a steady improvement as the date of battle draws near. The sale of fight tickets yesterday showed encouraging signs at the Garden box-office and Promoter Rickard was wrestling with a flood of mail applications for tickets.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By a Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

I am writing this, Mac, with tears still in my eyes over the fate what befell them Varsity birds at the hands of Kitchener in the sr. finals, but the gloom is only because the Dutchmen didn't rub it in worse. In all the games the Petes has played against the Kitchener lads they've found them real sports, while the students has kinda high-hatted their opposition and acted like they didn't think they oughta be playing in the same league with town outfits. And so on 2 counts everybody here is glad to see the Dutchmen come through. Mister Karges and pals, please accept our best: we're tickled to death you done the trick.

Well, Mac, I see the fish war is still going strong. I been thinking, Mac, mebbe the fishing around here ain't so bad as it seems—only a lotta birds is unlucky about the time they pick to fish. For instance, you go up to Stoney Lake in July, and a guide condescends to take you round calling on fish at so much per day, and after you've been at it 2, 3 days without getting nothing to speak of, he'll up and say, "It's too bad you come just now when the water's so high. Next month is the time to get the big 1's." And so the next year you go back in Aug. and try it again, with the same luck, and you'll be told, "Tough luck you come this time of the year when the lunge is losing their teeth. If you'd been here in July you'd got a boat load." Any time seems to be good except just the week you pick for your holidays.

Say, Mac, the ball season ain't so far away. I just been reading in a Belleville paper where Mister Walter Gerow of the Belleville Central Leaguers had his pitchers out in the "Y" gym. the other night for the first workout. The Belleville heavers is going to work their arms in shape this way so they'll be all set to curve them when they is a chance to get outside. Seeing the 1st league game won't be anyway until the middle May, they ain't nobody going to rise up and say Mister Gerow's going to be caught napping, but, believe me, if the Belleville pitching ain't no better than it was a couple years ago, all this advance training won't mean a thing. But I notice 1 of the pitching squad is a bird named Utronke, and something seems to tell me this guy ain't come to Belleville just because he likes something he heard about the town. He likely is the ace up the sleeve, or perhaps only the joker. You can't never tell until he goes out there on the hilltop and tries to fool the boys. It ain't likely the Petes will follow the Belleville plan and start training now. Some of the local gang may have voted at 2, 3 elections, but anyway they ain't so stiff in the joints yet they gotta start loosening up before the hockey season's over.

I see a write-up about referees in a Toronto paper sez Mister Lou Marsh used to stuff his ears with cotton batting so he couldn't hear what the fans were saying about him. After some local games I seen recently I feel like passing tip along to 1 of the local brigade of bellringers, though, if I was him I wouldn't trust to no cotton batting—I'd used asbestos—for some of the things I've overheard would just naturally burn a hole through all the cotton batting in the world.

Well, Mac, our hockey campaign is about wound up. They ain't much to look back at and rejoice over, although them kids up at the Collegiate is doing their darndest to bring us a championship, and with a 2-goal lead on Belleville they ain't no reason why they can't come through. Anyway they've proved it's possible for a Peterboro team to beat somebody, and that ain't to be sneezed at this season. What about next year? somebody sez. How do I know? Anyway it won't be any worse.

Can't think of nothing more, so take care yourself, Mac.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

NEWTON LEADS BUNION DERBY

Gaunt British Campaigner Covers Fifth Lap of Marathon Race.

AVERAGES 7 MILES HOUR.

BAGDAD, Calif., Mar. 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Averaging nearly 7 miles an hour under a burning sun and over a roadway thickly coated with dust, Arthur Newton, 44 year old runner from Rhodesia, South Africa, led the "bunion derby" contestants into this desert point yesterday to win the fifth lap of the $48,500 Los Angeles to New York Marathon.

The stretch covered yesterday was 41.9 miles and the gaunt British campaigner chalked up the stunning time of 6 hours, 33 minutes and 30 seconds—made while a temperature of 94 degrees prevailed. Already lowest in total elapsed time since the foot racers left Los Angeles last Sunday, he added substantially to his lead yesterday, having a mark of 31 hours and two minutes for the 207.5 miles covered.

Newton, holder of the 100 mile running championship of England, kept up throughout the grind yesterday the same steady pace that brought him victory in Thursday's lap. Setting his face into the sun at 7.29 o'clock yesterday morning, he jogged tirelessly over the long trail of dirt and gravel. Just 21 miles from Mojake Wells, the starting point, he passed Ed Gardner, Seattle long distance star, who had showed his heels to 154 other runners and walkers until then.

A stop in Ludlow to change shoes and receive attention was a costly one for the Seattle athlete, for it was then that Newton passed him. Gardner also checked in at the control station here in good condition. His time was 7 hours, 15 minutes and 40 seconds, making his elapsed figures 34 hours, one minute and 36 seconds. Newton beat the Seattle Negro into Bagdad by more than three miles.

Four Finish in First Twenty-five in Marathon Contest.

MOJAVE WELLS, Calif, March 9 (Canadian Press). — Four Canadian contestants finished in the first twenty-five in the fifth lap of the coast-to-coast Marathon completed here yesterday.

They were: Eighth place, John Cronick, Saskatoon; thirteenth, Philip Granville, Hamilton; nineteenth, Henry Swabay, York Township, Ontario; twenty-second, A. Constantinoff, Toronto.

STUDY McLaughlin-Buick in action and you see the results of McLaughlin-Buick's keen and constant attention to engineering.

The fundamental reason for the ample power of the McLaughlin-Buick engine is its valve-in-head construction. In this type of engine, the full force of the explosion is concentrated directly upon the piston, for the combustion chamber fits exactly over the cylinder bore, like the breech of a gun. Only with the valve-in-head design, which requires no irregular-shaped chamber to accommodate the valves, can this effect be obtained. That is why the valve-in-head engine is the most powerful, per cubic inch of displacement, ever devised. In McLaughlin-Buick for 1928 this famous valve-in-head engine is further improved by a Counter-balanced Crankshaft, Torsion Balancer and many other mechanical refinements.

PROMINENT LEADERS OF RIVAL ARAB TRIBES

The warlike and fanatical tribes of Arabia, under the redoubtable Ibn Saud, King of the Hedjaz and Sultan of Nejd, are offering a serious threat to the British mandates in Asia. A plan to unite all Islam against Britain is said to be developing in the mind of the wily and powerful desert ruler, who in 1924 overthrew Ibn Ali, then King of the Hedjaz, and established himself securely in the holy city of Mecca. Squadrons of the Royal Air Force in Irak, which include bombers and fighters, are standing by in Egypt, Palestine, and India to go to their aid when the word comes. (1) Janil Al Rawi, son of the present King Feisal of Irak, and ally of Britain; (2) King Feisal of Irak, whose throne is protected by the mandate; (3) Ibn Saud; (4) Emir Abdullah of Transjordania, whose territory is already being raided by elements under Saud's banner; (5) Ibn Ali, former King of the Hedjaz, who was ousted in 1924 by the Saud. CENTRE OF TROUBLE

With Arab hordes from the trackless desert of Nejd reported already on the march against the British mandated territories of Irak and Transjordania, feverish preparations are under way by the British authorities to meet the serious threat offered by Ibn Saud. The map shows the positions of Irak and Transjordania in relation to the desert of Nejd. Warring bands of Wahabis are already reported raiding the Transjordania frontier, while the redoubtable sheik, Ed Dolaish, at the head of an Arab column, is reported moving against the British air base at Basra, at the head of the Persian Gulf.

Kid Carson May Try To Make a Comeback

TORONTO, March 10.—"Kid" Carson, of Calgary, Alberta, one of the leading welterweights of four or five years ago was in town Thursday, and the Westerner is trying to stage a comeback. Carson who held the Western Canada championship, also won the middleweight honors out there and then forfeited his title to roam around and run a physical culture academy in the States. He had victories over Al McKoy, K. O. Brennan, Jack Holland, Tom Burke, Gene Wright, Al Doty, "Cyclone" Johnston and a score of others out there. He has been all over since he quit the fight game but is anxious to get back in the hunt to get a crack of George Fifield, the present Canadian champion. Carson was a great friend of Harry Greb, the late middleweight champion of the world and trained with him for a long time. He may have been a good one when he was at his best, but he would have a hard time stopping Fifield, Lewis or any of the other good welters around here now.

HERBERT BRENON'S "SORRELL AND SON"

Story of Father-and-Son Devotion Based on Warwick Deeping Novel.

Father-and-son love is the theme of "Sorrell and Son," Hefbert Brenon's production of Warwick Deeping's best-selling novel, made into a United Artists Picture, and offered at the Capitol Theatre Monday.

H. B. Warner appears as Stephen Sorrell, and Mickey McBan and Nils Asther enact, respectively, the child Kit and the matured Kit Sorrell. The notable cast includes Anna Q. Nilsson as Dora Sorrell; Carmel Myers as Florence Palfrey; Norman Trevor as Thomas Roland; Alice Joyce as Fanny Garland; Mary Nolan as Molly Roland; and Louis Wolheim as Sergeant Buck.

Much of "Sorrell and Son" was filmed in England and with the aid of the author, Warwick Deeping. All of the film "Sorrell and Son" is faithful to the spirit and letter of Warwick Deeping's book, and the ending of the film is that of the book. Herbert Brenon, who made "Peter Pan" and "Beau Geste," says that "Sorrell and Son" is his best motion picture. A father himself, Mr. Brenon believes the story of "Sorrell and Son" is that of any father and any son, and that the appeal of the film as entertainment is supplemented by its spiritual effect on men and women who view it.

The story of "Sorrell nad Son" is that of a British war veteran whose wife deserts him and his six-year-old son. The veteran, Captain Stephen Sorrell, M.C., thereafter struggles against ingratitude, poverty, vice and physical exhaustion to rear and educate his beloved son, in whom he is ultimately well pleased. Interwoven with the story of father-and-son devotion are the sub-plots of Stephen Sorrell's friendship with Fanyn Garland; Kit Sorrell's love for Molly Roland; Roland's kindness for Stephen Sorrell; Sergeant Buck's enmity for Sorrell; Florence Palfrey's scorn of her drunken husband and angry passion for Captain Sorrell; and Dora Sorrell's bitter struggle to win fom her husband the love of their son, Kit.

AT THE REGENT.

Striking in conception and Masterful in execution, FBO's great Elks' production, "Moulders of Men," starring Conway Tearle is coming to the Regent, where it will be shown for three days. A dual theme permeates the story, sustaining the interest in an unusually high degree—the story of a millionaire physician's battle against a powerful gang that is doing much to corrupt his town and likewise his efforts with the aid of the Elks' hospital to restore a crippled boy's leg. The lame youngster's brother has ran afoul of the law through his connection with the gang and is persuaded by its leaders that the physician is responsible for the boy's death. Not knowing that the lad is well on his way to recovery the youthful gangster breaks into the physician's home, prepared to exact merciless retribution, and the ensuing climax is one of the most gripping sequences that the local screens have shown for months.

Tearle is superb in the role of the millionaire doctor. Frankie Darro, the child wonder of the screen, makes an appealing Sandy, and Margaret Morris, as the newspaper woman who shares Tearle's dangers and eventually his love, is an adorable heroine. Rex Lease is splendid as the brother. Others in the supporting cast are Alan Brooks, Eugene Palette, Jola Mendex and Bill Knight.

Ralph Ince achieved enormous success with his clever handling of the story values and powerful climax. The story is an original one by John Chapman Hilder, managing editor of the Elks' national magazine, and Dorothy Yost made the continuity.

"I wish I'd known"

There's always a new experience ahead—something you haven't done before and which calls for a decision.

You become engaged—and immediately you are called upon to decide on the purchase of many, many things you never bought before.

You marry—and furniture, draperies, silverware, china, talking machines, oil-burners, gas-stoves, automobiles claim your dollars and call for your choice.

A baby comes—and again you face a new experience in purchasing clothes and powders and blankets; in buying a crib, baby-carriage, foods, toys.

Next—what school? For the years pass incredibly fast. Once more, a new decision.

Every room in your house requires a choice. Every meal served in your dining-room results from your having decided on what to serve. Every day confronts you with a multitude of possibilities from which you must select those which make life happier and better, and make the dollars go farther.

How on earth are you going to make those decisions? How can you know what you want and what you don't want? How can you buy to such advantage that you'll seldom, if ever, have occasion to use that futile phrase, "I wish I'd bought something else?"

WHAT WILL UHLE DO THIS SUMMER

Evans Says Don't Be Surprised if Hurler Turns in Brilliant Performance.

BY BILLY EVANS

Whom do you consider the five greatest right-handed pitchers in the major leagues?

If I had been asked the question prior to the opening of the 1927 season, George Uhle of Cleveland and Pete Donahue of Cincinnati certainly would have been included in the list of the big five.

My first reason would have been the remarkable record the two stars had piled up the year previous, Uhle winning 27 games, Donahue an even 20. Incidentally Uhle had done more work than any other pitcher, officiating in 318 innings and allowing less than three runs per game in 39 contests in which he participated in whole or part. Pete Donahue, despite the toughest sort of breaks, had turned in 20 victories for Cincinnati.

My second and more important reason was that having umpired back of Uhle for years and seen Donahue in action many times, I was more than familiar with the wide assortment of stuff they possessed, plus keen pitching minds.

It would have been hard to have dug up two better reasons for naming Uhle and Donahue among the five leading right-handers of the majors. Present and past performances certainly entitled them to such a rating.

Baseball, however, is a most peculiar business, filled with more uncertainties than any other sport and always dependent for success on the unusual breaks that may creep into the play that cannot be doped out in advance.

If, prior to the start of the 1927 season, any expert had expressed the opinion that neither George Uhle nor Pete Donahue would win 10 ball games for their respective clubs, he would have been the most scoffed at man in the baseball fraternity.

Odds of better than 20 to 1 would have been offered by those inclined to wager that such dope was all wet. Anonymous writers and others willing to sign their real name or a fictitious one would have deluged the sports editors of the two Ohio cities insisting that the expert in question submit to a sanity test.

Yet, that is just what happened. George Uhle fell two games short of 10 victories while Pete Donahue was four short. Uhle's record was eight wins against nine defeats, while Donahue could register only six victories while losing 16 games.

George Uhle, during the 1927 season, fell 19 games short of the number of victories credited to him the previous year, while Donahue was 14 wins off his game.

I still regard George Uhle and Pete Donahue two of the greatest pitchers in the game, regardless of their failure in 1927.

Undoubtedly the hard work Uhle did in 1926, pitching 318 innings, coupled with a sore arm, and the fact that the entire Cleveland team slumped badly, played havoc with him. A similar situation might be applied to Donahue's unexpected reversal of form.

It would occasion no great surprise to me if Uhle and Donahue came back this summer with big years. One bad season means nothing in particular when you consider the many great years both have had.

The consistency of Hudson leadership is but the performance of its first principle, resolution and tradition—to always lead in value.

Thus it was the first car at moderate price to give truly great performance, smoothness and reliability—the industry's standard today.

Thus it was the first in the development of American closed cars, and such smart turnouts as the Town Car and Speedster.

The Coach—a Hudson invention—turned the entire industry to closed cars.

The Super-Six principle and its companion invention that turns waste heat to power, is the most efficient combination in development and transmission of power, within our knowledge.

In the beautifully designed and luxuriously finished bodies that feature the new Hudson Super-Sixes the same relation of values obtain as made the Super-Six chassis famous.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR of THE BENSON MURDER CASE

© Charles Scribner's Sons

THE STORY THUS FAR

Skeel's finger prints were found in the apartment of the strangled Margaret Odell, but Vance believes Skeel had been hiding in a closet while the murderer did his work. The thing that baffles police is the door to the alley. It was bolted on the inside, seemingly precluding the exit or entrance of anyone through it. Mannix, Dr. Lindquist and Cleaver all lie about their whereabouts the night of the murder. Spotswoode, who had called on the girl, had rushed to her door at sound of a scream, but had been reassured through the door that nothing was wrong. Later Skeel is found strangled, after promising to reveal the murderer. Vance demonstrated how Skeel could have manipulated the side door and asks Markham to invite Spotswoode, Cleaver and Mannix to his apartment for a poker game, promising to reveal the murderer after it is over. Cleaver wins an unusually large stake from Vance, beating four kings with a straight flush.

CHAPTER XLVIII

About half an hour later Vance again took out his handkerchief and passed it across his forehead. As before, I noted that it was Allen's deal, and also that the hand was a jack pot which had been twice sweetened. Allen paused to take a drink of his high-ball and to light his cigar. Then, after Vance had cut the cards, he dealt them.

Cleaver, Markham and Spotswoode passed, and again Vance opened, for the full amount of the pot. No one stayed except Spotswoode; and this time it was a struggle solely between him and Vance.

Spotswoode asked for one card; and Vance stood pat. Then there followed a moment of almost breathless silence. The atmosphere seemed to me to be electrically charged, and I think the others sensed it too, for they were watching the play with a curiously strained intentness. Vance and Spotswoode, however, appeared frozen in attitudes of superlative calm. I watched them closely, but neither revealed the slightest indication of any emotion.

It was Vance's first bet. Without speaking he moved a stack of yellow chips to the center of the table—it was by far the largest wager that had been made during the game. But immediately Spotswoode measured another stack alongside of it. Then he coolly and deftly counted the remainder of his chips, and pushed them all forward with the palm of his hand, saying quietly:

"The limit."

Vance shrugged almost imperceptibly.

"The pot, sir, is yours." He smiled pleasantly at Spotswoode, and put down his hand face up, to establish his openers. He had held four aces!

"Gad! That's poker!" exclaimed Allen chuckling.

"Poker?" echoed Markham. "To lay down four aces with all that money at stake?"

Cleaver also grunted his astonishment, and Mannix pursed his lips disgustedly.

"I don't mean any offense, y' understand, Mr. Vance," he said. "But looking at that play from a strictly business standpoint, I'd say you quit too soon."

Spotswoode glanced up.

"You gentlemen wrong Mr. Vance," he said. "He played his hand perfectly. His withdrawal, even with four aces, was scientifically correct."

"Sure it was," agreed Allen. "Oh, boy! What a battle that was!"

Spotswoode nodded and, turning to Vance, said:

"Since the exact situation is never likely to occur again, the least I can do, by way of showing my appreciation of your remarkable perception, is to gratify your curiosity—I held nothing."

Spotswoode put down his hand and extended his fingers gracefully toward the upturned cards. There were revealed a five, six, seven and eight of clubs, and a knave of hearts.

"I can't say that I follow your reasoning, Mr. Spotswoode," Markham confessed. "Mr. Vance had you beaten—and he quit."

"Consider the situation," Spotswoode replied, in a suave, even voice. "I most certainly would have opened so rich a pot, had I been able to, after Mr. Cleaver and you had passed. But since I nevertheless stayed after Mr. Vance had opened for so large an amount it goes without saying that I must have had either a four-straight, a four-flush, or a four-straight-flush. I believe I may state without immodesty that I am too good a player to have stayed otherwise."

"And, I assure you, Markham," interrupted Vance, "that Mr. Spotswoode is too good a player to have stayed unless he had actually had a four-straight flush. That is the only hand he would have been justified in backing at the betting odds of two to one.

"You see, I had opened for the amount in the pot, and Mr. Spotswoode had to put up half the amount of the money on the table in order to stay—making it a two-to-one bet.—Now, these odds are not high, and any non-opening hand smaller than a four-straight-flush would not have warranted the risk.

"As it was, he had, with a one-card draw, two chances in forty-seven of making a straight flush, nine chances in forty-seven of making a flush, and eight chances in forty-seven of making a straight; so that he had nineteen chances in forty-seven—or more than one chance in three—of strengthening his hand into either a straight-flush, a flush, or a straight."

"Exactly," assented Spotswoode.—"However, after I had drawn my one card, the only possible question in Mr. Vance's mind was whether or not I had made my straight-flush.

"If I had not made it—or had merely drawn a straight or a flush—Mr. Vance figured, and figured rightly, that I would not have seen his large bet and also have raised it the limit. To have done so, in those circumstances, would have been irrational poker. Not one player in a thousand would have taken such a risk on a mere bluff.

"Therefore, had Mr. Vance not laid down his four aces when I raised him, he would have been foolhardy in the extreme. It turned out, of course, that I was actually bluffing; but that does not alter the fact that the correct and logical thing was for Mr. Vance to quit."

"Quite true," Vance agreed. "As Mr. Spotswoode says, not one player in a thousand would have wagered the limit without having filled his straight-flush, knowing I had a pat hand. Indeed, one might almost say that Mr. Spotswoode, by doing so, has added another decimal point to the psychological subtleties of the game; for, as you see, he analyzed my reasoning, and carried his own reasoning a step further."

Spotswoode acknowledged the compliment with a slight bow; and Cleaver reached for the cards and began to shuffle them. But the tension had been broken, and the game was not resumed.

Something, however, seemed to have gone wrong with Vance. For a long while he sat frowning at his cigaret and sipping his high-ball in troubled abstraction. At last he rose and walked to the mantel, where he stood studying a Cezanne water color he had given Markham years before. His action was a typical indication of his inner puzzlement.

Presently, when there came a lull in the conversation, he turned sharply and looked at Mannix.

"I say, Mr. Mannix"—he spoke with only casual curiosity—"how does it happen you've never acquired a taste for poker? All good business men are gamblers at heart."

"Sure they are," Mannix replied, with pensive deliberation. "But poker, now, isn't my idea of gambling—positively not. It's got too much science. And it ain't quick enough for me—it hasn't got the kick in it, if you know what I mean. Roulette's my speed. When I was in Monte Carlo last summer I dropped more money in ten minutes than you gentlemen lost here this whole evening. But I got action for my money."

"I take it, then, you don't care for cards at all."

"Not to play games with," Mannix had become expansive. "I don't mind betting money on the draw of a card, for instance. But no two out of three, y' understand. I want my pleasures to come rapid." And he snapped his thick fingers several times in quick succession to demonstrate the rapidity with which he desired to have his pleasures come.

Vance sauntered to the table and carelessly picked up a deck of cards.

"What do you say to cutting once for a thousand dollars?"

Mannix rose instantly.

"You're on!"

Vance handed the cards over, and Mannix shuffled them. Then he put them down and cut. He turned up a ten. Vance cut, and showed a kind.

"A thousand I owe you," said Mannix, with no more concern than if it had been ten cents.

Vance waited without speaking, and Mannix eyed him craftily.

"I'll cut with you again—two thousand this time. Yes?"

Vance raised his eyebrows. "Double? . . . By all means." He shuffled the cards, and cut a seven.

Mannix's hand swooped down and turned a five.

"Well, that's three thousand I owe you," he said. His little eyes had now narrowed into slits, and he held his cigar clamped tightly between his teeth.

"Like to double it again—eh, what?" Vance asked. "Four thousand this time?"

Markham looked at Vance in amazement, and over Allen's face there came an expression of almost ludicrous consternation. Every one present, I believe, was astonished at the offer, for obviously Vance knew that he was giving Mannix tremendous odds by permitting successive doubling.

In the end he was sure to lose. I believe Markham would have protested if at that moment Mannix had not snatched the cards from the table and begun to shuffle them.

"Four thousand it is!" he announced, putting down the deck and cutting. He turned up the queen of diamonds. "You can't beat that lady—positively not!" He was suddenly jovial.

"I fancy you're right," murmured Vance; and he cut a trey.

"Want some more?" asked Mannix, with good-natured aggressiveness.

"That's enough." Vance seemed bored. "Far too excitin'. I haven't your rugged constitution, don't y' know."

He went to the desk and made out a check to Mannix for a thousand dollars. Then he turned to Markham and held out his hand.

"Had a jolly evening and all that sort of thing. . . And, don't forget; we lunch together tomorrow. One o'clock at the club, what?"

Markham hesitated. "If nothing interferes."

"But really, y' know, it mustn't," insisted Vance. "You've no idea how eager you are to see me."

He was unusually silent and thoughtful during the ride home. Not one explanatory word could I get out of him. But when he bade me good night he said:

"There's a vital part of the puzzle still missing, and until it's found none of it has any meaning."

FAMOUS LOVE ROMANCES — Dante Gabriel Rossetti and Elizabeth Siddal (VI) — By Nicholas Afonsky

Rossetti never got over his wife's death, though he outlived her twenty years. Ten years after Mrs. Rossetti's death a friend noticed some of her dresses hanging on the same hooks with Rossetti's clothes. "If I didn't find traces of her everywhere," said Rossetti, explaining to his friend, "I should surely die."

Then, at the solicitation of his friends, he did something for which he has been harshly criticized. He allowed his wife's grave to be opened, and the ribbon-bound little book of poems to be retrieved—the only copy he had of his poems. The world was the gainer by "The House of Life," his marvelous series of sonnets.

After Elizabeth's death, Rossetti moved from the humble studio to a place with a lovely garden, filled with peacocks, and all sorts of pet birds and animals. He said he could not live without her in the beloved old studio. His eyes began troubling him and he again took up his poetry, thinking painting injured them.

Rossetti was in poor health for years before he died. He had many friends, but he was always rather melancholy. And strangely enough he, too, died from a drug. He took chloral—which was then not much understood—in too large doses, and died, in a cottage by the sea, April 10, 1882, twenty years after the death of his beloved wife.

TALK ON SCOTT IS GIVEN LADIES

Rev. Dr. MacMillan Chooses "Redgauntlet" as Centre of Lecture.

INTERESTING ADDRESS.

"He married Margaret Charpentier, a girl of French parentage, and proved a very faithful husband to her." He wrote later, in one of his intimate letters to a friend: "Never in my waking moments have I allowed myself to think of my lost love, but you cannot control your dream."

The above sentences constitute one of the many little sidelights on the character of Sir Walter Scott, given during the address entitled "A Romance of Sir Walter Scott," delivered to the member of the Women's Art Association at the studio of the Conservatory of Music yesterday afternoon by the Rev. Dr. Alexander MacMillan of Toronto. The title of the lecture had a distinct reference to one of the lesser-known Waverley novels, "Redgauntlet," which the speaker chose as his main theme, giving readings from the book in a manner which showed his own love for the author and appreciation of the drama and romance of the old Scottish story.

Himself an Edinburgh man, Mr. MacMillan was in a position to re-create for himself and consequently for his hearers a great deal of the actual background of the tales of the great novelist, a method which he followed yesterday in relating interesting anecdote and reminiscence of the life and work of the famous Scotch writer. With the pleasing precision of Scotch speech which gives a mild accentuation to consonants and a soft burr to inflections, he addressed his audience in a friendly manner and with a whimsical touch of humorous narration that made his address attractive and very pleasing.

The speaker chose Redgaunlet as his main exposition of the work of Sir Walter Scott. He spoke of Robert Louis Stevenson as having read this volume again and again and of his own manifold re-reading of it also, referring to "the shock of delighted surprise which struck home as I started this romance for the first time." Again quoting Stevenson, who said in his "Gossip on Romance" that his idea of a good story was one that began with "an old wayside inn, towards the close of the 17th century, where several gentlemen in three-cornered hats were playing bowls," Dr. MacMillan likened the story of Redgauntlet to this description of an ideal romance.

He went on to outline the story which centres about a Jacobite plot to restore Bonnie Prince Charlie to the Scottish throne. Darcy Latimer, or Sir Arthur Redgauntlet, as he afterwards proves to be, and Alan Fairford, his friend, are the principal actors in the tale, while a beautiful maiden known as "Greenmantle" is the heroine. "Redgauntlet" is Sir Hugh of that name, faithful follower of the exiled Stuart and leader of the Royalist plot which is nipped in the bud, the story closing with the final departure forever of Prince Charlie from the shores of his native land. The dramatic finale of the story was read by the speaker in a manner that brought closely before his listeners the picture of the lonely adventurer, defeated and exiled.

Dr. MacMillan then went on to point out the salient features of this romance and the reason why it possesses such a strong and lasting attraction, "even for an epicure in romance like Robert Louis Stevenson." He referred to its vivid and spontaneous style, to the reality of the characters portrayed, and to the fact that it really constitutes more of a biographical romance than any of the other stories. Because in this book, Sir Wilter himself is portrayed in the figure of Darcy Latimer, Alan Fairford is his beloved and lifelong friend, Willy Clarke, and the beautiful "Greenmantle" is the Scottish girl whom Sir Walter loved and lost, but never forgot through his lifetime. His suit was frowned upon by the parents of the lovely Wilhelmina Stuart, only daughter and heiress of a Scottish baronet, and she married a banker, to die in early life. Referring to this romance of the great novelist and the lasting hold it retained on his thoughts and life, the speaker mentioned the biography of Sir Walter, written by his son-in-law, Lockhart, as second only in interest to Boswell's memorable "Life of Johnson."

An expression of warm appreciation of his address was tendered by the president, Mrs. W. Blackwell, to Dr. MacMillan, who took occasion in the course of his introductory remarks, to congratulate the society on the excellent work it is doing in the furtherance of art in the city.

The musical program of the afternoon included two beautifully interpreted songs by Miss Margaret Dickson: "A Song of India" and "A Fisher Song," with accompaniments played by Miss Agnes Logan, also a very pleasing violin solo by Stanley Northorp, playing a "Madrigal," with piano accompaniment by Miss E. Webber. Afternoon tea was served later.

Goitre Not a Disease

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery.

MILWAUKEE, Wisc., March 9.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. 698, Box 737, Milwaukee, Wisc., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The Doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will sent a copy free to anyone interested. Write him today. (Advt.)

FATHER AND SON BANQUET SUCCESS

Enjoyable Evening Spent at the Park Street Baptist Church.

The Father and Son Banquet held Friday evening at the Park street Baptist church, under the auspices of the Second Milers' and Royal Oak Classes of the Sunday School, proved to be a very enjoyable and successful event.

An address was given by Joseph Wearing, who spoke very appropriately to the occasion and whose address was deeply appreciated.

The Ladies Aid of the church catered for the banquet and those present did ample justice to the splendid repast provided.

The following toasts were proposed and responded to heartily:
The King: Rev. J. L. Harton,
The Fathers: Max Wilson,
The Sons: H. Ferguson,
The School: B. H. Smith
The Visitors: W. J. Thompson.

A short musical program helped round out the evening's enjoyment.
Saxaphone solo: W. Townsend, Sr
Vocal solo: H. Ferguson.
Pianoforte solo: W. Townsend, jr.
Vocal solo: M. Dunkley.

W. J. Thompson proposed a vote of thanks to the Ladies' Aid, and also one to the pastor, for the time and interest taken in preparing and printing the souvenir program.

The pastor, Rev. J. L. Harton, proved a very able chairman.

The gathering closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

IN MEMORIAM.

WEIR. — In loving memory of Mrs. George Weir, who died March 10—one year ago.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear mother, how we long for you.

A loving mother, true and kind,
No friend on earth like her we'll find;
For all of us she did her best
And God gave her eternal rest.

INSURANCE MEN HEAR ABOUT BEE

Tom Shields Gives Interesting Talk To Life Underwriters.

OUT OF USUAL LINE.

Tom Shields last night, at the Empress, answered for those members of the Life Underwriters 'Association who remembered it, the poem of their school readers, "How doth the little busy bee,' 'and his interesting narrative left the insurance men marvelling at the instinctive ingenuity ,orderliness, and industry of the humming life in the hive.

He told, for instance, how the bees seal up the cracks and crevices of their hive with propolis or bee-glue, which they gather from trees, making the interior dark and airtight except for the circulation through the small opening by which they come and go. The necessary ventilation is maintained by the natural fans of bees 'wings. If you suspend a slender thread with a tiny bit of down at the lower end of it in front of and at one side of the entrance it will be seen that the down is drawn toward the interior, and on the opposite side of the entrance the down would be slightly blown out, indicating two movements of air, one outward and the other inward. Mr. Shields said that a number of bees would be stationed within on each side of the opening with their wings in motion. Those on one side would face in the direction to cause an outward draft and those on the other side would head in the reverse direction, their wings drawing the air in. The other bees going about their work within the hive circulated the air to every corner.

A bee recognizes its own hive by its distinct individual odor, Mr. Shields said. When young it comes out, flies around and marks its exact location, and no matter how close it may be to other hives, that bee returns to its own home. Should it enter another hive, it is pounced upon and usually killed. The bee's instinct of smell is highly deevloped, so that it can locate the nectar in the flowers that secret it.

Bees do not dormantly hibernate. Within the hive in winter they cluster in the form of a ball. Those on the outside may be temporarily quiescent, but they all keep warm by muscular action, scraping their legs, moving their wings, and so on. They slowly work their way to the centre to get their share of the store of honey, taking turn about in this movement, which would be scarcely perceptible.

Features of apian ways such as these cited were particularly interest-to Mr. Shields' audience. He explained in detail the constitution of a colony, its queen, workers and drones, where they get their honey, and what they do with it, and how they propagate themselves.

Honey a Natural Food.

Honey is a pure food, Mr. Shields said. Its merits are not realized by the great majority of Canadians, some some of whom imagine that it is predigested by the bees. The nectar gathered from flowers is brought into the hives, and its water content is reduced from 80 per cent. to about 17 or 20 per cent. by the heat generated by the bees and by evaporation caused by the fanning of their wings. The bees then seal it in the cells of pure beeswax and it eventually reaches the consumer untouched by any hand and just as pure as the bees collected it from the flowers. It is composed of two sugars, fruit and grape, iron, calcium and vitamins.

Consumption of honey in Canada is two pounds per capita and of cane sugar 102½ pounds per capita. When the juice is pressed out of the sugar cane it contains nearly the same ingredients as honey, but the refining process changes the natural sugars to sucrose. Hence when refined sugar is eaten it has to be changed back within the system into its natural sugar to be digested. Commercial sugar is 99 per cent. pure sucrose, Mr. Shields said.

Canada is producing thirty million pounds of honey a year and Ontario yields about half the Canadian output. Of the heavy exports Holland is a large buyer, using honey not only directly on the table but also in the making of bread, biscuits and pastries. Biscuit manufacturers in Canada have been adopting it because it does not dry out, and biscuits in which it is used keep fresh and wholesome indefinitely.

Mr. Shields was tendered a hearty vote of thanks which was moved by John I. Allan and seconded by W. O. Bennett, assistant superintendent of the Prudential Life at Oshawa.

H. B. Matthews presided. He expressed his appreciation of the support from the members of the Association, particularly in their co-operation in making the Rockwell coference a fine success.

William Foote, president of the Life Underwriters' Association of Sherbrooke, Que., spoke briefly on Association matters and congratulated Mr. Shields upon his instructive address.

VOL. LXI., No. 60 — PETERBOROUGH, MONDAY, MARCH 12, 1928 — PRICE THREE CENTS

SEED EXPERTS WILL DISCUSS CLEANER SEED

Campaign Will Begin in Peterborough County Next Week.

FOUR MEETINGS PLANNED.

Government Stressing Importance of Having Land and Seed Free of Weeds.

The Better Seed Campaign that has been organized by the Ontario Department of Agriculture will take active form in this county next week. C. A. Galbraith of Hornby, and H. W. Pearson of Belleville, two authorities on seeds, will address several meetings throughout the county. On Monday, March 19th, there will be a meeting in the Agriculture Representative's office on George St. at 3.00 p.m. On Tuesday afternoon the meeting will be held in Warsaw; on Wednesday in Norwood and on Thursday in Keene.

The provincial campaign for cleaner seed and cleaner land is being vigorously pushed throughout Ontario. The campaign is largely supplemental to the operation of the Noxious Weed Act passed at the last session of the legislature, and the plan is to stimulate interest in the importance of having agricultural lands as far as possible free from weeds and to encourage the use of the cleanest and most virile seed possible for better and larger production.

Under the Noxious weeds act township inspectors are appointed and it is the duty of these inspectors to advise property owners of the prevalence of weeds on their land and order their destruction. It is now being urged upon the Provincial Minister of Agriculture that a supervisor for the province be appointed, and it is considered probable that such an appointment will be made, the official to have full charge of directing the campaign against weeds under the act.

'Y' BEGINNERS ENJOY SUPPER

Late Arrival of Films Makes Showing To-night Necessary.

SING SONG HELD.

The second Beginners' Class supper of the present season was held at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday evening. Fifty-eight members were on hand to do ample justice to the beans and trimmings. Members of the Intermediate class served the tables and as a special treat rendered one verse of Old Mother Hubbard to the delight of the younger members.

Following supper a sing-song was held and the latest developments of the Hobby Show announced. Due to the non-arrival of the films for the movie show, that feature had of necessity to be postponed. Shortly after the boys had left the building a phone call from the express company announced the arrival of the films on a later train so it was decided that the show should be put on Monday evening at 6.30 to 7.30 rather than send the show back to the exchange unused.

Son of Bogus Earl Arrested for Fraud

WINDSOR, Ont. March 12. — Canadian Press. — Picked up by Windsor detectives on a warrant charging him with obtaining $2400 by fraud from a provincial constable at Port Arthur, Frank Grieg, 27, son of the bogus "Earl of Dunblane," under arrest at Chicago for stock frauds at Toronto, will be held here, pending instructions from provincial police headquarters at Toronto. Grieg was stopped and recognized by a description given by the United States Immigration officer, James Telessen, of Detroit, from where Grieg was deported Saturday.

TOURIST LODGE TO BE OPENED

New York Man Buys Franks Property On Chemong Road.

EXPERIENCED IN WORK.

W. R. Clark of New York came into Peterborough on Friday, and on Saturday he had purchased the property of Mrs. Franks on the Chemong Road. He will run it, opening May 1st, as a tourists' lodge.

There will be every accommodation for the tourist, his own electric light plant will be installed; a seventy-five foot square dance hall will be erected and room accommodation provided for from forty to fifty guests.

In connection with the tourist resort here Mr. Clark will also have on one of the lakes boating facilities where his guests can procure motor boats, skiffs, and canoes.

Mr. Clark is making an investment of $12,000.00 and believes he has a fine proposition.

He is a Pathe Photo man with the Associated Screen News, is from Long Island City, and on covering this country from coast to coast he feels that Peterborough is one of the best points at which to establish a tourist resort.

Last year he ran a similar tourist resort at Lake Placid.

His rate to the tourists for room and breakfast is $2.00 a day, or $12.00 by the week.

Mr. Clark is on his way to Winnipeg in connection with his business with the Associated Screen News, but will be back here towards the end of the month and arrange for everything to be put in shape for the opening May 1st.

NOTED AUTHOR TO SPEAK HERE

Frederick Philip Grove Will Address Women's Canadian Club.

NEXT THURSDAY.

Frederick Philip Grove, author of "Over Prairie Trails," "The Tune of the eYar," "Settlers of the Marsh" and other equally interesting books, will be a noted visitor in this city on Thursday, March 15, he having been secured as the speaker at the Women's Canadian Club of Peterborough, on that date.

"A Search for America," his latest work, has attracted much favorable comment. Mr. Grove was born in Malmoe, Sweden, of wealthy and cultured parents. He was educated in Sweden, England, France, Germany and Italy. At the age of twenty-four, his family fortunes failed, his parents died, and he set forth without resources, without experience, to earn a living, to find himself, and discover a soil in which he could grow. That soil, after many wanderings and trials, he at last found in Canada and for many years he has been school teacher and writer on the prairies of the west. His home, now, is in Rapid City, Manitoba.

INFLUENZA KILLS 5,490 JAPANESE

Epidemic Which Has Raged For Four Months Now on the Wane.

TOKIO, Mar. 12 (Canadian Press). —The influenza epidemic which has struck Japan, causing the death of thousands, including the six months old daughter of the Emperor, apparently is somewhat decreasing, on the basis of figures made public by the Metropolitan Police.

The deaths now range around fifty a day, including bronchitis and pneumonia, which are attributed to influenza. Most of the deaths are among infants. The official police figures show influenza deaths from November 1 last year to March 8 this year at 5,490.

FLIER PLUNGES INTO CHANNEL AT HIGH SPEED

Flight Lieutenant S. M. Kinkead, of Schneider Cup Team, Loses Life.

NO TRACE FOUND.

Attempt To Break 296 Mile An Hour Record Ends in Fatality.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., March 12 (Canadian Press).—Flight Lieut. S. M. Kinkead, noted British speed pilot, flying at a terrific speed to-day, dived into the sea, leaving no trace, while attempting to break the world speed record.

Lieutenant Kinkead, who was a member of the victorious British Schneider Cup team last year, was piloting the same type of machine with which Flight Lieut. Webster won the Schneider trophy with an average of 281 miles an hour.

To-day's attempt, which was part of a long planned effort to establish a world speed mark, was made soon after a snowstorm. Kinkead had made his first trial flight in the Royal Air Force "Wonder Plane" on Saturday and then had his second flight yesterday, after which he declared he was convinced he would make more than three hundred miles an hour. The machine he used to-day was a Super Marine Napier, S-5.

During the Schneider Cup races, he had made a speed of 291 miles an hour, the highest rate attained over one lap in the race, but was forced to withdraw after completing the third lap.

The record which the British airman sought to shatter was that established shortly after the Schneider Cup races by Major Mario De Barnardi, Italian speed ace, who flew at 296.94 miles an hour.

HOTEL GUEST FATALLY HURT

Falls Over Banister On Third Floor of King Edward.

SKULL FRACTURED.

TORONTO, March 12.—Losing his balance and falling over a bannister on the third floor of the King Edward Hotel Saturday afternoon, Paul Fleck, aged 27, of Georgetown, fell a distance of 45 feet to the floor below, fracturing his skull. He died three hours later.

Fleck evidently had been walking upstairs when he lost his balance and went over the railing. Before landing on the floor below, his head struck on a post of the bannister. Frank Salmon of Montreal, a guest in the hotel, witnessed the accident, and was one of the first persons to reach the injured man.

An ambulance was summoned and Fleck was rushed to Wellesley Hospital. It was about 3.30 in the afternoon when the accident happened, and Fleck died at 6.30 o'clock. Chief Coroner M. M. Crawford is investigating. It is not likely an inquest will be held.

PLAN TO EXTRADITE MEN FROM STATES

Difficult To Build Up Case Against Janis Brothers, Says Official.

TORONTO, Mar. 12. — (Canadian Press.)—The Ontario Attorney General's Department is proceeding with preparations for procuring the extradition of the Janis brothers, Ira and Milton, arrested in Atlantic City on charges of fraudulent stock transactions in Ontario involving half a million dollars, it was stated to-day by A. Rogers, legal secretary. Mr. Rogers pointed out that some time would elapse before the formalities were completed as it would be an intricate and difficult task to build up a case against the accused, owing to the ramifications of their stock selling activities.

Says Anglo-Egyptian Treaty Offered Great Advantages To Both Nations

GENEVA, March 12 (Canadian Press Cable, via Reuters).—Speaking to newspapermen in regard to the rejection by the Egyptian treaty, Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, said Saturday that: "I had hoped that by the treaty we might bring a new member into the League of Nations, and that it might be seen that another nation—Egypt—would enter this session.

"Unfortunately," Sir Austen continued, "the Egyptian government rejected the treaty between Sarwat Pasha and myself. I regret it and I believe Sarwat regrets it as much as I do. The treaty offered great advantages not only to our two nations, but for the international situation. If I speak thus it is to draw your attention to certain provisions of the treay, and I invite you to observe how much confidence my government places in decisions of the Council and how more and more it is ready to take the Council as arbiter in difficulties which arise even between ourselves and countries where we have such vital interests as we have in Egypt.

"We had agreed that in any case of dispute it should be referred to the League. If we had not been able to agree as to where British troops should be placed, the League of Nations was to deceide. I could not give a better mark of the confidence of the British government in the League of Nations."

AMERICAN BUYS SUMMER HOTEL

Will Erect Cottages For Tourists On Pearson Property.

IN CATCHACOMA AREA.

The Examiner is informed that an important purchase has been made of Catchacoma Lakes property by an American. On the Catchacoma or northern side of Gull Lake is situated the Pearson property, conducted as a summer tourist boarding house, with a beautiful sand beach suitable for bathing. It is this property that has passed into American hands. It is understood that a number of handsome cottages suitable for American tourists will at once be constructed there. To the north of Gull and Catchacoma Lakes extends a vast wilderness not suitable for settlement, but with innumerable small lakes and in every way fitted for tourists. The locality mentioned is at the southern end of the chain of Catchacoma lakes and will undoubtedly prove a very attractive place for tourists contemplating visits from Catchacoma into the extensive tourist country lying to the west, east and north. It is said that there are now not more than twenty farm settlers remaining in about 2,00 square miles of this territory and as the Ontario government is assisting in their removal, in a few years practically none but tourists will remain. It extends to Algonquin Park.

TORONTO WOMAN IS ASPHYXIATED

Found Dead in Home, Leaning Across Lighted Gas Stove.

TORONTO, March 12. — Missing from her post as head of the newsstand staff of the Carls-Rite Hotel, Frant and Simcoe Streets, since last Friday, Miss Margaret Constable, aged 50, was found dead in the kitchen of her home at 28 Ozark Crescent yesterday. Death was due to carbon-monoxide poisoning, due to two gas jets in a range which had been left burning using up the bulk of the oxygen in the small apartment in which the body was found. Miss Constable was also burned about the arms and lower limbs when she fell unconscious against the stove. She had been warming her feet in the oven. The body was removed to the Morgue, where an autopsy was performed yesterday by Coroner Burgess. There will be no inquest.

Miss Constable left a note, written by herself, enclosed in an unaddressed envelope, in which she requested that in the event of her death, whoever found her would see that all her belongings went to her mother and brother Robert, who reside in the city.

Miss Constable was discovered by Percy Stone, executive manager of the Carls-Rite Hotel, living on Stamford Avenue. Stone had been detailed by his employers to see what had become of Miss Constable, whether she was ill, and why she had not appeared at work.

THE WEATHER

Each day the sun's rays are becoming stronger, and their influence on Nature's thick mantle of white more pronounced. Yesterday's highest temperature (in the shade) was 37 degrees. It was one of the few warm days of the winter. There have been few low temperatures this winter, and again there were still fewer high temperatures. After we pass the 17th of March (St. Patrick's Day) we can look with confidence to the advent of spring conditions. A little investigation shows that occasionally St. Patrick's Day is chilly enough. In 1926 it was down to zero; in 1905, it was two below; in 1904 4 below, and in 1900, 8 below. In 1923, we had seven below zero days during the latter half of the month. We will expect better things of 1928.—W.

Commercial Fliers Drowned In Channel

PARIS, Mar. 12.— (Associated Press.)—The pilot and mechanic of a French Paris-to-London air liner were drowned yesterday afternoon when a violent storm forced the plane down in the English Channel five kilometres off the French coast. The plane left Le Bourget Field for London Saturday with several passengers. Encountering one of the worst storms of the winter, the plane was landed at St. Inglevert, near Calais, from where the passengers took the boat train to London.

Despite the uncertain weather yesterday, Pilot Schmitz and Mechanic Andre Perrade, attempted to continue their flight.

The storm proved too strong and their plane plunged into the sea.

LONDON, March 12 (Canadian Press). — King George has awarded the Royal Air Force Cross to Bert Hinkler, the noted Australian pilot. The Cross was awarded in recognition of Hinkler's services to aviation by his recent brilliant flight to Australia.

NO OFFICIAL COMMENT.

Ontario Officials Have Nothing To Say About Plan of Sterilization.

TORONTO, March 12 (Canadian Press).—Officials administering the mental hospitals of Ontario and members of the government generally refuse to comment officially on the adoption by Alberta of a plan of sexual sterilization of the mentally unfit. A similar bill was introduced in the Ontario legislature as far back as 1910 by the Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, now Minister of Health, but then a private member, but it was withdrawn under Government pressure.

Great Horned Owl Is Shot Near City

Richard Francis, 16-year-old son of Charles Francis, of 581 Chamberlain Street, bagged a great horned owl while out hunting on Saturday. The bird measured 46 inches from the tip of one wing to the tip of the other, and 24 inches from the head to the tail.

SEAMY SIDE OF LIFE DISCUSSED BEFORE ROTARY

Pastor of King Street Mission Tells of Problems in Connection With Charity.

MUCH DECEPTION.

Rev. Mr. Wilson Deals With Professional Type of Begging.

Members of the Peterborough Rotary Club heard much of the seamy side of life to-day when Rev. W. E. Wilson, pastor of the King Street East Mission in Toronto addressed the weekly luncheon and discussed with Rotarians some of the problems with which communities have to deal.

An organization of citizens acting as a central bureau, to which applications for relief might be referred and by which these applications could be sympathetically investigated and acted upon, was Mr. Wilson's suggestion as to the best means of meeting problems arising out of unemployment and poverty and avoiding an unwise, indiscriminate distribution of charity that pauperized the recipients.

His address indicated a spirit full of the milk of human kindness. Here was a man who for many years had been brought face to face with the indolent, the shiftless, the criminal, and far from being hardened by the experience, radiated faith in humanity and a cheery philosophy that made his listeners feel that his work in the King Street Mission must be abundantly blessed with successful results.

Rev. Mr. Wilson dealt with the various types in which assistance and help were indicated, the family in which the father proves unfit and finally deserts work and family, the family with a lazy father who gets to the point where he will not work, the family where the father drifts into a life of crime. All these cases presented problems, and in them and others much could be done by such an organization as he outlined.

"Unemployment," said the speaker, "is a problem upon the solution of which the church, the industrial world and the politicians must concentrate. There is nothing sadder than the case of the honest man who wants to work and cannot find employment. Such a situation has dragged men down to the very bottom of the ladder."

Rev. Mr. Wilson deprecated the indiscriminate giving of charity, remarking that for every dollar given to the undeserving case, twenty-five would be required to put the recipient back where he started. Out of his own experience and observation he enlightened his hearers as to the vast amount of begging that is being done in Toronto by men who make a business out of this sort of thing. In some cases three men work together, taking offices, houses and streets in turn and dividing the spoils, and it was nothing for some of them to take in $7 in five hours. There should, he said, be no begging on the streets, and such cases should be sent to a central bureau where they could be properly investigated and a work test applied. Winnipeg had such a work test, and as a result the shiftless would not remain there, but came to Toronto. In fact the Queen city attracted men of that type from all parts of the Dominion.

Of the dole system as used in England, the speaker was especially critical. It did not affect the older men who had been taught to work, but it made loafers out of the younger men, and in fifty years England would have thousands of professional idlers who would be a problem wherever they went. He hoped that no such policy would gain a foothold in this country.

Rev. Mr. Wilson's talk was full of illustrations from his own experience with the problems under discussion, and few messages heard by the Rotary Club have been so full of human interest.

Rotarian S. R. Armstrong expressed the thanks of the club, remarking that what Mr. Wilson had put before them would be an inspiration to the members.

President A. L. Killaly, who was in the chair to-day, announced that the Rotary Annes proposed to entertain the club and the invitation was unanimously accepted. At the same time it was decided that this function would be the regular meeting for the week in which it is to be held.

ROADS VERY HEAVY.

Delivery Wagon Requires Five Hours For Campbellford-Havelock Trip.

TRENT RIVER, March 12.—The recent snow storm has made the roads very heavy. Stover's bread delivery wagon left Campbellford at 7.30 and did not arrive at Havelock until 12.30. A few calls for bread delivery were made on the trip.

SIXTY-TWO BODIES ARE TAKEN FROM BENEATH MOUND OF EARTH; FURTHER CATASTROPHE FEARED

Two Thousand Men Working in Hope of Finding Some Alive.

WEEK'S WORK AHEAD.

Police Order Persons Living in Shelter of Mountain To Leave Home.

SANTOS, Brazil, March 12. Canadian Press. — Seventy-two bodies, forty nine of them adults, and twenty three children, have been recovered from the great landside at Mount Serrat, which occurred on Saturday. An army of more than two thousand volunteers is at work removing the enormous quantity of dirt and rocks under which the wrecked buildings lie. There are thousands of cubic yards to be removed and it will require a week or more to dig under the mass of wreckage

Moreover the work is handicapped by the narrow streets leading to the area overwhelmed by the slide, which which crashed down, burying, it is feared, at least two hundred persons.

The possibility of further catastrophes is causing anxiety for minor earthslides have occurred and many families in alarm have deserted their homes located at the base of the big hill in the downtown section of the city.

Nine Houses Crushed

SANTOS, Brazil, March 12 (Associated Press).— A new slide of Mount Serrat, on the side opposite that where thousands of tons crashed down upon the city on Saturday, caused a panic among residents of area bordering on the mountain, but no injuries were reported.

Following the disaster police ordered all persons from house near the mountain, which the city surrounds on three sides. To this precaution was attributed the escape of all when the rushing mass of earth and rocks yesterday crushed nine houses.

The avalanche was not as severe as that which took the city by surprise on Saturday, when in the early morning it blotted out completely many houses in which whole families were sleeping.

Hospital Wrecked.

The Hospital of Santa Rosa which was one of the buildings greatly damaged in the slide yesterday, was one of the show places of the city. Most of the patients fortunately escaped injury and have been removed to other institutions. The Santa Rosa is believed to be beyond repair.

The entire city responded in aid of the stricken. Many shops were closed all day yesterday to permit their staffs to engage in the rescue work. Many donations are being received for work of recovery of bodies and to aid in rehabilitation. Other cities and towns in the State of Sao Paulo have offered aid, while Governor Julio Prestes has ordered the burial of the victims at the expense of the State.

Found Family Dead.

The landslides were believed to have been caused by the recent heavy rains weakening the loose earth on the sides of the mountain. After the second avalanche investigators found that still others might be expected, and precautions were redoubled to remove all persons from possible danger. Although official estimates of the number killed were denied, unofficial opinion was that the number exceeded 200.

One of the many pathetic scenes occurred when a man who had left his family of eight sleeping peacefully came back to the former site of his home to find that all were dead. Their bodies were among those recovered.

Third Slide Feared

SANTOS, Brazil, Mar. 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Gaping rocks in the side of Mount Serrat, towering in centre of this stricken city to-day threatened a new disaster as fifteen hundred volunteers dug steadily into the ruins of Saturday's land slide. The known dead stood at thirty-nine and it was feared that the ponderous mass of earth crashing down upon the sleeping city had crushed out two hundred lives.

Women and children stood around the scene, the remnants of families shattered by the catastrophe. They hoped that out of the mass of earth, crumbled walls, and rocks, rescue workers would dig forth friends or relatives still alive. From the debris was taken a woman who had been buried in a room with the body of her husband for twenty-five hours. Other injured persons who had lived through the horrible disaster were brought forth crushed and mutilated, spurring the rescue workers on to fresh efforts.

The entire city responded to aid the stricken. Shops were closed and their staffs joined in the resue work. Side by side, laborers from the plantations and professional men and tradesmen from the city labored at the scene.

FORTY ARRESTED.

SANTIAGO, March 12 (Canadian Press). — Forty persons were under arrest to-day charged with being implicated in a Communist plot to overthrow the Government of Chile.

Three Lose Lives Car Runs Into Canal

SYRACUSE, N.Y., March 12. —Canadian Press. — The bodies of three persons were found yesterday in a submerged automobile in the large canal at Jack's Reefs, 12 miles west of Syracuse. The victims were identified as George Knapp, his wife, Mrs. Rosalie Knapp, and her sister, Miss Flora Garmbruster, all residents of Auburn. A fourth person who was in the car Saturday night when it left Fulton for Auburn, George W. Davidson of New York, is missing, and the authorities believe that he was drowned and his body washed away.

DISTRICT STAFF IS OPTIMISTIC

Prudential Agents Have Already Equalled Six Months' Business.

SECOND IN CANADA.

With present business already equal to the production in the first six months of last year the district staff of the Prudential Insurance Company reflected a spirit of resolute confidence on Saturday at their educational conference, which was largely planned by the superintendent, John I. Allen, to stimulate and help the field force to sustained success. Most of the men from out of town arrived on Friday night, and were prominent at the luncheon of the Life Underwriters' Association at the Empress.

Mr. Allen pointed out that Peterborough district stands second in the entire Canadian division on the basis of net increase per man in ordinary insurance. No. 5 district, Montreal, tops the list, but it has only $2,800 more than Peterboro for the period of the first two months of the year and the first week of March. This progress was highly encouraging, Mr. Allen said, and was at once a pace and a promise for the new year. He reminded the staff that while stock markets been heavily hit of late, there was no flurry in the investment of insurance, a fact which he recommended for use by the agents.

Among those present were:

Peterboro—John I. Allen, R. F. Sedgwick, A. W. Wray, A. Moffatt, T. E. Ross, R. Ross, William McLaren, J. D. Isaac, T. J. Best, W. H. Fair, B. R. Mallough, J. A. Holden, M. O. Parrington, W. E. Wright.

Cobourg—E. Jeffrey, J. L. Coffey, F. F. Cockburn.

Orillia—J. R. H. Allan, E. C. Ironsides, A. J. Sykes.

Oshawa—W. O. Bennett, D. Morris, J. E. Delanty, C. J. Griffin, W. H. Lonsberry, W. E. Noble.

FIRE DRIVES OUT ELEVEN PERSONS

Does Considerable Damage To Toronto Apartment House.

ONE MAN INJURED.

TORONTO, March 12. — Eleven persons were forced out of their beds and into the street early yesterday morning when fire roke out in the Surrey apartments, 90 College St.

The blaze started at about five o'clock. It was confined to the room on the second flood occupied by Dr. J. Laxton Watson of the General Hospital who was slightly burned about the hips. Smoke was so dense however that people living on the same floor and that above could not remain. Tenants seized whatever clothes came first to hand and were taken down the ladders, firemen carrying the women on their shoulders in true movie style.

Besides Dr. Watson, those who were forced out of the building were Mrs. H. Heagens and her two daughters, Mrs. S. E. Dewey and Miss Grace Heagens, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Robinson, and J. P. Connelly, all of the third floor, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lam, William Mitchell, Madame and Maud Kenned, of the second floor. Dr. Watson received treatment at the General Hospital across the street, but was not admitted.

Cause not Ascertained.

The cause remains unknown. The damage was estimated at $3000 to the building and $500 to the contents of Dr. Watson's room which was completly gutted. A considerable part of the damage to the building was done by water and the blistering of paint and varnish by the heat.

FAULTY COMPASS CAUSE VESSEL RUNNING AGROUND

Boston-New York Steamship on Rocks Off Massachusetts Coast.

DID NOT SEE SIGNAL.

Snow in Pilot House Believed Reason For Compass Changing.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., March 12 (Associated Press). — A faulty compass was the principal reason why the steamer Robert E. Lee left her course and ran aground without warning on Mary Ann Rocks on her way from Boston to New York on Friday night, her master, Captain Harland W. Robinson, said yesterday. Severe weather and the fact that there was snow in the pilot house were ascribed by him to have been the cause of the compass changing.

Meanwhile, the Robert E. Lee, from which its passengers and crew were removed safely on Saturday, remained firmly on the rocks a mile off Manomet Point, while an examination was made to determine the damage. Three tugs owned by a wrecking company arrived early in the day and stood by the stranded ship. Tentative plans of the Eastern Steamship Company, owners of the boat, were to repair the damage to the hull and pull her off the rocks at high tide. Some doubt was expressed as to how successful this plan would be.

Thousands of people flocked to Plymouth yesterday to see the liner. State police blocked the road to Manomet Point, and sightseers were forced to walk two miles to get a view of the Lee.

Captain Robinson said that the Robert E. Lee was going at full speed when she struck the rocks. He said he was on the bridge at the time, and had not seen the Coston signal which the Manomet Coastguard Station sent up a short time before the ship grounded.

Did Not See Signal.

"The windows of the pilot house were covered with snow," the captain said. "Visibility was about a mile and a quarter. We were watching for the buoy off Mary Ann Rocks, but did not see it. Neither did we see the Coston signal.

"We were going at full speed when suddenly we struck a rock. We cleared it, but struck four more in rapid succession, and we started to ship water on our starboard side. By that time we were firmly on the rocks.

"We were able to see the hellograph signals from the coastguard station, but we could not answer them because our emergency generator was unable to supply our signal light. Our blinker also failed to work.

"Undoubtedly the accident was caused by a faulty compass, due to severe weather conditions and the snow inside the pilot house.

"At that, had it been high tide, we would have cleared the rocks and have come ashore at Indian Head." This is about three miles down the coast from Manomet.

At the Jordan Hospital, two of the lifeboat crew from the Manomet Station who were thrown into the water when the boat capsized were reported to be recovering rapidly. The body of Walter Griswold, one of three who perished, had not been found, although a search was made yesterday.

CHURCH HISTORY SUBJECT OF TALK

Rev. A. T. Weir Addresses the Members of Omemee A.Y.P.A.

OMEMEE, March 12.—The Omemee branch of the A.Y.P.A. was favored with another interesting address by the rector, Rev. A. T. Weir. This was the conclusion of the series that have been given at intervals during the season. The topic "Christianity of the 14th and 15th Centuries", was one of wide scope and necessitated the covering of a wide field. The talk proved very interesting and instructive to those present as the speaker pointed out how happenings of years gone by had affected the life of the church up until the present day.

BONEHEADS WIN Y.P.L. CONTEST

Members of Bailieboro League Enjoy Social at Home of President.

ROADS BLOCKED.

BAILIEBORO, March 12.—Fred Barnard, president of the Young People's League, entertained the members at his home recently. Thirty of the members were present and the evening was spent in games, promenades, contests and sing-songs.

For the contests, the members were divided into five groups, called the Boneheads, Flappers, Sheiks, Country Kids, and Dumbells. The Boneheads won the greatest number of points. The instructors for the contests were: Misses May Earl and Edna Wallace, Messrs. Herb. Dean, Joe Barnard, and F. Barnard, while the members of the Bonehead group were Misses Edna Snelgrove, Vina Dawson, and Messrs. W. Lang, Stanley Johnston and Frank Barnard. The consolation prize was given to the Country Kids.

Refreshmetns were served at midnight by the girls of the Y. P. S. Among those present were: Mrs. C. Dawson, Misses F. Wallace, M. and L. Earl, E. Snelgrove, A. and B. Barnard, D. Dawson, M. Falls, V. and I. Dawson, E. Lang, M. Barnard, Messrs. A. Deyell, S. and M. Johnston, F. and R. Barnard, W. and K. Lang, H. and G. Dean, C. Barnard, C. Ballentyne, N. Earl and others.

Owing to the recent heavy snowstorms, the traffic around here was almost stopped. Fences had to be taken down and roads made in the fields, while a large number of men were digging. The traffic is going again, but the cars cannot run on the side roads.

The first sign of spring that has been seen around Rice Lake, is that the crows have left their winter homes and are flying around daily.

Rice Lake makes an excellent highway for teaming. The farmers are now getting their supply of gravel and chop, and a great many logs are being drawn to the local sawmill to be turned into lumber.

LABORERS ARRIVE ON THE MONTCALM

First Batch of British Immigrants Arrive on C.P.R. Liner.

SAINT JOHN, N.B., March 12. — (Canadian Press).—The first large batch of British farm laborers this season arrived here yesterday on the steamer Montcalm. There were 60 single men in the number. They were brought under the supervision of the colonization department of the Canadian Pacific Railway. There also were ten British families brought out under the nomination scheme.

Several prominent persons were on the Montcalm, which docked yesterday about 1.45 o'clock, from Liverpool, Belfast and Greenock. She had on board 125 cabin and 512 third-class passengers, and a large amount of mail and express matter.

John Walter, M.A. (Oxon), of London, England, was on the steamer. He came out as the guest of the National Council of Education, and was accompanied by Mrs. W. Keith. K. Morris, writer for the Financial Times of London, also was on the boat, as were Admiral O. W. Story and Mrs. Story of Guelph.

A fine looking group of boys were the 25 brought out by the British Immigration and Colonization Association. Most of them have been trained in farm work and will be distributed to farm from Montreal.

Two families brought out under the 3,000 family scheme were on the boat. One family numbered 11 and the other four persons. There also were ten domestic for Regina.

IN POLICE COURT

COBOURG, March 12. — Owing to the violent storm which blocked all the roads for many hours, Chief Constable Light of Campbellford was unable to appear at the appointed hour to give evidence in the charge against Frank Madden, convicted recently for automobile theft.

Chief Light brings a charge of resisting and obstructing an officer while in the execution of his duty.

After a desperate battle with the elements Chief Light arrived late in the afternoon and the case was heard before Magistrate Floyd. Madden elected to be tried by a judge and the case will come before Judge O'Connor in the near future. The case arises from the attack made on Officer Light when he was summoned to the house of James Parcels to arrest Madden and his confederate. Madden struck Light with a whiskey bottle and made good his escape while the officer suffered from the stunning effect of the blow. Madden was wanted for auto theft at the time and a warrant had been issued for his capture.

FIRE DAMAGES HOUSE.

William H. Kerr, of Thomasburg, Sustains Loss of $50.

THOMASBURG, March 12.—The home of William H. Kerr caught fire in the rafters and the roof from a burning chimney on Tuesday. The steel roof and the prompt help of neighbors saved the building. The neighbors came in for miles and gave their aid. The damage amounted to about $50.00.

Danish Globe Trotter Lands At Saint John

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Mar. 12.—(Canadian Press.)—In an effort to circle the globe in 46 days, Palle Huld, a red haired fifteen year old Danish boy arrived in Saint John yesterday en route to Vancouver. He reached here on the Liner Moncalm, having started his tour from Copenhagen on March 1. He travelled light so far as baggage was concerned, and without a hat. His baggage consisted of one club bag. Speaking of his trip, it was "very, very all right" he said. He was very pleased to see Canada, as it had been one of his ambitions. All Danish boys were eager to come to this country, he said, as there were many Danish settlers here now.

Huld is circling the world at the instance of a prominent Danish newspapers in commemoration of the centenary of Jules Verne, who wrote the famous story of Prineas Fogg circling the globe in 80 days.

HOPE OF CANADA LIES IN PEOPLE

Young Orators at Cobourg See Great Future For Dominion.

PRIZES PRESENTED.

COBOURG, Mar. 12.—Birney Hodgett, who won third place, was the second contestant to speak in the district oratorical contest here on Friday. He had great hopes for Canada's future success, based on her hundreds of forests and plains. Europe, he said, was full of agriculturists; many who came to this country were undesirable, but this was no reason why all immigrants should be kept back. He stated that the 460,000,000 bushel wheat yield of the west came from only 22 per cent. of the population of Canada. The mineral resources were scarcely touched and will soon become the richest in the world. Electricity will be carried to the four corners of the country. The lumber industry also is a source of future wealth. The Great Lakes form another valuable asset.

It was a matter of regret that so much of the youth of Canada went to the United States, but the greatest asset of all lay in the aims and in the minds of the people, the statesmen of the country and the loyalty and sentiment of all.

John Dryden, the Brooklin candidate, won second place and he, too, relied on a brief set of notes which he carried in his hand. He considered, he said, that the time limit of ten minutes was a definite handicap to any speaker on so great a subject. The future, he said, lay in the natural resources of the country, agriculture, forests, mines, fishing and people. Canada enjoys first place as a wheat producer with 52 per cent. of the world's production of 1927. In this industry lies Canada's greatest hope, he declared. She also ranked high in mineral production and to estimate her future store is an impossibility, he asserted. In 1925 the fishing industry produced $48,000,000 from both inland and salt water fisheries. The electricity developed by Canada's water power could be applied to every industry and to the homes of the country. The people themselves are the greatest asset of the country, coming, he said, from good old Anglo-Saxon stock.

When the last speaker had finished, music was furnished by the Cobourg Collegiate Orchestra and by Miss Edith Ellison. The silver trophy and medals were presented immediately the announcement of the winners had been made. Colborne is justly proud of its gifted young lady orator who will represent the district at the final contest in Toronto some time in the near future. Should success attend her on that occasion, she will not only be considered the best speaker of all the Ontario High school students, but will be given a trip abroad as a recognition of merit and industrious effort.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Magee of Orange Corners entertained the choir, the wardens and their wives, of St. John's Church. A very pleasant evening was spent in the enjoyment of games, music and cards. During the evening, Mrs. Magee was presented by Mrs. Frank Fowler, on behalf of the choir, with a white gold pin set with brilliants. Mrs. Fowler, who was followed by Miss Parker in a brief address, spoke of the enthusiasm which has always been shown by Mrs. Magee in every branch of the church work and of her willing service as organist on different occasions. The gift and expressions of appreciation were suitably acknowledged by the hostess. Warden E. Blackwell moved the vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Magee and the evening closed by the singing, with clasped hands, of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

A STUDY OF APPETITE

Normal hunger for food will only occur with a person who is of normal size and who does enough physical exercise to make the bodily tissues call for nourishment.

If desire for food comes only after one has started to eat, it must be called a "cultivated" appetite and cannot be true hunger. Sometimes this "false" appetite disappears after one has taken only a few mouthfuls of food and this also cannot be called true hunger.

Anorexia.

The loss of both appetite and hunger is designated by the word "anorexia." With this condition there is a perfect aversion for food and every kind of food is distasteful. This is usually caused by some kind of gall bladder or liver disorder and may be due to what is commonly known as "biliousness."

Paroxia.

When there is only an appetite for unusual substances we speak of "paroxia." One with this condition may lik to eat only pickles or perhaps candy or some other food with a decid dly agreeable taste.

Bulimia.

When a patient becomes hungry soon after a meal we speak of "bulimia." This, of course, is a distinct perversion of appetite and cannot come from real hunger. It is rather a common condition with those who have a certain mild form of gastritis. The insistent irritation of the stomach makes one imagine he is hungry for more food when in reality the delicate lining membrane of the stomach is in an inflamed condition and already over-distended with food. Adding more food only makes the trouble worse and does not relieve the symptom.

Polyphagia.

When a patient takes a large amount of food much more than at his regular meals, we speak of "polyphagia" which is very much the same as "bulimia." This is the typical gluttonous type and wherever ten people are gathered together at the table you will find at least one or two who suffer from "polyphagia," which is just a polite way for saying they are gormands. The cause of this abnormal desire for large quantities of food must be considered as due to mental conditions, although a cure can often be accomplished through this type of people forcing themselves to live on an abstemious diet over a period of several weeks.

Acoria.

When there is no feeling of satiety no matter how much the patient takes we speak of "acoria." The cause of this is very similar to that of polyphagia.

All such perversions of appetite must be considered partly from their mental causes and also from their physical causes. The one with an irritated nervous system may develop any one of these abnormalities or perversions of appetite. Where there is an aversion to food or an abnormal desire or craving for large quantities of food, an adjustment can usually be made to normal if the patient will put himself on a short fruit fast or live on nothing but green vegetables for several weeks. Irritating toxins will thus be thrown out from the body, and the mental training from living on an abstemious diet will teach the patient the difference between normal hunger and false appetite.

Questions and Answers.

Question: A Reader asks: "What would cause neurasthenia in a girl 24 years old, and is it the same as nervous prostration? Also, does it lead to insanity, as I have read in these "Culture" books?"

Answer: The term neurasthenia is applied to many types of nervous disorders. Nervous prostration is simply an exaggerated form of neurasthenia. Most insane people were neurasthenics at one time, but all conditions of nervousness can be overcome if you will make a careful study of your mental and physical habits and adjust them so that you develop normal poise and perfect physical health.

Question: X.Y.Z. asks: "What is wrong with a meal of onions, potatoes, meat, and pie with whipped cream? Would fish in place of the meat be equally wrong?"

Answer: There are plenty of reasons why the meal you suggest would be a bad one. Anyone who wishes to be careful of his diet should avoid the gas-forming onion, as well as the combination of meat and potatoes. Just try this: Eat the meal you suggest on one day, and the next day eat a meal composed of lean meat, spinach, string beans, and celery. The way you feel after each of these meals will convince you that there is something to food combinations after all. Fish may always be used in place of meat.

Question: C. V. writes: "I have cured constipation by your fast and diet, but my skin has not cleared up. Is there anything I can do to help this?"

Answer: Treatments by a beauty specialist are often helpful in clearing up a skin which has blackheads or pimples. Even though the cause of intestinal poisoning has been removed, the circulation in the skin itself is often defective, and can be helped through the proper local treatments.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

The somewhat wider belt gives the new note in this light blue sport suit, worn with a blouse of navy blue and white silk.

One of the smaller details you may have noticed in the new frocks are the slighter wider belts. These wider belts have been worn with the sports type of frocks at Palm Beach usually with some sort of ornamental buckle at the front—and placed at a slightly higher waistline. To get just the right belt line is a matter of importance. The right place for these new slightly wider belts is at the top of the hips.

A sleeveless frock of figured linen in blue and white has a two and a half inch belt of blue kid with a blue buckle. Another printed linen has a belt in tones of orange, green and black of the same width in green suede with a green buckle.

Find Right Place.

The placing and width of the belt is still much a matter of taste. One very well-dressed woman may be seen wearing over a knitted sweater a three-inch belt somewhat below the hip bones. Another woman may be seen wearing a narrow belt almost as high as the old-time normal waist, while both narrow and wide belts are worn at various lines in between.

For every figure there is probably some best and most becoming belt line. It is a clever woman who can discover this line and a wise woman who having discovered it clings to it.

N. P. Sports Clothes.

Someone really ought to think of a word to use instead of semi-sports to indicate the type of simply made frocks, wraps, hats, etc., that follow the general trend of actual sports wear but are more appropriate for the looker-on than the actual participant. Someone speaks of the women who attend sporting events merely as spectators as N.P.'s—non-participants—and one might speak of N. P. sports fashions only most people wouldn't know what we meant.

The statement has been made, you know, that these N.P. sports clothes were done for—and that smart women would wear no sort of sports clothes save when actually engaging in some sport or other. But there is good reason to believe that the sports type of costume will be as popular as ever for almost all occasions.

1—When you hold honors in sequence, which should you lead?

2—When you hold two suits fairly guarded, in discarding should you discard from both?

3—Partner having bid a suit, what do you lead against a suit bid, when you hold three or less of partner's suit?

THE ANSWERS

1—Lead the highest.

2—Never discard so that they both become worthless. Better to choose one suit and discard the other.

3—Lead highest card except when holding K X X, lead lowest.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)

TUESDAY, MARCH 13, 1928.

Benefic aspects rule today, according to astrology which reads fair promise in the stars.

This is a favorable day to those who deal in women's wear and large sales may be possible.

The rule is luckier for the seller than the buyer and for this reason except many cases of special importance.

The sway is promising for big government projects and seems to indicate great enterprises that benefit the people.

Lawyers are well directed under this planetary government and may expect many cases of special importance.

Public parks and ways of beautifying cities will continue to be of growing concern in America, which is now subject to influences making for a better appreciation of art.

Engineers and contractors should be most fortunate under this configuration which presages demand for the work of Americans from foreign countries.

Young women are to succeed as civil engineers and as architects this year which will bring recognition to individualistic work.

France is to suffer from warlike demonstrations on the part of the people as the spring advances, it is foretold.

Police force scandals in many cities are prophesied for this spring when many hidden things will be uncovered.

Persons whose birthdate it is should push all their affairs in the coming year which should be lucky for them.

Children born on this day probably will have great charm of personality. The subject of this sign usually are fond of sports and all forms of outdoor life.

Lyrics of Life - By Douglas Malloch

THE SOUTHEAST WIND.

There's a southeast wind, and it looks like rain,
There's a splash of wet on the windowpane.
Oh, many a southeast wind will blow,
And bring you many a rain, I know.
But the thing to do is the rain to face
And to watch the sky for an open place,
For in God's good time, and when God thinks best,
The wind again will blow from the west.

If I had my wish, if I had my way,
The wind would blow from the west all day,
The wind would blow from the west for you,
And the world be bright, and the sky be blue.

But the southeast wind is a part of life,
And so is care, and a bit of strife,
And when God thinks best, and not till then,
The wind will blow from the west again.

There's a southeast wind, and it blows for all,
And the clouds will come, and the rain will fall,
But don't you fear, for the Father knows,
Ev'ry heart that aches, ev'ry wind that blows.
So the thing to do is the rain to meet,
With a heart still brave and a soul still sweet,
For in God's good time, and when God thinks best,
The wind again will blow from the west.

After school days—

Keep That Schoolgirl Complexion, By Following This Simple Rule In Skin Care—Night and Morning

IT'S not only in the thirties and the forties that Youth Preservation presents itself as a problem. It starts in the late 'teens and early twenties, with the admonition of experts that the time to safeguard youth is in youth.

The rule for so doing, according to the day's most eminent specialists, is the most simple of all rules in modern beauty culture—the skin cleansed thoroughly of beauty-destroying accumulations every morning and every night.

That means soap and water; but NOT just "any" good soap. A true complexion soap is meant. Others may prove too harsh. So, largely on expert advice, thousands use gentle Palmolive in this way.

In the morning and at bedtime—this

Wash your face gently with soothing Palmolive Soap, massaging the lather softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Avoid this mistake

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or one represented as of olive and palm oils, is the same as Palmolive.

And it costs but 10c the cake! So little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain a cake—then note the difference one week makes.

KEEP THAT SCHOOLGIRL COMPLEXION

BEWARE of those dangerous three "good" meals a day! Countless people, in homes where breakfast, luncheon and dinner are generous meals, are suffering from under-nourishment! For three "good" meals a day do not necessarily mean three meals which give your body all the vital elements it needs for energy, for strength, for body-building. Too often present-day meals are composed of foods designed to appeal to our appetites—giving us little or no nourishment. As a result, vitality goes down, down, heralding the approach of many more dangerous ills.

Delicious GRAPE-NUTS
Protects Against Under-Nourishment

Grape-Nuts was expressly designed to supply five elements of nutrition—dextrins, maltose and other carbohydrates for energy; iron for the blood; protein for muscle and body-building; phosphorus for teeth and bone; and the important Vitamin-B. And Grape-Nuts is specially prepared for digestion. It is supremely delicious!—the favorite flavor of millions.

Eat this delicious food every morning. Four teaspoonfuls is a sufficient serving and that's just one cent's worth. Grape-Nuts is sold by grocers everywhere in wax-wrapped packages—from which it is ready to eat, with milk or cream.

Grape-Nuts' Crispness Aids to Good Teeth

Doctors and dentists stress the importance of crisp foods to give healthful exercise to your teeth, gums and facial muscles. Also because chewing prepares the digestive secretions of the stomach for their work. Grape-Nuts is deliciously crisp—you like to chew its golden kernels.

PROTECTING THE ROADS.

The Ontario Department of Highways is giving truck drivers and owners ample warning in regard to the regulations covering the loads to be carried on the Provincial roads during the early spring months.

In an official notice published in newspapers in all parts of the Province the Minister of Highways calls attention to the damage that can be done road foundations and surfaces by excessive weight and speed at this season of the year, points out that solid-tired trucks, pneumatic-tired trucks with a capacity exceeding three tons and horse-drawn vehicles with a capacity exceeding one tone are limited to half a load during March and April, and adds that "highway traffic officers have been directed to be especially vigilant in apprehending all who disobey."

This should be no empty warning.

Ontario has spent $170,000,000 in roads and spends $4,000,000 more every year in maintenance.

That is too big an investment to allow a few individuals for their own profit to do extensive damage to our roads system every spring.

The law is clear enough; heavy penalties are provided, and there is no reason why an example should not be made of those who regard themselves as above the law.

A CREDIT TO ONTARIO.

In Frederick Bamforth we have a young man of whom our Province should well be proud. He was born in Kingston, the son of Rev. Richard and Mrs. Bamforth, well and worthily known for many years in the Bay of Quinte Conference of the Methodist Church, and now retired and living in Peterborough.

Fred's star first rose above the educational horizon when he matriculated in 1918 from Cobourg C. I. into Queen's University with first place in mathematics, and also the honor of the Ellen Nickle Memorial Scholarship. Three years later he graduated as medallist in mathematics, and the following year took his Master's degree. For three years he was in charge of the mathematical studies of Albert College, Belleville, whence he was allured to Chicago University, where in Sept., 1927, he won the title of Ph.D. with much distinction. He has been for some time on the staff of Chicago University, and has refused several tempting professorships. His latest honor is a "National Research Scholarship" in Harvard University, where he will go next October.

His scholarship is by no means his greatest attraction; his character commands the respect of all with whom he has come in contact.

We are justly proud of such young men, but cannot more be done to retain in our own beloved land such valuable assets?

NO PARTISAN SENTIMENT.

Claude H. Rogers' suggestion for the establishment of fish sanctuaries seems so inexpensive and so easy of accomplishment that it should receive the careful attention of department executives.

To designate certain bays and arms of lakes and rivers in the Trent area, then to throw a confining boom across them, and finally to post signs prohibiting fishing in these restricted waters, appears to be an exceedingly simple plan that should also be effectual of a large measure of protection, in the spawning season at least.

The gradual depletion of the supply of fish in the Trent waterways, without any vigorous and sustained effort to restock them, might be regarded as a reflection of official indifference or worse. Men who are interested in this question simply cannot understand why the apparent lack of policy should continue from year to year.

In the present general demand for action there is nothing partisan, and W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., has solid public support in the representations he makes to the department.

Some one in the Hon. Mr. McCrea's department, and upon whom he doubtless depends for advice on fish and game problems in south-eastern Ontario, has certainly "fallen down on the job."

Similar neglect in other departments, for example, those which directly affect the Province as a whole, would be sufficient cause for an overdue housecleaning.

EMPIRE SHOPPING WEEK.

The Empire Shopping Week, which is to be held throughout Canada April 21 to 28, should commend itself more thoroughly to the people of this country than some other propaganda weeks they have been called upon to observe.

It simply seeks to encourage the policy that so far as possible the various peoples comprising the British Empire should trade among themselves, buying the products of their own country first if practicable, and if not, to do their purchasing in some other part of the Empire.

No one seriously suggests that it is possible for any section of the Empire to prosper without a certain amount of trading with other nations, but nevertheless the fact remains that we go outside for much that could be bought under the British flag, and the Empire Shopping Week idea, which in Canada has the Hon. James Malcolm as Honorary President, is aimed to remedy this condition.

A few figures as to Canada illustrates the need of such an effort.

In 1914 our total imports were over $410,000,000, of which $298,000,000 came from foreign countries.

Eight years later our imports had climbed to $747,000,000, and $598,000,000 of this total represented imports from countries outside the Empire.

Last year we imported over $1,000,000,000 worth and foreign countries were represented by over $800,000,000.

Since before the war, in short, the importations into the Dominion of goods from foreign countries increased by 62 per cent.

It is expected that Empire Shopipng Week will be enthusiastically observed in Peterborough.

SMALL PLANT IS NOT DOOMED.

In the day of consolidation the fate of the small plant is by no means sealed, according to E. W. McCullough, Manager of the Department of Manufacture of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The present industrial law, he finds, is not the survival of the biggest but the survival of the fittest.

"Much is being written today," said Mr. McCullough in an address before the Chambersburg, Pa., Chamber of Commerce, "with reference to the passing of the small plant because all about us we see gigantic consolidations being formed in practically all lines which lend themselves to mass production. Single unites in certain lines which have grown to such an extent that industries employing formerly 500 men now not infrequently employ from 5,000 to 10,000 men. However, I do not think that the day of the small or medium sized plant which is keeping step with the times—especially with what is going on in its particularly industry—is passing, or will pass, but the time has come when the making of good goods and selling them in markets scattered throughout the country is undoubtedly being put to a severe test. I believe we have yet to prove that these gigantic mass production plants, the equipment of which is designed to take care of immense production, and which are for that reason inflexible, will in the long run meet economically the varying trade conditions which are likely to occur from year to year."—From the files of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce.

THE ROMANCE OF RESEARCH.

One of the obstacles that have stood in the way of a readier recognition on the part of the public of the scope and value of scientific research has been a lack of information concerning its operations and results. The scientist works, so to speak, in the dark. His place is in the laboratory; his activities are essentially experimental and, on that account, secretive; and it is only when some definite discovery has been made, or some new process revealed, that the outside world awakens to a sense of his usefulness in the field of industry, and realizes his value as a benefactor of humanity.

It was just recently that a Canadian member of Parliament, apparently in doubt as to the advisability of establishing and supporting a central bureau of industrial research, inquired of the Government what the existing National Research Council had done, or was doing. For an answer, he might be referred to the annual report of that body, which shows that in spite of the handicaps arising from inadequate financial support, much valuable work had been accomplished during the fiscal year 1926-7.

The fact that 68 researches were in progress during that period, that 44 post-graduate research scholarships were also in operation, and that a total organization mustering 513 persons, of whom 401 served without remuneration, was actively at work, might not signify very much to a bucolic mind interested chiefly in the market price of wheat. But even the most sceptical farmer in Parliament should be able to appreciate the potentialities of grain tests, wheat rust investigation, and other forms of inquiry and research relating to bovine, as well as human, tuberculosis; the ventilation of fruit storage warehouses, and forest preservation. And these were only a few of the subjects that engaged the attention of the organization directed by the National Research Council during the period mentioned.

What can be done, and is being done, on a wider scale, and with adequate support, to solve the problems of industry and humanity by scientific inquiry and study is strikingly illustrated by the latest report of the committee of the British Privy Council for Scientific and Industrial Research. Last year that body spent over two and a half million dollars in carrying out its operations, the expenditure including grants to more than fifty research boards and committees engaged in work of importance to industry, directly or indirectly, as well as to students and individual scholars.

The various investigations covered a wider field, and, according to the report, yielded promising results. Of particular interest and importance was a series of experiments with a view to the development of X-ray methods in relation to industry, the analysis of crystals, magnetic steels and other substances by the X-ray process being included in the operations. To ensure the safety of bridges and buildings, an investigation was about to be undertaken as to the causes, and methods of preventing, flaws in steel castings; the work of the Geological Board warranted the hope that by geophysical methods, in place of "boring," it would be possible to detect the character of the mineral deposits beneath any given portion of the earth's surface; and the researches of the Fuel Board, though still far from substantiating the exaggerated claims made on behalf of low temperature carbonization, had revealed the "vast possibilities" of the Bergins process for the conversion of coal into liquid fuel.

It is on the exploration of the "vast possibilities" in an unlimited field of scientific investigation that the future development of industry and, in large measure, of civilization depends; and he is indeed a dull and unimaginative person who, in view of what has already been accomplished, can still remain sceptical as to the value of industrial research, and whose mind fails to absorb the romance of experiment and discovery that is today being woven in the laboratories of the world.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Budget debate in the House of Commons will terminate tomorrow, and after all this talking the vote will be exactly the same as if it had been taken three weeks ago.

Perhaps this week will solve the mystery of where Mr. Sinclair's wandering ballots originated.

At least it can be said of General McRae's immigration scheme that the member for Vancouver North contributed something new to the Budget debate.

The Chamber of Commerce now has 334 members. The usefulness of the organization should be considerably increased as the result of the infusion of new blood and fresh enthusiasm.

Some of the ancient hats that young Peterborough has dug up from a local sale suggest that the good old days were not perhaps as happy as some people would picture them.

The Peterborough Industrial Exhibition directors promise a bigger fair than ever with increased appropriations in every department. And the public has learned that such promises are invariably lived up to by the management.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, March 12 (Canadian Press). — There was a good inquiry from foreign buyers for Manitoba wheathere on Saturday and a fairly active business was done.

There was no further change in the condition of the local cash grain market, prices for oats being steady under a quiet demand.

The export trade in spring wheat grades of flour was fair, and sales of round lots were made to the United Kingdom, the Continent, and the British West Indies. The local demand was quiet, but prices were unchanged. A moderate amoune of business was done in winter wheat grades, and values were firm.

A very strong feeling prevailed in the market for all lines of millfeed, and the indications were that prices would be again marked up in the near future. This was attributed to the continued urgent demand from United States interest and the large consumption in Canada. The demand for standard grades of rolled oats was limited.

A fairly active business was done in fresh eggs, but values were easier and dealers in some cases reduced their prices one cent per dozen. The receipts were 705 cases.

The strength which has characterized the local butter situation all week was more pronounced on Saturday, and prices scored a further advance of one cent per pound, making a net rise for the week of 3¼c per pound. The demand was good, and a large volume of business was accomplished. The receipts were 968 packages.

The demand for cheese was confined to small lots and prices were firm. The receipts were 85 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, March 12 (Canadian Press). — Statements from a widely known speculator that he disbelieves in current prices at which corn is selling gave a jolt to all grain values on Saturday ,largely as a result corn closed unsettled ¾c to 1¼c net lower, wheat finished unchanged to ½c off, oats ¼c to ½c down, and provisions varying from 2c decline to an equal advance.

Corn prices tooka sudden downward plunge as soon as news gained circulation that a pronounced bearish stand regarding the corn market had been taken by the trade leader referred to. Heavy selling of corn quickly set in and the flurry communicated to other cereals, although previously the market had all shown more or less of a general upward trend, many standing orders to let go of holdings both of corn and wheat at various fixed limits to stop losses were forced into operation by the ensuing price breaks.

For at least the time being, every grain on the list acted somewhat overbought after the declines got under way, but toward the last wheat met with supporting orders and finished fairly steady, corn showed but little power to recover, and about the only demand came from previous speculative sellers who were in a position to collect a profit. Earlier, unfavorable weather over the corn belt was a stimulus to buyers, and a fair export business in corn was apparently under way at the Gulf of Mexico.

The gist of the statement which brought about something of a selling stampede in the corn market was an assertion that American stocks of corn are ample and may be excessive next summer unless a foreign demand of larger proportions comes into view in the next few months, and that if the spring months are favorable for planting the market is dangerously high.

Prior to the break in corn, the wheat market was governed mainly by the fact that Liverpool wheat quotations failed to reflect Friday's weakness of wheat in Chicago. Besides, adverse field reports from domestic winter wheat territory continued, oats sympathizing with corn.

The map above shows the Alaska Panhandle, the purchase of which H. P. Kergin of the British Columbia legislature wishes the dominion government to negotiate with the United States. The settling of the boundary of this section of Alaska was effected by the commission of 1903, and the award occasioned a great outburst of resentment in Canada. The map shows, with the line broken by the letter X, the boundary as claimed by the United States. The line broken with the letter O shows the Canadian claim, while the heavy black line gives the actual award. As indicated clearly, this strip, under United States sovereignty controls the outlets to the Pacific of the northern section of British Columbia for a distance of some 600 miles.

Mrs. L. Mantie, Millet, Alta., writes:—"My youngest child had a very bad cold which she got by going out playing in a strong, cold wind not properly dressed.

"She got so hoarse she could hardly speak, and her throat and chest were very sore.

"I used everything available, but she received no relief until, finally, I secured a bottle of

GOD'S MINUTE

We are bound to thank God always.—II Thess. 1-3.

Our Father, we thank Thee that Thy mercies are still upon us, and that Thy love wraps us round about. We bless Thee for the joy of existence, and for every good and beautiful thing Thou hast put into our lives. Thou hast set beauty in all the world about us, and Thou dost seek us through every sense we have. We know that Thou art merciful, for there has never been a moment of our lives in which Thou hast dealt with us according to our sins. We bless Thee for the exceeding riches of Thy grace, and Thy kindness toward us through Christ Jesus.

At the start of another day we come to Thee for Thy benediction, and commit ourselves to the love that has never failed us. Look upon us in Thy tender compassion, and take away all our trangressions. Let the everlasting arms be underneath us. Give us rest in Thy love.

Keep us from sin and sorrow. Teach us to do Thy will, and lead us in the way everlasting. Quicken us by Thy Holy Spirit, and help us always to be obedient to Thy voice, submissive to Thy will, and responsive to Thy love. We ask it in the Name of Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

A Thought

GOOD NATURE

Half the misery of human life might be extinguished, would men alleviate the general curse they lie under, by mutual offices of compassion, benevolence and humanity. There is nothing, therefore, which we ought to encourage in ourselves and others, than that disposition of mind which in our language goes under the title of good nature.

Good nature is generally born with us; health, prosperity and kind treatment from the world, are great cherishers of it where they find it; but nothing is capable of forcing it up where it does not grow of itself. It is one of the blessings of a happy constitution, which education may improve, but not produce.

There is no society or conversation to be kept up in the world without good nature, or something which must bear its appearance, and supply its place. For this reason mankind have been forced to invent a kind of artificial humanity, which is what we express by the word good breeding. For, if we examine thoroughly the idea of what we call so, we shall find it to be nothing else but an imitation and mimicry of good nature, or, in other terms, affability, complaisance, and easiness of temper reduced in art.

MAD DOG BITES THREE PERSONS

W. McKee Bingham, Formerly of Peterborough, One of Victims.

COBOURG TAKES ACTION.

COBOURG, March 12.—As the result of a large yellow collie dog going mad last Wednesday, the dog owners of the town are under strict orders from the Board of Health. The dog was first seen about nine o'clock in the morning on Henry Street and ended its career shortly after ten at the corner of King and Fourth Streets when Chief Constable Ruse despatched it with an ounce and a half of buckshot from a very serviceable shot gun. As required by law, the animal's head was amputated and sent to Toronto. The report from there states that the case is the worst in the history of the department. The result is that the Cobourg of Health has taken every precaution within its power to prevent any further developments of the disease.

Before the dog was shot by Chief Ruse, it made a dash across the town from Henry Street on the east to the corner where it was shot, which is well over on the west side of the town. Three victims are all that have been reported and these were not seriously injured, being bitten on the hand only. Unfortunately a bite from a mad dog does not need to be serious for fatal results to follow. The three injured persons are receiving the Pasteur treatment at the expense of the municipality.

Th first person to be attacked was three-year-old Lawrence Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Holmes of Henry Street. The child was bitten on the left hand, the skin being broken about the third and fourth fingers.

William Egan, Henry Street, was the second victim. He, too, was bitten on the hand.

The third victim was W. McKee Bingham, who was in the western end of the town. Although he was attacked, there is no abrasion. He is receiving treatment as a precautionary measure.

Three other men were also in contact with the animal, Archie Russel, H. J. Staples, and a man named Henderson. Of these, only one was bitten, Russel. They were in the yard of the Cobourg City Dairy and Russel had his hand in his pocket when the dog attacked him. It is believed that the material of his clothing tended to cleanse the fangs as they passed through it.

Two other dogs threw fits, and one was ordered shot. This dog belonged to Robert Robison, University avenue, and was shot by Chief Ruse. The second animal has been ordered closely confined for a period of one month, and close observations to be made. If nothing of a serious nature develops in that time, the dog may be allowed a little more liberty but kept under observation for a further period of eight months.

So far, no one has claimed ownership of the dog that has caused such a stir. In an effort to prevent a recurrence of the affair, signs have been posted by the Board of Health ordering dog owners to destroy any animal that has been bitten by any dog within the last two weeks. All dogs must be kept tied up for a period of one month, and owners are advised to refrain from handling their animals any more than is absolutely necessary. A similar notice either has been or will be sent to all district papers. There is also a movement on foot among the citizens to request the council to pass a by-law prohibiting all dogs or any dog from running at large. It is further suggested that the Chief of Police and two assistants be authorized to destroy any or all animals that appear in public to be beyond the control of their owners.

His Worship Mayor W. E. Cooper has been requested by two members of the council to call a special meeting to deal with the matter, but declines to concede the request. In his opinion, the matter has been fully dealt with by the Board of Health and unless there is a further outbreak, he is quoted as being of the opinion that the matter has been very carefully and capably dealt with. The requested action is considered in other circles as being rather too drastic at the present time, since there has been only one case and immediate steps have been taken to prevent others.

An interview by The Examiner revealed the fact that this is the first case of rabies to be reported in Cobourg in the past twenty-seven years. On that occasion there were seven persons bitten by a dog which suddenly went mad. These were children and were sent to the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, where treatment was given them at the expense of the town of Cobourg. The expense on this occasion was in the neighborhood of one thousand dollars.

Damp Weather Brought on Aching Back
Ontario Man was Quite Unable to Lift Anything

"For years I was troubled with my Kidneys," writes Mr. Ernest Gruen of Waldhof, Ont. "Especially in the cold, damp weather my back got so sore I was not able to bend or to lift anything. Since using your Dodd's Kidney Pills I feel well. I have used several other remedies, but none helped me. I cannot praise your Dodd's Kidney Pills enough." Backache, Urinary Disorders, Dizziness, Swollen Ankles, Rheumatic twinges, are early signs of Kidney trouble. Never neglect such warnings! Keep a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills always in the house. Even when well, an occasional dose of Dodd's Kidney Pills will fortify the Kidneys.

WATER FLOODS BURNING MINE

Rising in Mexican Pit Where Eleven Men Are Trapped.

25 KNOWN DEAD.

MEXICO CITY, March 12 (Canadian Press).—A despatch to El Universal from Teziutlan to-day said that the water was rising and flooding the Aurora Mine, near there, where eleven men are entombed. The rescuers were separated from the entombed miners by a curtain of fire, and whether they were alive was not known.

Eight bodies were recovered by rescue squads late last night, and the list at eleven to-day stood at 25 dead and 45 injured. The cause of the fire has not been ascertained yet.

HERE AND THERE

FIRE-PROOF, BUTNOT HEAT-PROOF.

VINCENNES, France, March 12 (Canadian Press). — A youngwoman aviator discovered a new "fire-proof" clothing for fliers. She donned a suit, sprinkled alcohol over it, and struck a match. The combination may have fire-proof, but it didn't keep the heat out, and within thirty seconds she screamed for help. Soldiers beat out the flames.

CAMPBELLFORD BEATS STIRLING

Wins Second Game of Exhibition Series Five Goals to One.

SCORE ON ROUND 8-2.

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 12. — Campbellford won the second round of the home and home exhibition series with Stirling here on Friday night. At the Stirling game Campbellford took the lead with a 3-1 score. At home they increased the score by two counts, leaving the final score 5-1, and the score on the round 8-2. During the entire game there were only eight penalties and these were all of a minor nature. Of these three remained at home and five went to the visitors. Two of the local penalties went to Horkins and the other two to Johnston. For the visitors, J. Ackers drew two penalties, H. Ingram two, and Maurice one. The goals go to Horkins, who gets two, Blue gets two, Ibey one and H. Ingram was responsible for the Stirling counter.

On account of the weather, there were only about two hundred people present to see the game. Every road leading into the town was blocked with snow and parties from a distance which had already been arranged had to be cancelled. Ibey scored the first goal and the first period ended with the count 1-0 for the home team. When the second period started, Ingram for Stirling evened the score, but before the bell rang, Horkins had scored one and Blue twice. Thus the second period ended with the score 4-1 for the home team. In the third period Horkins scored the fifth goal for Campbellford and the game ended five to one for the home team.

DENIES REPORT OF FLIGHT TO U.S.A.

Emphatically denying a report published in London that she was to hop off in a golden-winged monoplane with Captain Walter R. Hinchcliffe in an attempt to cross the Atlantic, Hon. Elsie MacKay, daughter of Lord Inchcape, multi-millionaire shipping magnate, expressed herself as being much annoyed. The peer's daughter, who is a licensed pilot and has had a career on the stage and in motion pictures, declares her only interest in Hinchcliffe's proposal to attempt a long distance record was a financial one. She said she didn't know in which direction he proposed to fly. (1) Miss MacKay in flying togs; (2) as an actress; (3) Capt. Hinchcliffe, who lost an eye in the war; (4) the monoplane "Adventure" in which the flight, it was said, would be made.

SECRET DRAWERS NOT OUT OF STYLE

Local Cabinet Maker Still Has Requests For Their Inclusion.

A woman in Montreal for whom H. G. Rumary, 348 Water street, made a desk with a secret drawer, wrote to him that she could not locate the drawer, nor could she find the hidden spring by which it opened. She wanted explicit instruction for the solution of the cabinet puzzle that had exhausted her patience. Evidently Mr. Rumary had delivered a perfect piece of work, and if the lady couldn't find the compartment, it is unlikely that any person who didn't suspect its existence would discover it.

Mr. Rumary is a cabinet maker and upholsterer, specializing in antique furniture. Apparently he specializes, too, in secret drawers, false bottoms and other artifices in furniture making, that must have been in more general demand in the spacious days of romance. An historical novel of the Jaceobean period would be insipid, colorless and incomplete without such intriguing properties as hidden panels and stairways, secret drawers and other accessories of escape and mystification.

Nowadays we have banks and trust companies with their safety deposit vaults, corporate protection for treasures and private documents, and as for secret stairways they have been outmoded by the modern apartment.

Mr. Rumary showed The Examiner how he would provide a bureau drawer with a false bottom and indicated a secret drawer device. Some of his work is the conversion of old square pianos, even the ancient spinnet, into cabinets, desks or other articles of furniture.

Among his antiques is a card table which is said to have been made in Arabia and is for sale at $250. It is entirely inlaid with precious woods and mother of pearl, and Mr. Rumary says an expert told him it would take two men seven years to complete. The vast detail of fine work is not immediately realized. The inlay is a veneer about one-sixteenth of an inch thick or even less, and the most mosaic materials have all been chiselled by hand. This table folds in upon itself three or four times. When opened it presents a bridge table, next it opens up a checker board and finally a parchesi board. Obviously it would take a long time in the making, and quite evidently there is no trace of machine work about it. And it might be worth $250 to some person.

Bare Back Bathing Is Latest Sport

NEW YORK, March 12.—Whatever restrictions there may be against bare legs on the more conservative bathing beaches this summer fashionable women will insist on going with their backs bare nearly or quite to the waistline. At Palm Beach and other winter resorts these low-cut bathing suits have been frequently seen and at the French watering places they are even more abundant. Most of them are cut with a fairly low decolletage in the front, too, and with shoulder straps as narrow as possible.

The reason for these amazing bathing suits is easily explained. While evening gowns are calling for more material below the waist they are needing less above—and the lower the back of the bodice the better. With the old type of bathing suit women were tanned or sunburned only to the region of the dorsal vertebrae—thus leaving a patch of pale skin when gowns cut to the lumbar vertebrae were worn.

Last summer fashionable women were frequently put to the inconvenience of having the bathing costumes bought from the celebrated dressmakers cut down at the back. The new beach costumes from Patou, Jenny, Lelong, Molyneux, Suzanne Talbot and Regny need no such alterations. Some of them are made so that they may be worn strapless at first one side and then the other—so that even the fine pale line over the shoulder will be removed.

The aurora borealis or northern lights are most frequent when the sunspots are most numerous.

Experiments on moths show that there is no substance which can be put into an ordinary trunk which will kill caterpillars of the clothes moth.

Nervous Woman, 58, Gets Big Surprise

"After a year of nervous trouble life is worth living again. At my age, 58, results from Vinol are surprising!"—Emma Bryant.

Vinol is a compound of iron, phosphates, cod liver peptone, etc. The very FIRST bottle makes you sleep better and have a BIG appetite. Nervous, easily tired people are surprised how QUICK the iron, phosphates, etc., give new life and pep. Vinol tastes delicious. McDermid & Jury, E. L. Payne, McDermid Drug Co.

JOLLY JINGLES By Graham Hunter

IVY SAWYER, star, and JOSEPH SANTLEY, producer, of "Just Fancy." Their smiles that Pepsodent keeps gleaming white are fascinating.

A Glorious Surprise

If you think teeth naturally "off color" just remove that dingy film—then they gleam and glisten. 10-day tube free

DON'T believe your teeth are naturally "off color" and dull. You can restore them to amazing whiteness in a new way leading dentists advise.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel a film. A slippery coating that covers them, absorbs stains, hides their color and invites tooth and gum troubles. Ordinary dentifrices will not successfully remove it. Now there is a new way to combat that film.

Just obtain a tube of the dentifrice called Pepsodent at your druggist's. Combat that film tonight; clear white teeth are beautiful. Note the difference.

GENERAL CONTEST RULES

How to Enter

1. The contest is open to everyone except:
   (a) Employees of The Peterborough Examiner, Ltd., or their immediate family.
   (b) Prize-winners in any similar contest who have won any of the major prizes.
2. Additional puzzle-charts may be obtained free by writing to the Contest Department or by calling at The Examiner Office.
3. Every figure in the puzzle is complete and entirely free from tricks or illusions. If any contestant is in doubt about any of the figures, send in the chart with the figures marked and the Contest Department will gladly give a ruling on the figure.
4. When you have solved the puzzle, fill in completely the solution blank, which must be accompanied by a remittance for at least a six months' subscription at the regular rates to The Evening Examiner. (See subscription rates.) See also the prize-list and note how the value of your prize is increased by paying for a year's subscription and by getting subscriptions from your friends. Renewal subscriptions, or subscriptions in arrears, if paid during contest period, count the same as new subscriptions and will be extended from the present expiry date, but not more than $15.00 will be received on any one solution or subscription.
5. In order that subscribers who pay carrier boys weekly may participate in this contest, books of tickets containing 22 weekly tickets for $3.00, or 44 for $6.00, will be sold. These remittances must be made direct to the Contest Department with your solution. Otherwise it cannot be registered. Each ticket is valued at 15c and will be redeemed from the carrier boy at that price.
6. Readers who give their subscription to some other contestant and later want to send in an answer themselves, may do so providing they fill in the coupon, giving the name of the person they paid their subscription to and the amount paid. No further payment is necessary.
7. The contest will close on March 15, 1928, but send in your solution as soon as possible as we are offering special prizes for the first correct solutions. (See full details under "Special Prizes.") There is nothing gained by holding back your answer once you have solved the puzzle, as a contestant may make several remittances on any answer sent in while the contest lasts up to a total amount of $15.00.
8. Contestants may send in a different answer to the puzzle with each remittance, but if one of your answers is correct the money sent in on your other answers will not increase the total value of your prize, and not more than one regular prize will be paid to one family.
9. Everyone has an equal chance. You can win the first prize and extra cash for only a six months' subscription, but note how the value of the first five prizes increases if you send in more money. Aim to win the maximum Grand Prize. The Evening Examiner is now recognized as the leading daily in Peterborough district and surrounding counties and no difficulty should be found in getting your friends or neighbors to subscribe for it.
10. Contestants who remit by mail or pay at the office should see that these remittances and answers are made on a proper contest coupon to ensure them reaching the Contest Department.
11. If the correct answer is not sent in by any contestant the prizes will be awarded for the nearest correct solutions. In the event of a tie a second puzzle will be presented which will be as practicable and solvable as the first. Only those tieing will be permitted to solve the second puzzle. Should two or more persons be tied in the second puzzle the prizes will be divided equally among those tieing. No cash will be accepted on the second puzzle.
12. In entering the contest, contestants agree to abide by the rules of the contest and to accept the decision of the judges as final. The Contest Department reserve the right to alter and amend its rules if necessary for the protection of contestants or The Peterborough Examiner. It also reserves the right to refund any subscriptions and to disqualify any contestants whom they consider should not be in the contest. Contestants are assured of the same impartial treatment which characterizes The Examiner in all its dealings.

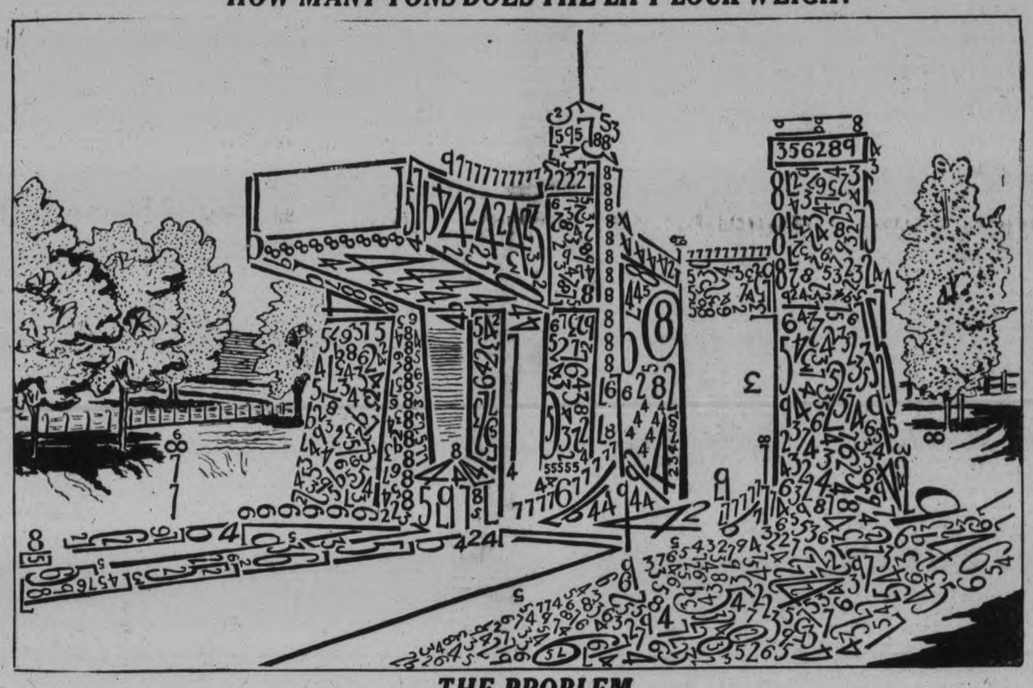
HOW MANY TONS DOES THE LIFT LOCK WEIGH?



THE PROBLEM

The problem is to add together all the figures shown above, which, when added together, represent the total number of tons that the Lift Lock weighs.

The puzzle is entirely free from tricks or illusions, every figure is co mplete and stands alone. The figures range from two to nine. There are no ones (1) or ciphers (0) in the puzzle. The sixes are curved, wh ile the stem of the nines are straight.

We wish it clearly understood that every figure can be plainly see n. There is nothing hidden in the trees or shadows, but the problem of adding these is a real test of accuracy.

Remember, each figure is added separately. For example, 9777 is co unted 9 plus 7 plus 7 plus 7, or, in other words, simply add them as if each figure stood one above the other in a single column.

REMEMBER, NO ONE KNOWS THE CORRE CT ANSWER UNTIL THE CONTEST CLOSES

To ensure this we had Mr. E. M. Elliott, County Treasurer, and Mr. Frank Adams, City Treasurer, each erase one or more figures from the original drawing, which they carefully noted and sealed in an env elope and gave to the manager of the Royal Bank for safe keep ing until the contest closes.

A TIP ON HOW TO WIN

Take a pencil and put down the numbers as you stroke them out, then add them up. Some suggest that you cut the chart into dozens of pieces, then check them from all sides; or if you wish, try blotting them out with colored ink or pencil. Others think the best way is to pick out all the twos, threes, fours, etc. Any they miss the first time they find later. Or suppose you try taking a combination of figures which, when added together, makes a total of ten. For example, 5 and 3 and 2 make 10. Tens are not only easily added together, but there is less danger of making a mistake.

1. Everyone has the same opportunity. A person sending in only $3.00 in subscriptions has the same chance of winning the first prize as a person sending in more money. The advantage of sending in more money is to increase the value of the first five prizes.
2. This is a contest for Central Ontario district, or to any subscriber of The Examiner, no matter where he resides.
3. Don't forget to answer all the necessary questions on the solution blank.
4. If you collect a subscription from a friend or neighbour, that person can also submit an answer to the puzzle without further payment.

THE JUDGES

In order that each Contestant shall have fair and impartial treatment, we have arranged with Mr. Roland Denne, Mayor of the City and Alderman Nagel Phelan to act as judges for the contest. Any complaints in this connection will be referred to these judges whose decision will be absolutely final.

Montreal N.H.L. Teams in Tie for Kennedy Trophy

CANUCKS WIN FROM MAROONS BY 3-0 COUNT

Frenchmen Have Five Point Margin at Top of Canadian Division.

TIE TROPHY SERIES.

Thirty-one Penalties Meted Out During Inter-City Battle.

MONTREAL, March 12 (Canadian Press). — Canadiens put a temporary end of the challenge of Maroons for first place in the Canadian section of the National Hockey League by scoring a 3 to 0 victory over their intra-city rivals before close to 14,000 persons at the Forum on Saturday night. The Canucks now hold a five-point margin at the top of their division and look to be the logical team for the bye in the play-off series. The game also held added interest by the fact that it was the sixth of the intra-city series for the George Kennedy Memorial Trophy. By winning, Canadiens tied the trophy series, each team now having won two games, lost two, and drawn two.

The game was the roughest of the local season, with little real good hockey being shown. Thirty-one penalties were meted out during the hectic fray, the Maroons drawing seventeen and the Canadiens fourteen. The continuous parade to the penalty box had its effect on the brand of hockey, which was of a scraggy nature. The crowd also was in ugly nature, and took exception to some of the rulings of Referee Ion. They showered the ice with everything from coins to beer bottles and overshoes at one time in the third period, when the official apparently went out of his way to give Nels Stewart a $25.00 fine for expressing surprise and disgust at some rulings. It was the second fine Stewart was given during the game. At the end of the second period, he was fined $10.00 for "insubordination."

Rough and Tumble.

It was a rough and tough match, with high sticks, tripping and scragging abounding the play. Hooley Smith, Maroons' star centre, was put out of action in the first period, when Joliat cracked him over the head with his stick. Smith had to retire to have three stitches taken in a two-inch cut. He returned to play, however, but could not show his real form. Joliat received only a minor for the affair, as neither Marsh nor Ion witnessed the melee.

Canadiens scored two of their goals in the third period, when on two separate occasions the Maroons were shorthanded by two players. The Canucks' first goal, however, was well earned, Joliat scoring it on a fast play with Morenz. The latter was cashing in on Benedict with Joliat at his side. A Maroon defenceman made a rush at Morenz, and it looked as if he was going to be bumped out of the way. Joliat sensed this, leaned over, grabbed the puck off Morenz' stick and flipped it past Benedict. It was a novel play.

Joliat got the Canucks' next goal in the third period, Stewart and Dutton both being in the penalty box at the time of scoring. These two players went off together, Dutton for questioning Ion's ruling in penalizing Stewart . Gagne got the third counter on a pass from Joliat, the Maroons also being two players short on this occasion.

Siebert Outstanding.

Babe Siebert stood out as a hero in the defeat of his team. The big Dutch defenceman played a stellar role on both the defensive and offensive, and only brilliant work on the part of Hainsworth, the Canuck goalie, kept him from entering into the summary.

The teams:

Maroons.		Canadiens.

COUGARS LOSE TO SENATORS

Ottawa Displays Real Championship Form in 3-1 Victory Over Detroit.

HOCKEY RESULTS.

DETROIT, Mich., Mar. 12.—(Canadian Press.)— Displaying championship form despite the absence of their brilliant defence man, "King" Clancy, the Ottawa Senators swept through the Detroit Cougars here Saturday night to gain a decisive 3 to 1 victory in their inter-sectional National Hockey League match played before some 11,000 fans at the Olympic arena here Saturday night. The Ottawa victory practically assures them of participating in the Canadian group play-offs, while the locals' defeat enhances the possibility of Pittsburgh nosing the Cougars out of third place in the American group.

While the Senators played at top form, the Cougars were plainly off color and they could not muster the semblance of a defence against the speedy world's champions and the lone tally scored by George Hay, Cougar wing man, on a pass from Captain Reg. Noble, was more or less of a lucky break.

Finnigan, dashing right wing star of the visitors, scored two of the Ottawa goals and Nighbor, centre, scored the other. All of these counters were the result of clever individual efforts and the marksmen on each occasion made the Detroit guard look weak. The winners played defensive hockey during the final period, as they garnered all their goals in the first two periods.

Although only six penalties were meted out by the officials, the contest was marked by close, rugged checking.

BATTLE TO 3-3 TIE.

BOSTON, Mar. 12. — (Canadian PRESS.—The Boston Bruins and the New York Rangers battled to a 3 to 3 tie in their National Hockey League game here Saturday night. The tie cost the Bruins a chance to strengthen their position for a bye in the play-offs, by leaving both teams still two points apart in the American division race. The Bruins maintain the edge. After Harry Connors, spare left wing on the Bruins, had given him team a 3 to 1 edge by scoring three goals in the second and third period, Murray Murdock, spare wing on the Ranger outfit, tied the score with two counters, 30 seconds apart and both teams coasted through the overtime session still deadlocked. Galbraith was serving a penalty at the time of the tying Ranger score.

HAWKS DEFEATED 5-2.

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 12.—(Associated Press.)—Pittsburgh, which defeated Chicago here Saturday night 5 to 2, in a National Hockey League contest, drew within one game of third place Detroit Cougars, with whom the Pirates are battling for a money berth in the American division of the circuit.

Milks scored for Pittsburgh in the initial frame and in the second period McKinnon, White and Darragh came through with tallies, while Cotton added the fifth marker in the final period. McVeigh and Keats registered for the Black Hawks in the second period.

ARROWS LOSE OUT 4-3.

PHILADELPHIA, March 12.—(Canadian Press.)—The Beavers of Quebec defeated the Philadelphia Arrows 4 to 3 in a Canadan-American League hockey game Saturday night.

The Canadians scored all four goals in the opening session, and thereafter were unable to make much of an impression on Beaudry, who relieved Starks as goaltender for the Arrows. Beaudry played a wonderful game and made innumerable saves.

The Arrows got their three points in the second period due to some fast skating.

WIN BY CLOSE SCORE.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Mar. 12. — (Canadian Press.)—Before a crowd of 7,200 fans here Saturday night the Boson Tigers defeated the Springfield Indians in a hard fought Canadian-American League contest by a 2 to 1 score. As a result of the victory, the Tigers gained two points on the league-leading locals. Springfield now has only a four point edge on the Bostonians. It marked the first time that the home team has been beaten here since January 17, and also ended a local winning streak of seven games.

Mackey scored for Boston in the first period and in the second period Maracle evened the count. Later in the second period, Vail of Springfield made a pass out from the rear of the Springfield cage and his pass was intercepted by Redding, who fired it past Cox for the winning goal. The stunning goal-tending of Captain Herb Rheaume of the Tigers featured for Boston's victory.

ALBIONS WIN FROM C.G.E. 8-1

Purple and White Play Fast Hockey To Defeat Office Crew.

EXHIBITION GAMES.

The Albion Knitting proved to be too strong an opposition for the Canadian General office boys, when they trimmed the penpushers by an 8-1 count in the game played at Brock street on Saturday afternoon. The purple and white jerseys who battled so gamely in the junior city league finals struck their stride early in the game and from then on showed superiority both in attacking and defensive tactics.

Although the office boys were outclassed they fought hard until the final gong and were always dangerous. They were inclined to bunch, and failure to check hard was chalked up against them in the final count. Saunders and Carroll were prominent in the attacking line but were repeatedly turned by the heavy checking of the Albions.

Dallin uncorked the fireworks when he stickhandled through the office defence line and beat Foley on a close-in shot. The losers struggled hard to score but on what chances they had, Mein, the knitters' net guardian saved easily. Bill Dorrington lead his team mates in the scoring line, getting three counters, and Dallin checking up three.

Saunders scored the only marker for his team after making a fine rush on the purple and white citadel. This seemed to encourage the C.G.E. crew and they came back stronger than ever, but Weir, Ashmore and Howe each secured a marker before the final gong.

The line-up:

Albions: Goal, Mein; defence, Howe and Dorrington; centre, Weir; wings Dallin and Ashmore; subs, B. Dorrington.

C. G. E. Office: Goal, Foley; defence, Lytle, Carroll; centre, Saunders; wings, Tuck, Hall, Whatley and Miller.

The George street Juveniles defeated the Tiger Midgets by 6-1 in an exhibition game played at the Brock rink on Saturday.

Although outclassed the Tigers showed a real fighting spirit and battled gamely until the final gong. Heavy checking by their opponents spoiled the attempts of the Tigers to score. Both teams put up a fine brand of clean hockey, mixed with plenty of thrills. Saunders and Payne led the goal scorers for the winners, while Miller got the only marker for his team. The line up:

Tigers: Goal, Johnson; defence, Seabrook and Jay; centre, Miller; Wings, Prete, T. Miller; subs, Weir, McCallum.

George Street: Goal, Braund; defence, Lord and Payne; centre, Jack; wings, Robertson and Saunders; subs Best.

The Assembly boys of the Lock Works defeated the Brass by a 6-3 score in a close checking argument at the Brock street rink on Saturday afternoon. The game was fast with a good exhibition of clean hockey all through. Jones and Leo Burke were outstanding on the firing line for the assembly, the latter featuring prominently in the scoring. Both teams played a real sporting game and it ended up with seven men on each side. Bud Westbrook starred between the nets. The line-up:

Assembly: Goal, H. Westbrook; defence, H. Jay, T. Westbrook; centre, Jones; wings, L. Burke, Nichols; subs, R. Grady, T. Burke, Johnson.

Brass: Goal, W. Murphy; defence, Lytle Connors; centre, J. Murphy; wings, H. Clancy, Morocco; subs, Prete, C. Holland, Campanero

Sharkey and Risko Meet To-Night In Heavyweight Elimination Bout

NEW YORK, March 12 (Canadian Press).—Two heavyweights never before considered sluggers will face the opportunity of a fistic lifetime to-night in a setting just made to order for a paralyzing puncher. And from a seat at the ringside of Madison Square Garden will rise the mental prayer of Tex Rickard for a knockout.

A sudden, devastating display of power that may be hidden in the arms and shoulders of Jack Sharkey or new snap and crackle to Johnny Risko's left hook alone can save the promoter's heavyweight elimination tournament designed to locate a June opponent for Gene Tunney. Otherwise the fifteen round engagement of the Austrian doughtnut maker from Cleveland and the subdued sailor in the Garden Arena to-night will set the scene for an order of pugilistic rehash.

More serious than in recent matches and down to the low weight of his best fights, Sharkey has been made a 2 to 1 favorite over the former pretzel twister. His main reliance will be a light-hand battery that bowled over Jimmy Maloney and started bees to buzzing in Jack Dempsey's head for a round one Summer night last June. Risko, however, had "fought 'em all and made 'em like it." Only the venerable Chuck Wiggins, a light heavyweight, ever knocked him out.

EVERTON LOSE LEAGUE HONORS

Ousted From Leadership of the First Division of English League.

SOCCER RESULTS.

LONDON, England, March 12. — Canadian Press Cable. — Blizzards raged in many parts of the British Isles on Saturday and as a result many of the soccer football matches were but sparsely attended. Thirty thousand fans turned out at Everton and saw this club lose their leadership in the standing of the English league, first division. Everton, who were playing Portsmouth, were without their crack centre forword, Dean, who was playing for the English League against the Scottish League, at Glasgow, and Irvine, the latter having been transferred to another club. Portsmouth played a scrappy game. Neither team scored. Only 16,000 people were on hand at Huddersfield to see Huddersfield Town round off their recent fine work by beating Sunderland and assuming the leadership of the league. The first half of the match was even, with Stephenson scoring for Huddersfield and Halliday equalizing.

Sunderland had all the advantage for most of the second half. Then Huddersfield made their bid. Jackson netted and Kelly followed him with a counter from a free kick. Brown registered for Sunderland and Hargreaves made it four for the town just on time.

The match between Newcastle United and Aston Villa at Newcastle saw some remarkable scoring efforts. Seymour McDonald and McC.. all scored for the United within two minutes after a quarter of an hour of play. Wilkinson made the United four up. Then Cook and Warning registered for the Villa. With snow falling thickly the game was hard to follow. Wilkinson got a brace more than McCurley, another for the United. The Villa finished in dashing style, Waring, Dornell and York all finding the net.

NEEDLES, Calif, March 12 (Canadian Press).—At the end of the seventh lap of "Cross-Country Pyle's "bunion marathon," the entrants came home for the night in the following order:

John Kronick, Saskatoon, Sask., 8; Phil. Granville, Hamilton, Ont., 15; George Liebergall, Bellevue, Alta., 12; Henry Swabey, York Township, Ont., 19; Eugene Germain, Montreal, 41; D. H. Davies, Sandwich, Ont., 52; Dick Lesage, Montreal, 82; H. A. McNutt, Alberta, 90; S. Steveno, Calgary, 105; Osmond Metcalf, Toronto, 132; William J. Ferguson, 138.

PORTS PLAY 2-2 TIE WITH NORTHERNERS

Score First Two Goals, But South Porcupine Evens Matters.

TORONTO, March 12.—Two thousand fans, including strong contingents from the North Countree and the Niagara Peninsula saw South Prcupine, N.O.H.A. senior representatives, and Port Colborne, O.H.A. intermediate champions, battle to a 2 to 2 tie in the first game of the Allan Cup elimination series Saturday night at the Arena Gardens. Thus the teams will be on even terms to-night when they meet in the second game at Niagara Falls.

And, as seems to be usual when the regulars pass up one of these tilts, there were enough thrills and spills packed into the game to please the most critical. In fact, it was one of the best engagements of the season. Heavy body checking was the order of the night and with Murray and Cain throwing their weight high, wide and handsome, into the Port Colborne attackers, there were few dull moments.

It was this judicious administration of jarring jolts that enabled the Northerners to come from behind and draw up on even terms. For the first two periods the Ports' superiority on the front division gave them an edge on the play, but the Lakesiders tired in the latter stages under the Murray-Cain body barrage and in the last period the rugged North Countree campaigners pressed strongly to force a draw.

Ports Show Polish

The O.H.A. team displayed more polish and power in the scoring zones and their systematic attack, led by Cuthbert, at centre, and assisted by Mountain, and the hard-shooting Nixon, appeared to give them an edge on the play in the first period that looked good enough for at least a two goal lead.

The teams:

Port Colborne—Goal, Moore; defence, Kilpatrick and R. Cross; centre, Cuthbert; wings, Mountain and Nixon; subs., C. Cross and Morrell.

South Porcupine—Goal, Thornton; defence, Cain and Murray; centre, Jemmett; wings, McHutchion and Spence; subs., Saunders.

Referee—Harold Farlow.

The Summary

First Period.

1—Port Colborne, Morrell.....11.22
2—Port Colborne, Kilpatrick (Cuthbert) 2.02
3—S. Porcupine, Jemmett (Spence) 5.19

Second Period

Third Period

4—S. Porcupine, Murray..... 1.43

Final score—Port Colborne 2; South Porcupine 2.

GUNNERS WIN FROM MONTREAL

Eliminate Victorias in Race For Canadian Junior Hockey Honors.

FINAL COUNT 3-2.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 12 (Canadian Press).—Ottawa Gunner boys gave proof Saturday night to the warring ability which their name imples, when they rifled their opponents' net with a trio of goals in a garrison finish that eliminated Montreal Victorias from the hunt for Canadian junior hockey honors. The Gunners' three tallies came in the last two periods after they had been swarmed under in the initial frame as the Victorias sped to a two-goal lead, the visitors could not score after the first period and the tussle ended with the local victorious by 3—2.

Saturday's win gave the Ottawa sextette a 7—6 verdict on the series, as the first game of the home-and-home round played on the Vic's home ice last week ended in a four goal stalemate. The Gunners now meet the victors of the Toronto Marlboro-Sault Ste. Marie series in their next combat in the play-down for the Dominion championship.

A mite of a centerman, Sid Howe, bore the brunt of the fighting attack that brought victory to the Ottawans after they seemed destined to go down before the fast skating of the Montreal youngsters. It was Howe who tied the score for the Gunners ten seconds before the middle period ended and it was Howe again who broke up the Victoria defence to tally the winning counter early in the final frame. His first goal was secured on a solo dash; the other he netted after accepting a rackless pass from Defenseman Armstrong.

Armstrong was also a king-pin for the winners. Besides engineering the rush that won the day for the Gunners, he was responsible for the pass to Harry Tabor on which Tabor registered the first goal for the locals, early in the second period.

It was an unexpected finish after the manner in which the Montreal boys completely outclassed the Ottawa youths in the first stanza. Only four minutes of the game had been played when the Vics' whirlwind offensive resulted in Copland netting as he accepted a long pass from his centreman, Duguid. The visitors' lanky defence star, "smiling" Connelly, bagged the second and what proved to be the last goal for his team on one of his characteristic lone thrusts. Brandishing a shot so smashing as to be worthy of a much older player, Connelly was a menace to the Gunner citadel throughout the game. Line up:

Victoria.—McDonald, goal; defence, Connelly and Reynolds; centre, Duguid; wings, Kelly and Copland; subs., Thomson and Robert.

Gunners.—Goal,H. Peterkin; defence, Armstrong and McIlenly; centre, Howe; wings, Tabor and G. Peterkin; subs., Larmonth and Murphy.

Sudden Death Game

OTTAWA, Ont., March 12 (Canadian Press).—Junior Gunners of Ottawa and the winners of the Mariboros-Sault series will meet in a sudden death game at Kingston Friday night to decide the Junior hockey championship of Eastern Canada, Silver Quilty, immediate past president of the C.A.H.H. announced last night. The winner of this game will then meet the Western Canada champions at Toronto, March 21 and 23, and if a third game is necessary it will be played March 26.

Regina Thistles Win 3—2

WINNIPEG, Man., March 12 (Canadian Press). — In a game that was packed with thrills, the Regina Thistles, Junior champions of the Thunder Bay district, defeated the Elmwood Millionaires, Manitoba representatives, 3 to 2, in the semi-final of the Western Canada Junior hockey championship Saturday night. The game went 20 minutes overtime.

Kenora won the two-game series 6 to 4, and the right to meet the Monarch of Regina, in the final here on March 20 and 22.

WIN BIKE RACE BY CLOSE MARGIN

Georgettin and Debaets Take Honors in 44th International Race.

NEW YORK, March 12 (Canadian Press).—France Georgetti, fiery little Italian star, and Gerard Debaets, the Belgian firebrand, last night won the 44th international six-day bike race by a single lap margin over Gaetano Belloni of Italy, and Tony Beckman, the pig farmer of Secaucus, N.J.

Georgetti, battered from 144 hours of incessant riding round the splintery pine saucer that led only back to the same spot, the game Italian and his fluffy-haired pilot still had enough left in the final hour of jamming to break down all attempts to head them off.

There were only eight teams in at the death where fifteen sets of ambitious pluggers started the grind a week ago. The furious pace early in the week, that saw the stolen lap record of 356 broken as early as Friday and run up to 429 laps last night, took a terrible toll of the riders.

Not a man in the race failed to show wide bandages that hid burns and tears suffered while bumping around on the splintery boards after bad spills. There were wide stretches of plaster on arms and legs and several bruised and blackened eyes hidden bashfully behind black covers.

Long serious illness and complications often follow Colds, Grip and Influenza. Guard your health against this danger. Price 30c. (Made in Canada)

MINES.

F. G. Oke and Company wire as follows:

Toronto, March 12.—This morning's market was again featured by Bidgood and Barry Hollinger which under a large volume of sales, continued to advance from opening prices to high levels for the present move. The manner in which the stock is being bought suggests that higher prices may be recorded in both of these issues.

Results of the raise on the 400-foot level at Bidgood are believed the reasons for the present market action in this stock. Assays as high as $35 a ton across commercial widths are reported in the ore body.

The action of Barry-Hollinger is believed anticipation of results on the 1125-foot level which winze sinking is expected to reach soon. There seems little doubt that if the ore body is picked up on this level that Barry-Hollinger shares will enjoy further material appreciation in price.

Jackson-Manion was in strong demand this morning and advanced to as high at 85 cents per share. According to latest reports from the north, Jackson-Manion property appears to have excellent chances for developing into an important mine. The surface showings were probably as spectacular in free gold as have ever been seen in the north country and many prospectors have been able to pan a good livelihood from the showings previous to active mining operations by chartered companies.

The rest of the market remained firm and there are good reasons and indications for the belief that the present bullish tendency of prices is just commencing.

High Prices At Liverpool Affects Chicago Wheat

CHICAGO, March 12 (Canadian Press). — Unexpected higher quotations for wheat at Liverpool and bullish domestic crop reports led to price upturns early to-day in the wheat market here. Corn also developed strength, influenced by adverse weather for corn movement. Opening at ¼c to ⅝c advance wheat later held near to the initial range. Corn started ¼c off to ½c up, and subsequently hardened all around. Oats were easy. Provisions tended upward.

Opening prices were: Wheat, March 136⅝, May 136¾. Corn, March 93¾, May 96¼. Oats, March 54½, May 55½.

Nickel's Big Gain Feature At Toronto

TORONTO, March 12 (Canadian Press). — International Nickel's spectacular advance overshadowed all other dealings on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. It soared to 91¼ and at noon was selling around 90½, for a net advance of more than four dollars a share over the week-end. Elsewhere the list was quiet and steady, with Dominion Power and British American Oil active centres of interest. Power at 62 was four points lower, but British American at 36⅝ was almost a point above Saturday's close. Massey-Harris at 39, Dominion Stores, and Industrial Alcohol in the regular list were firm. Walker's at 60, Northern Bakeries, and Great West Saddlers were steady or firmer in the unlisted section.

Leading Shares Climb In Heavy Mine Trading

TORONTO, March 12 (Canadian Press) — Bidgood, Barry Hollinger, and Malartic were features on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day. All three were heavily dealt in. Bidgood closed at 105 on aSturday and climbed to 115 this morning, closing around 112 at noon. Barry forged ahead steadily from 107 to 113, while Malartic advanced from 107 to 110. McDougal was also stronger in the Quebecs, but Noranda and Amulet weakened slightly. Kirkland Lake was off slightly, with Sudbury Basin closing at 925 after touching 9.50 in a heavy turnover. Jackson Manion firmed to 85. Weaker issues in the uncertain list included also Howey, Wright Hargreaves, Hudson Bay, and Pend O'Reille.

New York Trading Is On Broader Scale

NEW YORK, March 12 (Canadian Press).—Speculation for the advance was on a somewhat broader scale in today's market. Radio, General Electric, and American Linseed, with extreme gains of seven points or more, were in the forefront of the advance, while General Motors, leader in the wild markets of last week, quieted down considerably, but held fairly steady in the face of heavy profit-taking sales.

Heavy demands for currency, presumably to meet Federal income tax payments, probably accounted for the higher renewal rate on call loans, but had no effect on the rise in securities values. The unexpectedly large increase in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporotion had a bullish effect on speculative sentiment.

FATHER AND SON ENTER CONTEST

Col. A. E. Snell and his son, A. E. Snell, Jr., both of Winnipeg, made a formidable team in the dominion badminton tourney in Toronto. They entered in the men's doubles competition. Col. Snell is the author of a book entitled, "The C.A.M.C. with Canadian Corps during the Last Hundred Days of War," in which he stated that the Germans usually respected the Red Cross flag at the front. He formerly was well-known as a lacrosse and hockey player. For war-service with the C.A.M.C. Col. Snell was awarded the C.M.G., D.S.O. and Croix de Guerre and was mentioned in despatches four times.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

BRITISHERS MADE "SORRELL AND SON"

"Sorrell and Son", the best selling novel which has been filmed by Herbert Brenon under the Joseph M. Schenck banner for United Artists, has its locale in England. Therefore, it was in keeping with the spirit of the story that the director of "Peter Pan", "Beau Geste" and other successes should select British-born players for many of the important roles. Many of the scene also were filmed in England. The film is current at the Capitol theatre.

The author, Warwick Deeping, is an Englishman and the story tells of the heart-breaking experiences of an English gentleman when he tries to gather up the broken threads of his life after the War. Brenon made a trip to England to confer with Mr. Deeping on the transferring of his novel to the screen, Mr. Brenon being one of those rare souls in screenland who believes that the author of a literary masterpiece has certain fundamental rights in his creation which should be respected.

Brenon himself was born in Ireland and educated in England.

The leading role, that of 'Sorrell,' is enacted by H. B. Warner, who was born in London. His father, Charles Warner, was a celebrated English actor. H. B. Warner came to the United States in 1905 and at once made for himself an enviable place on the American stage. His wife, Rita Stanwood, was on the stage before their marriage. Mr. Warner is the father of two daughters, Joan and Lorraine, and a son, H. B. Warner, Jr. This latter fact is said to have added to the sympathetic portrayal he gives, as "Sorrell and Son" is a story of father-and-son love.

Another Britisher in the cast is Norman Trevor, who was born in Calcutta, India, the scion of a prominent English family. Trevor started life as a tea planter, later turning his attention to athletics. He was awarded a medal in Paris as an entrant in the Olympic games. He went upon the stage in London over his aristocratic father's protest. When he came to America he was at once pronounced successful.

Lionel Belmore, who plays the role of poor old "Palfrey" is yet another born under the Union Jack, and as great a favorite this side as the other. There are also a number of players in smaller parts who were born in the tight little island.

Among the other leading players in "Sorrell and Son", Anna Q. Nilsson was born in Sweden, Nils Asther originally hails from Norway, and Alice Joyce, Carmel Myers, Louis Wolheim, Mary Nolan, Mickey McBan, Flobelle Fairbanks, Paul McAllister, and Betsy Ann Hisle were born in the United States.

AT THE REGENT.

"MOULDERS OF MEN."

Striking a new note in dramatic effects, FBO's "Moulders of Men," featuring Conway Tearle, is now playing at the Regent Theatre. The picture provides a maximum of entertainment values together with a vivid and powerful portrayal of a national menace, and, as such, it makes a film that is both instructive and thrilling.

The story itself is unusually arresting. Tearle, as a wealthy physician and prominent Elk, is vitally interested in freeing his town from the deathgrip that the gangsters have on it. To this end he has himself appointed chief of one of the Federal Bureaus, and opens war on the leaders of the gang. A young gangster, associated with the "ring," is captured by the officers, and he obtains Tearle's promise to look after a crippled younger brother.

Tearle and a newspaper woman who is also interested in the fight, look after the lad. Tearle engages a famous surgeon to operate on the boy's malformed leg. The leaders of the "ring," alarmed by Tearle's campaign, convince the young gangster that the physician has ill-treated the younger brother and they obtain his release on bail. What happens when a grimly revengeful gangster starts out to exact retribution forms a tremendous climax to a supremely absorbing drama.

The work of Tearle is flawless. Little Frankie Darro is wonderful as the crippled boy, and Rex Lease gives a splendid performance as the gangster. Margaret Morris is thoroughly charming as the heroine, and an unusually fine supporting cast, including Jola Mendez, Eugene Palette, and Bill Knight are all excellent.

P.C.I. TEAMS WIN GAMES IN LINDSAY

Make Up For Defeats in Home Gymnasium a Week Ago.

Peterborough Collegiate Basketball teams made a clean sweep of their games in Lindsay on Saturday when the local girls' team won from the L.C.I. Girls 29—17, in a well-contested game on the larger Lindsay court, while the Peterborough boys made up for the 23—30 defeat here a week ago by running off with the weighty end of a 23—13 count.

The same teams will clash in the "Y" here this coming Saturday. The Petes lined up as follows:

P.C.I. Girls.—Forwards, V. Harvey, M. Comstock, C. Patterson and L. Parsons; centres, I. Davidson and J. Allin; guards, E. Armstrong and A. Comstock.

P.C.I. Boys.—Macdonald, Copping, Preston, Walker, Adair, Cowan, Herrick, Hall, Gordon.

Referee—Dr. H. Logan of Lindsay.

CLUE APPEARS FUTILE.

Nothing More Heard About the Smith Girl Being in Convent.

NEW YORK, March 12 Canadian Press. — The new account of the disappearance of Frances St. John Smith, the missing Smith College girl, to-day apparently had dwindled into another futile clue.

The girl's family said that they had heard nothing from J. Wilkinson, the Canadian Pacific Railway conductor, who said at Montreal on Saturday he was certain the girl is in a Quebec convent and that he would take any responsible person to her. Up to noon to-day no word had come from Wilkinson to the Smith family.

BOY'S LIFE SAVED.

Lad Rushed On Freight Train To Hospital For Operation.

TORONTO, March 12 (Canadian Press). — A freight train crew played a big part last night in helping doctors and nurses save the life of Roy Plowright, Huntsville, five, who was rushed from that town to the Orillia hospital in a state of coma from acute appendicitis. The doctor decided that an operation was the only chance to save the boy, and the Canadian National Railways gave permission for the boy to be carried in the caboose of the regular fast Sunday freight. The boy reached the hospital and was immediately operated on. The operation proved successful.

Week-Ends In Jail Is Latest Sentence

WILMINGTON, Delaware, Mar. 12 (Canadian Press). — Joseph Bullock was today sentenced by Judge Hastings to spend the next four week-ends in Newcastle County workhouse for committing a breach of the peace in his home. The charges were preferred by his wife. Between the week-end he will continue at his regular employment, but will be in the workhouse from one o'clock on Saturday afternoon until seven o'clock on Monday morning.

STORM CENTRE OF ASIA

From the Red Sea to the Persian Gulf there are ominous rumblings of an Islamic upheaval, which directly affects Britain because of her vast Mohammedan interests and her league mandates over Iraq, Transjordania and Koweit. Linked with the disturbances in Asia is the crisis provoked in Egypt by the rejection by Cairo of the alliance past offered by Britain. The Egyptian nationalists are reported to have [illegible] in contact with Ibn Saud, dominant Moslem figure in Asia, who controls the Holy City of Mecca. Even since Ibn Saud in 1924 swept with his fanatical Wahabi warriors over the Arabian desert of Nejd to crown himself in Mecca as king of the Hedjaz(thus ousting the monarch recognized by the Allies, the desert chief has been looked upon as the founder of a great Arab state with its capital at Damascus. It is believed in some circles that it is in an attempt to realize the dream of pan-Islamism that Saud is launching his Arab hordes against Transjordania, Irak and Koweit. The borders of the various territories and mandated areas are shown in the above map with an indication of the position of the reported Arab concentrations. Ibn Saud's base of operations is said to be Reyadh, his capital, in the heart of the Nejd desert.

ASK FOR PLANE TO CARRY FOOD

Vilagers Cut Off By Snow Storm Are Running Out of Food.

ISOLATED SINCE FEB. 29.

SAUL STE. MARIE, Mich., March 12 (Canadian Press).—A request that a transport airplane be furnished immediately to carry food and mail to six hundred residents of Detour, isolated for twelve days because of heavy snow storms and reported to be in desperate circumstances, was sent today to the Post Office Department by Postmaster Snell. The village, sixty miles south of the Sault, has been cut off from all sources of food supply since February 29, all roads being blocked by snow. Telephone reports from the snowbound community today were that its fresh meat and flour supply was exhausted.

POLICE SEEK CAR THAT KILLED TWO

Broken Windshield Only Clue To Automobile—No Success Yet.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., aMrch 12 (Canadian Press). — Provincial, urban, and rural police in the Niagara district to-day carried out without success a systematic search of garages for a car with a broken windshield, the only clue to the automobile that ran down and killed Willian Hay and his young daughter near Stamford last night. Up to early this afternoon no such car had been located and no person had volunteered any information to the authorities that would lead to the identity of the driver of the car that ran them down while they were returning from the church, and continued without even checking speed.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR of THE BENSON MURDER CASE

© Charles Scribner's Sons

THE STORY THUS FAR

Skeel's finger prints had been found in the apartment of the murdered Margaret Odell, but Vance believes Skeel had been hiding in a closet while the strangler did his work. Mannix, Dr. Lindquist and Cleaver all lie about their whereabouts the night of the murder. Spotswoode, who had called on the girl, had rushed to her door at the sound of a scream but had been reassured through the door that nothing was wrong. Later Skeel is found strangled, after promising to reveal the murderer. Vance has Markham invite Cleaver, Spotswoode and Mannix to his apartment for a game of poker, promising to name the murderer the next day. After the game's end Vance is unusually sober.

CHAPTER XLIX

(Tuesday, September 1; 1 p.m.)

Vance slept late the following morning and spent the hour or so before lunch checking a catalogue of ceramic which were to be auctioned next day at the Anderson Galleries. At one o'clock we entered the Stuyvesant Club and joined Markham in the grill.

"The lunch is on you, old thing," said Vance. "But I'll make it easy. All I want is a rasher of English bacon, a cup of coffee, and a croissant."

Markham gave him a mocking smile. "I don't wonder you're economizing after your bad luck of last night."

Vance's eyebrows went up.

"I rather fancied my luck was most extr'ordin'ry."

"You held four of a kind twice, and lost both hands."

"But, y' see," blandly confessed Vance, "I happened to know both times exactly what cards my opponents held."

Markham stared at him in amazement.

"Quite so," Vance assured him. "I had arranged before the game, d' ye see, to have those particular hands dealt." He smiled benignly. "I can't tell you, old chap, how I admire your delicacy in not referring to my rather unique guest, Mr. Allen, whom I had the bad taste to introduce so unceremoniously into your party. I owe you an explanation and an apology.

"Mr. Allen is not what one would call a charming companion. He is deficient in the patrician elegancies, and his display of jewelry was a bit vulgar—though I infinitely preferred his diamond studs to his piebald tie.

"But Mr. Allen has his points—decidedly he has his points. He ranks with Andy Blakely, Canfield, and Honest John Kelly as an indoor soldier of fortune. In fact, our Mr. Allen is none other than Doc Wiley Allen, of fragrant memory."

"Doc Allen! Not the notorious old crook who ran the Eldorado Club?"

"The same. And, incidentally, one of the cleverest card manipulators in a once lucrative but shady profession."

"You mean this fellow Allen stacked the cards last night?" Markham was indignant.

"Only for the two hands you mentioned. Allen, if you happen to remember, was the dealer both times. I, who purposely sat on his right, was careful to cut the cards in accordance with his instructions. And you really must admit that no stricture can possibly attach to my deception, inasmuch as the only beneficiaries of Allen's manipulations were Cleaver and Spotswoode. Although Allen did deal me four of a kind on each occasion, I lost heavily both times."

Markham regarded Vance for a moment in puzzled silence, and then laughed good naturedly.

"You appear to have been in a philanthropic mood last night. You practically gave Mannix a thousand dollars by permitting him to double the stakes on each draw. A rather quixotic procedure, I should say."

"It all depends on one's point of view, don't y' know. Despite my financial losses—which, by the bye, I have every intention of charging up to your office budget—the game was most successful. . . Y' see, I attained the main object of my evening's entertainment."

"Oh, I remember!" said Markham vaguely, as if the matter, being of slight importance, had for the moment eluded his memory. "I believe you were going to ascertain who murdered the Odell girl."

"Amazin' memory! . . Yes, I let fall the hint that I might be able to clarify the situation today."

"And whom am I to arrest?"

Vance took a drink of coffee and slowly lit a cigaret.

"I'm quite convinced, y' know, that you won't believe me," he returned, in an even, matter-of-fact voice. "But it was Spotswoode who killed the girl."

"You don't tell me!" Markham spoke with undisguised irony. "So it was Spotswoode! My dear Vance, you positively bowl me over. I would telephone Heath at once to polish up his handcuffs, but, unfortunately, miracles—such as strangling persons from across town—are not recognized possibilities in this day and age. . . Do let me order you another croissant."

Vance extended his hands in a theatrical gesture of exasperated despair. "For an educated, civilized man, Markham, there's something downright primitive about the way you cling to optical illusions. I say, y' know, you're exactly like an infant who really believes that the magician generates a rabbit in a silk hat, simply because he sees it done."

"Now you're becoming insulting."

"Rather!" Vance pleasantly agreed. "But something drastic must be done to disentangle you from the Lorelei of legal facts. You're so deficient in imagination, old thing."

"I take it that you would have me close my eyes and picture Spotswoode sitting upstairs here in the Stuyvesant Club and extending his arms to 71st street. But I simply couldn't do it. I'm a commonplace chap. Such a vision would strike me as ludicrous; it would smack of a hasheesh dream . . . You yourself don't use Cannabis indica, do you?"

"Put that way, the idea does sound a bit supernatural. And yet Certum est quia impossibile, est. I rather like that maxim, don't y' know; for, in the present case, the impossible is true. Oh, Spotswoode's guilty—no doubt about that. And I'm going to cling tenaciously to that apparent hallucination.

"Moreover, I'm going to try to lure you into its toils; for your own—as we absurdly say—good name is at stake. As it happens, Markham, you are at this moment shielding the real murderer from publicity."

Vance had spoken with the easy assurance that precludes argument; and from the altered expression on Markham's face I could see he was moved.

"Tell me," he said, "how you arrived at your fantastic belief in Spotswoode's guilt."

Vance crushed out his cigaret and folded his arms on the table.

"We begin with my quartet of possibilities—Mannix, Cleaver, Lindquist and Spotswoode. Realizing, as I did, that the crime was carefully planned with the sole object of murder, I knew that only some one hopelessly ensnared in the lady's net could have done it. And no suitor outside of my quartet could have been thus enmeshed, or we would have learned of him. Therefore, one of the four was guilty.

"Now, Lindquist was eliminated when we found out that he was bedridden in a hospital at the time of Skeel's murder; for obviously the same person committed both crimes—"

"But," interrupted Markham, "Spotswoode had an equally good alibi for the night of the Canary's murder. Why eliminate one and not the other?"

"Sorry, but I can't agree with you. Being prostrated at a known place surrounded by incorruptible and disinterested witnesses, both preceding and during an event, is one thing; but being actually on the ground, as Spotswoode was that fatal evening, within a few minutes of the time the lady was murdered, and then being alone in a taxicab for fifteen minute or so following the event—that is another thing. No one, as far as we know, actually saw the lady alive after Spotswoode took his departure."

"But the proof of her having been alive and spoken to him is incontestable."

"Granted. I admit that a dead woman doesn't scream and call for help, and then converse with her murderer."

"I see." Markham spoke with sarcasm. "You think it was Skeel, disguising his voice."

"Lord no! What a priceless notion! Skeel didn't want anyone to know he was there. Why should he have staged such a masterpiece of idiocy? That certainly isn't the explanation. When we find the answer it will be reasonable and simple."

"That's encouraging," smiled Markham. "But proceed with your reasons for Spotswoode's guilt."

"Three of my quartet, then, were potential murderers," Vance resumed. "Accordingly, I requested an evening of social relaxation, that I might put them under the psychological microscope, as it were.

"Although Spotswoode's ancestry was wholly consistent with his having been the guilty one, nevertheless I confess I thought that Cleaver or Mannix had committed the crime; for, by their own statements, either of them could have done it without contradicting any of the known circumstances of the situation.

"Therefore, when Mannix declined your invitation to play poker last night, I put Cleaver to the first test. I wig-wagged to Mr. Allen, and he straightway proceeded to perform his first feat of prestidigitation."

FAMOUS LOVE ROMANCES — George Washington (I) — By Nicholas Afonsky

So far as affairs of the heart were concerned, George Washington seems to have had a troubled career. "He is getting ready to be the prey of your sex," wrote Lord Fairfax, rich Virginia planter, to his mother, "wherefore the Lord help him from the nets those spiders, called women, will cast for his ruin."

In 1747, when he was fifteen and a schoolboy, he seems to have been much in love with a young girl who spurned him. He scribbled verses to her, in the form of acrostics. Her name seems to have been Frances Alexander. She was older than George, and apparently looked with amusement on the boy's plight.

His next love affair was with his famous "Lowland Beauty." Nobody knows who she was. She seems to have been popular, much sought after. And she seems also to have been a great flirt, who led the young George on in his wooing, only to laugh at him and turn him down. As his "Lowland Beauty" she is immortalized.

Disappointed at his failure, Washington decided to join the navy as midshipman. But he seems not to have taken his family into his confidence, and after his luggage was safely aboard ship his anxious mother sent for him to return home. He was soon to meet the woman who caused the great passion of his life.

CALEDONIAN CHOIR SINGS AT REGENT

W. Boorman's Orchestra Assists in Humane Society Program.

The fourth concert of the series arranged by the Humane Society was held in the Regent Theatre last night with a good attendance. F. H. Dawson was in the chair.

The program consisted of selections by W. Boorman's orchestra, vocal numbers by the Caledonian Choir, and by men and women soloists. The choir, directed by Alex. D. Clark, sang "Awake," "The Angelus" and "Far Away." Mrs. W. Howe sang "My Task," W. H. Grieves sang "O Sole Mio" in English, J. Cooper sang "True Until Death," and Mrs. Jackson with Mr. Grieves in duet, sang "Somewhere a Voice is Calling." All numbers were received with appreciative applause. Miss Mary Hemphill acted as accompanist.

An interesting address on the general work of the Humane Society, illustrate by lantern slides, was then given by Miss Elizabeth Harrison of Toronto, chairman of the committee of humane education in the World's Federation of Education Association. The lantern for the slides was operated by J. S. Chandler. Ushers for the occasion were A. B. McLeod, T. E. Sargent, D. C. Grant and Humane Inspector R. C. Smith.

The concert next Sunday evening will be in charge of Dr. J. J. Craig.

IN PETERBOROUGH CHURCHES

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL

The sinfulness of unclean and uncharitable speech and the errors that arise from the tongue formed the basis of the sermons preached at the morning Masses at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday by His Lordship Bishop O'Brien. He prefaced his discourse with a reference to the Gospel narrative of the man who drove out the devil from his soul, only to fall later into renewed and redoubled sin.

"When a person undertakes to get away from some evil habit, the devil comes again and again to tempt him. But the grace of God, if properly used, is sufficient to guard against strong temptation. For every good, generous impulse and for every kindly deed, grace is bestowed upon us.

"In the Epistle of the day, St. Paul tells the converts at Ephesus to avoid obscene language and all scurrility. Their lives must be demonstrations of their faith. A profession of faith alone will never save us. We must avoid evil and do good. We must not only act and live properly, but we must speak properly. What language do I use in my daily life? Do I walk as a child of God? Can those who listen to me at home or at work determine at once from my language that I am a child of God?

"Many Catholics are guilty of sins of the tongue in a greater degree than non-Catholics. St. James has said: 'If any person sin not by the tongue, the same is a perfect man.' This wonderful faculty of speech, the gift of God, should be used for His honor and glory, for the good of oneself and of one's neighbors.

"The tongue is like a spark. Behold what a great fire a spark may start. We can tell almost immediately by a man's language whether he is a citizen of heaven or a follower of Satan. Through my language my very soul speaks.

Sins of bleaphemy, of cursing and of swearing are all too common among Catholic people. And we have also too much of that type of language that St. Paul speaks of as obscene.

"Possibly the world is becoming more obscene in its ideas, its publications, its fashions and its amusements. But these things seem to go in cycles. As the years go by, things seek their own standards once more. The Decalogue is able to withstand every attack made upon it. Why then should Catholics be guilty of offenses of this type?

"And so much of our language is uncharitable. We spend too much time in criticism of others.

"We are citizens of Heaven and joint heirs of Christ. Why then should our time be wasted in foolish talking? Outside of our own business, there is nothing more important than our soul's salvation. Why should we not speak at times of things supernatural and spiritual.

"Our talk is a mirror of ourselves. If it is commonplace and vulgar and scurrilous and foolish, then we are commonplace and vulgar and scurrilous and foolish. Let us get away from the commonplace sometimes, and give the soul a chance to fly, to make a flight toward spiritual things. We may do this by prayer and meditation upon the attributes of God.

"What kind of language do we employ at our work and at home? Is the repeating over of our neighbors' faults our main stock-in-trade in conversation? Tomorrow, will we swear and curse, tell the obscene story and listen to the suggestive joke? The person who tells an improper story in your presence assumes that you are of the class that enjoys improper stories.

"How often we hear the remark in this connection: 'I didn't like to say a word!' If it were a matter of politics that came up for discussion, how strong would be our defence in support of our opinion. What skilful protagonists we would be. But how spineless we become when it is the policy of our Saviour that is attacked.

In the Scout news on Saturday evening it was reported that the Third troop defeated the Sixth troop in a hockey game on Thursday night by the score of 3 to 2. This was a misunderstanding on the part of the reporter of the game, which should have read Fifth troop defeated the Sixth troop. This win gives the Fifth Peterborough troop the undisputed championship of the Scout Hockey League of Peterborough, they having won five games (one by default), tying one and losing one.

TUG CREWS TRY TO SALVAGE SHIP

PLYMOUTH, Mass., March 12. — (Canadian Press.)— Severe weather and snow in the pilot house were held responsible to-day by Capt. Robinson for the wreck of his ships, the Robert E. eLe, a mile off Manomet Point, during a blinding blizzard on Friday night. With all of the hundred and fifty passengers and all but two of the crew removed in safety by the rescue ships, the ship was firmly on the dangerous Mary Ann rocks to-day while the personnel of tugs sent by a wrecking company made plans for attempted salvage.

FINANCIER SAILS FOR VACATION

Sir Joseph Flavelle and his wife recently sailed from New York upon the S.S. Manchuria for a vacation which will take them through the Panama canal and up the Pacific coast. Some time before his departure the well-known Canadian financier was made the recipient of a beautifully wrought salver of solid gold, the precious metal being obtained by special arrangement from the McIntyre mine in the Porcupine district of Northern Ontario. Engraved upon the golden tray were facsimile signatures of those of his friends who had arranged for this token of their esteem.

"Proper Food and Exercise"
By ARTHUR A. McGOVERN
Former Physical Director
Cornell Medical College

Eat Simple Foods But No Cathartics

THE abuse of cathartics has become a very common practice. The rich, fancy, highly spiced type of food that we, as a nation, consume makes resort to cathartics seem necessary.

ACTIVITY AND SIMPLE FOODS PROMOTE HEALTH

Constant use of cathartics produces spasm and irritation of the digestive tract. In some types of constipation there is already an excessive number of contractions and spasms in the colon, and in this type cathartics only aggravate the condition. Due to the constant stimulation of the intestinal muscles by artificial means these muscles become weakened and gradually lose their natural tone, and the nerves which control the normal movements cease to function properly. When this stage is reached the normal habit is deranged and a vicious artificial habit has taken its place. Very frequently this is difficult to overcome.

Occasionally a cathartic may be permissible, but if the proper food and exercise are taken cathartics are rarely necessary.

Laxative and Reducing Diet

BREAKFAST: Stewed fruit, unsweetened; dark cereal; cocoa, chocolate, milk or coffee substitute with a little sweetened condensed milk; dark bread toasted—not more than two slices. Between breakfast and luncheon drink at least two glasses of water. LUNCHEON: Select three of the following vegetables: parsnips, spinach, carrots, turnips, celery, beet tops, string beans, tomatoes; dark bread; chocolate or cocoa; tapioca pudding or crackers and cheese. Drink two glasses of water between luncheon and dinner. DINNER: Soup; broiled lean meat, such as steak, chops, chicken or fish; at least two vegetables; fruit, gelatin or nuts; weak tea. Drink two glasses of water between dinner and bedtime.

STORM RESULTS IN TWO DEATHS

Defeats Miss Mercedes Gleitz in Attempt To Swim Straits.

LONDON, Mar. 12 (Canadian Press) — Winter storms and cold gripped much of Europe to-day, and their return snuffed out the lives of two fliers and defeated an English girl in her third attempt to swim the Straits of Gibraltar. A French Paris-London plane found the storm too severe to face and landed its passengers near Calais, on Friday. Yesterday, despite the uncertain weather, the pilot and mechanic attempted to continue the flight. The storm was too strong and the plane plunged into the sea, drowning them. After making a gallant struggle Miss Mercedes Gleitz, London typist, was taken from the sea after swimming more than seven hours across the Straits of Gibraltar.

TRANSPLANTED.

A rosebud, pure and sweet, was sent from heaven,
A lovely form, a smile of beauty rare;
A loving token from our Father given,
Gladdened your hearts and lifted every care.

Each need was 'tended, every task a joy,
The light of dawning truth shone in his eyes;
You comforted and loved your baby boy,
Till knowledge of your love had filled his skies.

But soon an angel whispered words of love,
And gentle spirit spread its fragile wing;
Your rosebud ope'd on earth will bloom above
And grace the eternal garden of King.

INSTITUTES JOIN DRIVE FOR COAL

Back Up National Council of Women in Seeking Alberta Coal.

GROWING IMPATIENT.

In the advance upon the Government at Ottawa by the women of Canada, who are asking for a greater encouragement of home industry and domestic economy by the Government lowering railway freight rates for coal travelling from the Western fields to the central provinces, the "second wave" in the attack comes from the Women's Institutes of Canada.

Recently a delegation from the National Council of Women presented themselves before the Prime Minister and Cabinet at Ottawa, asking for an immediate and satisfactory adjustment of the railway freight rates for coal.

Mrs. Mabel Huyck, of Strome, Alberta, president of the Alberta Provincial Women's Institutes, has sent round the "Fiery Cross" to all the other Provincial organizations of Women's Institutes throughout the Dominion, calling upon them for renewed efforts in impressing upon the Government consciousness that the women of the country are serious in their requests that home industry be encouraged by Canadian coal being liberated from the handicap of high railway freigh rates.

Mrs. Huyck states that the women are growing somewhat impatient at the delay in a settlement of the question, for the press despatches from Ottawa confirm the fact that the matter has occupied the attention of the members of the Government practically ever since the opening of the present session. All the various branches of the Institutes, both local and provincial, are now being invited to again join in making representations to the Government and also to their local members to do their utmost in aiding a prompt settlement of the question.

It is anticipated that similar action will be taken by the other National Women's organizations, including the Women's Canadian Clubs and the Daughters of the Empire ,and that they will follow up their representations already made to the Government for an early adjustment of the freight rates for coal.

Much attention to the coal question has been given by the French-Canadians in Quebec and the east generally. Both organizations and press have endorsed the request made to the Government for consideration.

This attitude on the part of the Western French-Canadians has been largely inspired by the spirited action of the French-Canadian societies in the West, which have been practically unanimous in furthering the appeal to the Government. According to statements made by their leaders, the French-Canadians in Alberta are renewing their efforts in pressing their representatives in Parliament for an early solution of the coal rate question.

Also many Boards of Trade throughout the Dominion are supplementing their previous resolutions upon the subject, with reminders sent to the Government and to private members, asking for prompt action. In every instance it is requested that a rate be allowed which will permit coal to be moved on the railways and sold in fair competition with imported fuel.

Obituary

MADELINE LEAHEY.

On Saturday, March 10, there passed away at the home of her parents in Douro, Madeline Leahey, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leahey. The funeral took place this morning from the family residence to Douro Cemetery for interment.

MRS. CORNELIA M. GREEN

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 12. — Funeral services for the late Mrs. Cornelia Marcy Green, former teacher in the Elmwood school here and one-time officer of the Twentieth Century circle of the American Red Cross here, and who was born in Peterborough, Ont., were held Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, in the home of her brother, William L. Marcy, here, at 160 North Street. The late Mrs. Green was the daughter of William T., and Anna E. Marcy. She taught for many years at the Elmwood school here and during the war served as secretary and head of the surgical dressing division of the Twentieth Century club circle of the Red Cross. She served from May 3, 1916, until after the armistice. She died on Thursday night following an extended illness at the home of her brother here. The late Mrs. Green, besides her brother here, is survived by a niece, Mrs. Thomas R. Punnett, and two nephews, Henry C., and William L. Marcy, Jr., of this city.

ANZAC GUNNER REPEATS CLAIM

Declares He Shot Down Von Richthofen, Who Was Chasing Brown.

DESCRIBES EVENT.

Ever since Roy Brown's guns sent Manfred von Richthofen and his red triplane crashing to their end, there have been many contradictory stories in circulation, with Australia supplying most of the contradiction.

"Aussies" held the front line over which Brown, the Carleton Place boy and Richthofen, the German, staged their epic air encounter. "Aussie" machine guns were blazing away, full tilt, at the German and naturally when he was down in their vicinity claim was put in by the gunners for his "scalp." In spite of the fact that a post-mortem disclosed that Brown's bullet, and his alone, had sent the Baron to his death, the "Aussies" still kept up their argument. And even no, when the fight story has become at least slightly thread-bare they are still going it "full out."

Says Baron Chased Brown

A new slant on the sky-scrap is supplied to the Adelaide (Austrlia) Register by C. B. Popkin, Postmaster at Tyalgum, and formerly a sergeant of the 24th Machine Gun Company. Popkin's story, while supporting the Australian claim, is unique in that, for the first time, Brown is placed in the role of the hunted instead of the hunter. Richthofen, it will be recalled from official records of the fight, was hot after young May, an Edmonton pilot, when Brown, noting the predicament May was in, dived on the Baron's tail, unobserved, and sent him to his death with a couple of timely bursts. Popkin says, however, that it was Brown who was being chased by the German His story is as follows:

"I shot Richthofen down. I was in charge of four Vickers guns on the bank of a canal between Sailly le Sec and Corbie, and had a gun mounted for anti-aircraft defence. About 11 o'clock the British and German squadrons began a battle in mid-air. Presently two machines separated from the main body of fighters and head for our lines flying over Sailly le Sec. The leading machine was that of the Canadian, Brown, who was being pursued by Richthofen. They flew straight toward my position, and immediately I adjusted my guns and waited.

"The German was so close to the tail of the Canadian that although they were both only about 60 feet up I considered it unwise to fire at the German until there was no danger of hitting the Canadian. I still waited.

Opened Fire Twice

"On came the planes, and as soon as the Canadian had passed I opened fire on the German machinea red triplane. I fired about 80 rounds, and the German immediately turned at right angles to my position, and banked in order to clear the top of a ridge. He then turned around and flew straight toward my gun. I opened fire again and gave him another 30 rounds. The machine then started to dive, described a half-circle, and finally crashed on the top of a ridge near a quarry.

"The intelligence officer of the 11th Brigade came and took my regimental particulars and told me whom I had shot down. The same evening the liaison officer of the 52nd Battalion, with his report written out, saw me and he also took my regimental particulars to support my claim. Colonel of the 52nd Battalion also supported my claim, but owing to the report from my company going in a week after the incident I am afraid I got very little consideration."

HIT-AND-RUN CAR KILLS TWO PERSONS

Strikes Farmer and Daughter Walking Home From Church.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 12. —Struck by a hit-and-run driver, William Hay, aged 65, Stamford fruit grower, and his daughter, Jean, 4, were instantly killed yesterday evening on their way home from church.

After the crash the motorist speeded away from the scene of the fatality. His windshield was broken and his car is marked with blood stains. These are the only clues police possess.

The child was frightfully mutilated. Her arm was torn off and found some distance away in a heap of broken glass.

With two women and his daughter, Mr. Hay was walking home on the Thorold Stone Road from church. The car came up at tremendous speed and without warning caught the man and little girl. The two women were too much overcome to even attempt to take the number of the car, which is believed to be a Studebaker.

Full particulars of the tragedy were broadcast by Provincial police last night. Every effort is being made to capture the driver of the death car.

Both Hay's legs were broken and his head crushed. Father and daughter were carried to a nearby farmhouse, but life was found to be extinct.

CHILDREN TOLD OF HUMANE WORK

Miss Elizabeth Harrison Addresses Junior Humane Society.

Miss Elizabeth Harrison of Toronto, in the city in connection with educational work of the Humane Society, addressed the members of the Junior Humane League in St. John's parish hall on Saturday evening, when a large number of children were present. The president, Donald Howson, was in the chair.

The address by Miss Harrison emphasized Humane Society work as it concerns juniors, and was adapted to their understanding. It was illustrated by slides, Miss Harrison relating the story which concerned each picture.

The program also included a chorus by the Juniors entitled "A Cruel Act"; a reading by Thelma Bullez, "Somebody Poisoned My Dog," and a solo by Lily Bell, "The Snowbird."

Saturday's meeting was featured by the inclusion of eight new members on the roll.

SEEKS RULE OF ISLAM

Here is Ibn Saul, the "Napoleon of Arabia." Whether there is peace or war in Arabia depends on what is in the mind of Abdul Aziz Ibn Saud, Sultan of Nejd and King of Hedjaz, who is recognized to-day as the dominant figure in the Islamic world. The massive figure of the fiery, fanatical leader of the warlike Wahabi tribes of Arabia, is seen at the RIGHT ABOVE. Ibn Saud is credited with an ambition to hoist his banner over all of Moslem Asia and the reported advance against the British mandates of Irak and Transjordania is said to have had for its purpose the subjugation of infidel tribes there which are

HEATED DEBATE MARKS MEETING

Board of Works Decides To Pave Streets With Asphalt.

DISPOSAL PLANS ORDERED.

Tempers ran high at last night's meeting of the Board of Works for a few minutes when several aldermen and the Mayor took objection to certain general statements made by Ald. Stocker.

The argument resulted when Hanlan Sisson and Joseph Meagher presented a petition from the residents of Aylmer street asking that Warrenite paving be used instead of concrete on the street from Charlotte street to the C.P.R. crossing.

"Who is responsible for the petition," demanded Ald. Stocker before reading the petition.

"Mr. Sisson and Mr. Meagher," was the reply.

"Did you get it?"

"We got part of it."

"I understand this was started by an outside party. Several other cities have thrown such petitions out."

"Arthur Stevenson told me he wouldn't have concrete in front of his house," said the Mayor.

Mr. Sisson declared that no such plan had been used in this case and that it was the second time he and Mr. Meagher had gone around to get a petition regarding pavement.

Mr. Meagher added that when they took around the first petition many people had specified asphalt pavement.

When Ald. Stocker further stated that work was being done for the Warrenite Company Ald. Hamilton and the Mayor demanded definite facts, charging that his statement reflected on the members of the council.

Ald. Phelan asked that the petition be read as some of the aldermen did not know what was asked.

Ald. Huffman wanted to know whether Ald. Stocker's reference to 'wining and dining" meant that he could not take dinner with a salesman if he were invited.

"He should say, 'Get thee behind me, Satan'," advised Ald. Hamilton.

"A man can be dined without being bought," answered Ald. Huffman.

The by-law passed on the Aylmer street paving called for concrete, Mr. Armstrong pointed out, and part of the work had been done. He did not know what could be done to change the by-law.

Ald. Lowe remarked that the people did not particularly want Warrenite, but were opposed to concrete. They were willing to take any sort of asphalt.

"I don't think we should have any objection to the Warrenite," stated Ald. Huffman. "It's better than other paving we have had."

"It's the best pavement there is," admitted Ald. Stocker, "but it's the cost. There's a Warrenite plant located here permanently and you might as well keep it going."

Ald. Hamilton moved that notice be given of intention to pave Aylmer street, Park street, and McDonnel street with asphalt pavement, thereby going back to the start again.

The Mayor asked what is to be done towards connecting up with the paving on the Chemong road. He wanted a pavement laid on Reid street while the road is blocked so both can be opened at the same time.

The advertising of this was laid over as the termination of the Province's strip is not known. The city boundary runs along the Chemong road from Wolseley street to a short distance north of Victoria avenue.

Digestive Tanks to Cost $51,000

Gore, Nasmith, and Storrie, the engineers consulted by the council for the correction of troubles at the sewage disposal plant advising the use of heated digesting tanks and glass covered drying beds. The gas resulting from the process can be used to heat the tanks. They estimated the cost of the additional equipment at $51,000.

Ald. Greene asked if the engineer understood all the detail contained in the report. Mr. Parsons answered that he did, pointing out at the same time that the matter is still in a state of flux and that the plan advanced now may not be acceptable in five years. The plan had met with Dr. Berry's approval.

Mr. Parsons further pointed out that this provides no way of disposing of the sludge, merely placing it in a better state for handling.

Ald. Greene asked if this was the apparatus which the department had ordered to be finished by April 15. Mr. Parsons replied temporary drying beds had been ordered but when this plan was advanced the other was not needed.

Ald. Greene asked if more work would be needed to dispose of the sludge, and Mr. Parsons answered that it will be in such a state that the farmers and market gardeners would be able to draw it away for fertilizer as is done at Toronto.

Ald. McIntyre asked if the present plant had not been supposed to be complete when it had been ordered, and if the department would guarantee the system to work.

Mr. Parsons explained that the disposal of sewage is a matter which has developed greatly in recent years. A few years ago the septic tank was considered the last word. This method would have to be tried out the same as the present plant.

The engineer was instructed to go

Enter Hinduism Of Own Free Will

NASIK, India, March 13.—(Canadian Press).—Attired in Indian dress, Miss Nancy Ann Miller, of Seattle, who is soon to wed Tukoji Rao, former Maharjah of Indore, yesterday told the head of orthodox Hinduism that of her own free will and accord she had decided to embrace the religion of her fiance. Miss Miller made this statement to Jagadgura Shankarcharva, who because of his position is entitled to be designated "Holiness."

She expressed her deep admiration for the ancient faith and made solemn affirmation that she was embracing it not only freely but as a result of deep and sincere convictions and not from any worldy motives.

Miss Miller formally requested his Holiness to admit her to the faith in accordance with Shastraic injunctions. She expressed her determination always to remain true to Hinduism and to try to maintain its ideals.

Miss Miller was accompanied by Princess Savitribai of Indore, a sister of the bridegroom-to-be.

$100 BID TAKEN FOR TOWN HALL

North Monaghan Council Sells Old Building To John McIntosh.

TAX COLLECTION ORDERED.

The regular monthly meeting of the North Monaghan Council was held at the Court House, Peterborough, on Monday, March 12, with all the members of the Council present.

The minutes of the last three meetings were read and confirmed. Mr. Hummons and Mr. Allan of the Sawyer-Massey Company and Mr. Turnbull of the Adams Grader Company addressed the council in regard to the purchase of a power grader.

A motion was passed that the purchase of a power grader be laid over for further consideration.

Archie Patterson offered to furnish the township, free of cost, with gravel to fill in the new road across the swamp on Concession 11. A motion was passed that Mr. Patterson have the new swamp road gravelled beore the frost gets out of the ground.

The council considered the auditors' report, which was presented by N. C. Hatton. A motion was passed that the auditors' report be accepted. The council then adjourned for lunch and resumed business at 8 p.m.

The following are the tenders for the town hall, land and buildings: Harry Neals, $50; John McIntosh, $100; Albert Hunter, $100. The council passed a resolution to accept Mr. McIntosh's offer of $100.

It was left with the clerk to settle with T. E. Bradburn for lot 40, plan 49, with full power to act. This refers to a lot purchased by Mr. Bradburn at the county tax sale in 1924.

The following bills were passed for payment: Gordon McIntosh, 87 yards of gravel, $13.05; Oscar Dunford, 100 yards of gravel, $15; Archie Patterson, expenses to roads superintendents' convention, $13.55; Kingan Hardware Company, shovels, $4; Registrar of Deeds, lists of transfers for the assessor, $5.25.

A motion was passed that Mr. Hatton be paid $50 for the auditor's salary, also that Mr. Hatton be paid $2 for paper for auditor's report. The following charity bills were passed for payment: H. Davidson, groceries, $2.54; Dr. Amys, $2; Dr. Morgan, $17.

The clerk was instructed to notify the City of Peterborough to have the culvert at the corner of Romaine street and Monaghan road cleared of ice and also the drain leading from the culvert, south-easterly through the De Laval property, cleared of ice in preparation for spring freshets, also to notify the Canadian Pacific Railway to have the ice removed from their culvert at the corner of Romaine street and Monaghan road.

John Whitfield, tax collector, was present and a full discussion took place in regard to the collection of outstanding taxes. Mr. Whitfield was instructed to collect the taxes forthwith.

The treasurer was instructed to pay the Ontario Township Roads Association $5 for the annual membership fee.

The treasurer was instructed to deposit to the credit of the Township, $1.25 left over on pay sheet 193 from August, 1927. The council also passed the following motion: That notice is hereby given that all road work must be completed by September 30 in each year, the only exception being ordinary repairs.

Holy Feast Saves Many From 'Quake

TEHERAN, Persia, March 13 (Canadian Press).—The Feast of Ramazan, during which people remain awake most of the night, today was believed to have prevented a large loss of life when two severe earthquakes shook the Newhanddan and Sistan districts. Although a thousand houses were destroyed and as many more damaged in one village, only four persons were killed and one seriously injured.

SANTOS CITY STILL MENACED

Residents Have Withdrawn From Sections Where Danger Threatens.

DUE TO RECENT RAINS.

SANTOS, Brazil, Mar. 13.—(Associated Press.)—Mount Serrat, which towers to the right of the port of Santos, still menaces the residents, many of whom have withdrawn from the section where additional landslides may occur.

Hundreds of thousands of cubic yards of the mountain swept down upon the lower section of the city Saturday, overwhelming homes and burying, it is feared, 200 persons. Up to noon yesterday, 72 bodies had been recovered—49 adults and 23 children. At that time, 2,000 volunteers were engaged in the work of removing the vast accumulation of debris, in which what is now considered an almost futile effort to rescue many wounded who may be beneath the wreckage.

Due To Recent Rains.

The great slides was due to recent rains which loosened the earth. Seams opened on the mountainside. Smaller slides followed the first one, and in fear of a further catastrophe, the threatened district has been barred off by the authorities.

Mount Serrat is visited by many tourists, who reach the summit by means of funicular railways. An almost impenetrable forest covers part of the mountain, which is dotted with rustic houses. The Holy House of Mercy, which sustained great damage Saturday, stood out in bold relief. It had been used as a hospital since the days of the Portuguese domination, having been established in 1543. Most of the patients were removed without injury, and transferred to other institutions. The house had lately been modernized, and completely equipped for the care of the sick.

Fear Disease

SANTOS, Brazil, March 13 (Canadian Press).—Fear that an outbreak of disease would add to the catastrophe suffered by Santos when tons of earth buried that city, prevailed to-day. Putrefaction of the bodies recovered from the debris set in.

Sanitary workers were increased to prevent any disease among the inhabitants from this or from the bodies believed to be in ruins. Two thousand volunteers engaged in removing the vast accumulation of debris have brought out the bodies of seventy-two victims.

J. AKEY FINED FOR BEING DRUNK

Judgment Reserved On Charges of Driving Car Recklessly and While Drunk.

PORT HOPE, March 13.—Magistrate W. A. F. Campbell reserved judgment yesterday in two charges against James Akey, of Peterborough, and fined the accused $50.00, and costs, on a charge of being intoxicated in a public place. The other two charges were for reckless driving and for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

This case arose from a charge laid on March 2nd, and which was adjourned from last Monday. Mr. Akey was not in Court yesterday morning, but he was represented by J. A. O'Brien, of the firm of Gordon & O'Brien, barristers, of Peterborough.

Mr. O'Brien stated that he had an affidavit from a Peterborough physician which stated that Mr. Akey was not able to be present in Court on account of illness, as the accused was confined to his bed, threatened with pneumonia, and would be unable to appear in Court for an indefinite period. Mr. O'Brien pointed out that he thought it a little "too thick" to bring in three charges against the accused, and stated that he might be willing to plead guilty to two charges if the charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated were dropped. Mr. O'Brien also pointed out that a man could not be convicted of being drunk more than once on one occasion.

Mr. O'Brien pleaded guilty for Akey on the charge of being drunk in a public place.

INFORMATION SENT PARENTS OF GIRL

Conductor Has Told Mr. and Mrs. Smith Where To

SHERBROOKE, Que., March 13 (Canadian Press).—Mr. and Mrs. St. John Smith of New York had been given all information that would lead to the whereabouts of the young girl who boarded his train at Woodsville, New Hampshire, early in the morning of January 14 last, and whom he firmly believed to be their missing daughter, Miss Frances St. John Smith, who disappeared the previous day from the ladies' college at Northampton, Mass, was the statement made today by J. H. Wilkinson, this city, C.P.R. conductor on the Boston-Montreal train.

Kinkead Was In Air About Ten Minutes When Machine Nose-Dived Into Channel

CALSHOT, England, March 13 (Associated Press). — When Flight-Lieutenant S. M. Kinkead met disaster in attempting a speed record yesterday, he had been flying only about ten minutes.

It was his second test flight, and he was just beginning his attack on the record. He had circled the aerodrome once, when he appeared to be entering the marked course at an altitude of about 400 feet, his machine nose-dived and shot like a shell from a gun into the Solent.

The horrified spectators saw water spout to a great height; they heard the faint sound of the engine for a second or two; and in a moment the machine and pilot disappeared, leaving no trace. Among those watching the tests were the French, Italian, and Japanese air attaches.

The ill-fated airman had waited all afternoon while a snowstorm raged over Calshot, and it was then doubted whether he would make the attempt, but towards four o'clock the storm passed away and the sun came out, and conditions seemed favorable.

Official timekeepers from the Royal Aero Club were present, and everything was in readiness for what was expected to be a triumph for British airmanship. The sky was a pale blue, but, with the setting sun visibility was not at its best. The sea was like a millpond.

Kinkead, undecided, paced up and down watching the horizon and conversing with the officials. Then he made a lightning decision, and asked Commander Perrin, of the Aero Club, to instruct the timekeepers to take their positions.

The machine was brought out and the engine warmed up, but Kinkead seemed to find difficulty in rising. He had to taxi a full mile and a half before taking off. Then he alighted near the Calshot lightship. He rose again, apparently for the record flight, when disaster overtook him.

R. F. SEDGWICK ON HONOR ROLL

Only Canadian On List of Leading 200 Prudential Agents.

PROMOTION ANNOUNCED.

The honor of leading the entire Canadian division of the Prudential Life Insurance Company in the production of ordinary insurance, has been attained and is at present held by R. F. Sedgwick, senior Assistant Superintendent of the Peterboro district. Mr. Sedgwick is the only Canadian mentioned in the honor roll of the leading two hundred Prudential salesmen in the United States and Canada in their ranking on the basis of this year's business. That fact alone indicates the extent of his achievement. In that roll Mr. Sedgwick stands in 92nd place, a distinction that has brought him the warm congratulations of those friends who have heard of his success.

Another of John I. Allen's staff who has been singled out by the company for special recognition, is William Fair, who has been appointed assistant superintendent of the Orillia Midland and Barrie district, with headquarters at Orillia. Mr. Fair left on Monday to assume his new territory.

FLIER'S BODY FOUND IN SEA

Kinkead's Plane, Broken in Two, Hauled Ashore.

SOUTHAMPTON, March 13 (Canadian Press). — The body of Flight-Lieut. Kinkead, killed when his powerful speed plane plunged into the sea yesterday, was recovered this afternoon. The body was taken to Calshot airdrome. The wrecked plane, which had broken in two parts, was hauled ashore.

PANTELEO REMANDED.

Will Appear March 31 For the Murder of His Sister-in-law.

TORONTO, March 13 (Canadian Press).—Charged with the murder of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Leonard Panteleo, Vito Panteleo appeared before Magistrate Jones in Police Court today and was remanded until March 31 at the request of the Crown Attorney.

NEW GOLF IDEA IN AFRICA.

Cyril Tolley, of England, has started a new golf idea in South Africa, that is finding followers there. It is the carrying of left-handed golf clubs for use when it is difficult for a right-hander to get a good stance. There is now a demand there for left-handed mashies, and it is the usual thing to see players making practice shots with them on the courses.

Groundhog Shot In North Monaghan

Spring must be here. Yesterday a groundhog was shot in North Monghan by Richard Thompson. This is unusual at this time of year, for it is generally the last week in March or the first in April when the groundhog leaves his winter quarters.

Confiscate $15,000 Worth of Moonshine

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Mar. 13. Canadian Press. — While eight alleged bootleggers, near Gentilly, Minn., were attending Church, Sunday, Sheriff Ira L. Haaven of Polk County and sixteen deputies, swooped down on their homes and confiscated 2,000 gallons of moonshine, valued at $15,000; fourteen hundred gallons of mash, six stills with a capacity of more than 200 gallons, and 100 quarts of beer.

The raid is the largest in northwestern Minnesota, and the liquor was found buried in haystacks, hay lofts and basements of residences.

The stills were found in chicken coops, barns, basements and in finely furnished living rooms.

The eight men were taken into custody and as soon as their cases were disposed of the liquor will be destroyed.

The coup, the police believe, will result in a severe blow to the bootleggers of the district as it is thought the Gentilly district has been the source of the bootleggers' supply.

PEERESS KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Lady Carberry Loses Life While Instructing Pupil in Flying.

MAN ALSO KILLED.

NAIOBI, Africa, March 13 (Canadian Press).—Lady Carbery, wife of Lord Carbery, Irish peer, was killed yesterday in an airplane crash. A pupil named Cowie, with whom she was flying, was also killed The plane lost speed while flying and went into a spin. Lord Carbery saw the accident from the airdrome. Lady Carbery had been taking up friends for short flights during the afternoon. She was giving Cowie a practice flight with dual control when the crash occurred.

SLIGHT HOPE HELD FOR ENTOMBED MEN

Rescue Parties To Enter Mexican Mine To-day, Says Despatch.

MEXICO CITY, March 13 (Canadian Press).—Puebla despatches to El Universal say that there is a slight possibility that men entombed in the American-owned Aurora copper mine near Tezuitlan are alive The fire in the mine is reported to have been put out and a rescue party wearing gas masks expects to enter the mine today. The despatch says fourteen men are entombed, but the mine company here said only ten were still underground.

AFGHAN MONARCHS ARRIVE AT DOVER

Prince of Wales Meets King and Queen on Arrival.

DOVER, ENG., March 13. Canadian Press. — Amanulah Khan, the King of Afghanistan and Queen Sourlya, now on a visit to Europe, arrived here to-day and will proceed to London to meet the King and Queen later. The Prince of Wales met the visitors.

FLIER STARTS ACROSS OCEAN

Hinchcliffe Leaves Cramwell On Flight To New York.

PASSES NEAR CORK.

LONDON, March 13 (Canadian Press). — Captain Walter Hinchcliffe, one of England's most daring fliers, is believed to be speeding on his way across the Atlantic from England to New York. At 8.40 this morning, with Captain Gordon Sinclair, he went up at Cranwell Airdrome in his plane "Adventure' 'for what was at that time thought to be an unknown destination. His agent a few hours later, said that he was bound for America, and Mrs. Hinchcliffe admitted to the Associated Press that New York was his objective.

At 1.30 the plane was reported passing over Mizen Head, County Cork, about four hundred miles from Cranwell. 'The "Adventure" had sufficient fuel aboard for at least a three thousand mile journey, and prior to his start Hinchcliffe had made inquiries regarding the atmospheric conditions on the Atlantic. He had been informed by the Meteorological Office that ocean conditions were fairly good.

SEEN NEAR CORK.

BELFAST, March 13 (Canadian Press). — Captain Fitzmaurice, of the Free State Air Force, says that the lighthouse keeper at Mizen Head reports that an airplane passed over that place at 1.30 this afternoon. It was flying in a westerly direction.

FLYING TO NEW YORK.

LONDON, March 13 (Canadian Press). — Mrs. Hinchcliffe informed the Associated Press late to-day that she believed her husband was headed for New York. Mrs. Hinchcliffe thought when her husband started early to-day he might be merely transferring his base to Ireland, but when informed of later developments she admitted that the mystery flight was towards New York.

PARENTS FACE SERIOUS CHARGE

Held Responsible Through Gross Negligence For Death of Daughter.

INQUEST HELD.

ROXON FALLS, Que., March 13 (Canadian Press). — Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Arcquette, thirty-nine and thirty-six years of age, respectively, farmers, residing about eight miles from here, were held responsible through gross negligence for the death of the former's seven-year-old daughter by his first wife, by the coroner's jury, following the inquest held here under the direction of Coroner Dr. C. P. Verdon, of Granby.

The child died on February 1, after being ill with tuberculosis of the bones for four or five years, according to the evidence, and was buried the following day. On orders from the Department of Justice the body was exhumed on February 26 and an autopsy performed. Witnesses at the inquest told of the gross negligence of the father and stepmother in connection with the care of the sick child, it being stated that the stepmother, who was a Miss Dorais, of Upton, had agreed to marry Arcquette about three years ago on condition that she would not have to look after the child . The child's own mother died four years ago. It was stated that under the circumstances the child had no chance of recovering. No physician had been called for several years, the child had been lying doubled up on straw in a cradle far too small for it, and was given little or no care.

SAYS EDUCATION IS FALLING DOWN

J. G. Elliott, of Kingston, Says Curriculum is Cluttered Up.

TORONTO, March 13 (Canadian Press).—Denunciation of what he called the practice of "cluttering" the public school curriculum of Ontario, and particularly of Toronto, with "etceteras," was made by J. G. Elliott, Kingston, addressing the annual convention of the Urban School Trustees' Association of Ontario today. He declared that the children of to-day were not the equals of previous generations in intelligence, ability of grasp of conditions, and primary education, which should prepare youth for the duties of citizenship, was "falling down badly."

149 MEN PERISH.

NEWHALL, Cal., Mar. 13.—(Canadian Press.)—The Los Angeles water and power bureau office here has received a report that 150 men, employees of the bureau in camp at Kemp had all perished except one man.

MANY PERSONS LOSE LIVES WHEN CANYON DAM BREAKS

Millions of Gallons of Water Sweep Down On Camps and Towns.

WATER SEEPAGE CAUSE.

Huge Reservoir Belonging To Los Angeles Water System Speedily Drained.

NEWHALL, Cal., March 13. Canadian Press. — Ten persons are known to have been killed and official fears are expressed that as many as four hundred more may have perished in an overwhelming avalanche of water which swept through the San Franciscquito canyon north of here, with the breaking of the St. Francis dam early to-day.

The dam, part of the aqueduct system which carries water two hundred miles through the desert to Los Angeles, gave way without warning, releasing 1,344,000,000 gallons of water upon an unsuspecting mountain residence and ranching community.

An unknown number of persons, probably somewhere between two and five hundred, apparently were trapped between the canyon walls. They included about 25 families who made their homes below the dam, a working camp of about 75 employees of the Southern California Edison Company, and a group of employees at the power sub station in the path of the deluge. Sheriffs' officers said there was no chance of escape for the vast majority of these.

The dam, a structure 185 feet high, impounded the waters of San Franciscquito creek, forming a storage body five miles long and the full width of the canyon. Only five persons in the canyon were known to have been rescued when the officers arrived at the scene. The break, which occurred about one a.m., unleased the flood at high speed, and in three hours it was more than twenty miles down the valley.

Once out of the canyon the flood spread out between the sloping banks of the Santa Paula River, which held the volume. Below Santa Paula, fear was expressed that it might strike the oil field at Venture. At one point the water was reported to have formed a wall 75 feet high. This was in the neighborhood of the ranch of Harry Carey, film cowboy, on which about one hundred persons lived. Several families living there were believed to have perished. Once out of little valley where it wrought so much damage, the water took the course of Santa Clara river to flow thirty miles to the ocean. Damage along the Santa Clara will be enormous ,officials said.

NEWHALL, Calif., March 13 (Canadian Press). — William Bright, in charge of the sheriff's squad assigned to police and rescue work at St. Francis Dam, after a hurried survey of the situation, declared his belief that few, if any, of the ranchers, the power workmen, and power substation employees in the San Franciscquito Canyon, the site of the dam, had escaped. Three bodies, all unidentified, have already been recovered.

Red Cross workers were on the scene early, sent from Los Angeles. They prepared blankets and other comforts for the refugees. Bright told them, however, he believed there would be little use for the blankets and other comforts, as he felt certain that practically all the inhabitants of the Canyon had perished.

First reports said that only five persons had been rescued out of a possible total of five hundred living in the upper path of the flood, where the danger was greatest.

The first report of the disaster, which came from a lineman of the Southern California Telephone Company working below San Franciscquito Canyon, attributed the dam break to an earthquake. However, no tremblors were reported from any other localities, and the belief was expressed in several quarters that the dam had given way under the pressure of approximately 1,344,000,000 gallons of water behind it.

No 'Quake Registered.

WASHINGTON, March 13 (Canadian Press).—Exhaustive research today failed to disclose any trace of an earthquake in California on the seismograph at Georgetown University. Director Tondorf declared there "is not the slightest sign of a disturbance" in the region of the St. Francis Dam.

Water Seepage Cause.

NEWHALL, Cal., Mar. 13 (Canadian Press).—The preliminary survey to-day indicated, according to Los Angeles city officials, that water seeping through the hill supporting the west wing of the St. Francis Dam had caused the structure to collapse. Previous reports were that an earthquake was the cause.

100 Bodies Recovered.

LOS ANGELES, March 13 (Canadian Press).—Eugene Discaillus, Under Sheriff of Los Angeles County, and in charge of the rescue work in the St. Francis Dam area, wired his office here at 9.45 a.m., that one hundred bodies had been recovered at the point where the flood waters of the breaking St. Francis Dam had entered the Santa Paula and Santa Clara River.

Lake Navigation Will Open Early

SAULT STE. MARIE, March 13.—(Canadian Press).—Ice conditions all along the lakes indicate that the opening of navigation will not be as early this year as last. In the season of 1927 navigation opened on April 12, or just one month from yesterday, when the steamer Britt came up the river and docked at nine o'clock at night.

At this date last year, in fact on March 2, there was open water above Little Rapids cut, and the water in the river at the Sault was gradually pushing back the ice. On March 2, water covered most of the ice in the river. This year, on March 12, the ice is reported to be 20 inches thick and solid in St. Mary's River. Harbor ice at the lake head is 30 inches thick and extends beyond vision.

The very cold weather during the first 10 days of March has tightened up the ice, and unless unusually warm weather prevails it will be well on toward the end of April before the boats are operating, local marine men believe.

LITTLE HOPE HELD FOR ENTOMBED MEN

Trapped Miners In Aurora Copper Mine Believed To Have Perished.

MEXICO CITY, March 13. Canadian Press. — Trapped between fire above and water below the entombed men in the American-owned Aurora copper mine near Teziutlan are believed to have perished.

The fire continues within the mine, and with the failure of the pumps to act water continues flooding the lower levels. Notwithstanding loss of hope, compressed air is being forced into the workings in an effort to save the miners, if any remain alive, from asphyxiation.

Eleven bodies have been recovered according to information receied by the mining company here, leaving 10 men underground where they have been since early on Friday morning.

"The Mexican Corporation," owners of the unfortunate Aurora mine, assert that the extent of the disaster has been exaggerated in some despatches. The information is that the thirteen dead, and the ten entombed, comprise the number of the casualties.

Press despatches to Mexico City newspapers give different figures. One newspaper places the number at eighteen dead; another despatch says twenty five dead; still another reports fifty dead.

Most despatches received thus far are vague and give but few details of the disaster.

500 REJECTED AS IMMIGRANTS

Canadian Doctors In Great Britain Examined 12,000 Persons in Month.

STAFF NUMBERS 20.

OTTAWA, Mar. 13.— (Canadan Press.)—Canada has established a new system for the examination of immigrants in Great Britain and on the continent. To the Parliamentary committee which is investigating the Department of Immigration, Dr. J. A. Amyot, Deputy Minister of the Department of Health, to-day outlined the new system. Examinations are now conducted by the staff of Canadian doctors located at important centres in Great Britain and on the continent. In Great Britain 330 stations at which these examinations are conducted now exist. Since Feb. 5 about twelve thousand examinations have been made, resulting in rejection of some five hundred intending immigrants. The staff of dotcors numbers twenty and is equipped with motor cars in order to visit the different stations.

KINGSTON, Ont., March 13 (Canadian Press).—Chester H. Wood, Clerk of the Supreme Court, was notified on Tuesday of his appointment as Deputy District Registrar of the Exchequer Court in Admiralty for the Counties of Frontenac and Addington, Hastings, Prince Edward, Leeds and Grenville, Stormont and Glengarry.

FIND OLDEST TOMB KNOWN OF UR KING

Pennsylvania-British Museum Excavators Come On It 40 Feet Underground.

GUARDS LAY AT OPEN DOOR.

Barbaric Gold and Stone Objects Dug Up In Discovery.

PHILADELPHIA, March 12. — On the eve of suspension of excavation work in Ur of the Chaldees until next season the archaeologists of the joint expedition of the University of Pennsylvania and the British Museum have discovered a royal tomb that is described as "architecturally remarkable and probably the oldest we have fund," in a report received at the University yesterday from C. Leonard Woolley, director of the expedition.

The tomb, like others found by the expedition, had been looted centuries before by grave robbers, but in despoiling the last resting place of the royal Chaldean the thieves nevertheless left behind some unique and valuable objects. Dr. Woolley declared that, in spite of the rich discoveries made by the archaeologists at Ur in the last six years, "the richest part of the ancient cemetery is yet to be dug."

Work will be resumed next season with increased vigor on the excavation of the courtyard of the great Temple of the Moon God, Nannar, which was buried beneath thousands of tons of earth when King Nebuchadnezzar about 600 B.C. raised the floor of the building to the level of the terrace of the ziggurat.

Dr. Woolley described the excavation of the newly discovered tomb as unusually difficult because it lay beneath forty feet of hard mud.

Cut Into By Grave Above.

"When we found the tomb," he said, "the guards lay at the open door and the chambers were empty of all save what robbers had overlooked when they plundered the grave thousands of years ago, but it well repaid excavation, for it was in many ways the most interesting that we have yet found.

"Probably it is the oldest tomb we have found. The modern surface has here been denuded far below the ancient level, yet the floor of the tomb lies at a depth of no less than forty feet, and the grave of King Meskamam-dug, which lies high above it, is actually cut down into the filling of the old shaft.

"Architecturally it is remarkable. The whole grave pit is filled by the tomb, three vaulted chambers built and roofed with limestone rubble, and in each chamber part of the corbelled ceiling and the apsidal end are preserved intact. The walls preserve much of the fine lime plaster with which the rough stone surface was originally finished.

"In the other graves, a single chamber destined for the royal body occupies one end of the open grave shaft, in which the King's household and followers were buried. Here all were placed in the tomb. The central chamber was divided by a cross wall into two chambers, the inner compartment presumably being for the King's body.

"In this, as well as in each of the large side chambers, there was a rectangular hollow in the cement floor. The hollow was the shape of a coffin, and at each of its corners was a round hole, which may have been the receptacle for the supporting pole of a canopy. The persons buried with this King must themselves have been of importance if they shared thus in his state.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation.

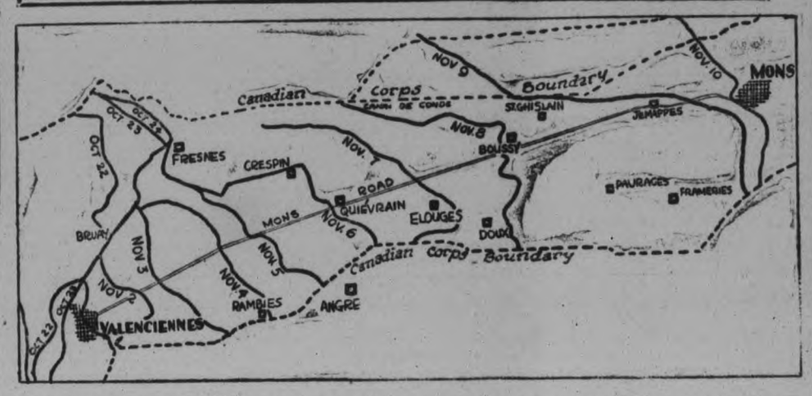
FINAL BATTLE OF WAR IS FOUGHT OVER IN COURT



At Cobourg, Ont., General Sir Arthur Currie, in the prosaic atmosphere of a lawyer's office, the other day, describing under oath the details and circumstances of the Battle of Mons, on November 10-11, 1918. In legal terminology he was being "examined for discovery" in connection with his action for $50,000 damages against the Port Hope Guide and W. T. R. Preston. General Currie complains of an article written by Mr. Preston dealing with the closing engagement of the great war, which alleges that Canadian casualties were wantonly and unnecessarily suffered for the glorification of Canadian headquarters. (1) Shows Sir Arthur Currie in uniform; (2) Taking the salute at Mons following the armistice; (3) In formal civilian dress as principal of McGill University; (4) W. T. R. Preston. The map illustrates the closing phase of the war in the sector in which the Canadians were then engaged. It shows the successive lines of attack in the objective and the progress of the Canadian corps towards its goal.

GERMANY MAY ESTABLISH AIR MAIL IN IRELAND

Save Time on Delivery of Mail From Trans-Atlantic Liners.

OFFICIALS ALARMED.

Have Already Ousted British Air Services From Persia.

LONDON Mar. 13.—A report that Germany is negotiating aerpolane concessions from the Irish Free State has alarmed British Air league officials. In this connection it is believed the Germans intend to establish mail services to take mails from incoming trans-Atlantic liners off the coast in order to save time on delivery, and also to establish an aeroplane service between Ireland and England.

The Germans have already ousted British air services from Persia, where the Russians also are active aerially.

Air Route Broken.

General Groves, formerly director of flying at the air ministry, declared the Empire air route has been actually broken at Basera because of Persia's opposition, while Russo-German services are operating within a hundred miles of Bagdad.

Early in February Britain sent a note to the Persian government demanding that her right to fly over Persian territory be conceded in order that the imperial air link with India might be completed. At the time Persia was believed to have been influenced against Britain by Red agents.

ANNUAL MEETING OF LADIES' AID

Mrs. Ethel McColl is Re-elected President of Bethany Branch.

NORHAM, March 13. — Mrs. Ethel McColl was re-elected president of the Bethany Ladies' Aid, at the annual meeting held at her home in Codrington, on Thursday afternoon. Other officers are: First vice-president, Mrs. Lloyd Ames; second vice-president, Mrs. Oscar Vanblaricom; secretary, Mrs. Walter Raycraft; treasurer, Miss Zoa Cole; organists, Miss F. Vanblaricom and Mrs. O. Vanblaricom; auditors, Mrs. Summis, Mrs. Maines, and Mrs. Clare; Visiting Committee, Mrs. Dinnar, Mrs. Dusenbury, Mrs. McColl, and Miss Lindsay.

The auditors' report was received, after which Rev. D. R. Clare thanked the society for the flowers sent at the time of his mother's death. A social half-hour was spent at the close of the meeting.

Families Honored.

The home of S. Hazelwood, on Thursday evening, when friends from Orland and Codrington met to say farewell to Mr. and Mrs. James Wright and little son, before their departure to Rochester.

During the course of the evening, Mr. Ryckman, of Orland, spoke of why the gathering had taken place, expressed regret of their departure of Mr. Wright's services overseas and Mrs. Wright's services in the church and vicinity. An address was read by Mr. Raycraft and Mr. Lummiss presented them with a purse on behalf of their neighbors.

Rev. D. R. Clare spoke for a short time of the willingness of Mr. and Mrs. Wright to assist in the activities of the church, and how they would be greatly missed in the neighborhood.

A spelling match was staged, the unusual feature being that the words were spelt backwards. The losing side provided the program for the evening, which consisted of vocal music with violin and banjo; speeches and recitations.

The friends of the White School neighborhood gathered at the home of C. Pettifer, to bid farewell to them before they leave for their new home at Oak Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Grills are moving into the house which Mr. Pettifer and family are leaving.

February Joins Other Mild Months

MONTREAL, Que., March 12.—February, 1928, will go down in the records at the McGill Observatory as the sixth successive month that has been milder than usual in this city. The snowfall measured only ten inches and only once since 1900 has a lower snowfall for February been recorded. This was in February, 1921, when a total of only nine inches was experienced in Montreal.

The highest temperature for the month of February was 39 deg. on February 23, and lowest, 11.3 deg. below zero on February 25, which is the lowest temperature for the present winter. A singlar circumstance concerning the maximum and minimum temperatures for February is that they occurred within 36 hours of each other—a range of 50 degrees in temperature of a period of about 36 hours.

ZION LEAGUE HAS MEETING

Earl Fairman in Charge, While Elsie Forde Contributes Musical Numbers.

SNOW BLOCKS ROADS

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, March 13.—Earl Fairman, missionary convenor, had charge of the League meeting on Thursday evening, with Lorne Barnum as leader. After the usual devotional period conducted by Rev. Mr. Daniel, and the leader, a short but interesting program was given, consisting of reading and missionary topic on Africa by Earl Fairman, and music by Elsie Forde. A short song service led by Rev. Daniel, and an amusing contest were the concluding items. The Whippet group again led on the night's attendance, while the points to date show the Whippet and Chevrolet tied.

"Eyes of Love."

The Dramatic club is practicing for the play, "Eyes of Love," which is to be presented at the annual pie social of the Ladies' Aid. Last week's practice was at William Petherick's, and was most successful.

Bad Storm.

March 9 brought one of the real snow storms of the year, and with winds driving from the east, the roads are blocked in both directions.

There is, each year about the time that the roads are blocked for motor traffic, a feeling among the local farmers that some arrangement should be made for keeping the main roads open in winter. Next year an appeal may be made to the council for permission to use a small grader to keep the snow cleared from at least two roads leading from this district to Campbellford.

TOOK DOCTORS' ADVICE —COLD GONE NEXT DAY

Advise Hospital Tested Method for Home Use—Many Here Relieved in Few Hours

A quick, pleasant and inexpensive method—endorsed by physicians for home use—brought to Robert H. Sullivan the same speedy relief which druggists here say has been experienced by so many Peterborough people who have used it for head colds, chronic coughs and deep seated chest colds.

Mr. Sullivan had neglected his cold for two or three days and it had settled in the nasal passages and bronchial tubes. He was unable to breathe through his nose; his stomach became upset and he coughed so his mother-in-law called a physician.

On advice of the doctor he started regular hourly doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—a concentrated mixture of ingredients which hospitals have found to be the quickest, safest and surest to end colds. With the very first pleasant swallow he felt its comforting, healing warmth—from his nose passages deep down into his chest. Relief came almost immediately and in a day or so he was completely rid of the cold.

Note: Other cases reported daily—all certified by the physicians who treated each case.

Doctors find that this hospital medicine does far more than stop coughing instantly. It is absorbed by the whole system. This quickly checks phlegm, heals irritation and drives out the cold from the nose passages, throat and chest.

Just a few pleasant spoonfuls of Cherry Pectoral now and you'll feel like a different person tomorrow. Hospital directions with each bottle.

WALTER HONORED AT SAINT JOHN

London Publisher Guest of Honor at Union Club Luncheon.

SAINT JOHN, N. B. March 13. —"My impression of landing in Saint John is that this country is nothing more or less than an extension of the British Isles; from what I have already seen I have no misgivings about Canada remaining British," said John Walter, M.S., co-proprietor of the Times of London, Eng. when responding to a toast at a luncheon given here yesterday in the Union club

The toast to the guest of honor was proposed by Hon. J. B. N. Baxter, Premier of New Brunswick

Premier Baxter recalled how in former days London seemed very far away to the people of Canada in point of distance and the time taken to reach it, but modern science had done much to bring the two countries very close together. He cited an instance of this which occurred that morning when he talked by radio telephone with Lord Beaverbrook in London. "We must look upon the mother country as the greatest, if not the sole agency for the liberty of the world," the premier said. He said that there was no agency so potent or so able to assist in achieving this as the press. Referring to the London Times, Dr. Baxter said that looking upon it from a world standpoint it should be considered as a force superior to ordinary politics, as a leader of men.

Extension of British Isles.

Mr. Walter said in England, one heard a great deal about the influx of foreigners to Canada, and that the British-speaking population was being outnumbered. However he had the experience on Sunday of landing in a country which he considered as nothing more or less than an extension of the British Isles. The people gave one the impression of feeling proud of being the descendants of those people (the Loyalists) commemorated by the stone erected at the landing slip. I have no misgivings about Canada remaining British he declared.

Mr. Walter said that while he was in Canada on an educational mission he felt that he had very little to teach the press of the dominion.

You have up to date and enterprising newspapers here and I hope that in my trip across Canada I will be able to exchange views with other newspaper people and take home something in the way of education with me."

MARMORA HOTEL TO BE EXTENDED

Sixteen Rooms Will be Added With Opening of Spring.

MARMORA, March 13. — With the opening of the spring, sixteen bedrooms, eight on each floor, will be added to the Royal Hotel, Marmora. This decision was made at the eleventh annual meeting of the shareholders on Friday evening. Heavy tourist trade for the past two summers and strong commercial patronage week after week are responsible for this new extension. When extended, the building will reach to J. P. Marrin's drug store, and will possess an attractive frontage. Thomas E. Potts, the proprietor for the past two years, who has completed twelve years in the hotel business, will continue to operate the establishment. The bedrooms have recently been redecorated and refurnished in a manner seldom associated with a village hotel.

SPECIAL TEACHING WORK IS DISCUSSED

Education of Exceptional Children Taken Up at Meeting.

The meeting of the "International Council for Exceptional Children" was recently held in Toronto, and the results were most gratifying to those interested in the work., Miss MacConnachie, of the Peterborough Public school staff, attended.

The delegates spent the first day in visiting the Toronto schools. These schools include auxiliary classes, sight-saving classes, open-air classes, lip-reading classes, orthopedic and training classes, and two trade school classes for adolescent, backward children.

These schools are proving that children who were once considered a burden to society may become an asset, for these schools, instead of stressing the faculties which they do not have, the things they have in common with other children are stressed. The child's mind is directed away from what he can't do to what he can do.

The problem of the only child was dealt with at one of the sessions. The conclusion reached was that the parent of an only child faces a real difficulty as the child is apt to be selfish, dependent, domineering and unpopular.

The exceptionally bright child was the theme of another session. This child needs special care and attention as he is apt to drift along in the grades, being mentally far ahead of his companions. This leads to a dislike of school and consequent failure unless properly guided.

"The Intelligence of Immigrant Groups" was the theme of another interesting address. The speaker held that the immigration problem is more important than either the tariff or transportation, since a nation's intelligence, health and morals are permanently raised or lowered by the class of immigrants admitted.

Many other interesting problems relating to the work were discussed.

PRIVATE SHOWING OF PICTURE GIVEN

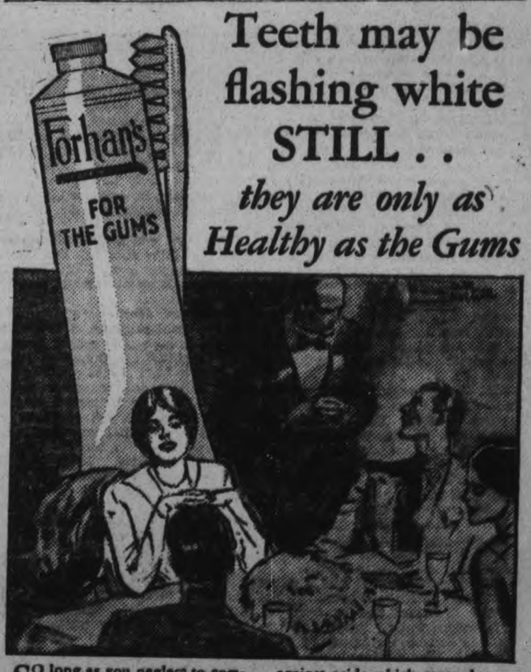
Theatre Manager Invites Clergy and Others To See "Fourth Commandment."

CAMPBELLFORD, March 13.—As a means of settling all arguments as to exactly what the much discussed Fourth Commandment really was Captain T. E. Hyland, manager of the Regent Theatre arrangement for a private showing of the picture on Friday. The clergy, heads of the schools and many others were invited to attend and there was a very select audience gathered to view the picture. The result is that when movies become the topic of conversation, the Fourth Commandment is the ultimate end of the discussion. Immediately after the showing, several members of the clergy expressed their great appreciation of the picture as they stood in the lobby of the theatre.

CHIMNEY FIRE

Lakefield Brigade Called to Small Fire at Baptist Parsonage.

LAKEFIELD, March 13.—On Saturday the siren called out the fire brigade to a chimney fire at the Baptist parsonage. The fire was quickly put under control and the damage was slight. A rather amusing incident occurred when Rev. J. B. McCormack discovered, only when the brigade arrived, that there was a fire. A neighbor sent in the alarm thinking the fire was worse than it was.



Teeth may be flashing white STILL . . they are only as Healthy as the Gums

SO long as you neglect to combat the disease of neglect (Pyorrhea) health is jeopardized.

This grim foe which ignores the teeth and attacks the gums takes as its victims 4 out of 5 after forty and thousands younger.

Take this precaution: See your dentist every six months. And start using Forhan's for the Gums, today.

As a dentifrice alone, you would prefer it. Without the use of harsh abrasives, it helps to keep teeth clean and restore their natural whiteness. Also it protects them against acids which cause decay.

But Forhan's is more than an ordinary dentifrice. If used regularly and in time, it helps to firm gums and keep them sound and healthy. And Pyorrhea seldom attacks healthy gums.

Get a tube of Forhan's today! Use this dentifrice every morning and night. Massage your gums daily with it, following directions in booklet that comes with tubes. This good habit is health insurance. Two sizes—35c and 60c.

BRITISH INVEST MORE IN CANADA

People Do Not Realize How Much Capital is Being Placed, Says Writer.

MONEY MARKET ACTIVE.

MONTREAL, Que., March 13—The Prince of Wales and Stanley Baldwin are two of Canada's keenest supporters in Great Britain, said Keith Morris, special writer of The London Financial Times ,in an interview in the Windsor Station, Montreal. Mr. Morris is a leading authority in British financial circles on Canadian matters and on this occasion is travelling in Eastern Canada, visiting the Maritime Provinces, Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto.

Far more British capital is entering the country through private channels than Canadians realize, stated Mr. Morris. The mines of Northern Ontario and the pulp and paper industry are in greatest favor with the British investor. There is a tendency for capital to seek association with Canadian industry rather than attempting to establish rival enterprises, he said, the desire being to obtain the advantage of Canadian experience in co-operation. The Peace River district is another field eyed with interest, he intimated, expressing the belief that the country was the land of to-morrow.

The British money market is as active as ever, Mr. Morris continued, the people's standard of living being much higher than it was before the war. The dole, which is really unemployment insurance to which both employer and employee contribute and in which the government participates has robbed poverty of its tragedy. When the father of a family loses a job, his wife and children no longer face starvation.

CHECKING A HERNIA

Rupture of the abdominal wall occurs more frequently with men than with women. This is probably due to the extra exertion which men use in their work. By far the largest percentage of ruptures occurs with those doing hard manual labor. Men engaged in construction work where they are forced to lift heavy objects strain themselves by such heavy lifting. The sedentary worker may of course bring about the same kind of strain by any sudden exertion of an unusual nature

A man's abdomen is usually much stronger than the abdomen of an ape or any of the monkey family who walk leaning over practically on all fours. Whether or not man descended from the apes, it is apparent that at one time he crouched down with his shoulders bent forward. In this position the vital organs can do their work more efficiently. When man assumed the upright position he gradually developed stronger abdominal muscles to hold the organs of the abdomen in a firmer position; but those whose muscles have not developed sufficiently to take care of the upright position suffer from many disorders caused by the abdominal muscles of the lower abdomen are pressed upon by the prolapsed organs there is danger of some section of the peritoneum giving way and allowing a lump of the intestines to press out into a sack which is then called a "hernia" or "rupture." This sack seldom breaks completely through the muscle unless there is great carelessness in allowing the sack to further enlarge.

An insipient hernia or rupture can be quite easily cured through reducing the internal pressure and developing the abdominal muscles. A great deal of pressure from the prolapsed organs can be relieved if the patient will cut down his food supply and relieve some of the weight which presses upon the hernial sack.

Intestinal gas pressure is often the cause of much of this pressure and this, of course, can be relieved through suitable dietetic measures. The proper kind of brace should be worn to support the hernia so that no further break or protrusion can develop. This support should consist of a flat or spongy pad. These appliances are superior in every way to the hard rubber ball truss which only serves to hold the hernia open and actually prevents it from healing.

If the rupture has been allowed to develop so that it extends down into the inguinal canal it may be necessary to resort to surgical measures. Such operations are more successful with young men whose tissues will heal to better advantage than those men past middle age who must usually be satisfied with some kind of comfortable support which will retain the rupture and not allow it to become dangerously large.

Questions and Answers.

Question J. O. L. asks "Why are not meat and potatoes a good combination?"

Answer My theory about the meat and potato combination is that because meat is digested mostly in the stomach and potatoes entirely in the intestines, it is better not to use these two foods together, as this difference may interfere with the digestion of either the meat or potatoes. This is, however, only a theory. The important fact is that starches and proteins do not digest as well together as if either were combined with the non-starchy vegetables. If your digestive power is not strong, you can easily prove this by taking a meal of meat, spinach and celery, and the other meals of these same foods with the addition of some kind of starchy food.

Question Inquirer asks "I would like to know if chest-sounding is a positive test for finding out the condition of the lungs."

Answer Percussion of the chest is a method which is valuable in the hands of a skilled diagnostician. The best method of chest examination is with the fluoroscope and the use of X-ray pictures.

Question M. J. B. asks "Are there any ways of telling when a fast has been of sufficient length?"

Answer Only an expert diagnostician can tell when a fast has been of sufficient length to get the most complete results. However, it is perfectly safe for anyone to fast for a few days without any danger, whatsoever. The return of normal hunger is an indication that the fast has been taken long enough. Sometimes this hunger does not return for several weeks and one should be under the care of a physician who understands the fasting cure before undertaking a fast of more than two or three weeks' duration.

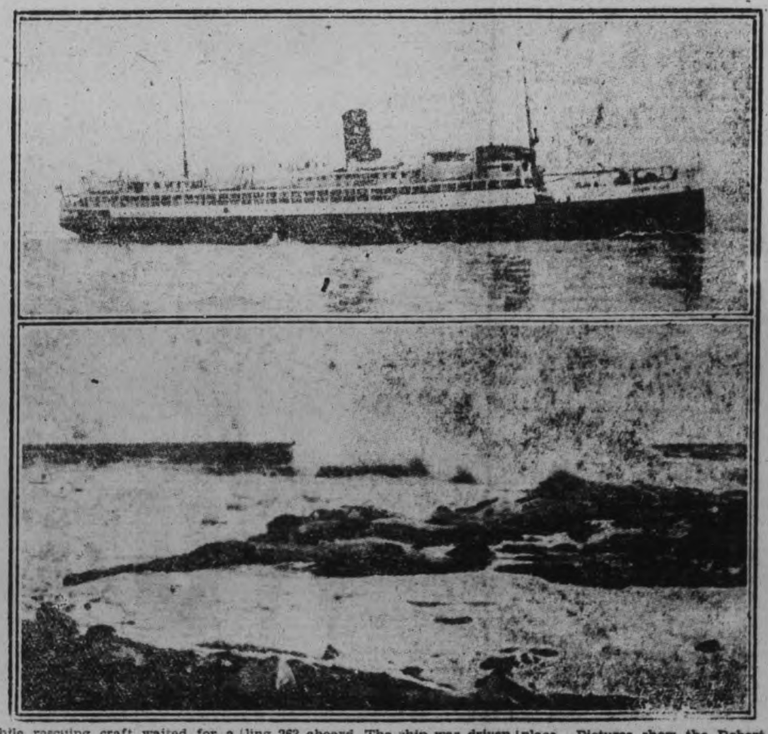
WHERE COASTAL STE AMER STRUCK ROCKS



While rescuing craft waited for a raging 70 mile, snow-laden gale to subside, the New York-Boston steamer Robert E. Lee pounded the treacherous Mary Ann reefs in Massachusetts Bay with passengers and a crew totalling 262 aboard. The ship was driven ashore in the night. The scene of the wreck is five or six miles from Plymouth Rock, where the Mayflower landed, and a short distance from where the S-4 submarine tragedy took place. Pictures show the Robert E. Lee and the type of treacherous rocky coastline where the wreck occurred. The passengers were rescued on Saturday.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

An all-occasion frock of blue georgette trimmed with faggotting and pleating.

The suburban woman has dress problems all her own and every season there are more of them—more suburban women, I mean not more problems, because the problems remain just about the same.

The city woman puts on a simple little suit or frock with a coat and goes off in the morning for an hour or so to do her shopping. Then it's home James—or by bus or subway—for luncheon. Maybe she gets it herself in a two-by-four kitchenette and maybe she eats it in a dinette and dresses in a slit in the wall that she calls her dressing room but she does have the privilege of dressing for the tea or bridge or wedding or what not that she has to attend in the afternoon. And it's home James again for dinner or to dress for dinner—and the afternoon frock is put aside, for an evening frock, and the rouge and powder that have done for daylight are replaced by other rouge and powder that are supposed to be more becoming by artificial light.

With the suburban woman—you know how it is. It's up with the song sparrows to dress for an all-day jaunt in the city. Shopping in the morning, luncheon with a friend, more shopping or the matinee, tea—an errand or two—then a hotel lobby to meet Friend Husband—then dinner and a show just to make the day complete.

And while it's very nice to be suburban—one rather boasts of the fact now-a-days—it's quite another matter to look suburban. You don't want to start forth with violets pinned to your coat and opera glasses in your hand for a mid morning shopping bout. And you don't want to appear at the theater in the evening looking like an exhausted hiker.

Some of the dressmakers are making "all-occasions" frocks that really help to solve these difficulties.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1928.

This is a fairly fortunate day in planetary direction, according to astrology, which reads friendly influences in the stars.

The planetary government is especially favorable to women who should benefit in all their public ambitions.

In works of charity and philanthropy women are especially well directed while this configuration prevails.

Clubs and other organizations should profit from the aspects which presage changes as well as successful undertakings.

This should be a lucky wedding day inclining toward harmony and presaging success in the finer ambitions.

Girls should make the best of new friendships begun under this rule of the stars, which enables them to win admiration and respect.

The mind should be clear and able to grasp most human problems while this sway continues.

There is a sign of promise for those who dwell in the world of dreams, for there is to be a great demand for the work of creative minds.

All the aspects appear to presage much profit for American authors, who are to till new fields of fiction.

Again the seers stress the fact that advertising and publicity are to be sought as never before.

Newspapers and magazines are to benefit greatly in the coming year when changes may be expected.

This is not an auspicious day for suitors and it is wise to beware of flirtations while this configuration prevails.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be exceedingly careful in the selection of friends. They should be careful in fulfilling their duties, if they are employees.

Children born on this day may be rather too decided in their opinions to be popular. The subjects of this sign usually have first-rate brains.

TANLAC BUILT F[illegible] UP.

Now Eats Well and [illegible]eps Well

"A medicine must be good to relieve a man's trouble of 15 years' standing, and then build him up 21 pounds; and this is what Tanlac has done for me" states Mr. Henry Sholer, 220 Edinburgh street, Peterboro, Ont.

"Before taking Tanlac, I never felt right; hardly knew what it was to be hungry; and heartburn, palpitation, headaches and nervousness almost set me wild. Often I was so weak and miserable that I had to stop work before quitting time. But good old Tanlac came to my rescue and now I have not a complaint in the world. Tanlac seemed to build me up all over again—and hearty eating, steady nerves and sound sleep have made me as strong as an ox. I would not swap Tanlac for all other medicines put together."

Tanlac is good because it is Nature's own medicines—herbs, roots and barks, and free of mineral drugs. It must do you good, and made you perfectly satisfied or your money will be promptly refunded. So—get a bottle at our druggist's to-day and let Tanlac help you to be free of Stomach trouble and Constipation, paleness and weakness, nervousness, dizzy spells, and headaches.

BAPTISTS TOLD ABOUT COLLEGE

Dr. McLay, of McMaster, Addresses Meetings in City.

DISCUSSES REMOVAL.

An address was given on Saturday evening by Dr. W. S. W. McLay, Dean of Arts of McMaster University to the McMaster Alumni of Peterborough and other represetntaives of Murray Street, Park Street and Gilmour Memorial churches, who met for supper at Hooper's restaurant. The subject of Dr. McLay's address was the proposition of moving McMaster Universtiy to Hamilton and the scheme for raising $1,500,000 for other purposes. The graduates of the University have undertaken to raise $500,000 and $1,000,000 is to be raised among the churches of the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec.

Dr. McLay advanced many reasons which he said made it imperative for McMaster to move from its present site, where further growth is impossible and he pointed out the many advantages to be derived from moving to Hamilton which has no university and which is in the centre of a large Baptist constituency. McMaster is accepting nothing from the Corporation of Hamilton but the citizens are voluntarily contributing seventy-five acres for a site and erecting a science building at a cost of $500,000.

The campaign among the Baptists of Ontario and Quebec for the raising of the sum of $1,500,000 will take place from April 23 to May 7, and Dr. McLay stated that already large contributions had been made. One graduate, Silas Eaton, now of Cleveland, Ohio, has subscribed $250,000.

The chair was taken by Joseph Wearing, President of the McMaster Alumni of Peterborough, and A. J. Madill, of the Normal School expressed the thanks of those present for the visit of Dr .McLay and his splendid address. Other speakers were L. J. Pettit, Rev. T. L. Horton and C. B. Westbrook.

Around the City

The fire brigade answered a call that came in at 2.35 Monday afternoon from 450 George street. The men found a fire in a chimney but easily extinguished it by means of chamica's.

RADIO TUNES IN ON STREET.

Pedestrians in one of the busy streets of Glasgow, Scotland, recently were amazed by sweet strains of music issuing apparently from a young woman, who was blushing furiously. She had just bought a portable radio set that had not been shut off when she left the store. While she was on the street the Glasgow station began broadcasting, and she did not know at first how to shut off the machine.

Slenderizes the Hip Line!

TO wear the May Belle Bobette is to love it! It fits so comfortably, yet so smoothly! It really slenderizes the hip line and is so carefully tailored with its well-cut gusset. Moreover, you'll love the soft beauty of our Lockstitch rayon from which all May Belle undies are made. These dainty, moderately-priced, long-wearing undies are obtainable in a host of charming, really washable pastel shades.

May Belle undies may be identified by the little May Belle label inside each garment. You will find our new May Belle Junior Lingerie attractive and durable—2 to 14 years.

HIT-AND-RUN MOTORISTS.

If there is any individual whom the community should be eager to track down and punish it is the motorist who runs down a victim and speeds away from the scene without a thought of assistance to the human being his car has hit.

The last few days have produced two particularly appalling examples, in the killing of a man and a young girl at Niagara Falls and of a young man near London.

In both cases the victims were walking on the highway when a car travelling at tremendous speed crashed into them and sped away.

The Niagara Falls driver did not slacken speed in the least; the London motorist paused long enough to throw the body of his victim from the hood of the car on which he had fallen and then put on speed to escape detection.

The hit-and-run motorist is a new type that should be made scarce by giving every driver convicted of such cowardly and despicable conduct the most severe penalty that the law will permit.

Public opinion will sustain any magistrate or judge in the most drastic sentence he can inflict upon such drivers.

HELP THE ORPHANAGE.

The annual opportunity of contributing toward the maintenance fund of St. Vincent's Orphanage will be given on Saturday when the yearly tag day on behalf of the institution will be held.

St. Vincent's Orphanage, whose work is along the lines of that carried on by the Children's Aid Society, shares with that organization the honor of being a pioneer in this method of raising funds, and by common comment, the two institutions have been given right-of-way, so to speak, to use a tag day appeal each year for funds.

It is a method that enables a substantial sum to be raised without placing a heavy burden upon a few individuals, and used on behalf of these two splendid organizations invariably has been successful.

There is every reason, therefore, to expect that the response to Saturday's appeal will be enthusiastic and generous.

The Orphanage is doing a noble work in Peterborough, the average number of children cared for in the institution being 45, and it is not difficult to visualize what the placing of these little folks on the path that leads to good citizenship means to the community.

A donation on Saturday to this splendid cause will be an investment in a benevolence that not only means happier children but also good, substantial, capable citizens in the years to come.

Peterborough's contribution to St. Vincent's Orphanage should be worthy of the great humanitarian work that is being carried on by that institution.

CONSIDERATION FOR OTHERS.

"Don't you think an editorial urging motorists to drive carefully through the water and slush might do some good?" somebody asked yesterday.

And, off hand, we were going to say "No," remembering similar articles in other years that did not seem to bring about any improvement and reflecting that gentlemen would drive carefully anyway and others would be deaf to any appeal.

Second thoughts, however, prompted the feeling that there are many people who have not been very considerate about others simply because they haven't given the matter a thought, and that perhaps a hint to such drivers would produce beneficial results.

At this season of the year with the streets covered with water and slush there is need for some consideration of the pedestrian on the part of the man at the wheel.

Nothing is easier than to leave a trail of be-spattered clothing, wet stockings and bad tempers behind an automobile.

Just a little fast driving through the slush and the trick is done.

Nothing clever about it, nothing smart, and yet some motorists drive that way all day long, regardless of what happens to the people they pass.

It must be, surely, because they have failed to realize the boorishness of such conduct, and that this article may serve as a reminder that courtesy demands some regard for other people.

THE CIGARETTE TAX.

As Col. Robinson intimated in his speech in Parliament yesterday, it is perfectly amazing that the Government has not responded to the many appeals that have been made to it to lower the tax on cigarettes. It has been pointed out in these columns on more than one occasion that Canada is losing a great deal of revenue and that Canadian tobacco growers, manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers are being heavily penalized by the present levy of $6 per thousand. The imposition of this tax means that millions of American cigarettes are smuggled into Canada every year. From them Canada does not receive a single cent of revenue in any way. At the same time it is hardly human to blame our people for smoking these "imported" brands, when one considers the price our manufacturers have to charge for their products in order to meet the unbearable tax imposed by the Canadian Government.

The $6 per thousand rate was put on for the purpose of raising revenue. As a matter of fact, there is everything to support the belief that the Government would secure a far greater return were the tax cut in half, as suggested by Canadian tobacco concerns and as demanded by the public. The present situation is deplorable in every respect and it is the fault of the Government and no one else.

The fact that the high rate is being retained despite all the protests made against it, strengthens the suggestion that the administration contemplates an appeal to the country not many months hence and that cheap cigarettes are being held as a reserve card for the vote-getting campaign.—Border Cities Star.

Anyway, in that cross-continent derby getting set back a yard for a false start doesn't mean very much.

ACCIDENTS AND COMPENSATION.

There were 5,570 accidents reported to the Workmen's Compensation Board during the month of February.

These included 82 death cases.

The recent disaster at Timmins was in part responsible for the unusually large number of death cases, there having been 39 fatalities in the Hollinger fire.

The total number of accidents reported was about 500 more than in the previous month of January.

The benefits awarded in February totalled $552,931.00, which is somewhat lower than the figures for January when $569,775.50 was awarded. Medical aid in February totalled $93,867.95, which is a little higher than the $91,445.40 paid for medical aid in January.

Commenting on these figures R. B. Morley, General Manager of the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations, points out that a large number of minor accidents are being reported. The figures compiled by the Workmen's Compensation Board over the past several years indicate that there has been a steady decrease in the percentage of mechanical accidents. In the last two years about 20 per cent. of the accidents reported have involved contact with machinery. It is a fact, while mechanical accidents are being reduced in number, severity is frequently in evidence. Recent reports received by the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations indicate a number of burns from hot metal or from electric wiring. Two fatalities have been reported since the first of the year by electrocution and a number of metal burns. Street and highway accidents continue in the reports made to the Compensation Board, and as many of these mean the death of the driver, the Accident Prevention Associations are encouraging other forms of activity that will make for a reduction of this form of accident.

ADVERTISING COMMON BRICK.

Who would think of advertising common brick?

"Bricks are bricks," you might expect the maker to say, "that's all there is to tell about them."

In much the same vein the hardware man says: "Why advertise a hammer? A hammer is a hammer, that's all you can say about it, and when you want one you go to the hardware store."

He may be right; but in your thoughts there is a covert, elusive suggestion that he may be wrong. Merchandizing is not what it used to be, even of such stogy, colorless staples as hammers and bricks.

The Common Brick Manufacturers' Association of America is advertising brick. In a recent issue of Collier's they had a full page color display. Under the caption, "The Wonder of Common Brick," was the following text: "Once there was no brick, but that was long, long ago. When Egypt flourished and Nineveh, and Ur of the Chaldees was a power among men, brick was a conventional material.

"Over brick hovers the tradition and glamour of its splendid past; yet, consider the wonder of it! It is the most modern building material of the hour. New beauties have been developed with it, new textures, new bonds.

"Skintling, one of the latter, is the laying of brick unevenly, so that here and there a corner or a face projects. It makes a wall that is gay with pattern and shifting lights, one that it warm and friendly and soft."

Two other short paragraphs complete the typographical layout. The brickmakers have something interesting to say and the imagination for the telling of it. But they did not think of rubbing the lamp of publicity until they had been stung to action by the 1927 propaganda campaign of the lumber manufacturers.

The moral of all this is, that apparently no business is fixed and secure, and that it cannot drowse along forever in a comfortable rut. Time and change present inescapable tests, and inherent merit and excellence are not enough when energetic competition enters the field.

It is surprising what selling arguments can be produced under the stress of necessity. The brickmakers have opened an appealing preface of their campaign! but why wait for the impulse of necessity!

Many a business, many a commodity, would be moving along more briskly today if it had the driving force of intelligent, imaginative selling behind it. Too many of them snooze along until they find a keen competitor treading on their heels. It would be wiser to look around now and then, and it probably wouldn't cost any more in the long run.

TRAIN UNEMPLOYED IN BRITAIN.

At the end of March a new Unemployed Insurance Act will come into force for Britain. This measure makes provision for the technical education of boys and girls, of ages between 16 and 18 years, who are insured against unemployment, and who are normally employed, or likely to be employed, in an insured occupation. The Minister of Labor, with the consent of the Treasury, may authorize the payment out of the unemployment fund of grants towards the cost of approved courses of instruction for these classes.

The Minister of Labor is also taking steps to secure a redistribution of juvenile labor throughout the country in accordance with local requirements. This course of action was suggested in 1926 by a committee on education and industry, which recommended an investigation into the question of "transferring juvenile labor from one area to another to secure the more effective correlation of supply and demand." The Ministry is now seeking information on this subject from the local education authorities. A shortage in the supply of juvenile labor is noted, attributed mainly to the low birthrate during the years of the Great War. In some areas, therefore, the demand is at least equal to the supply, but on the other hand there are areas where juvenile unemployment is so widespread that the diminution in the supply of boys and girls has no effect, and a large surplus of young people still remains. The local education authorities are asked to report on the possibilities of their respective districts in regard to employment, and to state whether there is need for any preliminary training of juveniles whose parents agree to their transference to other areas under approved conditions.—St. Catharines Standard.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Increased traffic over the Peace Bridge is noted with the opening of a Government liquor store at Bridgeburg. Now, there's a remarkable coincidence!

When something is said at breakfast about beating the living-room rugs you can be sure that spring is just round the corner.

It is funny that the fellow who has the most to say about the zippers worn by the flappers is the first to get himself a derby hat—no matter what it looks like on him.

The Border Cities Star suggests that the reduction of the tax on cigarettes is being saved for the next election, and the army of smokers may be heard to exclaim, "Bring on your election."

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, March 13 (Canadian Press). — The export trade in grain here yesterday was quiet owing to the fact that foreign buyers did not respond to the prices asked.

The domestic market was also inactive, but the tone was firm in sympathy with the renewed strength in the West and prices were unchanged.

The undertone to the market for spring wheat grades of flour was firm but the volume of business was small. The trade in winter wheat flour was also dull, but values were unchanged.

The inquiry for millfeed from United States sources continued good and firm bids of $44.00 to $44.50 per ton were made for bran delivered at Boston, but as supplies here were somewhat limited no business resulted. The local and country demand was active and prices were steady. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was slow, but values were firm.

The feature of the potato trade was the very strong feeling that developed, and prices scored an advance of thirty cents per bag. This was attributed to the fact that United States interests have come into the Province of Quebec for supplies owing to the high prices ruling in the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island markets. The demand was good.

The demand for imported beans was steady and prices were firm. Sales of car lots of choice white hand-picked beans were made at $3.50 per bushel, ex-track, and broken lots at $3.60 per bushel, ex-store.

An active business was transacted in all grades of fresh eggs, and prices were well maintained. The receipts were 1,164 cases.

The trading in butter was somewhat quieter, but the strength in the situation was fully maintained and prices scored a further advance of ¼c to ½c per pound. The receipts were 1,490 packages.

A stronger feeling prevailed in the cheese market, and prices were marked up ½c to ¾c per pound. The receipts were 50 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, March 13 (Canadian Press). — Wheat values went upward yesterday, influenced by falling off both in the United States visible supply and the amount of wheat afloat on the ocean. Besides, unfavorable crop reports from domestic winter wheat territory gave inducement to buyers.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong, ⅝c to ¾c net higher, corn at ½c to ⅝c advance, oats ⅛c to ¼c off to 1⅛c up, provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 5 cents.

Reduction of the United States wheat visible supply amounted to 1,508,000 bushels for the week, and had a noticeable strengthening effect on the market, although the total supply is now 69,489,000 bushels compared with 52,478,000 bushels a year ago.

The decrease of wheat supplies on ocean passages was 1,912,000 bushels, and was associated here with the fact that the Liverpool market yesterday was higher than had been looked for.

Central States as well as the southwest continued to report that the outlook for winter wheat is far from promising in various important sections. Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio advices were to the effect that considerable late seeded wheat is dead, and that in some cases wide fields show roots heaved up and lying on the surface. Other reports at hand made mention of immediate need of rain in Oklahoma, and said that in Kansas from Ness City to Goodland, the crop is ranging from poor to practically nothing. Incidentally seeding of spring wheat was reported at Miller, S.D.

Corn averaged higher in price as a result of unfavorable weather for corn movement and on account of export business totalling about 500,000 bushels in the last few days. Furthermore, the amount of corn on ocean passage was reported as 4,500,000 bushels smaller than a week ago.

Oats prices bulged in the late trading. The bulge was ascribed mainly to the announcement of a 1,022,000 bushels decrease in the oats visible supply.

For the most part provisions were higher.

GOD'S MINUTE

God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace unto the humble.—James 4:6.

Our Gracious God and Father, we praise Thee for constant access to Thee in Jesus Christ. We bless Thee for Thy gifts day by day for spirit, soul and body. We thank Thee that Thou art ever the same in Thy unchanging love and grace and we rejoice that we may draw from Thy fulness each moment according to our needs. Grant to us a deep and increasing consciousness of the preciousness of Christ as our Divine Redeemer, and a growing assurance of the constant supply of Thy Holy Spirit for daily living. Teach us by that Spirit how to depend continually on Thy grace, and how to receive that grace by simple faith, and how to appropriate for our life the rich provision Thou makest for us. Then may Thy love be reflected in our daily conduct and may it constrain us to live to Thy praise, and to be the means of helping others as Thou are helping us. We desire to show "Whose we are and Whom we serve" and to be a channel of blessing at home and abroad.

Bless our relatives and friends, with all needful grace, and give to them and to us such a deepening sense of Thy love that we may do our utmost to make known the Gospel to those in far off lands. And so for our loved ones, for our friends and acquaintances and for Thy whole Church, we seek the fulness of Thy blessing, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

W. H. Griffith Thomas, D.D., Toronto, Canada.

A Thought

GREATNESS.

It is of dangerous consequence to represent to man how near he is to the level of beasts, without showing him at the same time his greatness. It is likewise dangerous to let him see his greatness without his meanness. It is more dangerous yet to leave him ignorant of either; but very beneficial that he should be made sensible of both.—Pascal.

VILLAGERS ACT HISTORIC PLAY

Happenings in Days of Elizabeth Portrayed By Essex People.

DRAMATIC ACTION.

LONDON, March 13. — The revival of the dramatic art in our villages is characteristic of the present generation, says a correspondent of the Times, but plays written by local authors and portraying incidents in local history, are of rare occurrence. Such a play, specially written for the occasion by Dr. E. P. Dickin of Brightlingsea, at the request of the vicar of the parish, G. Montagu Benton, was performed in the village of Fingringhoe, near Colchester, recently. The play dealt with episodes in local history in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and incidents connected with the seafaring and rural life of the neighborhood, centering around the manor court, were blended with romance and humor. The names of the characters, the names of people who lived in the village in the 16th century and their present representatives thoroughly entered into the spirit of the performance, thus proving that the dramatic instinct still survives in rural Essex. Many members of the cast, which with the children numbered 22, including a housekeeper and laborer, had never previously acted.

JUDGE CRITICIZES MAKING FELLOWS

Becoming Grotesque, He Says, Urging Suit For Libel.

LONDON, England, March 13.—(Canadian Press). — In a recent suit for libel, when a man who had given extraordinary accounts of explorations unsuccessfully sued a London newspaper, the Lord Chief Justice offered some observations upon the practice of making Fellows, which is followed by certain societies.

"If you can become a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society for two or perhaps three guineas, and a Fellow of the Zoological Society for three guineas," said his Lordship, "the thing becomes grotesque, and when you see an enumeration of letters like that upon the title page of a book or a menu card of a dinner, is it or is it not an unnatural thing to say 'that man is an imposter?'"

Arising out of these remarks of the Lord Chief Justice, Colonel Sir Charles Close, vice-president of the Royal Geographical Society, made a statement at a meeting of the Society. "Election to a Fellowship rests with the Council", said Sir Charles. "It is not a matter of form. On election a Fellow pays £5, and thenceforward an annual subscription of £3. The Council is satisfied that any Fellow is fully entitled to use the letters F.R.G.S. when he legitimately desires by so doing to call attention to the fact that he belongs to a Fellowship interested in the progress of geography. He would be quite justified, for instance, in using the letters in books of reference to show his scientific interests. The use of the letters in other circumstances must be guided by good taste."

BLACK KNIGHTS GIVE APPROVAL

Hope Co-operation of French Speaking Parents May Be Gained.

ONE OFFICIAL LANGUAGE.

BARRIE, Mar. 13.—"If the Education Department's instructions can be revised so as to secure the co-operation of French-speaking citizens in teaching their children English, it will be a wise move, provided always that nothing shall be done to even suggest that there is any other official language than English in Ontario."

This comment by M. W. Sir Knight T. H. Bullock, in his annual address as grand master, Royal Black Knights of Ontario west, provided first reference at the Grand Chapter to the Regulation 17 controversy. Its conditional support of the modified regulation was applauded by the Sir Knights assembled at the opening of the 51st session here yesterday, and while the issue will receive reference by the correspondence committee to-day, some clue to the attitude of the chapter is apparently afforded. There was a comparison of the change, though not specifically, with the substitution of Government control for the O.T.A.

Compared With O.T.A. Failure.

"The petition seems somewhat anologous," the Grand Master said, "to another case which was dealt with last year. An Act of the Legislature was repealed because it had not the moral support of a large majority of the people, and other measures were enacted to bring about the desired end."

The Grand Master was critical, however, of the fact that the education department allowed things to drift so long, if regulation was the failure it is now said to be.

"The commissioners make certain suggestions," he said, which have been declared in certain quarters to be with the object of driving the English language out of Ontario. I cannot believe that Dr. Merchant or Judge Scott would endorse any suggestion or recommendation which would even remotely tend in that direction.

"Since the days of the Tower of Babel, a multiplication of tongues has always spelled confusion, and official sanction to the use of the French language after the conquest of Quebec, given with the idea of enlisting the loyalty of the habitants to the British Crown, has been the source of the troubles that are now facing us, and which will not be settled in a few days or a few years. Meanwhile we must keep constantly before ourselves, and before our legislators that this is a British Dominion where English is to be the only official language."

CAR DAMAGED BY ACCIDENT

Police Find Piece Broken From the Hit-and-Run Automobile.

BOOTLEGGERS SOUGHT.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 13. Going minutely over he scene of the accident in which William Hay and his four year old daughter, Jean, were killed by a "hit-and-run" motorist, the provincial police have found other clues. A piece of a broken visor bracket for a chevrolet or a Pontiac car was found yesterday, and three pools of blood, thirty feet apart, seeming to indicate that the little girl's body was dragged a distance of 90 feet.

Some time after the accident a local policeman not knowing of the tragedy saw a car with a broken windshield and smashed fenders. He took the number, which was N. Y. 3-E-54-87. The car entered Canada Sunday afternoon. Niagara Falls police found that such a car was registered in the name of Roger Stratton, who lives over the river. After an investigation detectives were assured that the car was not owned by Stratton and that it must have been registered under a fictious name.

It is understood that the police have secured a tip that the car is owned by a prominent local bootlegger and that this is one of his fleet. The man and all his employees are being rounded up for cross-examination.

Customs reports show that the car came over the bridge and has not yet returned to the States; but no trace has been found of the machine and the permit card is still in the local office. Coroner W. W. Thompson opened an inquest on the two bodies yesterday. At the request of the provincial police, the probe was adjourned until Tuesday next.

MANILA HAS REALTY BOOM.

Due to the leaking of "inside information" regarding the city's plans to extend Taft avenue in the assay district as a main arterial instead of another route previously believed to be the only one, Manila had a real estate boom recently. Land doubled in price within a week and tribled within ten days. Speculators have jumped in and the quotations continue to go higher.

SMOKE FROM BULBS SUFFOCATES INVALID

Flower Lover Perishes When Roots in Cellar Catch Fire.

BRANTFORD, Ont., March 13. — Arthur Smith, invalid and flower enthusiast, of Scotland Village, perished yesterday morning when fire destroyed his home and his famous collection of gladioli bulbs.

Merritt Smith, flower expert, nearly lost his life attempting to extinguish the blaze with pails of water. He was overcome, but fell just at the door and was rescued by neighbors. Gladiola bulbs valued at $1,000, stored in the cellar, were destroyed.

The fire started in the cellar and smoke from the burning bulbs is believed to have cost the life of the invalid. He was suffocated by the fumes before aid could reach him.

The home, one of the finest in the village of Scotland, was completely destroyed by the fire. Aid was sent by the Brantford Fire Department, but a small cistern afforded the only available water supply and the fire fighters were practically helpless.

The cause of the blaze is a mystery. The victim's brother visited him the night before and saw that he was comfortable for the night.

Coroner C. C. Fissette is investigating the tragedy.

HOW VIROL BUILDS for LIFE

Marjorie McKenna TO-DAY

PROOF of the Unique Powers of VIROL

Only nine years ago, Marjorie McKenna was suffering from the most serious form of wasting. To-day, thanks to Virol, she is, at the age of sixteen, a healthy well grown girl showing no trace of the tremendous strain thrown upon her constitution during her terrible illness.

Read this Remarkable Evidence—

At 7 years 5 months (Feb. 25th, 1918), Marjorie McKenna was admitted to Rosevale Hospital, Dumfries, in a state of extreme emaciation and exhaustion (Photo 1). She had no special treatment except Virol, which was given her thrice daily.

(Photo 2.) Virol not only restored her to health then, as the Matron of the Hospital certifies, but to-day her doctor is able to write: "I have examined Marjorie McKenna and find that she is in perfect health."

No other food has the same reconstructive power as Virol.

FEARED MANY PERSONS LOST

HUNDREDS IN PATH.

LOS ANGELES, March 13 (Canadian Press).—The lives of somewhere between one and two hundred persons were believed to be in great peril today as a wall of water, released when an earthquake broke down the St. Francis dam, 45 miles north of here, rushed southward to the sea. Just below the dam, which held thirty-two thousand feet of water in San Francisquito Canyon, 75 employees of the Southern California Edison Company were camping. Twenty-five families living along the narrow stretches of canyon also may have been in the direct path of the flood.

Although first reports did not disclose the size of the break or the amount of water released, telephone advices to Los Angeles were that a ten-foot wall of water was sweeping down the canyon toward Newhall, Saugus, El Rio, and other little cities north of here. The Edison Company announced that five hundred men would be at the scene before daybreak. Four truck loads of employees were rushed to the district when the first news of the break was received.

There was considerable mystery about the earthquake report. It was not felt in Los Angeles nor in Newhall, twenty miles from the dam. The St. Frances Dam was part of the city's water system which has been a source of various kinds of trouble for years. It was a connecting link in the famous two hundred mile aqueduct which brings water into Los Angeles from Inyo County, the locale of the "water war" between the ranchers and Los Angeles city forces.

Later estimates of the loss of lives compiled by The Los Angeles Times, ran from two to five hundred persons. Chaotic conditions prevailed in the district and exact information of the dam break and its consequences were almost impossible to obtain. The Times' estimate was concurred in by William Bright, in charge of a sheriff's squad assigned to police and rescue work.

WAS SO NERVOUS and SHORT OF BREATH COULD HARDLY SLEEP

Mrs. Louise Raglin, Golden Lake, Ont., writes:—"For several years I was greatly troubled with my head. I was so nervous and short of breath I could hardly sleep at night, and if I did sleep for a while I had bad dreams.

"I managed to keep at my work, somehow, until I began to have dizzy spells which got so bad I had to give up. I used many kinds of medicine, but found no help until I got a box of MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS. After the first box I found a great change, and after two boxes I was as well as I could be.

"I told my mother, who had choking sensations, about them and they helped her greatly."

Price 50c. a box at all druggists and dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HOAX SUSPECTED IN CLOTHING FIND

DUNDALK, March 13.—The discovery here yesterday of a woman's clothing covered with blood in the snow at the outskirts of this town, has aroused a good deal of excitement in the neighborhood though last night the local police were of the opinion that the finding does not indicate foul play and that there is evidence of a hoax.

Constable Denton who came from Owen Sound during the day to take charge of the case, said last night that he believed there was nothing in it and that excitement had been unduly aroused. The investigation, however, is continuing and it is not impossible that some fresh clue may turn up to substantiate the fear that a tragedy lies behind the affair

DON'T STARVE TO END FAT

Few succeed without harm. Try the modern way, embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. The results are seen everywhere.

Marmola contains a gland element which helps turn food into fuel and energy. The formula appears in every box, also the reasons for results. Thus you will know how the changes occur without harm.

All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. Go start it now. Take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. Do this because of the new beauty and vim which Marmola has brought to so many, for so long.

The clothing was discovered first by Harry Palmer, a local photographer, who was attracted to it by his dogs on a return from a hunting trip. Visitors to the scene have reported that there are spots of blood also on the surrounding snow which has been trampled down as though in a struggle. Palmer at once notified Constable George Rice, who reported the matter to the Provincial Police at Owen Sound.

No Word at Headquarters.

At a late hour last night Assistant Commissioner Alfred Cuddy had received no official report from the Provincial police investigating the Dundalk incident. He believed that if the circumstances had led to any grave suspicion of foul play, a report of some sort would have reached Toronto by this time.

TRINITY MIDGETS BEAT ALL STARS

Enjoyable Supper Follows Game —Moving Pictures Shown.

The much anticipated hockey game which was to have taken place Saturday afternoon between the Grove School, Lakefield, and Trinity Midgets was postponed on account of the impassable roads, much to the disappointment of the Midgets. Despite this disappointment, a very interesting game was drawn at the Cognawaga Rink, when Trinity Midgets defeated Trinity All Stars in a hard fought battle. The score was 5 2 in favor of the "Midgets."

Trinity Midgets—Goal, C. Clark; defence, J. Wolstenholme and R. Barton; centre, McCullough; wings, J. Davern and B. Widdes.

All Stars—Goal, E. Guppy; defence, V. Armstrong and W. Seabrook; centre, M. Clark; wings, W. Ward and G. Mattice.

After the game the members of the teams and the scholars from a number of class-rooms were present at Reid Street Hall, where a splendid program was given. The first item was rendered by all the members, who sang old favorite songs. After the singing about thirty boys and men sat down to a hearty meal set on a beautifully decorated table.

After the meal Rev. Mr. Wren gave the boys a very interesting talk on the religious side of life when he was a boy. This was very profitable to the boys, who enjoyed it very much.

A. B. Gates, superintendent of the Sunday School, delighted the boys with a humorous talk. The motion picture machine showed a number of fine films, one of which was most interesting and instructive. It showed the art of fancy skating.

While the films were being changed Miss Helen McFadden played many popular selections on the piano.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY GAMES

Peterborough, the centre of a large Irish and Celtic population, celebrates St. Patrick's Day with increasing enjoyment. Many who never saw the Green Isle, and who have not a drop of Irish blood in their veins, wear the shamrock, real or artificial, on March 17, and are ready for a night of genuine Irish frivolities.

It goes without saying that everything connected with a party on or about March 17 should have a distinctively Irish flavor.

Here is the type of invitation that should be sent out, written in green ink, of course:

St. Patrick's Day in the avenin'
Has been chosen by us two
To have a little party—
And we're inviting you.
Please come—and wear an Irish smile.
We want you on the scene;
You'll find the place quite easily—
The house is Irish green.

The names of the hostesses and the street name, with the date, should all be at the bottom of the invitation.

On the night of the party, decorate the house with streamers of green crepe paper, shade the lights with green and, if possible, the hostesses should be dressed in green. As soon as each guest arrives, pin on him a huge green paper bow and say that the rule of the evening is that everyone must talk in Irish brogue.

Irish Costume Party

Still more realistic and catching more thoroughly the atmosphere of Erin is the Irish costume party. To the invitation note should be appended a request asking each recipient to come dressed up as some famous Irish character, either in history or fiction, and in addition to bring a specimen of Irish wit. These may be adjusted later in the evening, and the three best should be rewarded by a present that is also distinctively Irish.

Wearin' o' The Green

The guests as they enter should be detained upstairs until all the important characters have arrived. Then, to the tune of "The Wearing of the Green" all march down the stairs and circle through the hall and dining room. An Irish "beggar girl" receives the Irish stories in an outstretched basket and the judges are soon busily engaged in examining them.

Whom to Represent

The "inimitable" Dooley should be there, with Mr. Hennessy Riordon, and the O'Donohues from the "Dooley" papers; there should be Irish peasants in the national costumes. Rory O'More, and Kathleen Bawn, Kathleen Mavourneen and Terence O'More, Shamus O'Brien and the Widow Malone. Another group should should represent Irish authors and heroes and heroines of fiction: Tom Moore, Charles Love, with Lalla Rook and Seumas McManus; then should come King O'Hara, Brian Boru, and the great Irish giant Fin McCool.

Making a Giant.

To get up as the giant Fin McCool requires a considerable amount of thought and planning. Two stocking legs are stuffed hard with excelsior and pinned securely on the tall man's shoulders. This gives him four inches additional height, and, as they project beyond the shoulders give him breadth as well. A large cap reaching to the knees and the tallest hat that can be obtained, complete the costume.

At the old St. Patrick's day socials the guests on coming down stairs, were greeted by a jovial Irish manager, whose first call was "All r-ready for the quadrille," and immediately two sets were formed in the parlor. To most of the younger generation of to-day the term "quadrille" does not convey a great deal, and more modern dances hold sway even on St. Patrick's Day with its countless traditions and memories.

In the intervals between dances the prizes for the three most witty stories are presented, and the best ten are read aloud.

Seeking Shamrocks.

One of the features of the evening should be the hunt for shamrocks. These should be concealed by the hostess, in every nook and corner of the downstairs rooms, and before the guests arrive. The search is invariably provocative of endless merriment. At the conclusion of the allotted time for hunting the signal to end the search is given, and each guest adds up the total of shamrocks discovered. A little prize is presented to the winner.

Lakes of Killarney.

One of the appropriate games is "The Lakes of Killarney," a slightly altered version of a favorite of long standing. Certain parts of the floor are covered with green sheets which represent the lakes. As the dancers whirl around the room the music suddenly stops, leaving one or more couples stranded in the lakes. All so caught must drop out, and be seated. The last couple to remain on the floor should be given prizes. Post cards of Killarney Lakes are very appropriate for this purpose.

Walk to Dublin.

"One can get a good deal of fun out of another popular game rechristened to suit the occasion This is the "Walk to Dublin." A string is stretched across the floor from one end to the other. The traveller is given a pair of opera glasses and is bidden to walk the length of the string looking through the wrong end of the glasses. Toe and heels must be kept exactly on line and touching the floor with the free foot to steady oneself is forbidden. As soon as an error is made the traveller must give place to someone else. All travellers who reach Dublin should be decorated with a shamrock.

Refreshments should include lettuce sandwiches and potatoes, so long the staple food of old Ireland.

Needless to say, the songs and music of the evening should be drawn from an exclusively Irish repertoire. "Killarney," "Kathleen Mavourneen," "I'll take you home again, Kathleen," "The Irish Emigrant's Farewell," and "When Irish Eyes are Smiling," are a few selections from a rich heritage of beautiful airs. Nor should the Irish jigs be overlooked in the making of the program.

SWEDISH CITIES PLANNING FAIRS

Interesting Exhibitions Being Arranged For Coming Summer.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Mar. 13.—(Canadian Press.)— Two well known industrial centres, the cities of Oerebro and Joenkoeping, in central Sweden, are preparing interesting expositions for this summer. At Oerebro there will be a representative display of the handicraft and agriculture of the surrounding district, as well as special culture and art industry sections, showing the history of this ancient cultural centre of Sweden. Various congresses, meetings, singing festivals, etc., will be held on this occasion, and several hundred thousands visitors are expected. Prince Eugene, the well known painter and brother of King Gustaf V., is the honorary president of the exposition committee, and the Swedish Crown Prince will visit the exposition.

A similar exposition will be held at Joenkoeping, the picturesque city at the lake Vettern, called the capital of the world's match industry, as it was the birthplace of the well-known Swedish match manufacturer. This exposition, which will, also illustrate the cultural and industrial development of the district, is expected to include displays by the government post office, railways and telegraph departments, and extensive preparations are made to receive anl house a large number of visitors.

URGES CATHOLICS TO HELP MIGRANTS

British Bishop Makes Appeal For Funds—Starting Farm Centre.

LONDON, March 13 (Canadian Press).—It is the intention of the Catholic authorities of the Northern Province to establish an agricultural centre for intending migrants, and special efforts are now in progress to raise funds for this cause.

In an appeal read in all the Catholic churches of the diocese, Bishop Henshaw, of Salford, urges the immediate need of funds to assist the fast-increasing number of Catholic migrants. He points out that the Government's offer of assistance is entirely dependent on the provision made by Catholics themselves. For every pound raised an official grant of a like amount will be obtainable. The Catholic Emigration Society will supervise the travelling and reception arrangements of migrants, and form Catholic groups under the group settlement scheme in localities where this is advisable.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PAINFUL RHEUMATISM.

Some diseases give immunity from another attack, but rheumatism invites another; worse than that, it reduces the body's power so that each attack is worse than the one before.

If any disease needs attention early it is rheumatism, but there is scarcely any disease more difficult to treat successfully. When a medicine does relieve rheumatism therefore it is worthy of special notice. Medical authorities agree that the blood becomes thin with alarming rapidity as rheumatism develops. Maintaining the quality of the blood is therefore a reasonable way of preventing and combatting rheumatism. That it works out in fact is shown by the beneficial effects which follow the treatment of rheumatism, acute, muscular and articular, with that great blood tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

That thousands of people who have taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for their rheumatism have been benefited is a fact beyond dispute. That rheumatism does not return as long as the blood is kept rich and red is equally true. If, therefore, you are suffering from rheumatism in any form you should lose no time in giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

CURRIE HEARING IS POSTPONED

Will Be Resumed On Friday Evening—General Enjoys Reminiscences.

WITH WAR VETERAN.

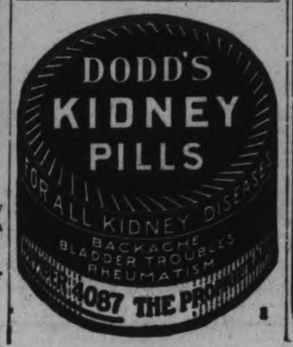
COBOURG, March 13. — After a gruelling session lasting from eleven o'clock on Saturday morning till almost six o'clock at night, the examination for discovery in connection with Sir Arthur W. Currie's libel suit was postponed till Friday evening, March 16th. At the noon recess it was expected that the proceedings would continue on Monday morning, but by the end of the day an agreement to adjourn till the above date had been made.

General Currie, who had been registered at the New Dunham Hotel, left shortly after six o'clock by train for Toronto. From there he will return to Montreal.

The proceedings of the examination have been carefully withheld from the press, but it is understood that maps of thet Mons area and a sheaf of battle orders played a prominent part in the events which took place in the office of J. T. Field, special examiner. The lawyers who are attending to the Currie interests and R. H. Parmenter, Toronto, D. H. Chisholm, K.C., Fort Hope, and A. R. Wilmott, Cobourg. The defence case rests in the hands of Frank Regan, Toronto, and T. F. Hall, K.C., Cobourg.

The jury which will hear the case when it comes to trial next month will be selected from the list of grand jurors and not from the list of petit jurors. A well-known Cobourg barrister cannot recall a similar selection of jurors for the past almost fifty years.

While General Currie was not anxious for a long series of interviews with the press, an ex-member of the 4th Canadian Battalion found the great soldier to be excellent company. For some time, the two exchanged reminiscences of other days when all the world was in uniform.



JUDGE O'CONNOR BUYS RESIDENCE

Expects To Take Possession of Cobourg Home in the Spring.

COBOURG, March 13.—Judge Lawrence V. O'Connor has purchased the residence of John E. Quinn and expects to take possession in about two months' time.

The residence is one of the attractive dwelling places for which the town of Cobourg is noted, and is situated on the north side of King Street, east of College Street. The purchase price is said to have been between $15,000 and $20,000.

Marlboro Juniors Eliminate Northern Winners

RISKO POUNDS SHARKEY HARD

Takes Nine of Fifteen Rounds in Dull Elimination Battle.

MORE AGGRESSIVE.

(By Allan J. Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor.)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, March 13. — Fat, pudgy Johnny Risko cuffed and clouted his way to a surprising but decisive victory last night over the subdued Boston sailor, Jack Sharkey, in a fifteen-round mauling match.

While a crowd of barely 10,000 looked on, mildly interested and occasionally bored, the big rough and tumble man from Cleveland battered Sharkey out of the heavyweight elimination tournament with an awkward but nevertheless tireless and frequently effective attack.

Sharkey Down in Tenth.

It was a battle of no particular thrills and only one spill—that one experienced by Sharkey when he took a count of three in the tenth round, half from the effects of a left hook and half from slipping feet. It was a wrestling, mauling, hit-and-miss battle most of the way, too drab and unexciting to add any lustre to an already somewhat listless and lifeless heavyweight elimination tournament.

Risko won because of his aggressiveness, but he also outpunched and outgamed the big Boston sailor. Jumping Johnny, at least, appeared anxious and willing to make a battle of it, but Sharkey, except for a few flashes, either back-pedalled or missed like the veriest tyro.

There was no doubt of Risko's margin. On the Associated Press score sheet Risko was credited with nine rounds and Sharkey with the remaining six. Johnny staggered Jack with vicious left swings and hooks in the second, eighth, ninth, tenth, and the thirteenth rounds.

From the viewpoint of the crowd the most exciting prospect occurred in the first few moments of the tenth round, when Sharkey, backed into a corner, went down to one knee after taking two stinging lefts to the head and slipping as he tried to dodge. A third left delivered by Risko landed as the sailor was on his knee, but it was an unintentional blow, and did no particular damage. Sharkey, as a matter of fact, was up and boxing back with one of his few aggressive spurts, winning the round as he poked and cuffed Johnny round the ring.

Sharkey was much the better boxer of the two. In the few rounds he won, notably the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth, he had Risko missing wildly. Johnny had to grin foolishly himself as he lunged and swung, only to miss his target by sometimes as much as a foot. But the big sailor seldom sustained his efforts. His legs acted as though they had lead in them. They moved slowly in any direction he pursued, and it was chiefly backward.

Sharkey had his big opponent in the fourth and fifteenth rounds. In both of these he doubled Johnny up with smashing rights, landing just under the heart and shook the baker boy with sharp wallops to the head. Durability, however, is one of Johnny's chief assets. The bounding one shook off Sharkey's punches like a duck sheds water and plunged back in.

Risko was always bucking Sharkey, ripping and tearing with both fists. He was frequently as wild and awkward as a Texas steer, but, on the other hand, he also located his target frequently. Johnny's sweeping left was his big weapon. He either missed with it by a foot or connected with force enough to jar the sailor to his toes.

DEFEAT SAULT EIGHT TO THREE

Defeat Northerners 13-3 On Round—Faster and More Experienced.

LOSERS BATTLE GAMELY.

(By Austin F. Cross).

TORONTO, March 13.—Quite apart from the fact that Marlboros won the game 8 to 3 and the round 13 to 3 from the Soo juniors, the most impressive thing about the match last night at the Arena Gardens was the great sportsmanship of the Toronto crowd. Last night they showed, by their insistent cheering for the game little bantams of the North, that Torontonians as a whole are real sportsmen. The valiant young lads from the Lock City had few supporters to egg them on, as they battled futilely on alien ice before a strange crowd. So the Queen City patrons took up the Northern cause, cheered their every good play, and when the Soo scored their first tally, one would think that Marlboros had netted the one goal that was needed to give them the world's championship, so great was the cheering.

Apart from the fine sporting display of the audience, and the game stand of the youngsters from Algoma, the match was not much. Marlboros amassed a comfortable lead, then eased up and never pressed very hard thereafter. Sault Ste. Marie showed their best hockey of the series in the third period, when they scored three goals. Nevertheless, in all kindness, it can be said they were outclassed. The "Dukes" were bigger, faster, smoother, more experienced and more wily. It will take a better aggregation than the brave Soo sextet to put the Marlboro team out of the running.

Bill Tilden To Head U.S. Davis Cup Team

NEW YORK, March 13 (Canadian Press).—After eight seasons as the outstanding American in international tennis, William T. Tilden has accepted the captaincy of the 1928 Davis Cup team.

"Big Bill" will take command of the campaign next Monday, March 19, at Augusta, Ga., where the first Davis Cup training camp in history will be established to decide the makeup of the team that will represent the United States in the opening American zone match with Mexico, at Mexico City, April 6, 7 and 8.

GROVE DEFEAT CEMENT CREW

Three Teams Tied for First Place in Lake District Hockey League.

FINAL COUNT 5-4

LAKEFIELD, March 13. — "The Grove" School defeated the Canada Cement Company's team 5-4 in a well contested hockey match played on Friday evening. The Grove were in good form and played a fast clean game, the combination was fairly good, the checking was too keen to allow much team play on either side, but there was less of the "lone star" performance which has been a feature of many of the local games. The Canada Cement team were minus two of their strong players, Darcy Hill and Louis Sabatino. Although the young players who filled their places showed decided promise, they lacked the experience and training which was needed. The Grove team has an advantage in having regular supervised training, each player being specially trained for his position. Hunt and Bagg were as usual outstanding, their work comparing well with such players as Roblin, Gray, Rainnie, Massie, Loosemore and Griffiths, who in their turn were Grove stars of recent years. Smith, in goal, was better than ever and stuck to his post repelling the attack of his opponents.

Sabatino and Blewett starred for the Cement Company, while Billy Wingett stood up among the leaders. Northey played well, but was not in his best form. C. V. Hamilton acted as referee for the game.

The first goal was scored by Nielson for The Grove four minutes after the game began, and after fifteen minutes hard play with no more scoring, Nielson again found the nets on a pass from Bogg.

Open Count in Second.

The Cement team opened their count in the second period when Blewett scored after seven minutes' hard play. Two minutes later Hunt added a counter to the school boys' total. The play was fast, and despite all efforts, there was no further count for nine minutes, when Northey, on a pass from Sabatino, shot and scored. One minute later, Blewett made it a tie. The only penalty occurred in the second period with Bogg as the victim.

Blewett scored two minutes after the third period began, followed with Peck making a tie. Nielson tallied the final goal, and although the current team did their best, Smith was too strong in goal. Junkin, who staged a comeback as a goalie, was in good form.

The line-up:

The Grove—Goal, Smith; defence, Hunt and Earl; forwards, Peck, Nielson and Bagg; subs., Earl and Leggatt.

Cement—Goal, Junkin; defence, J. Sabatino and W. Hamblin; forwards, Northey, Blewett and Wingett; sub., Adamson.

Three-Cornered Tie.

The result of the hockey match on Friday evening means a three-cornered tie between the Canada Cement works, the Grads and The Grove for first place in the District League. Each team has won two games and lost one. The Rats have been eliminated, but they played well and made the opposing teams work for the victory. In each case the Rats were only beaten by one goal, and in their games with The Grove and the Grads ten minutes' overtime were required to beat them.

Broomaloo League.

The Broomaloo League games are still on and have provided a great deal of diversion, not only to the players, who appear to be thoroughly enjoying the strenuous pastime, but also to their friends who attend the games. There are four teams, the Electricians, the Mill Operatives, the Machinists and the Dam Workers. The Machine men hold the lead, having lost no games as yet.

"KING" CLANCY REJOINS OTTAWA

Star Defence Player Returns to Senators for Game With Leafs.

TORONTO, March 13.—"Never felt better. I have put on five pounds during my enforced rest, and should feel the benefit in the last two-week rush to the playoffs." Such was the greeting from "King" Clancy, Ottawa defence star, as he signed his famed "John Henry" on the register of a local hotel yesterday afternoon.

Clancy came here direct from Ottawa and will rejoin the Senators when they arrive from Detroit for their important game tonight here with the Maple Leafs at the Arena Gardens.

A badly bruised leg received two weeks ago has kept the Ottawa "Ace" on the sidelines, but the Senators, through the good playing of Alex. Smith, have plugged ahead, and today are resting in second place of the International section, three full points ahead of their rivals, the Maroons.

Before the Ottawa team left for Detroit last Friday night, the officials decided to leave Clancy at home till the Leafs game. Winning as they did in Detroit Saturday night, the Senators line up against the Maple Leafs for tomorrow night at full strength. Ottawa have five games yet to play, while the Leafs are still four engagements from the finish of the season. The Senators go to New York, meeting the Americans, then move on to Montreal with a game against the Maroons next Saturday.

IN TRAINING CAMP

TID-BITS FROM MAJOR CAMPS IN SOUTH

JACKSON, Miss., March 13 (Canadian Press).—The miracle man of the 1914 Braves, Geo. Stallings, isn't figuring on doing any miracles this year. He is inclined to let the Montreal millions speak for him in buying a club that will do just what he wants it to do.

Stallings and his athletes started work here yesterday with a squad weak in spots. There is need for more good pitching to compare with that of Newark and Toronto, an infielder or two and perhaps one more good outfielder. These men, if they are secured, must come from the big show. Stallings has the money and his eye pealed on all offerings.

Meanwhile he is not at all discouraged with the material at hand. He rates his catching staff the best in the league, with Tom Daly and Joe Hyde as regulars. Frank Stapleton or Red Holt will give him a first baseman as good as any, he thinks. Chick Fewster is the class of the league at second. Present candidates may not do for short or third. There are outfielders galore, including Hinkey Haines, the old Penn. State football star, just purchased from New York. The pitching isn't bad. Bob hawkey is counted on for at least fifteen victories.

Stallings is not figuring on the second division. He is figuring on being right up in the first four to celebrate the renewal of baseball in the Canadian metropolis.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 13 (Canadian Press)—Making their first start in an exhibition game this season, the world's champion New York Yankees bowed to the Boston Braves yesterday, 3 to 1, in a five-inning game cut short by rain.

The Yankees made only two hits of three Braves' pitchers. They had filled the bases, however, on three successive walks in the first half of the sixth inning when the game was called.

The champions bunched their hits in the fourth inning when a double by Koenig and a single by Ruth scored their lone tally.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 13 (Canadian Press)—Rains over a widespread area of the Dixie major league training territory yesterday brought "indoor baseball" to the fore, giving club officials an opportunity to talk things over, and allowing many of the players a day of rest.

The Yanks, Boston Nationals, Washington Senators, Boston Red Sox the Phillies and Robins were handicapped by the inclement weather, although the Yanks and Braves went to a muddy field during the afternoon for an exhibition contest.

OVERTIME FAILS TO DECIDE GAME

Port Colborne and South Porcupine Battle To 1-1 Draw.

TIED ON ROUND, 3-3.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Mar. 13.—A jammed house watched the O.H.A. intermediate champions, Port Colborne, and the N.O.H.A. senior winners, South Porcupine, try in vain through 90 minutes of hockey to reach a decision as to which team shall meet Kitchener, senior O.H.A. champions, for the right to proceed in quest of the Allan Cup. Last night's game ended 1-2 and leaves the round tied up at 3-3.

The teams played a 2 to 2 draw in the first game at Toronto Saturday night. Last night's game found two teams giving their all for 90 minutes. The brand of hockey exhibited was of good intermediate calibre and anything the teams lacked in finish they made up for by hard work, and the loud din kept up by the multitude gave the episode a big league aspect. Close calls on goal were many, and the crowd was on its toes often when it looked like one team or the other would net that much-needed odd goal.

The crowd was strongly pro-Colborne, but as the game progressed the aggressive little Northerners made themselves solid with the multitude, and many a neutral glad hand came to the help of the little band of thirty Porcupine followers.

The "Porkies" had a little advantage in speed, Spence at left wing being about the shiftiest number on the program. Jemmett and McHutchion were both aggressive and hard-working forwards. The former carrying off the hook-check honors a la Frank Nighbor.

Bodychecking Defense.

Back on the defence, Murray was the bump king of the evening, handing out many telling body jolts to opposing rushes. Cain, his mate, was also conspicuous in handing out the slowing-up medicine and contributed some good offensive offerings.

For Port Colborne, Nixon was outstanding. His speed and stick-handling ability were among the game's leading features. Kilpatrick, on the defense, turned in a strong performance. The veteran held up well throughout the 90-minute grind. He was also very prominent on his team's offensive, starting many lone rushes and giving timely passes to his forwards. Mountain, at right wing, was also effective, while Cuthbert, at centre, stood up especially well when the going was heaviest.

DE LAVAL LOSE TO PARK ST.

Take 2-1 Victory in Hockey Tussle Played at Brock St. Rink.

GOALIES GOOD

The Park Street Baptist boys defeated the De Laval 2 to 1 in a benefit game played under the auspices of the Second Milers' Class, at Brock Street Rink last night. The play was evenly contested although slowed up considerably by the sticky ice. Lone rushes and close checking featured the play while both goalies turned in good games.

McCullough opened the scoring by beating Clarke on a close-in-shot after a general mix-up in front of the net. The De Laval boys came back stronger than ever, forcing the play by repeated attacks into Wilson's territory, but their shots did not find the goal. Jones stick-handled down the ice several times but was closely watched by the church boys, while Wilson and Graham worked well together and both back-checked effectively. Miller and Ashmore, on the defence, played a good game and Dallin evened the count for the De Laval by beating Wilson on a close-in shot. Both teams struggled hard to break the tie and attacks were closely checked by rival crews. Wilson scored the winning counter for the Mechanics after following up Bell on a real snappy attack. The game ended with the church lads still forcing the play around Clarke's citadel.

Line up:

De Laval—Goal, Clarke; defence, Ashmore and Miller; centre, Jones; wings, Evans and Dallin; sub., Hambly.

Park Street.—Goal, M. Wilson; defence, Darling and Jobe; centre, Bell; wings, Graham and Wilson; subs., Miller, McCullough and Kitchen.

TIGHT CONTEST IN K. OF C. ALLEYS

Recent Games Have Considerably Affected Standing of Some of Teams.

LEAGUE RESULTS

Recent games in the K.C. league have considerably affected the standing of some of the teams. The pacemakers have been faltering, and right now are within hailing and overhauling distance. What seemed to be a runaway finish in the making has developed into a tight contest in all three groups, and there will likely be more strenuous battling for the remaining points. The Friday night games last week were decisive in their scores, the feature being Tommy Ryan's setback. His high-hat score of 48 had all the earmarks of security, but his loss of eight points to Vince McCabe was a reverse that was hardly expected that night. Bill Prindible took Lebarr's Sheehy-Hayes quint for an 8-0 ride, and Jack Condon stripped the Duffus five of every available point, while Letellier's rink made it 6-2 against Jack Kylie.

The standing of the Friday night crowd is as follows: Ryan 48, Condon 42, Duffus 30, McCabe 37, Prindible 30, Black 42, Kylie 22, Lebarr 40. Prindible, Black and McCabe have two postponed games and Ryan one. That group race is fairly wide open.

The Wednesday night group standing follows: Dundas 20, Grady 48, McPherson 24, Sharpe 54, Bennett 28, Fay 56, Primeau 36, Hanrahan 48. Primeau and Dundas have each a postponed game.

The Ryan-McCabe scores were as follows:

Ryan	162	223	168
Phelan	172	156	172
Gordon	245	113	174
Kearns	117	213	209
Wolff	191	220	139
	887	925	862
J. McCabe	229	189	100
Dr. J. F. O'Brien	172	279	142
D. McDonald....	269	181	237
C. McDonald	143	21	139
V. McCabe	163	225	237

Canadian Woman Wins British Honors

MANCHESTER, March 13 (Canadian Press Cable). — Miss Constance Wilson of Toronto, whose brilliant performance in the world's championship fancy skating meet at London last week created such a sensation, carried off the British women's championship at the meet here last night.

Other members of the Canadian Olympic figure skating team were also successful in securing prize placing in the meet. Miss Cecil Eustace Smith, of Toronto, coming second to Miss Wilson in the women's class while Montgomery Wilson, Constance's brother, was second in the men's class. Page of Manchester, won this division, and Bowhill, of Edinburgh, was third. Miss Shaw of Manchester won third place in the women's class.

In the pairs, Page and Miss Muckell, of Manchester, were first, and Bruman and Miss Lovett, of Manchester, second.

Voice of the People

THE WAR MEMORIAL

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir: I have read with pleasure the interesting letter contributed to your columns recently by Mr. F. H. Dobbin, re the Peterborough War Memorial. No one is in a better position to know than Mr. Dobbin the difficulties to be encountered and the adjustments to be made, in order to obtain an accurate list of the names of the brave men whom we wish to honour in erecting this memorial. But the latter part of the letter made a particular appeal to me. One fine suggestion was to build the memorial in the form of a tower, using Stoney Lake granite as the building material. This would ensure a fine, imposing and substantial structure, with a room on the ground level, whose walls might be lined with marble slabs inscribed with the names. The point is well taken that disintegration begins very very soon through the action of the elements and the names would become illegible in time We have only to look over the monuments in our cemetery to discover how quickly mould, wet, etc, defaces them.

The site is worthy of a fine memorial. Prof. Zavitz and Mr. Moore of the Forestry Department, both declared it to be the finest site between Toronto and Ottawa, and second only to that upon which Brock's monument stands at Queenston.

The idea to crown the tower with a galaxy of lights is also splendid. On such an eminence a beacon could be seen for many miles and would be interesting to travellers on either railway and to tourists who are using our highways and waterways ever increasingly. It would also be a guide light to the birdman who in the natural course of events will become a more familiar figure in the near future than heretofore.

In closing, I cannot do better than repeat Mr. Dobbin's words: "We want the memorial to last for many years, and to retain its beauty and its significance if it is at possible." These are also the sentiments of another of the older residents of this good little city of Peterborough

Thanking you for your courtesy in publishing this I remain,

Yours truly,

ED. COURTNEY.

Canada Eliminated In Tennis Tourney

NEW YORK, March 13 (Canadian Press). — Canada was knocked out of the mens' national indoor tennis tournament here yesterday, the surviving Canadian Leo Boucher of Montreal being eliminated in the third round 6—1, 6—2, by E. B. Baker of New York. Marcel Rainville of Montreal, was put out Saturday.

Only one of the four seeded investors remained in the running after the third round. F. R. Leighton-Crawford was defeated by Sodakuzuk Onda, Japanese, of New York, 7—5, 8—6. G. P. Hughes of England entered the fourth round by defeating Charles A. Anderson of New York 6—4, 6—4.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

"SORRELL AND SON."

Theme carried to its farthest possibilities is the keynote of "Sorrell and Son," the feature picture now showing at the Capitol Theatre. The love between a father and son is the basis of it, from start to finish. It is one of those pictures which are rather hard to describe and have to be seen to appreciate to the utmost. Full of pathetic incidents it manages at all times to keep aloft the shining standard of courage which enveloped the father, struggling against almost every handicap that might keep him from a completion of his "job," the rearing and educating properly of his son. When this task is finished he dies. It is a logical ending

The picture does an unusual thing for moving pictures, in that it makes its ending in future years which have not yet come to pass. The little boy of tender years who appears at the beginning, when his father returns from the Great War, would hardly have time to achieve what he does in the ten years that have elapsed since its conclusion. And it has a series of anti-climaxes that are peculiar. Two or three conclusions seem to have been reached in the story before the finale does come.

The story is typically English and its atmosphere reminds one of the screened version of the book, "If Winter Comes." The idea is practically the same, with a somewhat non-practical man burdened by a frivolous wife. The same British quality of "muddling through" somehow is apparent in the tenacious manner in which Sorrell clings to the menial tasks that give him a livelihood and his son a proper rearing.

H. B. Warner is immense in the role of Stephen Sorrell. No finer characterization of th screen has been seen here in many moons. Even the physical lineaments of the man correspond to the idea of the brave soldier, winning his Military Cross, then returning to a forgetful England, to accept with thankfulness whatever bones in the way of employment may be thrown him. He works as a porter at the Anchor Inn, where the voluptuous Florence Palfrey wife of the drink-ridden proprietor, essays the role of Potiphar's wife, without success.

In this picture is the curious representation of a man whose fibre is such that he arouses the intense antagonism and hatred of two women, his wife and his employer's wife, while his relations with men, excepting the jealous plug-ugly with the vicious face, are of the most friendly type.

Anna Q. Nillson is remarkably lovely as Sorrell's fickle wife, Dora, and Alice Joyce is the sweetly feminine Fanny Garland, with whom Sorrell falls in love.

It is a notable picture, well worth seeing more than once. The spectacle of courageous striving against almost insurmountable odds is presented with artistic finish. From the moment that his wife leaves him for a richer man, Sorrell's role is one of pathetic endeavor against discouragement, illness and unkindness, but he wins out. The overwhelming sympathy of the audience covers a few of the implications which are not quite in tune with the usual order of moving pictures. Professor Macdonald from Toronto asserted recently, in a speech here, that moving pictures were always very moral, because virtue always triumphed and vice was overthrown no matter what transpired, before this desirable result was achieved. In "Sorrell and Son" the erring wife is not punished overmuch. She triumphs somewhat nastily over her very nice husband, except in the matter of obtaining a hold on her son, an idea which is not emphasized to any great extent, anyway, and is probably only a whim on the lady's part. Then, there is the final episode, where the son, in a last act of service, as he styles it, gives his father an overdose of morphine that will result in his death. These are variations from the older concepts of right and wrong.

AT THE REGENT.

CONWAY TEARLE IN GREAT PICTURE!

Bringing an inspiring and vivid message of the screen, as well as a heart-gripping tale of regeneration, FBO's newest Gold Bond release, "Moulders of Men," is delighting large audiences at the Regent Theatre. The picture features Conway Tearle in the leading role and embodies an absorbing story of the battle between Federal officers and the leaders of a gigantic smuggling ring. A crippled waif of the tenements and his gangster brother find their lives cross paths with those of a daring newspaper woman and a Federal chief, with a powerful and absorbing romance and conflict leading up to an unusual climax. Ralph Ince, long noted as one of the most effective and versatile directors in the film industry, has turned out the greatest achievement of his career with his extraordinary handling of the various threads of the plot. Margaret Morris as the heroine, Frankie Darro as the crippled lad, and Rex Lease as the gangster have the chief supporting roles, with Eugene Palette, Jola Mendez, and Bill Knight in important parts. Dorothy Yost wrote the adaptation and continuity from the original story by John Chapman Hilder, managing editor of the national Elk's magazine.

IN TRAINING CAMP.

NEW YORK, March 13.—President John Conway Toole of the International League yesterday announced the list of umpires for 1928:

Wm. B. Carpenter, Jack Carroll, Wm. T. Finneran, Otto L. Meyers, W. T. Gaston, Robt. M. Clarke, Lu C. Fyfle, James J. Griffin, Wm. C. Solodare, Geo. L. Parker.

Carpenter, dean of the staff, will start his 18th season. All of the above named have been with the league for two or more season, except Parker, recently appointed.

A SKETCH OF THE RIGHT HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN

BY THE HONORABLE G. N. GORDON

The most striking event in Mr. Meighen's career was his fall from power. His rise to power was unusually rapid. Practising as a lawyer in a small town, without experience in public affairs, he was suddenly honored by election to the House of Commons. Within three years his party was in power, and two years after he was appointed Solicitor General of Canada.

Between him and the present Solicitor General, the Honourable Lucien Cannon, there are points of marked similarity. Each is a fearless debater, accepting a challenge with an easy confidence, which can be possessed only by those who know and appreciate their power.

In the hectic days of the 1926 Session, when the King Government resigned suddenly, after Lord Byng had refused dissolution and then Prime Minister Meighen resigned after the successful carrying of a want of confidence against his Government, the eloquent and persuasive young French-Canadian Solicitor General was put up to follow Mr. Meighen in debate, and his powerful and convincing speeches did much to wreck the Conservative Party.

Both Mr. Meighen and Mr. Cannon are merciless critics. Both speak with eloquence and conviction. Both have acquired the power that comes from long platform experience and the methods that well-trained speakers use, to reach the hearts and minds of their hearers. Both have highly developed ability and are able to meet an unusual and unexpected situation, with a deft touch, which shows much resourcefulness and dexterity.

Mr. Meighen possesses the lightning movement of the brain, so does Mr. Cannon. The former appeals to one's reason, and a lawyer always listens with interest to his dissecting, analysing, criticism, tearing down the fabric of an opponent's argument, with almost a cruel joy.

Mr. Cannon does much the same, but besides being a highly trained lawyer having the power of destructive criticism, he appeals to and warms the emotions, rousing his party friends to a white heat of excitement and enthusiasm. The cold calculating power of a successful lawyer, coupled with the emotional temperament to be called into use at the proper time, has made the Honorable Mr. Cannon one of the most feared and, at the same time one of the most respected public speakers in Canada.

RT. HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN.

Probably the most outstanding characteristic of Mr. Meighen, outside his greatness as a public speaker, is his daring. I have seen him call for a vote when his little group of fifty in the House was overwhelmed by the votes of the House against him. Nor did he ever save himself. Night after night, week after week, month after month, he would steadily debate every estimate, and on occasion, in fact on many of them, his tongue was like a two-edged sword. He was fighting in sheer desperation, but with a courage that gained the respect of his most bitter and unrelenting opponents.

It has been said of Mr. Meighen, as was said of Right Hon. George Balfour, by the famous George Wyndham, "He knows there has been one ice-age, and he thinks there is going to be another." But Mr. Meighen enjoys humor. I have seen him laugh with the heartiness of a school-boy, at a neat retort. He may not originate a humorous turn of words, but he can, and does, easily appreciate one.

At Deputy Speaker and Chairman of the three House of Commons Committees, I have heard him speak hundreds of times. From my chair, I could hear him give directions to his followers, and I had very many opportunities of studying him. I have been impressed with his remarkable capacity for work, his alertness of mind, his peculiar ease in presenting his party's position, with a conviction and confidence, that was, to the ordinary person, a most successful achievement.

As Mr. Meighen has said, "Political life is an adventure." When his party in three successive general elections failed to gain power, naturally the general was proscribed.

To those outside his party, the failure to win success, was due to quite other reasons. Some of which, many thought were the debilitated conditions of the party when Sir Robert Borden, resigned as Prime Minister; the general dissatisfaction of ex-service men and their families with Pension Board decision; and the individual weakness and age of a large number of Conservative candidates who had been in office from 1911 to 1921.

The Senate, with its Conservative majority, amended, the Pension Act the Home Bank reliefe to the shareholders and generally incurred unpopularity, for which Mr. Meighen was blamed.

The rapid rise to fame, the brilliance of his public utterances, the sudden fall from power, make Mr. Meighen's life one of the most spectacular in Canadian history.

What his service has been, and how enduring it will be, can only be known in the future.

I saw him the other day on the Montreal Express, and had a brief chat with him. He had gained in weight, looked better than I had seen him in years appear, and seemed heartily relieved, that the cares of State had fallen from his shoulders.

I think, perhaps, he agrees to a degree with Burns' declaration:

"Now a' is done that men can do
And a' is done in vain."

$250 DIAMOND IN PEAS.

After eating canned peas, John, the two-year-old son of J. Spear, of Penarth, Wales, became ill and disgorged a large cut diamond. Spear sold the stone for $10.00 to the man who had sold the peas. A local jeweller later said it appeared to be a Tasmanian diamond, and that at one time it had been set in a ring. He valued it at $250.

Pend Oreille.	1850	1800	1825

F. G. Oke & Company wire as follows:

TORONTO, March 13.—There was no feaure in this morning's mining market, prices as a whole being a little easier under what could be considered heavy profit-taking afforded by the strong advance during the past few weeks in many of the more active and well regarded stocks. However, the technical position of the market appears quite sound and we anticipate the upward trend of prices will be resumed at an early date.

Much interest is directed to the activities of Oriole Mines Limited, one of the pioneer companies to operate in Montbray Township, Northwest Quebec. The Oriole property comprises 2,560 acres in one block adjoining the Ontario-Quebec boundary line.

Extensive surface exploration has been in progress for many months, and the property has been thoroughly test-pitted, trenched, and prospected in an intelligent manner. Very favorable surface indications have been disclosed, and in many of the test pits massive chalcopyrite has been encountered, channel assays running as high as $35.00 per ton. Also geological formation is believed all that can be desired for important ore disposition.

The financing of Oriole is highly creditable. We are informed that of the first $225,000 raised for exploration and development purposes no commissions were paid. Of this amount $100,000 has been already spent in actual work on the property.

The capitalization of the company is 5,000,000 shares of $1.00 par value of which $2,334,832 shares are issued, but only 10 per cent. of which is free stock.

Oriole shares are expected to be traded in on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange in the very near future and can be considered a speculation with many decidedly attractive features.

In view of the splendid developments taking place in the north country at the present time and news that is promised as a result of such development and exploration during the current year it would appear good policy to buy mining stocks on the present reactions.

Upward Tendency Shown At Toronto

TORONTO, March 13 (Canadian Press).—A decided upward tendency was shown on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. International Nickel was the feature of the market, selling up as high as 97 and easing down at the close to 94½ for a net gain of 1¾ points. Massey Harris showed a stronger tendency, selling up one at 40. Weston also was a strong feature, selling up 1¾ at 63. Hiram Walker was the leader of the unlisted section, closing at 61 for a gain of ¾. Canadian Canners and Northern Bakeries both registered fractional gains at 18 and 46¼. Canadian Industrial Alcohol selling at 41 and Page Hersey at 95 were both down one point.

Active Wheat Buying Sends Prices Higher

CHICAGO, March 13 (Canadian Press).—Wheat scored early upturns in price today, helped by active purchasing on the part of leading commission houses. Bullish reports concerning the winter crop in parts of Kansas and Nebraska were current. Opening at ⅛ to ¾ cent advance, wheat later showed some additional gain. Corn, oats, and provisions were also firmer, corn starting ⅛ to ¾ cent up, and subsequently hardening a little more.

Opening prices were, Wheat, March 137½, May 137⅛. Corn, March 94⅝, May 97¾. Oats, March 56, May 56¾.

Radio Features Market With Violent Changes

NEW YORK, March 13 (Canadian Press).—Wild speculation in pool specialties was resumed in to-day's stock market as stock exchange authorities began an investigation into reports of an alleged "technical corner" in Radio. "Bear" traders, thrown into a panic by recent sensational advances in General Motors and Radio, hastened to cover their positions in other stocks, a score of which advanced three to ten points in tumultuous trading. Total sales had crossed the 2,500,000 share mark at one p.m. with indications that the day's total would cross 4,000,000 shares for the first time in the history of the exchange.

Radio opened 21½ points higher at 160, with a block of 25,000 shares, quickly sold down to 140, rallied to 150, slipped back to 145 and then crossed 150 again in the early afternoon on a tremendous turnover. Blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares appeared on the tape at frequent intervals. Houston Oil jumped nine points, American Linseed 6¼, Johns Manville 7, and Union Carbide, Case Threshing, International match preferred, General Asphalt, American Republic, and Warren Brothers climbed three to six points. General Motors, which had sold down more than three points in the morning, had made up its loss by early afternoon.

General Reaction Affects Mine Shares

TORONTO, March 13. Canadian Press. — A number of reactions occurred on the Standard mining exchange to-day, including Bidgood, Barry Hollinger, Howey, Sheritt, Hudson Bay and Pend O'Reille. Some stiffening in prices was noted around noon. Leaders of the stronger section were Treadwell and Crown Reserve. Bidgood closed at 104, a loss of six; Howey at 134, a loss of seven, Barry Hollinger sold at noon at 116, down just two; Sherritt eased 20 at 7.35; Hudson Bay weakened 40 at 17.60 and Pend sold down 45 at 17.80. Malartic eased below 110 and Lebel Gold Hill and Kirkland Lake were also lower. Treadwell Yukon firmed sharply to 28.00 up 1.50, with Crown Reserve selling two better at 53 after touching 61.

"Proper Food and Exercise" By ARTHUR A. McGOVERN Former Physical Director Cornell Medical College

Exercise to Lose Round Shoulders

ROUND shoulders are a very serious handicap both to health and to one's appearance. Everyone admires a firm, erect carriage. Few have it, yet it is within the reach of all.

First of all, if we train ourselves to sit tall, stand tall and walk tall it will be a long step in the right direction. If we have our posture in mind we shall not allow ourselves to sit in a heap or walk with shoulders almost reaching knees.

Correct exercise, of course, is one of the most important factors in overcoming round shoulders and securing correct posture.

CORRECT CARRIAGE IS A STEP TOWARD HEALTH

In exercising for this purpose you should not only aim to strengthen the muscles of the back and shoulders, but also those of the chest. Under-developed back muscles allow the spine to bend or sag and thus the shoulders droop forward. This, in turn, crowds the lungs and causes shallow breathing and a general run-down condition.

Therefore, if you would be soldierly and erect, try exercise and deep breathing and a conscious effort to remain straight.

Diet as an Aid to Digestion

BREAKFAST: An ounce of bran cereal and cream with very little sugar; bran muffins or toast made from graham, whole wheat or rye bread; coffee substitute. LUNCHEON: Vegetable luncheon or vegetable salad made from any of the following: lettuce, string beans, cauliflower, cucumbers, tomatoes, turnips, cabbage, carrots; fresh cheese, dark bread, buttermilk or fermented milk; tapioca pudding or fresh fruit. DINNER: Any vegetable soup—tomato, pea, lentil, corn, celery; one broiled lamb chop, piece of chicken or small piece of roast beef with at least two vegetables; gelatin fruit salad; dark bread; unsweetened cocoa; prune whip or rice pudding.

Egypt has its own desert, shiek and kiss film, an Egyptian production company having recently released "A Kiss in the Desert." It was made in the desert and as Egyptians played the principal parts the kiss is said to be intensely real. The production is advertised as "a powerful drama of adventure in seven parts." It was produced in Cairo with much success.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR of THE BENSON MURDER CASE

Charles Scribner's Sons ©

THE STORY THUS FAR

Skeel's finger prints had been found in the apartment of the murdered Margaret Odell, but Vance believes Skeel had been hiding in a closet while the strangler did his work. The subsequent murder of Skeel after he had promised to reveal the murderer, bears this theory out. Spotswoode, who had called on the girl, had rushed to her door at the sound of a scream, but had been reassured through the door that nothing was wrong. Vance has Markham invite Cleaver, Mannix and Spotswoode to his apartment for a poker game, promising to name the murderer the next day. And he names Spotswoode!

CHAPTER L.

Vance paused and looked up.

"You perhaps recall the circumstances? It was a jack-pot. Allen dealt Cleaver a four-straight-flush and gave me three kings. The other hands were so poor that every one else was compelled to drop out.

"I opened; and Cleaver stayed. On the draw, Allen gave me another king, and gave Cleaver the card he needed to complete his straight-flush. Twice I bet a small amount, and each time Cleaver raised me. Finally I called him, and, of course, he won. He couldn't help but win, d' ye see. He was betting on a sure thing. Since I opened the pots and drew two cards, the highest hand I could possibly have held would have been four of a kind. Cleaver knew this, and having a straight-flush, he also knew, before he raised my bet, that he had me beaten. At once I realized that he was not the man I was after."

"By what reasoning?"

"A poker player, Markham, who would bet on a sure thing is one who lacks the egotistical self-confidence of the highly subtle and supremely capable gambler. He is not a man who will take hazardous chances and tremendous risks, for he possesses, to some degree, what the psychoanalysts call an inferior complex, and instinctively he grasps at every possible opportunity of protecting and bettering himself.

"In short, he is not the ultimate unadulterated gambler. And the man who killed the Odell girl was a supreme gambler who would stake everything on a single turn of the wheel, for, in killing her, that is exactly what he did. And only a gambler whose paramount self-confidence would make him scorn, through sheer egotism, to bet on a sure thing, could have committed such a crime.—Therefore, Cleaver was eliminated as a suspect."

Markham was now listening intently.

"The test to which I put Spotswoode a little later," Vance went on, "had originally been intended for Mannix, but he was out of the game. That didn't matter, however, for, had I been able to eliminate both Cleaver and Spotswoode, then Mannix would undoubtedly have been the guilty man.

"Of course I would have planned something else to substantiate the fact; but, as it was, that wasn't necess'ry . . . The test I applied to Spotswoode was pretty well explained by the gentleman himself. As he said, not one player in a thousand would have wagered the limit against a pat hand, when he himself held nothing. It was tremendous—superb! It was probably the most remarkable bluff ever made in a game of poker.

"I couldn't help admiring him when he calmly shoved forward all his chips, knowing, as I did, that he held nothing. He staked everything, d' ye see, wholly on his conviction that he could follow my reasoning step by step and, in the last analysis, outwit me. It took courage and daring to do that. And it also took a degree of self-confidence which would never have permitted him to bet on a sure thing.

"The psychological principles involved in that hand were identical with those of the Odell crime. I threatened Spotswoode with a powerful hand—a pat hand—just as the girl, no doubt, threatened him; and instead of compromising—instead of calling me or laying down—he outreached me; he resorted to one supreme coup, though it meant risking everything. . . My word, Markham! Can't you see how the man's character, as revealed in that amazing gesture, dovetails with the psychology of the crime?"

Markham was silent for a while; he appeared to be pondering the matter.

"But you yourself, Vance, were not satisfied at the time," he submitted at length. "In fact, you looked doubtful and worried."

"True, old dear, I was no end worried. The psychological proof of Spotswoode's guilt came so dashed unexpectedly—I wasn't looking for it, don't y' know. After eliminating Cleaver I had a parti pris, so to speak, in regard to Mannix; for all the material evidence in favor of Spotswoode's innocence—that is, the seeming physical impossibility of his having strangled the lady—had, I admit, impressed me.

"I'm not perfect, don't y' know. Being unfortunately human, I'm still susceptible to the malicious animal magnetism about facts and appearances which you lawyer chaps are continuously exuding over the earth like some vast asphyxiating effluvium. And even when I found that Spotswoode's psychological nature fitted perfectly with all the factors of the crime, I still harbored a doubt in regard to Mannix. It was barely possible that he would have played the hand just as Spotswoode played it. That is why, after the game was over, I tackled him on the subject of gambling. I wanted to check his psychological reactions."

"Still, he staked everything on one turn of the wheel, as you put it."

"Ah! But not in the same sense that Spotswoode did. Mannix is a cautious and timid gambler as compared with Spotswoode. To begin with, he had an equal chance and an even bet, whereas Spotswoode had no chance at all—his hand was worthless.

"And yet Spotswoode wagered the limit on a pure bit of mental calculation. That was gambling in the higher ether. On the other hand, Mannix was merely tossing a coin, with an even chance of winning. Furthermore, no calculation of any kind entered into it; there was no planning, no figuring, no daring. And, as I have told you from the start, the Odell murder was premeditated and carefully worked out with shrewd calculation and supreme daring. . . And what true gambler would ask an adversary to double a bet on the second flip of the coin, and then accept an offer to redouble on the third flip?

"I purposely tested Mannix in that way, so as to preclude any possibility of error. Thus I not only eliminated him—I expunged him, eradicated him, wiped him out utterly. It cost me a thousand dollars, but it purged my mind of any lingering doubt. I then knew, despite all the contr'ry material indications, that Spotswoode had done away with the lady."

"You make your case theoretically plausible. But, practically, I'm afraid I can't accept it." Markham was more impressed, I felt, than he cared to admit. "Damn it, man!" he exploded after a moment. "Your conclusion demolishes all the established landmarks of rationality and sane credibility.—Just consider the facts."

He had now reached the argumentative stage of his doubt. "You say Spotswoode is guilty. Yet we know, on irrefutable evidence, that five minutes after he came out of the apartment the girl screamed and called for help.

"He was standing by the switchboard, and, accompanied by Jessup, he went to the door and carried on a brief conversation with her. She was certainly alive then. Then he went out the front door, entered a taxicab, and drove away. Fifteen minutes later he was joined by Judge Redfern as he alighted from the taxicab in front of the club here—nearly forty blocks away from the apartment house!

"It would have been impossible for him to have made the trip in less time; and, moreover, we have the chauffeur's record. Spotswoode simply did not have either the opportunity or the time to commit the murder between half-past eleven and ten minutes of twelve when Judge Redfern met him. And, remember, he played poker in the club here until three in the morning—hours after the murder took place."

Markham shook his head with emphasis.

"Vance, there's no human way to get round those facts. They're firmly established; and they preclude Spotswoode's guilt as effectively and finally as though he had been at the North Pole that night."

Vance was unmoved.

"I admit everything you say," he rejoined. "But as I have stated before, when material facts and psychological facts conflict, the material facts are wrong. In this case, they may not actually be wrong, but they're deceptive."

"Very well, magnus Apollo." The situation was too much for Markham's exacerbated nerves. "Show me how Spotswoode could have strangled the girl and ransacked the apartment, and I'll order Heath to arrest him."

"'Pon my word, I can't do it," expostulated Vance. "Omniscience was denied me. But—deuce take it!—I think I've done rather well in pointing out the culprit. I never agreed to expound his technic, don't y' know."

"So! Your vaunted penetration amounts only to that, does it? Well, well! Here and now I become a professor of the higher mental sciences, and I pronounce solemnly that Doctor Crippen murdered the Odell girl. To be sure, Crippen's dead; but that fact doesn't interfere with my newly adopted psychological means of deduction. Crippen's nature, you see, fits perfectly with all the esoteric and recondite indications of the crime. Tomorrow I'll apply for an order of exhumation."

Vance looked at him with waggish reproachfulness, and sighed.

"Recognition of my transcendent genius, I see, is destined to be posthumous. In the meantime I bear the taunts and jeers of the multitude with a stout heart. My head is bloody, but unbowed."

He looked at his watch, and then seemed to become absorbed with some line of thought.

"Markham," he said, after several minutes, "I've a concert at three o'clock, but there's an hour to spare. I want to take another look at that apartment and its various approaches. Spotswoode's trick—and I'm convinced it was nothing more than a trick—was enacted there; and if we are ever to find the explanation, we shall have to look for it on the scene."

I had got the impression that Markham, despite his emphatic denial of the possibility of Spotswoode's guilt, was not entirely unconvinced. Therefore, I was not surprised when, with only a half-hearted protest, he assented to Vance's proposal to revisit the Odell apartment.

Ross got the surprise of his life

HE had asked Long Distance for a New York number, and planned to dictate several letters while waiting for the connection. Before he could hang up, the operator said:—

"Hold the line, please!"

"Surely she can't expect me to hold this line half an hour!" he said to his stenographer.

"Half an hour? It probably won't be over two minutes. This new speedy Long Distance service is very quick."

To provide increased facilities, many new Long Distance circuits are being installed. Most of them will be in use this Spring. Here are some of the important additions:

FAMOUS LOVE ROMANCES — George Washington (II) — By Nicholas Afonsky

Washington never distinguished himself in his studies, and after his disappointment about entering the navy, he left school and went to live with his half brother at Mount Vernon, Virginia. He was a big, strapping boy, noted among his friends as a powerful wrestler, and the outdoor life of Mount Vernon appealed to him.

At Belvoir, a nearby estate, lived the rich and aristocratic Fairfaxes, one of whom, Anne, Lawrence, had married. Lord Fairfax, sixty-year-old head of the family, shy and eccentric, found his greatest pleasure in fox hunting. He liked his young neighbor, and soon made the boy his chosen companion when he hunted.

He showed George the spot where he meant sometime to build a manor house—beyond the Blue Ridge mountains, where his broad lands extended. Man and boy spent many happy days together riding over the great estates of the rich Virginian. George, who was full of life and energy, found this life much to his liking.

Lord Fairfax had recently brought from England a young bride—Sally. But when Washington first met her he did not realize that she was to have a lifelong influence over him. Instead, being the susceptible young man that he was, he fell in love with her pretty and flirtatious younger sister, Mary Cary.

LOCAL MEMBER GIVES ADDRESS

E. A. Peck, M.P., Takes Part in Budget Debate on Friday.

DISCUSSES POPULATION.

E. A. Peck, M.P. for West Peterborough in the House of Commons, was one of those taking part in the debate on the budget on Friday night. His address follows, as reported in Hansard:

"Mr. Speaker, may I venture to tender to you my congratulations upon the change made in the rules of debate, chiefly, I believe, upon your recommendation. There has been some criticism of the new rules, but I believe they have been of considerable advantage. They have had two results: One is the elimination of the long and tedious speeches to which we were accustomed to listen, and the other is the advantage, if it is an advantage, of introducing into the debate the newer and younger members.

"I wish to address a few remarks to the Hon. Minister of Immigration and Colonization (Mr. Forke), who I am sorry is not in his seat at the moment, but perhaps I may venture to address him through Hansard. I want to appeal to him, as other hon. members have done, to reverse his decision with regard to the McConachie child. As the matter now stands unless the minister changes his decision, the result will be that husband and wife are separated, and the children do not get the advantage of the mother's help and comfort at an age when they so much need her care. The only reason why these people are compelled to be separated is because of the fact that the youngest child, a mere infant, is said to be weak-minded. If this is so, is there any harm in allowing that child to enter Canada when we get the advantage of receiving immigrants whom we need to the extent of a man, his wife and four other children? There are weak-minded people in this country at the present time, and we are not suffering a great deal; and it will not hurt very much if another weak-minded person is allowed to come in. The minister's reason for his decision, as stated in the house, is that he is tied by regulation but the Immigration Act is the only legislation controlling the situation, and section 4, which has already been quoted in the house, reads:

"The minister may issue a written permit authorizing any person to enter Canada or, having entered or landed in Canada, to remain therein without being subject to the provisions of this act.'

"The act is clear; surely there is nothing in it to prevent the minister from issuing that permit if he sees fit."

Mr. King (Kootenay): "That question came up a day or two ago and it was suggested that it be referred to the Department of Justice for a ruling. I am informed that the department has given its ruling, maintaining that section 18 is the controlling provision; and under that section the minister is not permitted to exercise discretion."

Mr. Peck: "I should be very glad to see that decision. At any rate, the act seems to me to be clear enough. One would think that any lawyer or layman would infer, when an act says something, that it means what it says. It is suggested, however, that the matter is also affected by a regulation, but the regulation could scarcely be of greater force than the act itself. But even if there is a regulation that can very readily be overcome, because it must be confirmed by order in council and an order in council could be obtained changing the regulation to meet this particular case. This case is one that has excited a good deal of interest, and as the matter now stands it is a reflection upon the Dominion if these people are to remain separated. Some effort should be made to reverse the decision, and I submit that the minister should make it possible for these people to be brought together again.

"I want to refer now to the question of population, and also unemployment — two matters which are closely related. There is no doubt that the country stands in need of population; everyone agrees with that. It has been stated by many leading citizens that what is needed for the development of the Dominion is an addition to population. The railway officials are strongly of that view; Sir Henry Thornton has referred to the matter several times in public addresses. Here we have two railways, efficiently managed, excellently equipped, running on time and giving good service, the officials all endeavoring to do what they can to promote the interests of their respective companies. Yet we find the Canadian National actually unable to meet its financial engagements for lack, as Sir Henry Thornton has said, of a larger population to provide increased freight and passenger traffic, which would enable him to put the railway on a better footing. Along the same line we hear from the president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

"Not only is our population stationary, but in the past few years a great many people have moved to the United States. That is a fact which is uncontradicted; indeed it is borne out by the government statistics. The matter is therefore one deserving the careful consideration of the government. Why should so many people in this rich country find it necessary to move to another land to make a living? It is said that we are unpatriotic in pointing out these facts. It seems to me that we should be unpatriotic if we did not point them out, the facts being as they are, with a view to obtaining, if possible, some solution for the problem which is presented to us.

"The people of Canada are very favorably treated in having had assigned to them such a substantial portion of the earth's surface for management and development. Canada is a country of which we are all proud, a country embracing the northern half of the American continent, bounded by the Atlantic and the Pacific. Yet with all its wealth and untold resources, its large timber limits, its arable lands and its minerals, we seem to be at a standstill and cannot attract the population we have a right to expect. Those who have left Canada for the United States have done so far what they considered good reasons; and the foremost reason was that they were unable to find employment at home. The crying need of this country is an opportunity for people seeking employment to obtain suitable work whereby to earn enough to maintain themselves and their families. The labor problem is a most important one for the country to cope with. And in so many respects this government has failed to give to the laborers, to those seeking employment, the protection they should have.

"Let me point out how in three substantial respects this government has failed to deal with the question of labor, and failed thereby to maintain in the country the population which we should have. In the first place, Canada fails to manufacture for its own people, to the extent that it should, the natural supplies which are needed. Secondly, we allow the removal from the country, in raw or only slightly manufactured form, of the natural resources of the Dominion. And we fail to encourage the manufacture of our raw material for our own use. Let me illustrate what I mean when I say that we fail to manufacture in this country, for its own use, the natural supplies which the country needs. We imported for consumption last year over $500,000,000 of manufactured goods, a large portion of which should have been manufactured in Canada. We have been discussing the woollen industry at some length, and the claim made by those engaged in that industry for protection. Apparently the protection which existed before the proposed change in the tariff was not sufficient to conserve the woollen industry to the manufacturers of Canada, for we imported last year in woollen goods, not including raw wool, products to the value of $43,000,000. Of iron and its products our imports totalled $248,000,000. That includes automobiles and parts, $65,000,000; machinery, $46,000,000; farm implements, $26,000,000; engines and boilers, $16,000,000. We also imported electrical apparatus to the extent of $18,000,000. All these goods, or at any rate a very large proportion of them, could have been manufactured in Canada, and as a matter of fact they would be manufactured here if the government would only give to the industries engaged in their production reasonably sufficient protection. These goods to which I have referred amount in all to $300,000,000. If only half of that amount had been manufactured in this country, estimating at 50 per cent. the wages which would enter into their production, there would have been expended in Canada in employment and wages $75,000,000.

"Even the farmers of Canada are not protected as they should be. One would have thought that this country was the last word in agricultural production; yet we find that under all the trade treaties, which apparently will not prove satisfactory, we imported last year, of the three items, eggs, meat and butter, $9,500,000 worth. Tobacco has been discussed in this debate; and of tobacco, unmanufactured, we imported $7,000,000. Of fresh fruits we imported $24,000,000. Of course many fruits included in these exports we do not grow in Canada; I have been unable, therefore, to make the necessary classification. At any rate, the imports of fruits of the varieties produced here form a substantial part of this amount and certainly we could produce them in Canada.

"Now I come to the question of exports. We export far too much of our raw material, material which should be worked up and manufactured in this country. Here again Canada has lost considerably by its failure to provide opportunities for labor in the manufacture of these goods. I notice that our exports of grain products amounted to $447,000,000; while metals amounted to $154,000,000; wood, unmanufactured, $101,000,000; and paper, $129,000,000, making a total export in these four classes of $831,000,000. The paper represents resources which are certainly not inexhaustible, and unmanufactured wood is in the same category. This exportation of wood and paper means a drain on our natural resources, which we shall not be able to replace within a limited time. The metals of course have gone, but we have so many opportunities of investigating the possibilities of our hidden metals in Canada that possibly we shall not feel this very seriously. Of grain, our main export was wheat, $339,000,000, and wheat flour, $60,000,000, making a total of $399,000,000. Only 8 per cent. represents the manufactured article; the rest is exported in the raw condition to other countries where the work of preparing it for use provides employment for foreign labor.

"Under the third head, there are industries which should be developed in this country. If this were done a large amount of employment would be provided for labour here. The coal industry is one that shoud be dealt with; in fact it must be dealt with. It has been much discussed but apparently no solution for the question of moving coal from the eastern and western sections of the country to Ontario and Quebec has yet been proposed. It is, however, only a question of time before this will have to be done. It seems most unfortunate, however, that in the meantime we should be purchasing in another country the coal which we need to maintain our industries and supply our homes. We imported last year rom the United States $53,000,000 worth of coal, which under proper management could have been taken from our own mines and applied to our own industry.

"I shall discuss only one of the many changes which are proposed in the tariff resolutions before the house, and I refer to this matter only because it affects an industry in my own city. I have reference to the weaving of yarn. We had some assurance last year from the government, represented at the time by the Minister of Railways (Mr. Dunning), that no attempt would be made to interfere with existing industry. The statement which was presented to the house had been carefully prepared and it was read by the Minister of Railways representing, as I say, the government. I presume it was intended to appease the Liberal-Progressive element in the house. This is what the Minister of Railways said:

"'We shall move forward cautiously with the aid of knowledge of the facts secured by the tariff advisory board toward the goal of making our tariff structure bear as lightly as possible on production, industry and the people generally—'

"That is something of which probably all of us could approve; it is a vague, general statement. But this is more specific;

"'—having always in view the greater prosperity of all the legitimate industries of Canada.'

"With the present proposed tariff changes before us, can it be said that these changes are made with a view to the greater prosperity of all the legitimate industries of Canada?

"There has been a good deal of discussion during this debate in connection with the woollen industry, and the proposed reductions have met with a very general opposition. I refer particularly to the weaving yarns, because that is an industry which exists in my own town, employing some 180 people. There are other workers engaged in that line in my city, but they are employed in the carpet and rug business, which I understand is not affected by this tariff. What does this mean? Certainly it means that this industry in Canada will have to face increased competition, which will be a hardship on the manufacturer but will result in a greater hardship on those engaged in the shops carrying on that business. The working man is the one affected most by these tariff reductions which interfere with that industry. To the manufacturer it means a reduction in salary, a reduction in dividends and perhaps even the passing of a dividend, which is a very serious matter to him. To the worker, however, it means a reduction of wages or a layoff from work, because he is the primary sufferer from anything which interferes with the production of the article in the manufacture of which he is engaged, and it is the workmen for whom I feel the greatest regret. I know of many of them in Peterborough and I know how they have been affected already by the conditions obtaining in the woollen industry. They have not been working full time as it is, and this is simply going to add an additional hardship to those under which they have been labouring for some time past. I trust that the matter will receive further consideration before these tariff changes are adopted for the house; I believe something should be done to help those people to whom I refer.

"I can only say in conclusion, Mr. Speaker, that I intend to support the amendment proposed by the hon. member for St. Lawrence-St. George (Mr. Cahan.)"

QUILT DRAWN FOR AT JUVENILE LODGE

Mrs. Peters Wins—Fine Concert Given, Followed By Supper.

A most enjoyable evening was spent at Victoria Hall on Friday evening last when District No. 3 Juvenile L.O.L. arranged a splendid concert on behalf of members and friends. After a splendid program had been rendered and greatly enjoyed a quilt was drawn for on behalf of the Juvenile banner fund, which was won by Mrs. Peters, Westcott street. Following this a splendid repast was provided.

Among the artistes who entertained were J. John, who gave several monologues in his inimitable style, and Mr. Necke, who rendered several pleasing banjo selections, accompanied in some by Jack Wilson, a clever manipulator of the bones. Mr. Warren and Miss Verna Huffman also delighted the gathering with solos, but the tit-bit of the evening was the performance given by Mrs. R. Bugg and her chorus of highly trained juveniles, consisting of Doris Sharman, Phyllis Sharman, Rosie Rumary, Irene Rumary, Phyllis Hall, Dorothy Hall, Helen Morrison, Margaret Reed, Florence Barrie, Annie Fletcher, Margaret Fletcher, Winnie Francis and Phyllis Whatley. Their presentation of Lily Land of Easter Time and Schooldays was extremely wonderful, each performing her part to perfection. The solos by Miss Phyllis Sharman and Annie Fletcher were greatly applauded.

Accompanists for the evening were Mrs. R. Bugg and Mrs. F. Buckton.

EASTERN STAR HAS BIRTHDAY

Peterborough Chapter Celebrates First Anniversary at Banquet.

VISITORS HERE.

Peterborough Chapter No. 161, Order of the Eastern Star, celebrated its first birthday last evening by a banquet held in the Paragon Hall.

A number of visitors from Prosperity Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, Havelock, were present besides members of the local chapter and their friends.

The guests were received by the Worthy Matron, Mrs. J. Logan, Worthy Patron Mrs. G. Cameron and Past Worthy Matron Mrs. J. McPhate.

The tables were beautifully decorated with fluted blue runners and blue candles in silver candleholders, with baskets of pink and white carnations and white hyacinths. The centre of attraction was the large birthday cake, surmounted with a single blue candle, which the first Worthy Matron, Mrs. J. McPhate, lighted. Coleman Bros. catered in a very satisfactory.

A short program of toasts and music was much enjoyed. Mr. G. Cameron acted as chairman and proposed a toast to The King. This was responded to by singing 'God Save the King,' Mr. Cameron proposed a toast to 'Our Visitors.' This was responded to by Mrs. Puffer, of Havelock, after which they sang, "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow." Mrs. McPhate proposed a toast to "Peterborough Chapter," which was responded to by Mr. G. Cameron.

Two pupils of Mrs. W. A. Greenslade delighted the audience with their singing. Miss Fern Stenton's numbers were "Lady Moon" (Coridge-Taylor) and for an encore she gave Sanderson's "Bird Lullaby." Her voice was much admired. Mr. Charles Clarke's clear, lyric tenor was heard to great advantage in "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride" (O'Hara), "Farewell" (Liddle). Mrs. Greenslade acted as accompanist.

After the banquet an evening of bridge and euchre was enjoyed, prizes being drawn for and going to Miss "Flo" Hill and Mr. Sproate.

The Chesterfield cushion donated by Mrs. Fred Mowry was drawn for and won by Miss Vera Squire.

The evening concluded with dancing.

WRECKAGE FOUND

Lost weeks ago while crossing Lake Ontario, search by air, land and water was made for the cabin cruiser "Sea Hawk" and her crew of three men, still missing. The wreckage of the boat was found on the Prince Edward shore. In the photographs is seen part of the boat and a close-up, showing the name-plate.

IN PETERBOROUGH CHURCHES

KNOX UNITED CHURCH.

The Communion of the Lord's Supper was celebrated at the morning service in Knox Church on Sunday, and there was present the largest attendance in recent years. A very impressive address was delivered by Rev. Mr. McDonald, basing his remarks on the word "Ransomed," Mark x., 45: 'For even the Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many."

At the evening service there was also a very fine attendance. The service was opened with the singing of several of the old Gospel hymns, with the use of lantern slides. Rev. Mr. McDonald took for his evening theme the hymn, "Rock of Ages, Cleft for Me."

HEATED DEBATE MARKS MEETING

ahead with the preparation of detailed plans for submission to the provincial authorities for approval.

A. A. McIntyre was granted permission to build a shed for storage purposes on his lot at the corner of Murray and Bethune streets, provided he covers it with incombustible material. This is contrary to the building by-law.

"What's the use of having a by-low if you don't stick to it?" asked City Engineer Parsons, as John Comstock was announced as asking for a similar favor. He wanted permission to move their wooden workshop from George street to Sherbrooke street. The lot is inside the fire limits and is located between the homes of Messrs. William and Manson Comstock. It would, Mr. Comstock said, make an improvement on George street and will possibly not be left very long in that location. The board granted permission provided the building is covered with incombustible material.

The aldermen decided that patent roofing is not incombustible and changed the permission to read galvanized iron.

The engineer was instructed to report on the possibility of improving the northwest corner of Charlotte and Park streets, where there is a very sharp turn.

He will also report on the building of a sidewalk on Engleburn avenue and Maria street to the end of the footbridge.

Consider Oiling Contract

The Bituminous Spraying and Contracting Company offered to spray the city streets with Imperial Liquid asphalt at 15 cents a gallon.

The cost to the city for a square yard, using its own machinery, is 2.887 cents for cleaning, oiling, and sanding. The company's price added to the cost of cleaning the streets, would be about 4 cents.

Ald. Greene moved that the chairman, the mayor, and the engineer go into the matter and translate the figures into definite costs.

Ald. McIntyre wanted to know if it was worth while going into. Mr. Parsons replied that the job would be much better done and that the city's equipment is now in poor shape. The motion carried.

A. G. Turnbull, representing the J. D. Adams and Company, was present to tell about his company's machinery for road work. The company builds push and pull graders and he advised the use of a pull grader for the removal of ice ruts. He declared that a one man maintenance grader is not capable of handling some of the more severe tasks. He advised the use of a grader with a scarifier for ice removal.

Quotations were read on cement mixers and Ald. Phelan asked why one is needed, as the city had bought one from W. H. Lytle.

"It's for the paving," said the Mayor.

"We just decided not to lay concrete," as the reply.

Ald. Stocker said there would be cement work to be done at the sewage disposal plant and in laying a base for asphalt paving.

The chairman and engineer were instructed to go into the matter and bring in a report on prices, etc., in the matter. They will also get prices on trucks of various sizes suitable for the city's needs.

RELIANCE ON PHONE SURPRISES VISITORS

London Paper Calls Attention To Great Use of Instrument Here.

The extent to which Canadians rely upon the telephone is a matter of surprise to visitors from the old country. The London Daily Express recently carried an article by a correspondent who stated that "in Canada, practically everyone (except the unskilled labourer) has the telephone."

To judge from statements in the annual report of the Bell Telephone Company, even the exception for the humbler walks of life is hardly as important as the English correspondent intimates. Over sixty per cent of the 668,383 Bell telephones in Ontario and Quebec at the end of 1927 were in the homes. Few Canadians, no matter what their circumstances in life, feel that home is complete without the service which in Canada, as the English paper remarks, is "admirable, efficient and inexpensive." 1d-62-638

TRINITY Y.W.A. HOLDS MEETING

Rev. W. E. Wilson, of Toronto, Tells of Social Service Work.

The Rev. W. E. Wilson of King Street East Church Mission, Toronto, gave a very instructive and heart-touching address in Trinity Church last evening under the auspices of the Young Women's Auxiliary.

Despite the terrible conditions for walking a good sized audience assembled and listened with rapt attention to Mr. Wilson's talk of his social service work.

"Billy" Wilson, as he is known by every policeman in Toronto, and his word is accepted by every judge, has carried on a wonderful work there for fifteen years, helping especially the women and unfortunate girls.

His church in which the regular Sunday services and Sunday School is held is under the auspices of the United Church, his work of social service is undenominational and he accomplishes an untold amount of good. A number of the wealthy men of the city support him, and associated with him are the students, deaconess and nurses. The work is modelled after the Jerry McCauley Mission in New York.

He believes in helping the poor to have better clothes, better homes and better environment, so that they may have higher ideals and a better opinion of themselves.

He would like to see the churches have parlors where girls could entertain their sweethearts instead of having to spend their evenings in questionable places. So often girls are ashamed to take their friends to their home. He helps furnish homes for young couples, buying large amounts of furniture, carpet, etc., at a time and having it on hand. He looks after clothing for babies and children, and is a friend to the down and out and unfortunate ones, and gives them a chance to get on their feet again.

Obituary

PHILIP W. ELMHIRST.

The following article, appearing in a last week issue of the Lindsay Daily Post, refers to the death of Philip W. Elmhirst, a brother of Mrs. R. A. Dobbin of Rural Route No. 3:

"The late Philip William Tayne Elmhirst, who died yesterday at noon at the age of fifty-six years, was a well-known and popular man around Lindsay. He was born at Keene, Ont., and educated at that place. He was the son of the late Joseph Elmhirst and his wife, Jane West. Mr. Elmhirst came to Lindsay twenty years ago, and has been working on the railroad,on which he was a locomotive engineer, here, almost ever since then. Before his marriage at the age of twenty years, he worked on his father's farm. In politics he was a Conservative, and he was a member of the Anglican Church. He belonged to the B. of L. E.

"The deceased is survived by his widow, and by three children, Mrs. Harry Heals of Lindsay, Mrs. W. Parkin, Bond Street, and his son, Frank, of Vancouver. His mother is living with her daughter, Mrs. George Fowler, near Peterborough. His living sisters and brothers are: Joseph of California, Mrs. Robert Dobbin of Peterborough, Mrs. Wm. Blezard of Toronto, Mrs. George Fowler, near Peterborough and Mrs. Thos. Taylor of Keene.

"Just before his death, Mr. Elmhirst was working in the railroad yard in Peterborough. He came home three weeks ago, and a week ago Monday went to the Ross Memorial Hospital. His death took place yesterday at noon. About a year ago, he underwent a serious operation for appendicitis.

"The funeral service will take place at the home of the deceased, 80 William Street South, on Friday after noon at two o'clock, and interment will be half an hour later in the Riverside Cemetery."

ARTHUR PINCH.

Died in Peterborough on Tuesday, March 13, 1928, Arthur Pinch, in his 47th year.

He leaves besides a sorrowing widow, eight sons: Lawrence, John, Edmond, Morgan, George, Norman, Donald and Gerald; also four daughters: Margaret, Gertrude Evelyn and Geraldine; also two sisters, Mrs Holliday, city, and Mrs. Broom, of Toronto.

Funeral announcement later.

IN MEMORIAM.

WILSON. — In loving memory of Harry Bourne Wilson, son of Mr. H. C. Wilson, who died March 10, 1916.

In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of you are always near;
We who loved you sadly miss you
As it dawns another year.

New Ford Model Proves Very Attractive Car.

The new Ford runabout arrived in the city yesterday and is on display today in the show rooms of Hood and Cumming. This model lives up to everything that has been previously said of the other cars. The seat is roomy and of leather upholstering. The back is reversible so that a rumble seat can be set in place. The color is very attractive.

BLESSING OF NETS REVIVED.

After a lapse of a century, "blessing the nets," an ancient custom, was revived at the opening of the present salmon fishing season on the River Lee, Ireland. The ceremony was held at Blackrock, where many of the fisherfolk reside. A fleet of 34 boats, each manned with a crew of four, assembled at the pierhead, where a crowd had gathered. The service included a reading from the Gospel of St. John, which tells of the blessing of the nets in the Sea of Galilee. Priests, preceded by cross-bearers and acolytes, imparted the blessing, while the fishermen, with bared heads,stood in their boats.

248 BODIES NOW RECOVERED FROM MUD-COVERED VALLEYS BELOW SITE OF BROKEN DAM

Exact Check Impossible Yet Say Officials As They Announce Totals.

BODIES BURIED.

Great Layer of Silt Covers the Course Taken By Devastating Waters.

NEWHALL, March 14 (Canadian Press). — The list of bodies recovered in the various towns in the San Francisquito flood area, posted at the sheriff's sub-station here to-day, showed a total of 248. An exact check could not be made owing to the chaotic conditions in the stricken area. Duplications probably had occurred in some places while omissions were possible in others. The figures given for Piru were unofficial, and were felt to be too high, but it was impossible to get into communication with that town, isolated by mud and water, when the list was posted.

Figures posted here follow: Oxnard, four; Venture, nine; Fillmore, forty-seven; Newhall, forty-six; Piru, sixty-one (unofficial); Santa Paula, thirty-six; Saticoy, five; Moore Park, forty; total, two hundred and forty-eight.

The horror of the St. Francis Dam disaster reached new depths to-day as the rescue workers counted the bodies in the half-dozen improvised morgues, and resumed their search through the miles of saffron quagmire for from thre to six hundred residents of the little valley believed to have perished in the flood.

Mud 30 Feet Deep.

Because of the swath of mud and slime stretched for sixty-five miles through the peaceful mountain valleys, in some places thirty feet deep, there was no means of determining how many victims remained in the muddy graveyard which the escaping waters formed for them as they were picked up from their homes and dashed to death.

Sheriff Traeger, Los Angeles County, who announced the number of known and recovered dead early to-day, refused to estimate the number of missing. Estimates which ranged from three to six hundred, made during a night of almost futile attempts to ascertain the extent of death and havoc, were allowed to stand.

All the way down the narrow defile through which a 75 foot wall of water poured, and on toward the sea at Ventura, the subsiding flood waters continued to give up their dead.

The great concrete retaining wall 185 feet high built less than two years ago to impound water for the city of Los Angeles, gave way without warning, releasing the flood upon the sleeping inhabitants of the picturesque valley.

Everything was swept away—human beings, houses, cabins, workmen's tents, orchards and livestock.

Hemmed in by the precipitous sides of San Francisquito, the canyon dwellers and power company workers engaged in constructing new pole lines had little chance for life.

Over the whole of the canyon, a deep layer of yellowish silt was deposited and beneath this, rescue officers believed, undetermined scores of dead may be buried.

Fifteen hundred Los Angeles peace officers, ranchers and other dwellers on the rolling hill country north of Saugus carried on the rescue work and aided refugees.

Bodies Recovered

Meanwhile, along the Santa Clara River, into which the torrent disgorged itself, bodies were being recovered. Torn and gashed by the mad rush of water along the wooded sides of the canyon, only a small percentage could be identified.

Work of rescue in the hours before dawn was hampered because the entire stricken area, comprising many square miles, had been thrown in darkness by the destruction of power lines.

The valley presented a scene of utter desolation, rescuers plodded through mire knee-deep in search of the dead. Temporary morgues, hospitals and rescue stations were set up at Saugus, Newhall, Oxnard, Piimore, Piru, Moor Park and other inland towns along the route of the flood.

Reports came in from all these points of the recovery of bodies.

Because of the almost complete prostration of communication facili-

WASHINGTON, March 14. — (United Press).—President Coolidge's views on the United States unemployment situation concur with those of Secretary of Labor Davis, who holds estimates of 4,000,000 unemployed to be greatly exaggerated, it was learned at the White House yesterday.

BOURASSA BLOCKS BUDGET VOTE BY INSISTING ON ADJOURNMENT

Independent Member Calls Attention To Closing Rule of House.

CAUSES UPROAR.

Progressive and Conservative Amendments Beaten By Large Majorities Last Night.

OTTAWA, March 14. — Henri Bourassa last night prevented the completion of the voting on the Budget, by an irritating demand that the House rise at 11 o'clock, according to the rules. To meet cases such as occurred last night, by unanimous consent, the session can be prolonged beyond 11 to meet special occasions.

Premier King, in speaking over three hours in reply to Hon. R. B. Bennett, carried the debate along so that voting did not commence until 10.30. With three divisions it was apparent they could not be completed before 11, and Speaker Lemieux called the attention of Parliament to this situation. He also explained that by unanimous consent the session could be prolonger to complete the voting. The second division had been completed at 11 o'clock and the House awaited the third and really only important vote, that on the adoption of the Robb Budget. Then Mr. Bourassa arose, called the Speaker's attention to the fact that it was 11 o'clock, and the House necessarily adjourned without the final division.

Intimation that Mr. Bourassa might become a snag in the proceedings were given at 10.30 o'clock when, prior to the taking of the first vote, the Speaker informed the Chamber that proceedings would undoubtedly last beyond 11 o'clock and would, consequently, require the suspension of the rules by the unanimous consent of the members. Mr. Bourassa at this point observed that he would favor the vote going forward, but that in the event of any question remaining to be put at 11 o'clock he considered that the members should not quarrel with a rule simply because they happened to become its victim.

The members' interruption was not taken seriously and the voting upon the two amendments proceeded. After the result of the second vote was announced, however, Mr. Bourassa interjected: "I would point out to you, Mr. Speaker, that it is now 11 o'clock."

Storm of Protest.

A general storm of protest arose. The Speaker and Mr. Bourassa were the only two members who remained calm in the face of the situation. The former took the House manual and quoted from it the 11 o'clock rule which required unanimous consent to suspend and the latter remained smilingly impassive in the face of the uproar which was assailing him.

An effort to save the situation was made by Malcolm McLean, Liberal, Melford. "I would remind you, Mr.

Favorable Weather Over Maritime Coast

SAINT JOHNS, N.F., March 14 (Canadian Press). — If Captain Hinchcliffe, the English aviator, reaches this side of the Atlantic to-day he should be greeted by favorable weather. Yesterday the weather was perfect. There was a clear atmosphere, a light northeasterly wind and practically no frost. The forecast for to-day is moderate winds, fair and little change in temperature. The signal man at Cabot Tower stated that it was not improbable that there would be snow before the morning.

COMMISSION MEETS.

Peterborough citizens will be able to identify the meter readers of the Utilities Commission as a result of the decision reached at the monthly meeting of the Utilities Commission yesterday afternoon to purchase uniforms for the men. The Commission has received many complaints from housewives who did not know the readers, and feared that they might be impostors. Complete outfits will be purchased, consisting of a tunic, a pair of long trousers, a pair of breeches for winter, leggings and a cap.

FIREMEN'S TEST CAUSES ALARM

INSPECTOR PRESENT.

The business section of the city was aroused at nine o'clock this morning by the screeching of the fire sirens and the rushing of the fire apparatus to the hydrants on George Street. Store managers and clerks rushed to their doors, but the only thing they could see was the firemen laying long lines of hose from the hydrants. No fire was visible, for it was just the Fire Underwriters' annual inspection.

Unknown to the firemen, the inspector rang in the fire alarm, and within three minutes hose was connected to the nearest hydrant and the water running. Thirteen lines of 250 feet each were laid from the various hydrants. The water pressure was tested and the efficiency of the department closely watched. The inspector refused to comment on the showing made, as he will make a report to the City Council, believing that they should get the information first.

RAILWAY OFFICIALS TO BE SUMMONED

To Give Evidence Before Commons Committee On Immigration.

OTTAWA, Mar. 14. — (Canadian Press.)—Officials in charge of immigration and colonization for Canadian railways will be summoned to appear before the Parliamentary committee which is investigating the Department of Immigration next Tuesday. During the sitting to-day C. W. Cahan, Conservative member for St. Lawrence-St. George, moved that W. Black, director of colonization for the Canadian National, and Col. Dennis, who occupies a similar position for the Canadian Pacific Railways, be asked to appear. Should they be unavailable, their assistants will be asked to come before the committee. The examination of W. J. Egan Deputy Minister of Immigration, was continued throughout to-day's sitting.

PETERBOROUGH DELEGATION ASKS LEGISLATURE TO STOP DEPLETION OF FISH IN LAKES

Warns Committee That Tons Are Being Taken From Rice Lake.

TOURIST TRADE IN DANGER.

More Inspectors and Fish Sanctuaries Suggested To Aid in Preventing Extinction.

TORONTO, Ont., March 14 (Special to The Examiner).—Warning that the pickerel and game fish of the Kawartha Lakes and the great tourist region around Peterborough would be depleted of fish within a few years if fishing through the ice is not prohibited, several deputations appeared before the Fish and Game Committee of the Legislature to-day, asking that definite action be taken.

It is is estimated that two tons of pickerel alone are being taken from Rice Lake daily.

At this time of the year the female fish are spawning. Pictures showing five and one-half pounds of spawn taken from eleven fish caught in the lakes were shown to the Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister, and the committee. It is possible that fishing through the ice for pickerel in some parts of these lakes will be prohibited.

A resolution from the St. Catharines Hunt Club, recommending the closing of the pheasant shooting season for 1928 was made.

It was also asked that the open season for deer, which was 30 days last year, be reduced to the former limit of 15 days.

"Fishing through the ice for lunge and bass has been illegal for many years. Two or three years ago it was discovered that it was not illegal to take pickerel in this way," Fred Roy of Peterborough said, speaking on behalf of his deputation.

"Last winter a considerable quantity was offered for sale in Peterborough, and it was at that time that our association protested to the Government. Apparently no attention was paid, as nothing was done. This winter these fish have been offered for sale literally by the ton. Not only are they being sold in Peterborough, but in Toronto and Montreal markets, and practically all the lake front towns."

Enoch Merryman, life-long resident of Harwood, stated that in his opinion over two tons of these fish are being taken out of Rice Lake daily. It is not an uncommon sight to count from twenty to fifty cars on the lake at one time.

He said that if care is not taken the country will lose in two years what it took a quarter of a century to build up. The deputation questioned the advisability of employing temporary inspectors, but believed in the policy of employing former inspectors and keeping them permanently on the job.

At the opening of to-day's session the chairman, the Hon. J. Thompson, resigned from the chair, explaining that he is already the chairman of one other committee. Hon. Mr. McDiarmid was unanimously chosen to take his place, first calling on the Hon. Charles McCrea, head of the Department. Mr. McCrea announced that, as was before stated, this was fish day, and announced that deputations on fish would be heard.

B. R. Jarrett, representing the Chaffee's Locks Game and Fish Protective Association, first called, asked the reconsideration of the hoop net license.

"The rough fish are on the increase while the game fish are being depleted," he explained. "Are you aware that there is much public sentiment against hoop netting down there?" enquired Mr. McCrea.

"I am aware that there is opposition outside our district," replied the speaker of the deputation, explaining that the members of their community were nearly all fishermen. "We certainly wouldn't want you to do it, if we didn't think it was best."

C. H. Rogers, vice-president of the Peterborough County Protective Association, corroborated Mr. Roy's statement.

George A. Potts, from Bobcaygeon, concurred completely with the requests of the Peterborough deputation.

Lochgilphead, Scotland, has been identified as the "village with a total population of 900 and seven churches and seven ministers," referred to by Right Rev. Dr. Weatherhead during a sermon in Glasgow recently.

Airplanes Help Snowbound Towns

WASHINGTON, March 14. — (United Press)—Secretary of War Davis yesterday ordered the commanding general of the sixth corps area to place at disposal of the Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., post master a plane to aid snowbound communities of the Michigan peninsula.

A transport plane has been ordered from Chanute Field, Illinois, to Selfridge Field, Mich., to cooperate with pursuit planes there, which are to disposal for use in aiding the snowy region. The transport plane will probably be put on skiis, replacing the customary wheels.

32 NOMINEES APPEAR ON LIST

Membership of Chamber of Commerce Will Make Nominations For Council.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED.

Committees to deal with the Chamber of Commerce annual election of directors, have been appointed as follows:

Nominating Committee: J R. Corkery, F. H. Dawson, H. Dicken, J. L. Hopwood, J. A McNabb

Judges of Election: D. M. Bissell, D. A. A. Cameron W. C. Hughes, W. E. Taylor, W. Tinker.

Part of the work of the Nominating Committee will this year be performed by the general membership.

A full list, alphabetically arranged, of the members of the Chamber of Commerce will appear in the Saturday edition of the Evening Examiner, from which members are asked to select thirty-two individual members, suggested candidates for election to the directorate of the Chamber. Twice the number required.) These thirty two names are to be written on the reverse side of a bulletin which has been mailed to each member, and returned to the officers of the chamber in a special envelope provided for that purpose. The nominations must be in the hands of the Nominating Committee not later than 5.00 p.m. Monday, March 19th, 1928.

The thirty two individuals receiving the highest mention constitute the "official ticket," or ballot, from which later, according to the Chamber of Commerce constitution, members will be asked to select or vote for sixteen, to comprise the actual executive council for the year 1928-29.

The executive-council elect must, prior to the annual meeting meet, and from its own number, select a president vice-president, treasurer and elect a secretary

Plans for the annual general meeting, in the hands of President Gillespie, and the Secretary, are well under way and it is hoped to announce the date very shortly. A very large turn out is expected in view of the much-increased membership, which includes so much 'new blood.'

In selecting names members are asked to keep in mind that each line of business, professional or other activity represented in the membership, should be represented on the council of the Chamber of Commerce.

UNIQUE CEMETERY USED.

Burial of Captain John Stansfield of Dunnunald, in the ancient burying ground of St. Skeoch, has attracted attention to one of the smallest and most unique cemeteries in Scotland. It holds the remains of the few lairds and their families from neighboring estates, and is on "The Elephant Rock,' 'one of the natural curiosities of the country. The rock, 100 feet high, stands upright from the sea and bears a striking resemblance to an elephant, having trunk, head, legs, sides, and back. The burial ground forms part of the back. The cemetery dates back 250 years, and the last burial previous to that of Captain Stansfield was in 1917...

BUS HITS CAR STUCK IN RUT

Collision Occurs On Charlotte Street—No Damage Done.

BUS STOPPING AT TIME.

The ruts on Charlotte street caused a near-serious accident on Monday evening. An east-bound bus was approaching Maitland avenue at the same time as a taxicab was turning on to the avenue. The taxi was stopped in the ruts, and the bus, which was slowing for a stop, hit the car, but not sufficiently hard to do more than push it off the track. No one was hurt but a few were a bit scared.

Many Lawyers Argue Women's Rights; Counsel More Numerous Than Petitioners

OTTAWA, March 14 (Canadian Press). — An array of counsel faced the Supreme Court of Canada to-day at the hearing of the reference respecting the right of woman to sit in the Senate. The Hon. Lucien Cannon, Solicitor-General, and Eugene Lafleur, K.C., appeared on behalf of the Government, the Hon. Newton Rowell, K.C., Toronto, for the petitioners and the Province of Alberta, and Charles Lanctot, K.C., for Quebec. Opening his argument, Mr. Cannon declared that the reference to the Court had been made by the Governor-in-Council at the request of the five women petitioners. The petitioners were: Mrs. Edwards, McLeod, Alberta, Mrs. N. McClung, Calgary, Mrs. Emily Murphy, Edmonton, Mrs. Louise Mc-

Many In Morgues Are Unidentified

NEWHALL, Calif., March 14.—(Associated Press).—A check of morgues and hospitals in the stricken Newhall flood area by officials late yesterday revealed that 50 bodies have been identified, 139 are in the morgues unidentified and 865 persons are reported missing.

The 139 unidentified are in morgues at the following places: Piru, 9; Fillmore, 38; Santa Paula 13; Ventura, 4; Newhall, 45; Moor Park, 30.

Approximate number of persons missing were listed as follows:

Castaic, 50; Santa Paula, 150; Newhall and vicinity, 300; Fillmore, 100; Piru, 90; Construction Camps, 175; total, 865.

FLOOD HIGHLIGHTS

NEWHALL, Calif., March 14 (Canadian Press). — Viewing the havoc caused by the St. Francis Dam break from the air, it looks like a streak of No Man's Land. Sticks thrust upright in the muck mark the places where the bodies of victims were found buried in the silt. The sticks make them easily located.

Airplanes which soared over the stricken area in great numbers aided the searchers by dipping low to indicate the positions of the bodies. It is easy to spot human beings from a considerable height if their faces are upturned.

An aerial view of the wrecked dam is like a picture of a broken toy. Both right and left wings of the structure were broken and swept away, the central section remaining upright. Nothing remained in the wreckage that remotely resembled a building. Railroad tracks were twisted like spaghetti.

A curious feature of the disaster was the fact that less than fifty persons were treated for injuries at the Newhall Red Cross Hospital. None of these were seriously injured.

Supplies Plentiful.

Newhall's appear for aid is not going unheeded. Trucks were arriving every hour with food and clothing of every description. The little hall that was being used by the Red Cross as temporary headquarters was crowded to capacity, and no one who applied for food or clothing went away empty-handed.

The great dam sounded its own peculiar warning to some of those below it. There were two big flashes of light as the electric power lines snapped. Some canyon residents saw this and escaped.

The ability of a newspaperman to cover his assignment at the scene depended somewhat upon his faculty for wading through seas of mud. The Associated Press staff man stripped himself from heels to waist several times in order to ford streams and save his clothes for an anticipated cool night at Newhall.

House Floats Unharmed.

A four-room house floated a mile without one piece of its furniture being disarranged. Even the table lamps were found upright in their places.

SEND MEDICINE BY DOG SLEIGH

Call Comes From Snowbound Detour For Aid For Sick Person

PLANE FLYING NORTH.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Mar. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—The use of a dog sled in what may prove to be a race with death to the snowbound and famine threatened village of Detour, was planned to-day, following receipt of word that two persons in the isolated area were critically ill. The sled, to be drawn by seven husky dogs, and guided by Dr. John Deadman, veteran dog owner and pioneer prospector, was to carry a hundred pounds of food, tobacco and medicine in a sixty mile race over the trackless snow barrier to the stricken town, now seriously faced with suffering from hunger and cold.

Plane On Way.

CHAMPAIGNE, Ill., March 14. — (Canadan Press.)—Flying a Douglas transport plane to be used in carrying food supplies to the isolated village of Detour, Mich., Lieut. Hart left Chanute flying field this morning. He will go at once to Dayton, Ohio, where the big aeroplane will be equipped with skis to enable it to land on the Northern Michigan snow. Then he will fly to Selfridge Field, Michigan, where he will receive supplies.

'LAWFUL EXCUSE' CLAUSE HELPS ILLEGAL FISHING, SAYS OFFICIAL

Secretary of Chamber of Commerce Points Out How It Provides Loophole.

CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS.

Dominion and Provincial Departments' Attitude Gives Reason For Hope, He Adds.

That the deputation from the Peterborough County Fish and Game Protective Association was likely to meet with encouragement and possibly success was indicated by the following extracts from a letter received by the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce. In discussing it, the secretary of the Chamber outlined the attitude of Dominion and Provincial Departments with regard to fishing through ice, as indicated by the letter, and told of what is being done to make fishing conditions better.

It was in reply to a petition from the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce that William A. Found, Director of Fisheries in the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa, has written, under date of March 12, as follows:

"The existing regulations provide specific closed seasons for certain fish and do not authorize fishing through ice for such fish by any person during the closed period." The secretary of the Chamber in discussing the letter believed that all this was true, but that pickerel are not sufficiently protected, and in spearing or otherwise removing them from beneath the ice, lunge and bass are often killed.

Quoting clause 4, section 13, of Special Fishery Regulations, for the Province of Ontario, published May 21, 1927, he said that no one without lawful excuse, the proof whereof shall lie on him, shall fish for, buy, sell, or have in his possession any fish or portion of fish.

The phrase "without lawful excuse" he believes to be a loophole which the game warden cannot circumvent, as in taking pickerel through the ice, which under certain conditions is not illegal, a man may so harm a lunge or bass that it seems there is lawful excuse for finishing the kill. The secretary continued:

"Mr. Found, in his letter, further states that 'it is observed that you have also taken the matter up with the Provincial Department of Game and Fisheries and the Dominion Department has also been attempting to learn the Provincial Department's views on this subject.' From the above, it appears that we may expect immediate action."

MOUNTAIN MOVES; MANY FLEE.

Fear that Nantymyndd Mountain will move upon them is causing crowded tenants of the hillside terraces of Rhondda Valley in Wales to prepare for an exodus in case of necessity. Recent torrential rains are believed to be responsible for the alarming movement of the mountain in the vicinity of Llwynypia. Extensive landslides have been reported, and the foot of the mountain has slipped forward, bursting a stout retaining wall protecting a long terrace of houses. Some of the families had to beat a hurried retreat. Threatening fissures have since appeared along the side, and further collapse of the treacherous mass is feared.

Public Concern Rises When Plane Fails To Appear.

SOUNDS REPORTED.

People in Newfoundland Claim To Have Heard Motors This Morning.

NEW YORK, March 14 (Canadian Press).—Public concern manifested itself today as hours passed without word from the monoplane Endeavor, which took the air in England yesterday to try the uncrossed Western air passage of the Atlantic, but aviators still believed at noon that there was plenty of hope. Although freely acknowledging that the absence of any report of the plane was disheartening, they computed that weather conditions might have so slowed down progress that the plane would not reach land until early afternoon. After sighting land it would be possible for the plane to continue without being sighted if it were flying anywhere near its ceiling of fourteen thousand feet.

The Endeavor, piloted by Capt. Hinchliffe and believed to have on board the Hon. Elsie MacKay, sponsor of the flight, had enough fuel to last until about seven o'clock tonight. If the plane's cruising speed of a hundred and five miles an hour had been maintained the Endeavor would have arrived at Newfoundland between four and six o'clock today.

Heard at Two Points

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, Mar. 14 (Canadian Press).—A report from Harbor Breton states that what was thought to have been the sound of a passing airplane was heard at Broad Cove at six o'clock this morning.

The telegraph operator at Brigus advises that several residents heard the drone of an airplane in the distance between six and seven o'clock this morning. The report is being further investigated.

Sure Woman is Passenger

LONDON, March 14 (Canadian Press).—Two fliers in a monoplane were presumably rapidly winging their way towards Newfoundland across the Atlantic from Cradwell, England, today and all the evidence indicated that one of them was a dauntless 35-year-old woman.

Three papers today stated without reservation that the companion of Capt. Walter Hinchliffe in the latest trans-Atlantic air adventure was the Hon. Elsie MacKay, daughter of Lord Inchcape, ship owner. The possibility that relatives might thwart her in the daring attempt to be the first woman to span the Atlantic by plane was believed to have led Miss MacKay to conceal her identity by masquerading as a male pilot.

The Daily Express printed a photograph showing Captain Hinchliffe and Miss MacKay standing beside the plane, which the paper claimed was taken prior to the hop off yesterday. Miss MacKay, dressed as a mechanician, entered the plane Endeavor before the hop off, it was said, and was at first thought to be Gordon Sinclair, a skilled pilot and friend of Hinchliffe, with whom he had been associated recently.

Weathed Good.

HALIFAX, March 14 (Canadian Press).—No sign of Capt. Walter Hinchliffe's trans-Atlantic monoplane Endeavor has been reported to this city up to ten o'clock, Atlantic standard time, today. The weather is very good.

CREEKS SUBSIDE.

Thousands of Dollars Damage Done in Toronto District.

TORONTO, Mar. 14. — (Canadian Press.)— After causing thousands of dollars property damage, bringing alarm to nearby residents, and blockading traffic on some highways, the creeks in this part of the province were subsiding to-day. They went on a rampage last evening swollen by rain after a heavy snow fall. Duffin creek, at Pickering, east of here, and Sixteen Mile creek, at Milton, west of the city were most threatening.

PUZZLE CONTEST SOLUTIONS RECEIVED UNTIL MARCH 17TH

Bad Roads Have Made It Impossible For Farmers To Get in—Saturday Last Day.

The weather the past few days has rendered the roads, especially in the country, well nigh impassable, so that quite a few of the contestants are finding it very difficult to get their solutions in before March 15, so the Contest Department has decided to accept the solutions on the contest up until Saturday night, March 17. This will give many who live outside of the city a chance to bring them in when they came to town on Saturday or to mail them from their nearest post office. But be sure and have your solution in the mails or bring it in by Saturday. 2d, 14

BELIEVED BRITISH AVIATOR IS ACCOMPANIED BY WOMAN PASSENGER ON OCEAN FLIGHT

Friends of Hinchcliffe Express Belief Hon. Elsie McKay On Board Plane.

GUARDED PREPARATIONS.

Had Intended All Along To Accompany Flier on Trans-Atlantic Flight.

NEW YORK March 14. Canadian Press. — rsons in this country who have been in cl touch with Walter Hinchliffe while he was planning his trans-Atlantic flight, expressed trong belief yesterday that when the plane reaches America, the Hon. Elsie MacKay, daughter of Lord Inchcape will be found on board.

It was learned that Captain Hinchliffe first began plans for the flight under the sponsorship of Miss MacKay and that all along she has intended to accompany him, although this fact was carefully guarded.

The story of the preparations for the flight, as learned from persons who took part in them, is as follows:

In December of last year Captain Hinchliffe came to this country, landing at Boston, but his arrival was shrouded in mystery, cables from London even insisting that he was in Amsterdam at the time. He stayed but a few hours in New York but during that time he arranged for the purchase of a Stinson-Detroiter monoplane, equipped with a Wright Whirlwind motor

To the reporters Capt. Hinchliffe said that he was here for his health —that he had a touch of quinsy, to the Stinson people who have declined to build planes for trans-oceanic flights, he spoke of a projected flight from London to Rangoon. The plane was shipped to London and secret preparations went ahead for Captain Hinchliffe, and Miss Mackay to try the perilous western voyage.

Had Date Set.

The date was tentatively set for March 5th, but the day before the take off a London paper "broke" the story. There were emphatic denials and more talk of a flight to Rangoon. And then yesterday Captain Hinchliffe took off, destination unannounced.

Soon his London agent acknowledged that America was his goal, and Mrs. Hinchliffe also knew that the flight was to be across the Atlantic. Hinchliffe's American representative, John Gillespie, who was press representative for the Atlantic flight of Richard E. Byrd last summer, received a code message informing him that the Briton was coming.

But still the mystery as to the second occupant of the plane persisted. At first it was announced in London that a Captain Gordon Sinclair, a reserve pilot was Hinchliffe's companion. But some doubt was felt about this in England, and army lists available here failed even to mention any Gordon Sinclair.

Name May be Blind.

Associates of Hinchliffe here said that no such name had ever been considered in plans for the flight and expressed the belief that the name was a mere "blind" to conceal the presence in the plane of Miss MacKay.

GRENFELL'S WORK SUBJECT OF TALK

M. E. Hinton Gives Address on Labrador to Pontypool Y.P.L.

PONTYPOOL, March 14.—Mr. E. Hinton had charge of the Young People's League at its weekly meeting, and gave a paper on "Dr. Grenfell and his work." Less than forty years ago, Dr. Grenfell, a medical graduate of the Universtiy of London, England, came to Labrador, a venture which was suggested by Lord Southorough. For four years he stayed only in the summers and came back when the ice would allow the ship to reach land. For years he was the only medical man on the coast and he gave his reason for staying there. "I live in Labrador because it gives me a job, the job I like best and one that you feel you can fill. You attend to a patient and feel you are the best doctor in the country because no other doctor is there. A job that you feel would not be done if you did not do it." One year he had a number of young women who were ill with cancer, the only hope being radium; so during a lecture tour in the United States, while addressing a ladies' gathering, they asked him how they could help him in his work. He immediately thought of his sick patients, and asked for radium. As a consequence, there is now six thousand dollars worth of radium at the Grenfell Hospital, where it is the only radium north of Halifax. It is there as a jewel that shines brighter than any pearl and will do so for 500 years.

Dr. Grenfell has been knighted and is now a Knight Commander of St. Michael and St. George, a member of the American College of Surgeons, a Master of Arts from Harvard University and other degrees from Toronto University and Williams' College.

PRESENTATIONS MADE AT BETHESDA

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cavanagh Leaving District—Organist Honored.

CROOKSTON, March 14.—The members and friends of Bethesda United Church gathered in the church basement recently to do honor to Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cavanagh, and son, Gerald, also Mrs. F. C. Neary. Mr. and Mrs. Cavanagh are leaving the community, while Mrs. Geary has been organist for a number of years. A. J. Noyes was chairman for the evening, and the address for Mr. and Mrs. Cavanagh was read by Mrs. F. C. Neary.

Mr. and Mrs. Cavanagh:

It is very deep regret that we have learned of your intention of leaving our community and we feel we cannot let you go without expressing in some tangible form our feelings of friendship toward you and our deep appreciation of your services in all branches of our church work since coming amongst us. Although your sojourn here has been short, yet we have learned to count on you in all our activities in our church and community, which is a great satisfaction to those whom the burden of the work has rested, and has proven to all that our Master's work holds first place in your hearts.

The same sterling qualities that have cemented friendship here will surround you with true friendship in your new home, and we feel sure you will be busy and useful in the Master's work whenever and wherever you have an opportunity. We wish you to carry away with you our sincere best wishes for the future of health, prosperity and happiness and to accept these gifts as tokens of our friendship and goodwill, and may remind you of old friends, old scenes, and old times among the people of Bethesda church and community."

Mr. and Mrs. Cavanagh were presented with an electric floor lamp and Gerald with military brushes. Mr. Cavanagh replied briefly, expressing his thanks, after which several members of the church spoke.

Immediately following, the people of the church took the opportunity to present to Mrs. F. C. Geary with an oak writing desk.

Dear Mrs. Geary:

As members of the Bethesda Church we should at this time, like to express our appreciation of your services as organist for a number of years. In fact you have ever been on hand, always willing and ready for every kind of work that would lead to the welfare of this church and community.

We have realized the value of one that is so earnest and commendable. We know that your labours in this connection with our church will continue, and we trust that you will consider this little token as our way of showing how we appreciate the services you have given as co-worker of our church.

Our prayer is that you may be spared many years in your Master's service.

Signed on behalf of the members of Bethesda Church—C. L. Cavanagh, C. Tummon.

That this was a real surprise was very evident, as Mrs. Geary was only able to reply briefly, thanking the congregation, saying that any service she had given was gladly given, as the work of the Master was very near to her heart.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. N. Lovelace, H. M. Wood, S.S. Superintendent, and Clayton Tummon, choir leader, spoke of their appreciation of Mrs. Geary's work, after which lunch was served.

LAKEFIELD UNITED W.M.S. ENTERTAINS

Regent Street Ladies Hostesses To Those From Knox Church Branch.

LAKEFIELD, March 14.—The Women's Missionary Society of Regent street United Church entertained the ladies of Knox Church W.M.S. at the regular meeting recently. A most interesting program was given, the chief item being the introduction of the Study book for the year by Mrs. Elmer Milburn. Mrs. F. H. Richardson read a paper on "Stewardship", and Mrs. J. H. Sherin gave a reading on "The Influence of Prayer." Mrs. McMullen, Mrs. Purdy and Miss Purdy provided the musical portion of the program which was much enjoyed. At the close of the program, tea was served and a social hour spent.

Many Study Nursing.

The nursing class held under the auspices of the Women's Institute got away with a good start last week with a membership of sixty-seven for the first week and a good prospect for an increase as the interest was widespread. Miss Flora MacLean Alexander is the instructor and has made the classes very interesting and worth while. She is a graduate of the Western Hospital, Toronto, and is employed by the department for this special work.

Rev. W. J. Creighton, M.A., gave an illustrated lecture on the Sherwood Forest district of England. The pictures were very pretty and interesting, and the fact that Mr. Creighton had himself visited this district of England, added considerably to the interest. This was the first of the Lenten meetings.

An entertainment was given on Friday evening by the members of the mission Band of Knox Church, in the schoolroom. The program consisted of a short play, solos, recitations and also a number of lantern slides. The attendance was remarkably good considering the bad weather.

Personals.

Mrs. H. R. Wagar entertained at bridge on Wednesday evening at her home on Chippewa street. Prizes were won by Mrs. Connell and Mrs. Burrows.

Mrs. W. J. Charlton entertained at four tables of bridge on Friday afternoon at her home on Regent street. Prizes were won by Mrs. L. H. Grahame, Miss B. Graham, and Mrs. Stuart.

MILLBROOK C.G.I.T. GIRLS GO ON HIKE

Enjoy Afternoon's Outing in Spite of Heavy Walking.

MILLBROOK, March 14.—The Wide Awakes group Canadian Girls in Training held a pleasant outing, in the form of a hike, on Saturday, leaving the leader's home about 3 p.m., eighteen girls being in the party.

The route as planned was as far as Cedar Valley, and return, but after Friday's severe storm the walking was heavy, and for some of the group at least the trip back began before the original objective was reached.

A hot supper at the leader's home, when the "hikers" had returned about 6.30 o'clock, was a welcome and much appreciated feature in connection with the outing which was planned in honor of a charter member, Miss Marjorie Sayles, before her departure for Toronto, where she has a position with the Wood, Gundy Company. Included with the guests of the day were Miss Shirley Muir, and Miss L. Beswetherick, of the Continuation School staff.

Music supplied by the radio, and social intercourse, filled out the time happily during the hour or more spent round the tea tables, and afterward an informal meeting of the group was held, with the president, Miss Elsie Spence in the chair. Instead of the regular devotional talk, Miss Muir read a story, "The Palace Beautiful," which set forth the C.G.I.T. ideals in a most interesting and impressive manner.

Misses Margaret Howard and Marjorie Sayles moved and seconded the vote of thanks to the hostess, the reader, and also to Mr. J. A. Brown and Miss Muir for generous contributions toward the group funds.

Assisting Miss Burnham in looking after her guests were Mrs. A. J. Henderson, and Mrs. J. Albert Brown, the latter an honorary member of the Wide Awakes group. Messrs Henderson and Brown joined the party at the tea hour.

The group purposes holding a sale of homemade candy and baking on a Saturday afternoon in the near future.

WILL BUY NEW TRUCK CHASSIS

Lakefield Council Decided To Put Present Water Pumper on New Chassis.

REPORT READ.

LAKEFIELD, March 14. — At the regular meeting of the municipal council, held on Monday evening, in the council chamber, the committee appointed to look into the matter of better fire protection made a report.

Reeve Tanner stated that, owing to several considerations, it was not deemed advisable to purchase the suggested new engine, but it was proposed to put the present pump on a different chassis.

Mr. Gordon Scriver addressed the council for a few minutes. At the request of the committee he looked at several chassis and he also had a catalogue showing a type of pump which would go on the chassis providing a second and entirely separate pumping unit. This pump would work on any car, it was a Barton pump and not connected with any automobile concern.

The pump is 2½ h.p., and would work off any truck. Mr. Scriver did not see the new Ford truck but saw the Chevrolet one-ton truck which with a pump of this type and the present pump fully installed would give a pumping capacity of approximately 450 gallons, and including everything would cost about $2,000.00. The chassis alone without the pumper would be $700.

Mr. Amberson Davis reported that the new Ford 1½ ton chassis would cost $617, and delivery could be made in about ten days.

Councillor Tedford inquired that if a new chassis was purchased and put under the engine, how long would the present engine last?

Reeve Tanner said he considered it would last as long as any other pump.

Councillor Lillecrap said that the purchase of the extra pump means greater outlay, and it could be purchased at any time. He felt it was better to try out the present pump first.

Cost About $1,000

In response to a quetsion as to the cost of purchasing and assembling the new chassis and putting the present pump on it, Mr. Scriver said that the entire cost would be about $1,000.00.

In reply to Councillor Lillecrap's question as to his opinion of this suggestion, Fire Chief Clarke said that the new pump was all right. He had seen it working and a friend of his at Lachute Mills, Que., is using one on a Ford truck. Mr. Clarke feels that while this is all right as far as it goes, that the value to the community would be greater by the purchase of the larger pumper of greater capacity.

In regard to Mr. Scriver's ability to make a good job, one only has to look at the present truck to see what he can do. Expert fire engine men call it a real job.

In response to a query, Mr. Scriver stated that a new Ford chassis would be as good as a Chevrolet and cost about $300 to fit up.

Councillor Lillecrap said that he personally was in favor of the idea of the truck, as the main thing was to get there quick, and that was out of the question with the team.

Councillor Tedford asked the cost of the little pumper which Mr. Scriver had described and which could be used as an auxiliary.

Mr. Scriver stated that it would cost about eight or nine hundred dollars.

Councillor Tedford was of the opinion that unless one could be sure of the present pump lasting a considerable time the purchase of a new chassis which might have to be put in the discard in a year or so was not an economy, while a greater expenditure now would be a real saving.

Councillor Lillecrap felt he would not like to back up an expenditure of five or six thousand dollars when we might live ten years and never want it.

At this juncture, Councillor Harrison remarked: "All the better if we don't".

Councillor Doidge inquired if the truck would have sufficient power to get through the snow.

Fire Chief Clarke assured him that it would; the present truck got through on Saturday, carrying a much heavier load than the proposed new one would be required to take.

Councillor Lillecrap said he wanted to see the firemen satisfied, as they do good work when they get the chance, and they don't always get a fair chance.

Councillor Tedford was emphatic in backing up the brigade saying that "We want to give them the stuff to work with."

It was moved by Councillor Tedford, seconded by Councillor Harrison: That the present committee appointed on January 30th, have power to act in this matter. Carried.

Reeve Tanner said: "That in view of what has been said, that the committee will buy the chassis and have the present engine put on a motor."

TRESTRAIL BROTHERS BUY TORONTO MUSIC HOUSE ESTABLISHED IN 1849

Williams Music Business Purchased by Former Employees

The old established firm of R. S. Williams & Sons Co., Limited, 145 Yonge Street, Toronto, which made a voluntary assignment some six months ago will, it now seems assured, continue as one of Canada's leading music stores. Through negotiations which have just been concluded, Messrs. F. A. and B. A. Trestrail of Toronto have acquired the business and good will and will continue to operate it under the name of the R. S. Williams & Sons Co., Limited. It is understood that the consideration involved is $580,000. A touch of business romance is lent to the transaction by the fact that Mr. B. A. Trestrail, who will assume the Presidency of the new company, is a former employee, having been successively Advertising Manager, Manager of the Piano Department and Manager of Sales and Promotion. Mr. F. A. Trestrail was formerly associated with the Williams Piano Company in Oshawa. Alterations to the store and building are planned that will make it one of the finest and most modern music stores in North America.

GRIFFITH LOSES APPEAL IN SUIT AGAINST REEVE

Divisional Court Upholds County Court Jury in Dismissing Case.

SUIT FOR SLANDER.

Plaintiff Was Suing J. F. Breckenridge For Remarks Made at Election Meeting.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 14 (Special to The Examiner).—The First Divisional Court of Ontario, this morning at Osgoode Hall, disallowed without costs, the motion of F. C. Griffith for a new trial of his $500 slander suit against Reeve Breckenridge of Belmont. The case was tried in December in Peterborough County Court and dismissed by Judge Huycke and a jury.

On the Bench were Sir William Mulock, Chief Justice of Ontario; Mr. Justice Magee, Mr. Justice Hodgins, Mr. Justice Grant, and Mr. Justice Ferguson. Acting on instructions from Messrs. Gordon and O'Brien, W. J. Hanley appeared in support of the motion. F. D. Kerr, K.C., on behalf of Mr. Breckenridge, opposed the application. F. F. Fry, owner and seller of the stone-crusher which figured so prominently in the case, was an interested listener to the proceedings.

As stated by Mr. Hanley, the grounds on which the application was based were that irrelevant evidence was allowed to be introduced during the hearing, that the defending counsel made an inflammatory attack on one of the plaintiff's witnesses, and that the charge of the judge to the jurors so confused them that they did not know what they were doing. In support of the allegation that the opposing counsel transgressed beyond his privileges, Mr. Hanley proposed to read an affidavit as to Mr. Kerr's statements, but the latter objected on the ground that notice of this affidavit had not been communicated to him. Their Lordships sustained Mr. Kerr's objection although later in the hearing Mr. Justice Magee confessed that he had taken "the highly improper course," as he phrased it, of reading the affidavit. He expressed the opinion that it did not advance the argument of Mr. Hanley.

Local Politics

Mr. Hanley declared that Mr. Breckenridge is now Reeve of the Township of Belmont. Mr. Griffith is a former reeve. At a nomination meeting held in the township in December, 1926, he proceeded, Mr. Breckenridge accused Mr. Griffith of having sold to Mr. Fry a stone crusher belonging to the municipality and appropriating the cheque to his own use. Mr. Griffith was a man of high standing in the district and had once been warden of the county. These statements tended to becloud his reputation and he sought to have his character cleared by the action which was tried in the County Court of Peterborough on December 15, 16 and 17. Mr. Hanley proceeded to read extracts from His Honor's speech to the jury, when Mr. Justice Hodgins interposed with the remark that as parts of the speech were to be questioned, it was only fair to the learned judge that the whole of his address be read. Mr. Hanley then read the entire speech. At the conclusion of the reading, Sir William Mulock asked, "What is the matter with the charge?" Mr. Hanley then directed their lordships' attention to several portions of the speech which, he thought, tended to leave the impressed that Griffith was at fault. Some of the sentences which were criticised were as follows:

"The whole thing is a tempest in a teapot; much ado about nothing."

"My thought is that it would have been better for one man to let the whole thing die or for the other to apologise if he had made a mistake."

"Griffith is responsible, for he was reeve during that year."

"The cheque is the cause of all the trouble."

"Griffith tells his story."

"The cheque clears the whole matter up." References like these, submitted Mr. Hanley, left the impression that Griffith had nothing to fight about.

Mr. Justice Ferghson declared that it was quite within the province of the judge to expresss such opinion if he felt them. Mr. Hanley agreed, but thought that the judge should have made it clear to the jury that they were not bound by his opinion.

What Judge Huycke Said

At another stage during the proceedings, said Mr. Hanley, His Honor said to the counsel for the plaintiff (Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C.), "I do not know what to do. If you are going to turn this court into a burlesque, I am going to resign."

Mr. Kerr requested that the occurrences which preceded this rebuke be read to their lordships. These, when read, disclosed the fact that both lawyers received many reprimands from the Bench, which arose out of the frequent clashes between the two during the examination of witnesses.

"Don't blame the judge for what went on before he made this observation," remarked Mr. Justice Hodgins. "If the judge reproves counsel, does that give the client the right to ask for a new trial? It will be a curious state of affairs if the judge is not to be allowed to express an opinion during the action."

The gravity of the court was disturbed when the reading of another extract revealed the fact that His Honor had advised the parties to get rid of the lawyers and come to an agreement among themselves.

Action by County

Mr. Hanley declared that irrelevant evidence regarding an action brought by the County of Peterborough against the plaintiff was allowed by the judge, and when Mr. Griffith started to explain, His Honor would not let him go on. Mr. Kerr asserted that the reading of the evidence showed that this action was first introduced in an answer to a question from Mr. Gordon.

"I think the judge must have had a pretty hard time," commented Mr. Justice Hodgins.

"The same as I am having just now," ruefully remarked Mr. Hanley.

Examiner Mentioned

The Peterborough Examiner was also injected into the case, declared Mr. Hanley, by a letter dealing with affairs in the municipality which was produced in court, and introduced other matters apart entirely from that which was under consideration. The inference of a question addressed by Mr. Kerr to Mr. Griffith, he said, was that the action was brought with a view to affecting an election which was then impending.

Not Open to Criticism

Mr. Kerr declared that if both counsel were to blame and were both checked by the judge, while the attention of the jury was directed to the evidence, the plaintiff was not entitled to have the case reopened on the grounds which had been set forth. Here Sir William Mulock interrupted to say that the charge was not open to criticism.

Mr. Kerr declared that the charge of dishonesty was never made against Mr. Griffith. As he put the matter before the Bench, Mr. Breckenridge's statement was a retort to Mr. Griffith's claim made at the nomination meeting, that he had produced a clearer financial statement of his steawardship than had Mr Breckenridge. The stone crusher was sold to Fry in May, 1921. Though an error on the part of Mr. Griffith this cheque for $100 was marked down on the books as being from the County Treasurer. He brought this forward merely as an argument that the statement was far from being the almost perfect thing it had been described, but with no reflection on Mr. Griffith's integrity.

Sir William Mulock expressed the opinion that Mr. Griffith had acted unwisely in rushing into litigation to clear his name, when he he might well have relied on the reputation he had in the district.

Prospects Of Rain Bring Lower Prices

CHICAGO, March 14 (Canadian Press). — Forecasts of rain over the greater part of the domestic winter wheat territory tended to ease wheat values down to-day in the early dealings. Prospects of general benefit from the widespread moisture were emphasized by showers this morning, which were much needed in Western Kansas. After opening at ⅜c decline to ¼c advance, wheat underwent a sag all around. Corn, oats, and provisions were likewise easier, corn starting unchanged to ⅜c off and subsequently showing a general setback.

Opening prices were: March 138¼, May 137½. Corn, March 94⅜, May 97⅝. Oats, March 56¾, May 57⅛.

Mine Market Trend Is Uncertain To-day

TORONTO, March 14 (Canadian Press).—Occasional firm spots cropped up in an otherwise uncertain list on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day. Few changes of any extent were recorded except a half dollar advance in Treadwell Yukon, which firmed to 28.50. Sherritt Gorden strengthened ten at 740 and McIntyre sold up 40 at 27.40. Pend Oreille was very slightly higher at 18.01, and Noranda about 15 better around 19.50. The Kirkland Lakes were steady, with Wright Hargreaves selling up seven at 525, and Kirkland Lake Gold six higher at 198. Teck Hughes, however, eased ten cents at 865. Among the weaker issues were Amulet at 4.00 and Crown Reserve at 56, with Howey losing four at 131.

Nickel Recovers After Opening Weakness

TORONTO, March 14 (Canadian Press).—International Nickel was sold down to 88 at one time in to-day's session of the Toronto Stock Exchange, but at noon it recovered to 91 for a net fractional gain. The list as a whole was inclined to be weaker, with Alberta Pacific Grain losing 2¼ at 60½, and a number of other issues losing ground slightly. Building Products at 45, Massey Harris at 40, British American Oil at 36¾, and Imperial Oil at 59 were all weaker. Shredded Wheat was a firm spot at 69¾, more than a point higher.

Advance Is Resumed After Opening Weakness

NEW YORK, Mar. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Speculators for the advance regained control of the price movement in to-day's stock market after an early flurry of selling which followed the opening break of $8 share in Radio. Radio made up its loss before the end of the first hour and was selling three points above yesterday's final quotation by early afternoon, although the turnover in that and other stocks showed a marked reduction in volume.

While the market has been paying little attention of late to outside news developments, the resumption of dividends on Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies Preferred, and the declaration of an extra dividend of 40 cents on Divoe and Reynolds were regarded as bullish, although the former stock broke six points on the traditional "selling on the good news." Call money renewed at 4½ per cent. despite heavy demands for currency in connection with a two billion turnover of funds to-morrow.

American Linseed, in which a large short interest is reported to have been locked in, extended its gain to nearly 12 points by touching a new high record at 106. Hudson ran up seven points to a new peak at 97⅛ and Vanadium Steel recorded a similar gain. General Cable rallied 6⅛ points and American Machine and Foundry and Union Carbide four each. General Motors, after three days of sluggish price movements, suddenly spurted three points to 159, or only two points below last Saturday's record breaking high.

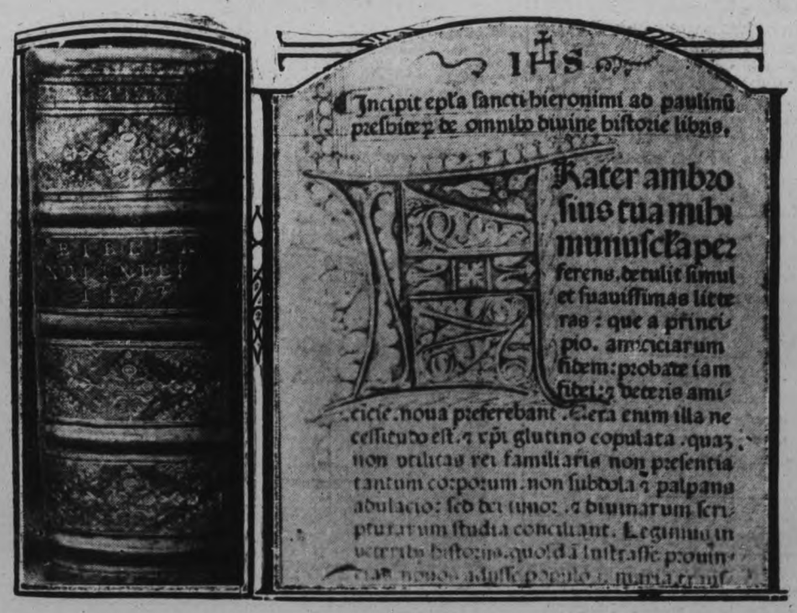
OLD BIBLE PLACED IN GALLERY



Above are photographs of a remarkable old Bible which has found its way into a Toronto art gallery. The book is bound in the original old tooled leather binding, and contains six folios printed in double column, with 51 lines to a column. A fine large copy in excellent condition, it was printed in Nuremburg in 1477 by Antonius Coburter. The initial letters are all drawn by hand and are beautifully illuminated. Nuremburg Bibles are very rare now and the book shown above is probably one of the oldest now in Canada. A number of the leaves have uncut edges.

THE FEMALE VOICE CHOIR.

The Female Voice Choir, which has been heard to good advantage on numerous occasions in the past, has announced its seventh annual concert, to take place in the Canadian Legion Hall on Friday of this week.

The choir is an undenominational organization, composed of women singers who, of course, derive no financial benefit from their singing, but donate their services on behalf of the cause.

The proceeds of this year's concert are to be turned over to the Canadian Legion for relief work among needy veterans and their families, and with this most worthy object to be served the Female Voice Choir should be greeted with a capacity audience.

The members of the choir have been sacrificing much of their time in preparing for Friday's programme, and something even above the standard that has been set by the organization in the past may be expected.

The quality of the programme and the merit of the cause should combine to guarantee worth-while patronage on this occasion.

THAT INCOME TAX AGAIN.

Agitation against the municipal income tax is once more strong in various parts of Ontario, and the time seems ripe for a discussion of the whole question in the Legislature with a view to doing away with the levy or placing it on an equitable basis throughout the Province.

In some municipalities income tax is collected; in others there is a haphazard system under which some people pay and others escape.

The unfairness of such a condition explains the discontent that exists over the municipal collection of a tax upon income.

But there is another striking inequality that has been pointed out by The Toronto Star.

Municipalities differ widely in their property assessment, despite the fact that the Act requires land to be assessed at actual value and buildings according to the value they add to the ground.

Some municipalities depend upon a high assessment and a low tax rate; others lower the assessment and let the rate climb.

It doesn't make much difference which method is followed so far as the tax on property is concerned.

But the shoe pinches when the income tax is collected by municipalities in which the assessment is low and the tax rate high, for in such places the man who pays an income tax pays much more than the man with similar income living in a town of high assessment and low tax rate.

There is much logic in the contention advanced by The Star that "if the municipal income tax is to be retained in Ontario it should be collected by all municipalities—the Government should see to that—and it should be collected at a uniform rate—say, 25 or 30 mills."

FAITH IS ESSENTIAL.

Most of us are so accustomed to our own city that we are unappreciative of its opportunities and advantages. The whole scene is too familiar to us. We are so domestic in our fixed habits and our outlook that we seldom go away or remain away long enough to form a new estimate of the old home when we return. And so we lack the searching, appraising approach of the visitor.

After his visit to Florida this winter, T. H. Hooper declared: "I wouldn't give the township of Otonabee for the half of Florida." That comparison may have been influenced by his pleasure at getting back among "his ain folk," but there was all the earnestness and emphasis of sincerity in his tone.

It has been noticed that some of those citizens who have the strongest faith in Peterborough are those who came here, and stayed and won their way up to prominence. One of these men recalled in a recent address that he came here nearly twenty years ago totally unknown. It was April and the streets were heavy with mud; and as he rode uptown in a hotel bus the general aspect of his newly adopted town was not overwhelmingly inviting. It certainly was not New York. He had been commissioned to establish his company, an insurance company, by the way, in this district, in the face of the opposition of soundly entrenched companies directed by men who had spent most of their lives here, who knew everybody and apparently had the insurance business entirely in their own hands. That man has achieved a splendid success, and there are others, too, who in those years have struggled up the slope. These were men of abiding faith and industry. Chance may have directed them in the first place, but something positive and enduring sustained them in the later stages of their victory.

Certainly they could not have succeeded without faith.

GOOD WORK FOR CHILDREN.

The people of Peterborough to whom the good work done by the local branch of the Children's Aid Society is a familar story, will be interested in knowing that the Society as a whole has come in for a well-deserved official tribute.

It appears in the report presented by the Provincial Secretary of the branch of his department charged with the administration of the laws for the protection of children.

The report shows that last year 686 children were taken care of by being made wards of Children's Aid Societies by court orders, and that altogther since the inauguration of this service, some thirty-four years ago, 27,243 children have been assisted in this way.

Children's Aid Societies throughout Ontario raised the sum of $403,126, mainly through voluntary effort, and spent $412,642 in their operations.

Commenting on this work, the report says: "Our Ontario system of child-protection is made effective through the organization of local Children's Aid Societies composed of progressive citizens who from a desire to be of service give freely of their time and thought. Over sixty of these societies are in active operation and the publicity given to their proceedings assures the prompt exposure of child neglect or ill-treatment and the creation of healthy and happy social conditions. In no part of the world is there a more sensitive public sentiment in all that effects child-life than here in this banner Province of Ontario. To the cry of a needy child there is a quick and sure response and appeals in their behalf are generously met. Nothing could be more gratifying than this fine spirit of benevolent interest and service. The Children's Aid Society does not seek to take children away from their parents, for it is fully recognized that a home, with father, mother and proper nurture and care, is the child's natural heritage. To preserve this to the child is the Society's constant endeavour. What it really aims at is to remove poverty, misery, immorality, sickness and trouble of every kind that militates against the child's welfare and happiness. It is our constant endeavour to patiently work out the family problem and to impress on parents a true sense of their responsibility. The solution for careless living may be found in moving the family to a better house, in getting relatives and friends interested in securing employment—in bringing about church affiliation, anything and everything that will bring about the desired improvement. There are, of course, social conditions that warrant prompt and effective action, and then there should be no hesitation in doing what appears to be absolutely necessary for the best welfare of the child."

THE YAWN THAT OUSTED CUPID.

Yawning is regarded by many as impolite, but we do not put all yawns in that category. Those who yawn as the result of being bored are rude, and doubly so unless an attempt is made to stifle the opening of the jaws. But there is the yawn of the tired, and this can no more be prevented than can a cough. But whether yawns come from being bored or being tired, there should be a hurried, graceful effort to camouflage them. Good manners demand this.

We have seen some who are quite expert at this. In the twinkling of an eye they can transform what threatened to be a jaw-dislocating yawn into a hearty, open-mouthed laugh. All yawners, however, are not in this enviable class. Their jaws work quicker than their heads and the interior of their mouths is presented in an unobstructed view to the assembled company. People who are in the habit of yawning and who are not very good at hiding it, should keep in the background as much as possible, for there is nothing more tiring and depressing on a gathering than to see some person frequently opening his or her mouth in prodigious, cavernous yawns.

But yawns may not only be impolite; they may also be impolitics. For instance, the other day in New York a bride actually lost her man at the altar because she yawned. The yawn was so extensive that she dislocated her jaw, and she had to be hurried away to a surgeon. With the trouble remedied, she hastened back to the church and found the bridegroom had vanished. He left a note saying that he could not possibly marry a girl who yawned on her wedding day. Generally speaking, a girl who is about to be married should be sufficiently interested in the greatest event of her life as to have no inclination to yawn. And in the great majority of cases the brides are yawnless on their wedding day. This is as it should be. It is becoming that girls who are about to step into matrimony should do so with zest and alertness.

But we can conceive of cases where brides who are admirably fitted to become worthy wives of the most wide-awake of men find it impossible to stave off a yawn. Brides-to-be are not more immune to tiredness than are other persons, although excitement keeps the majority of them pepped up. Perhaps the bride in this particular case had been working long and late on her trousseau; perhaps she had been attending a series of parties, or perhaps she had been troubled with sleepless nights due to a nervous state produced by her approaching marriage and the hustle and bustle of preparing for it. There are many reasons why a bride might yawn when she is about to be married, without deteriorating in the slightest from her qualifications for wifehood.

We think the male actor in the ceremony which abruptly concluded with a yawn displayed great cruelty in cancelling the wedding. A yawn is no justification for such conduct. We presume that during their courtship days the girl was not in the habit of yawning, else he would have decided that she was not for him, for a yawning sweetheart will make a yawning wife. The fact that she did not yawn when she was being courted, no matter how much of a bore he made of himself, should have convinced him, if he had any generous feelings, that the yawn on the wedding day was an accident and should be overlooked.

It looks very much as if he had repented his bargain and took this means of breaking off the marriage. His was a mean, ungenerous act, and it is to be hoped that if he marries he will get a wife who talks incessantly, who never indulges in a yawn because it would interrupt her flow of talk; in short, a human, perpetual-motion talking machine, which will make him regret for the rest of his days that he didn't marry a girl who could yawn to such an extent as to dislocate her jaws. He richly deserves this as a punishment.

There is another explanation of that bridal yarn; it may have been the culmination of all the yawns the girl suppressed when she was being courted. Many swains are not nearly such hot wires as they think they are.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

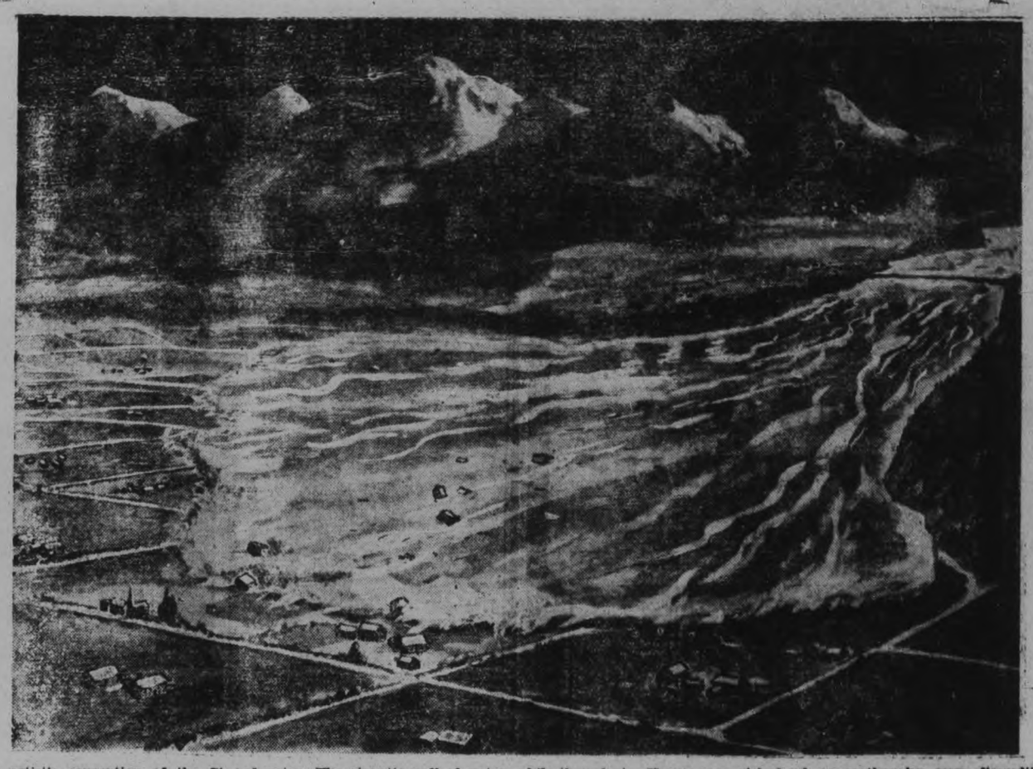
PEACEFUL VALLEY DEVASTATED BY GIANT WALL OF WATER



An artist's conception of the St. Francis dam disaster. Death and chaos were spread along the fertile valley of the Santa Clara river in southern California when the 185-foot high St. Francis power and irrigation dam suddenly collapsed, letting loose a volume of 38,000 acre-feet of water. The gigantic wall of water, at time three stories high, swept on toward the Pacific, through the narrow Santa Paula canyon into the Santa Clara valley, where it spread into a wave 20 feet high and carried everything before it. The towns and villages which dot the valley nad little warning of the impending disaster. Many persons were drowned while they slept. Houses were picked up like corks. It is believed that the death list may reach 500. A preliminary survey indicated, according to Los Angeles city officials, that water sweeping through a hill supporting the west wing of the St. Francis dam, had caused the structure to collapse. Previous reports that the dam gave way as the result of an earthquake, were discredited. The seepage was believed to have caused a portion of the hill flanking the western end of the dam to give way. The water then poured through the breach and under the pressure, the eastern wing collapsed next. The centre section of the 185 foot dam wall was reported to be still standing for a distance of 150 feet.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, March 14 (Canadian Press). — The export trade in Canadian grain here yesterday was quiet, there being practically no demand from any source.

The domestic trade in grain was also dull, but prices for all lines were well maintained.

In sympathy with the strength in cash wheat at Winnipeg, a stronger feeling developed in the market for spring wheat grades of flour and the prices were advanced ten cents per barrel. The local demand was good and a moderate amount of business was also worked with foreign buyers. The undertone to the winter wheat market was firm under a fair demand.

The feature of the millfeed trade was the stronger feeling that developed and prices for all lines were advanced one dollar per ton. This was attributed to the good demand from all sources.

An active business was done in all grades of eggs, and prices were unchanged. The receipts were 3,520 cases.

The strength that prevailed in the potato market on Monday was more pronounced yesterday, and prices scored a further advance of fifteen cents per bag. The demand was steady.

The trade in imported beans was fair, and prices were steady. Sales of car lots of choice white hand-picked were made at $3.50 per bushel, ex-track, and smaller quantities sold at $3.60 per bushel, ex-store.

The undertone to the butter market was stronger and prices were marked up another ¼c per pound, but the volume of business was small. The receipts were 7 packages.

Extreme dullness marked the trade in cheese, but prices were unchanged. The receipts were 673 boxes.

GOD'S MINUTE

Ask and it shall be given you.—Luke 11:9.

Our Heavenly Father, accept our thanks for the re-creation of body and mind Thou hast given us in the hours of wonderful sleep.

Help us to be so attentive to the still small voice of our Teacher and Guide, the Holy Spirit, that whether we eat or drink, or whatever we do this day, all shall be done to Thy glory.

We desire that Thy Kingdom come and Thy will be done in our hearts, our home, our city, our country, and in all the earth. We so desire this, that here and now we offer Thee our bodies, our minds, our reputations, our characters and our lives, and ask Thee to use each and all as seems best to Thee.

So relate us and all we have to Thy work in the world, that we may count for most in Thy Kingdom. So teach and train us by Thy Word and daily providences that we shall trust Thee daily for our daily needs, and witness for Thee by being as peaceful and joyous in disappointment, adversity, or affliction, as in prosperity.

We ask it in the name of Jesus, our Saviour. Amen.

William B. Stubbs,
Savannah, Georgia.

A Thought

GOOD MANNERS.

Good manners (observes Locke) are the blossom of good sense, and, it may be added, of good feeling too; for if the law of kindness be written in the heart, it will lead to that disinterestedness in little as well as great things—that desire to oblige, and attention to the gratification of others, which is the foundation of good manners.

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

TO MISS MACPHAIL

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir.—I will not be writing to Miss Agnes Macphail, but as she reads The Examiner I want to let her know what is going on here. Sunday night I was going by a big church, one of our biggest churches filled to the neck with Godfearing people, when I heard them singing as if their life depended on it, "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Here we are all, our best women passing resolutions condemning war as the worst yet as unholy and of the devil, and then wanting Christians to march like that,

"Onward, Christian soldiers Marching as to war."

That's worse than condemning drunkenness and then getting intoxicated so that we can't feel the pain of drawing a tooth or having our insides took out.

LET THERE BE PEACE.

A GIFT WORTH WHILE

Editor, Examiner:
Dear Sir:

(Please read this).

Just thinking tonight after coming in off the street, watching people hurrying here and there, to do their last minute Saturday evening shopping.

Don't know whether it would do any good or not to publish this little bit of poetry of mine. It may not amount to much, still I will leave it to you. Here it is. I will call it:

A GIFT

Have we a gift that we can give to someone every day;
Some gift, to give another,
To help them on their way?
In life, just as we live it,
In this world, from day to day.
We have a gift, let's give it
To someone, on our way.
Just think awhile, while walking
Along the busy street,
There's perhaps someone beside you
Who has tired, aching feet.
Who perhaps is sad and weary,
Who has worked hard through the day;
Yes, there's something we can give them
To help them on their way.
Don't cost a cent to give it;
Just try it out and see.
In living life, let's live it—
Be happy, you and me.
What is this gift I mention?
It really is worth while;
To give to every one we meet,
A Great, Big, Cheerful Smile.

—G.N.K.

What value a human being!

"Men are like figures; they acquire their value from their position."
—Napoleon

The value of your life runs up into tens of thousands of dollars and depends altogether on your position. It equals the sum of what you expect to earn throughout your life.

This intangible fortune can be made real by means of life insurance. You should make it real because Death bankrupts a life not adequately insured, and your family will suffer.

To protect your family the London Life grants insurance on three popular 'reduced premium' plans—the Jubilee, the Earning Power, the Duplex.

For example, the rates are such that simply the interest on $10,000 Victory Bonds would purchase from $30,000 to $44,000 life insurance at age 30, according to the plan selected to meet your needs.

Men appreciate low-initial-cost participating plans because they furnish full protection without hampering one's finances.

GENERAL CONTEST RULES
How to Enter

1. The contest is open to everyone except:
   (a) Employees of The Peterborough Examiner, Ltd., or their immediate family.
   (b) Prize-winners in any similar contest who have won any of the major prizes.
2. Additional puzzle-charts may be obtained free by writing to the Contest Department or by calling at The Examiner Office.
3. Every figure in the puzzle is complete and entirely free from tricks or illusions. If any contestant is in doubt about any of the figures, send in the chart with the figures marked and the Contest Department will gladly give a ruling on the figure.
4. When you have solved the puzzle, fill in completely the solution blank, which must be accompanied by a remittance for at least a six months' subscription at the regular rates to The Evening Examiner. (See subscription rates.) See also the prize-list and note how the value of your prize is increased by paying for a year's subscription and by getting subscriptions from your friends. Renewal subscriptions, or subscriptions in arrears, if paid during contest period, count the same as new subscriptions and will be extended from the present expiry date, but not more than $15.00 will be received on any one solution or subscription.
5. In order that subscribers who pay carrier boys weekly may participate in this contest, books of tickets containing 22 weekly tickets for $3.00, or 44 for $6.00, will be sold. These remittances must be made direct to the Contest Department with your solution. Otherwise it cannot be registered. Each ticket is valued at 15c and will be redeemed from the carrier boy at that price.
6. Readers who give their subscription to some other contestant and later want to send in an answer themselves, may do so providing they fill in the coupon, giving the name of the person they paid their subscription to and the amount paid. No further payment is necessary.
7. The contest will close on March 15, 1928, but send in your solution as soon as possible as we are offering special prizes for the first correct solutions. (See full details under "Special Prizes.") There is nothing gained by holding back your answer once you have solved the puzzle, as a contestant may make several remittances on any answer sent in while the contest lasts up to a total amount of $15.00.
8. Contestants may send in a different answer to the puzzle with each remittance, but if one of your answers is correct the money sent in on your other answers will not increase the total value of your prize, and not more than one regular prize will be paid to one family.
9. Everyone has an equal chance. You can win the first prize and extra cash for only a six months' subscription, but note how the value of the first five prizes increases if you send in more money. Aim to win the maximum Grand Prize. The Evening Examiner is now recognized as the leading daily in Peterborough district and surrounding counties and no difficulty should be found in getting your friends or neighbors to subscribe for it.
10. Contestants who remit by mail or pay at the office should see that these remittances and answers are made on a proper contest coupon to ensure them reaching the Contest Department.
11. If the correct answer is not sent in by any contestant the prizes will be awarded for the nearest correct solutions. In the event of a tie a second puzzle will be presented which will be as practicable and solvable as the first. Only those tieing will be permitted to solve the second puzzle. Should two or more persons be tied in the second puzzle the prizes will be divided equally among those tieing. No cash will be accepted on the second puzzle.
12. In entering the contest, contestants agree to abide by the rules of the contest and to accept the decision of the judges as final. HOW MANY TONS DOES THE LIFT LOCK WEIGH?

THE PROBLEM

The problem is to add together all the figures shown above, which, when added together, represent the total number of tons that the Lift Lock weighs.

The puzzle is entirely free from tricks or illusions, every figure is complete and stands alone. The figures range from two to nine. There are no ones (1) or ciphers (0) in the puzzle. The sixes are curved, while the stem of the nines are straight.

We wish it clearly understood that every figure can be plainly seen. There is nothing hidden in the trees or shadows, but the problem of adding these is a real test of accuracy.

Remember, each figure is added separately. For example, 9777 is counted 9 plus 7 plus 7 plus 7, or, in other words, simply add them as if each figure stood one above the other in a single column.

REMEMBER, NO ONE KNOWS THE CORRECT ANSWER UNTIL THE CONTEST CLOSES

To ensure this we had Mr. E. M. Elliott, County Treasurer, and Mr. Frank Adams, City Treasurer, each erase one or more figures from the original drawing, which they carefully noted and sealed in an envelope and gave to the manager of the Royal Bank for safe keeping until the contest closes.

A TIP ON HOW TO WIN

Take a pencil and put down the numbers as you stroke them out, then add them up. Some suggest that you cut the chart into dozens of pieces, then check them from all sides; or if you wish, try blotting them out with colored ink or pencil. Others think the best way is to pick out all the twos, threes, fours, etc. Any they miss the first time they find later. Or suppose you try taking a combination of figures which, when added together, makes a total of ten. For example, 5 and 3 and 2 make 10. Tens are not only easily added together, but there is less danger of making a mistake.

1. Everyone has the same opportunity. A person sending in only $3.00 in subscriptions has the same chance of winning the first prize as a person sending in more money. The advantage of sending in more money is to increase the value of the first five prizes.
2. This is a contest for Central Ontario district, or to any subscriber of The Examiner, no matter where he resides.
3. Don't forget to answer all the necessary questions on the solution blank.
4. If you collect a subscription from a friend or neighbour, that person can also submit an answer to the puzzle without further payment.

THE JUDGES

In order that each Contestant shall have fair and impartial treatment, we have arranged with Mr. Roland Denne, Mayor of the City and Alderman Nagel Phelan to act as judges for the contest. Any complaints in this connection will be referred to these judges whose decision will be absolutely final.

ORMONDE FACTORY HAD GOOD SEASON

Had 98½ Per Cent. First Grade Cheese During 1927.

HASTINGS, March 14. — The Ormonde Cheese and Butter Company held its annual March meeting in Lynch's Hall on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Publow, the chief speaker, was not present, which was a great disappointment to many patrons who had gathered to hear his address. James Irwin, district cheese grader, and John Murray, district dairy instructor, were present and gave brief addresses outlining their respective official work.

T. J. Lynch, president of the factory, acted as chairman. The distribution of whey for the coming season was dealt with, and it was resolved that the president and the cheesemaker (Wesley Montgomery) be appointed to look after this matter. After the chairman had read the financial statement of the past season, which showed excellent results, Mr. Irwin was called upon to give a few remarks. He stated Ormonde Cheese Factory patrons should be proud of the record of Mr. Montgomery as maker because of the fact that he had 98½ per cent. of first grade cheese for the past season.

The average price of cheese for 1927 was 18¾ cents, which was better than the season of 1926. The amount of cheese manufactured had decreased 20 per cent, and there were eighteen factories in operation less than the year of 1926. There were 697 factories in 1926 and 679 in 1927. "Central Ontario," he stated, "is the greatest cheese producing district in Canada," and Ontario had 92.6 per cent. of first grade cheese as compared with 74.1 per cent. in Quebec. He then gave the standing of the counties in Central Ontario with regard to the number of first grade cheese made: 1, Lennox County; 2, Northumberland, 3, Hastings County.

Mr. Irwin also voiced his approval of the patrons holding banquets each year, as it encouraged good fellowship among them. He then emphasized three factors in the need of care in handling the milk. First was the feed of cattle, and care of stables, milk pails and cans. The second factor was care of the factory and whey vessels. Third, the most important factor, was the care the cheesemaker takes in manufacturing the milk into cheese. He closed his address with the expressed wish that the patrons and officials would co-operate in harmony with each other for a most successful season.
